PREFACE

1164968

This book is somewhat of a "Who's Who"<sup>1</sup> in the Letham or Leatham family. For many years the author has realized the importance of keeping family records and history. To date no one has attempted to record and gather together under one cover the over-all history and genealogy of our family. This book is intended to fill that gap and make a written account of what information is readily available in a non-technical and informal manner. The generation of Letham's or Leatham's who immigrated to Utah from Scotland, commencing in the early 1850's, have now passed on to their reward. Much data, information and detailed history could have been obtained from them if this book had been started fifty years ago. However, it is felt that no further procrastination should be indulged in and that what information we of this generation can ferret out should be recorded and preserved in one volume. This publication is the result of such thinking. It is hoped that it will inspire the present as well as all future generations to carry on!

I have endeavored to sketch the biographical historical and genealogical data of Robert Letham (1801-60) and his wife, Janet Urquhart, of Scotland, together with that of their descendants and ancestry. Each of the ten grown children of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart head a "Branch" of the family in this compilation. Most of the family who came to America changed the spelling of the name to Leatham. Some mistakes will no doubt be discovered in dates, places, spelling, etc., but every effort has been made to record the facts as they exist. It is requested that any errors discovered be reported to the author for correction in future editions.

Names, dates, places and relationships are the four facts required in order to establish proper identity and delineate one person from any other person.<sup>2</sup> I have tried to use as many as possible of these identifying facts pertaining to each one listed in this book. By cross reference to the page and number given behind each name on the direct Letham or Leatham blood line appearing on family group charts, it is possible to trace one's lineage back to the first ancestors shown. These family group charts can be kept current merely by each family adding pertinent data to their particular family chart as changes occur. Each major part of this book is designed to account for the descendants of all who belong to that particular branch of the family.

The large pedigree chart marked "Appendix I" has been placed at the back of the book to make it possible for the reader to go on in the front of the text and at the same time have the chart open for quick reference.

The latter half of the name of this book was derived from modern-day scripture. Enoch testified that a "book of remembrance" was kept among Adam's posterity giving the genealogy of their fathers. On one occasion, he said, "For a book of remembrance we have written among us, according to the pattern given by the finger of God; and it is given in our own language." <sup>3</sup>

Members of the Letham or Leatham family do not lay claim to being any better than the average American family -- nor do they admit to being any worse. The basic core of industry, faith, honesty and courage, however, seems to dominate the many virtues of all descendants of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart. They are generally a home-loving people with a desire to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience (and at the same time allow all others to do the same), build churches and communities, and render service to humanity, for most of them feel that when they are in the service of their fellowmen they are in the service of their God.

This book is not offered as a full and complete compilation of the family genealogy and history, but is designed rather to record what is known regarding the generation just passed and to evolve a nucleus of vital information concerning the present and past generation for use of those who come after us to build upon. It is to be hoped that at some time in the not-too-distant future a separate volume will be compiled and published for and by each designated branch of the family, thus enabling a more complete, wider scope and coverage.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Sincere thanks and appreciation are here expressed to all who have contributed data for this compilation and to those who have given valuable assistance in its preparation for publication. In this regard I am particularly indebted to Mr. William A. Leatham; Mrs. Rachel Leatham Jensen; Mrs. Roberta Leatham Lindsay; Mr. Charles Letham of Cowdenbeath, Fifeshire, Scotland; Mr. Levi G. Leatham; Mrs. Alexander E. Archibald; Mrs. Edith Hunter Lambert; Mrs. Elizabeth Letham Sorenson; Mrs. Lillie Hunter Coles; Mrs. Daniel L. Capener; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Hofeling; and Mrs. Chloe Leatham Taylor.

All those who helped in a monetary way with their pre-publication subscriptions have my grateful acknowledgment.

Special thanks are due: Mr. Lewis Penman for his artistic line drawings and art work, and to his wife, Mrs. Janet Leatham Penman and Mrs. Pearl Bridge Johnson for their help in typing the photocopy; also to Mr. William Baron for his work on the maps and charts.

A heavy debt of gratitude is expressed to my wife, Mrs. Grace C. Leatham, who presided with patience and dignity over the birth of this book and helped with the typing and proof-reading.

I wish to thank Elder Joseph Fielding Smith, President of the Council of the Twelve, and Historian of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, for his permission to reproduce the copyrighted family group charts used in this book.

Mrs. Edythe Leatham Duncan helped greatly with the index which is an important part of a book of this kind.

In conclusion, I am most grateful to Elder Archibald F. Bennett, Secretary, Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who over the years has been a constant source of help and inspiration, and for permission to quote and reproduce items from his various copyrighted publications and books.

To all others who have so kindly allowed me to reprint material or helped in any way, I extend heartfelt thanks. Especially do I thank Mr. C. Nelson White for his illustration of a "scotchman" used on the cover of the book.

Chapter 1

ROBERT LETHAM

1801 - 1860

IT IS FROM a country small in area but influential upon world affairs far beyond its size and population that the Letham or Leatham family sprang.

The Scottish people, renowned for their thrift, intellectual ability, ideals and power to make the most of any situation, are of two main groups. Both groups, the Highlanders or Celts, and the Lowlanders, Anglo-Saxons, are represented in the Leatham family.

The Anglo-Saxons were of Norse or Germanic origin with a sprinkling of French. The Lethams, introduced here by Robert Letham born near Glasgow in 1801, were of this group.

Celts came to Britain, from where it is not clear, long before the Angles and Saxons. Some Celts went to Scotland by way of Ireland. They were the British of the Roman Empire day.

Highland or Celtic blood entered the Letham or Leatham family tree when Janet Urquhart, Highlander from Inverness-shire near Moray Firth, became the wife of Robert Letham. They reared seven sons and three daughters most of whom embraced the Restored Gospel and emigrated to Zion.

Some of the rigors of the Scottish climate can be understood from the fact that that country, considerably smaller than Utah and much of it mountainous and wet, has a latitude corresponding to that of Labrador. Less than one-fourth of Scotland's 30,405 square mile area is suitable for cultivation. But at the birth of Robert Letham, the country, nevertheless, supported a population of about a million and a half. After further industrialization, population of Scotland has swelled to 5,096,000 as of 1952. Included was Glasgow, second largest city of the British Empire.

An earlier Scotchman, James Watt (1736-1819) had perfected the steam engine and was responsible in part for the Industrial Revolution which had taken cloth making and manufacturing out of the homes and into factories.

An era of peace following the end of the Napoleonic wars (1815) and before the Crimean war (1853) also contributed to the development of all Britain. Great public works were built including canals, bridges, railroads and the great shipbuilding works and docks on the Clyde River. Glasgow, close to coal and iron mines of the Scottish Central lowlands, Became a world metropolis. Edinburgh, only 40 miles away, continued as the historic center and seat of government.

Into this teeming and highly competitive world, Robert Letham (Number 1 Page 14) was born June 25, 1801, at Lightburn, a small village in Barony Parish near Glasgow, Lanarkshire, Scotland. He was a son of Robert Letham and Catherine Fish. His ancestors for many years had been born in this same parish.

Barony civil and ecclesiastical parish was separated in 1595 from the burgh of Glasgow which previously was the only parish in that area.

King James IV, father of Mary Queen of Scots, spent much time in and around beautiful Barony Parish, hunting and fishing for game that abounded in the woods, lakes and streams of the provan (large estate).

In 1732, John Letham, a Glasgow merchant, obtained a grant to 85 acres called the Hill of Ruchazie. That name soon fell into disuse and the estate came to be known after the owner and now is known as Letham Hill (See map on page 12). Letham Hill, an old world estate, is about four miles northeast of the Royal Exchange in Glasgow. It stands 300 to 400 feet above sea level and commands a view of the Clyde River Valley.

Ruchazie, nearby, was the center of education for a wide district. The lands of Ruchazie, including Letham Hill, now have been acquired by the City of Glasgow. Letham Hill today forms part of a public park and golf course.

Barony parish, where the children of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart were born, was founded in 1596 from the provan. The provan was a large estate, title to which was strengthened by several royal confirmations. Lord Provand, or William Bailie, as he was known prior to obtaining his title, controlled and collected the rentals for the crown from all lands in the provan. These included the following estates: Hogganfield, Craigend, Garthamlock, and Cardowan, about 5000 acres in all. Barony parish later was divided and Maryhill and Springburn Parishes were organized. In 1847 the east portion of Barony Parish was disjoined and formed part of Shettleston Parish.

Some of the best schools of the 19th Century existed in Lanarkshire around the birthplace of the Letham boys and girls. Most of the younger children of Robert and Janet Letham attended the Ruchazie school which was in charge of schoolmaster William Whyte. Mr. Whyte taught this school for 30 years and was considered a worthy representative of the excellent parochial schoolmasters of the last century.

Dr. Black, minister of Barony Parish Church, in an account he wrote in 1850, said this about children of the provan (including the Letham children) attending one of the schools:

"The clean appearance and cheerful countenances of the children--the perfect order and submission that prevailed among them and the readiness with which they answered the various questions put to them, clearly showed how thoroughly the teacher had gained command of the hearts and affections as well as the understanding of his pupils'." <sup>1</sup>

A. Hume Brown in his History of Scotland, Vol. 3, page 71, relates that Scotland of that period enjoyed an indisputable advantage over wealthier and more prosperous countries. This was because education was more widely spread among all classes than in any other nation.

"It was the testimony of English as well as Scots," he wrote, "that the middle and lower classes in Scotland were at once more intelligent and better instructed than the same classes in England.

"In regard to the nobility and gentry of the two countries we have similar evidence. The Scottish gentry as a class were admittedly superior to the English squirearchy, alike in accomplishments and knowledge of the world. While the English squire rarely left the bounds of his native parish, the Scottish gentleman, in accordance with long precedent, not infrequently continued his studies in foreign schools, in France or Holland and Italy, and completed his education by a course of travel...

"It cannot be said that the national spirit was open to large and tolerant ideas, but there was an educated opinion in the country which for seriousness and receptivity was as enlightened as that of any nation in Europe...

"A passionate and aggressive patriotism at home and abroad characterized the Scots."

Relative to the origin of the name Letham, C.W. Bardsley, M.A., in his Genealogical Dictionary states that Letham, Leatham, Lathom, Laytham, Leatham, Lethem and Letham are akin. Lathom, a chapelry, is in the parish of Ormskirk, County, Lancashire.

THE ROYAL EXCHANGE

(Courtesy—The British Travel & Holiday Ass'n.)

He also wrote that the surname has ramified very strongly and spread far and wide. It probably finds its origin from lade or lathe, meaning a barn. A distinguished family took its name from Lathom, Lancashire. In Yorkshire, England, the surname took the form of Leatham and Leathom, unless each had a separate local origin. The meaning (leathes) was the same as the Yorkshire form of lade or lathe. Literally the name meant "the barn house."

George Frazer Black (The Surnames of Scotland, N.Y., 1946, pp. 425-6) says there appear to be two old families by the name of Letham with independent origins. One was from the manor of Letham, Leitholme, the Parish of Eccles, Berwickshire. The other is from the lands of Letham in the Parish of Dunnichen, Angus. John de Letham there was recorded as witnessing a Fife Charter.

Returning to Robert Letham:

In 1822, a beautiful Highland lass, Janet Urquhart, was visiting in the village. Robert saw her one day as he was returning home from his work. In relating the story to his children years later, he said that he knew right then that she was the girl he would marry.

His conviction was right, for on June 23, 1822, they were married and settled in Barony Parish.

Not much is known of this good man, for the simple reason that no written record of his life was ever made. All who knew him as a father now are dead.

He worked as a coal miner most of his life. He died March 10, 1860, at the age of 59. Apparently he had contracted a lung disease from working in the coal dust.

Neither he nor his wife joined the Church. Both, nevertheless, allowed and encouraged their children to accept the truth.

A son Robert was one of the first of the Scottish people to accept the Restored Gospel. He was baptized in 1843, at the age of 19, just three years after missionaries first preached the Restored Gospel in Scotland.

All the sons were encouraged to develop their talents. It was a common scene for one of the older boys to play the fiddle while the others toe danced. Each changed intermittently so the one who had been playing the violin or harmonica could join in the dance.

The Letham home was a place of activity. Each member was required to help with the chores, to obtain a good education and to learn a trade. The boys were lovers of good dogs. Many a prize English Bull dog was owned by them.

THE THREE LEATHAM PATRIARCHS

Urquhart Letham

The following article concerning the family of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham was printed in the Deseret News in 1915 and the photo on the opposite page accompanied the article:

THREE BROTHERS WHO ARE PATRIARCHS <sup>2</sup>

Old timers--and some who are not so old--will readily recognize in the above group three brothers who came here many years ago from Scotland and have been active workers in their respective communities ever since. They are from left to right, Alexander, William and John Leatham, and all enjoy the distinction of being Patriarchs in the Church, an honor rarely bestowed upon three members of the same family at one time.

Alexander came to Utah from Lanarkshire, Scotland in 1863, and after spending some time in Salt Lake City, took up his residence in Cache Valley, later moving to Rexburg, Idaho, where he has lived for 35 years.

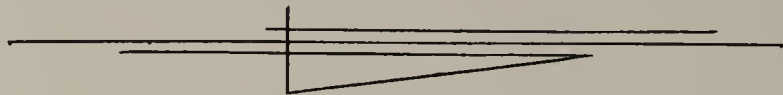

William came to Utah in July, 1871, and moved from Wellsville to Dixie in 1878, taking up residence in Leeds, Washington County, where he lived until 1893 when he returned to make his home in Salt Lake City.

John emmigrated to Utah in 1854, and later accompanied Joseph Horne to southern Utah where they had been called by President Brigham Young to assist in locating settlements. On his return to Salt Lake City, he moved to Wellsville, Cache County and subsequently went to Teton Basin, Idaho where he became a leading spirit in pioneering the way for those who followed to that section. He was Bishop's counsellor for many years and was ordained a Patriarch 14 years ago, since which time he has blessed some 400 persons. Alexander has been a Patriarch for 10 years and William for one year.

Three other brothers, James, Robert and Daniel, also shared their fortunes with the saints, while a fourth, Andrew, remained in Scotland and died there five years ago at the age of 68. Robert was amongst the first settlers of Wellsville, and was a bishop at Providence, Utah, when he passed away in 1885, age 61 years. Daniel was a well known residence of SugarHouse Ward when he died in 1911, at the age of 73. James came here in 1853 and for 56 years has been a resident of the Sixth Ward, in this City where he still lives. He is 85 years of age and is one of the prominent high priests of Pioneer Stake, having been counselor to the President of the High Priest Quorum from the organization of the stake until just recently, when he was released on account of his advancing years.

These brothers were all converted to the gospel in their native land and have been unwavering in their testimony of the truth throughout all these years.

All have reared large families, many of whom are prominent in the various communities in which they live. A sister Mrs. James Hunter, (Agnes) is also a resident of Salt Lake City.

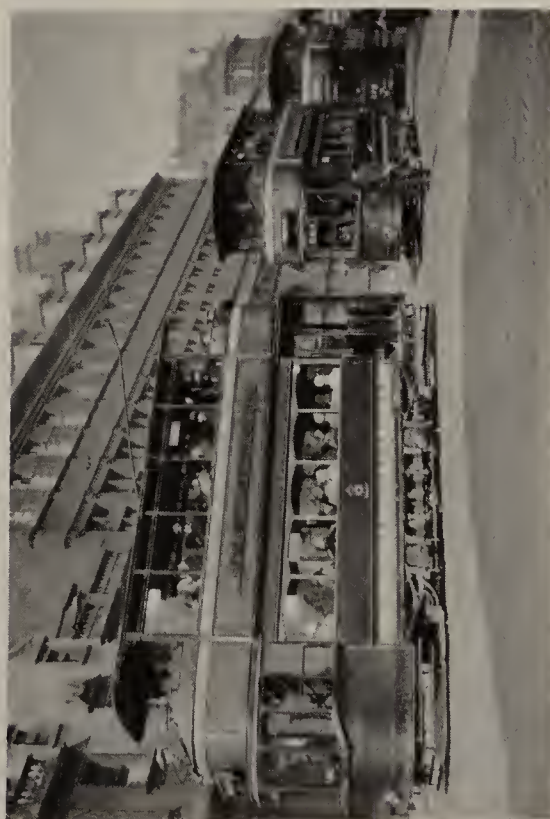

The name LETHAM was changed to LEATHAM by most of the sons and daughter Agnes, after their arrival in the United States. It is related that Robert and James were told by a university professor that the correct spelling in America should be Leatham with the pronunciation then being used. Daniel and some of the others, however, never adopted the new spelling but stuck to the original Letham spelling.

The family group charts on the following pages contain the genealogical data of Robert Letham, his immediate family and his ancestors as far back as has been obtained.

JANET URQUHART

JANET URQUHART

JANET URQUHART, the Highland lassie who smiled her way into Robert Letham's life, had many ancestors of the gentry or landed class. A daughter of James and Barbara Cumming Urquhart, she was born July 8, 1804, in Campbelltown, Ardersier Parish, near Fort George, Inverness-shire, on Moray Firth in the scenic Highlands of Scotland.

Education here occupied a high place in the lives of the people just as in the birth-place of her husband. Residents of the Inverness area are reputed to speak the most perfect English of anywhere in the world.

Janet's mother was of the gentry. According to family tradition she was disinherited by her family because she fell in love with her music teacher. He was considered below her station. As a girl she rode a pony to school, a sign of opulence and station.

Her mother, Barbara Cumming, was born at Miltown, Edinkillie Parish, (literally, "The Face in the Woods,") population 1237, in Morayshire, eight and a half miles south of Forres, inland from Inverness. Her father James Urquhart was born at Croy, Inverness-shire, Scotland.

There are few families whose names figure more prominently in the history of Inverness-shire, Morayshire and Elginshire than the peerage family of the Urquhart's, Cumming's and Munro's from whom Janet descended.

The Urquhart family is traced to Gallerverh de Urchart, who lived in the time of King Alexander II of Scotland. His descendants were hereditary sheriffs of Cromarty. Urquhart is a common place name as well as family name in the shires of Moray, Inverness and Ross. The name, genealogists say, appeared in Scotland in the 12th and 14th Centuries as Urchard.

Pertaining to the family name Cumming, George Frazer Black (The Surnames of Scotland, N.Y., 1946, pp. 191-2) writes:

"Cumming, with its several derivatives, was in the early times a popular name in Scotland. The powerful family of Comyn or Cumyn are believed to have come from the vicinity of Lille, France. The name is generally written with a prefix "da" in early Scotch records. It is said that the immediate family of William Comyn, Earl of Buchan, obtained for a time, the Earldom of Angus and Athole and by the middle of the 13th Century there were in Scotland four Earls, one Lord and thirty-two belted knights of the name Comyn. "

Campbelltown (Campbelton) is in the parish of Ardersier, County of Inverness. The parish, with the garrison of Fort George, is listed as having 1475 inhabitants of whom 716 reside within the village limits. Ardersier as a parish name goes back to at least the 13th century.

Janet was visiting the little mining community in Barony Parish, Lanarkshire (near Glasgow) when she met her husband-to-be, Robert Letham, then returning from his work as a miner.

It was love at first sight. They were married June 23, 1822, and made their home nearby, rearing seven sons and three daughters. Two other sons died in infancy and were buried in Shettleston graveyard.

A member of the Church of Scotland, she never joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She encouraged her sons and daughters in their Church activities, however, and was friendly to the cause of truth.

After her husband's death, March 10, 1860, Janet continued to live in Craig-end Cottage, Garthamlock, until she left for America. Her sons William and Daniel helped support her when they became old enough to work.

For some time Janet was caretaker and in charge of the locks along the Monkland Canal near her home. This canal was begun in 1770 and is about 12 miles long, connecting coal mines with Glasgow-Old and New Monkland. Observing a custom of the time, Janet sometimes smoked a clay pipe as she sat in her little rocking chair relaxing from her work in Craig-end Cottage. She observed many barges daily plying between industrial sections of the country side.

Mrs. Janet Buchanan Evans remembers that as a girl she used to visit Janet Urquhart Letham at the locks and read with her the letters from America which came from both the Lethams and Buchanans who had gone to America.

Janet was a widow for 13 years (1860 to 1873.) She left Scotland in 1871, and came to Utah with her son Daniel. She made her home near the residence of her son James and his wife Margaret Irvine, who lived in the old Sixth Ward at Fourth West and Third South Streets. The Janet Letham home was near the present site of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Station.

She died March 15, 1873, at the age of 69, and was buried in the James Leatham lot in the Salt Lake City Cemetery (Plat G Blk 3, Lot 5.) (see No.2, page 29)

The Barbara Letham Branch

BARBARA LETHAM

Chapter 3

BARBARA LETHAM

BARBARA LETHAM (Number 1, Page 13) was the first child born to Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham. She was born March 4, 1823, at Lightburn, Barony Parish, Lanarkshire, Scotland, the birthplace of her father.

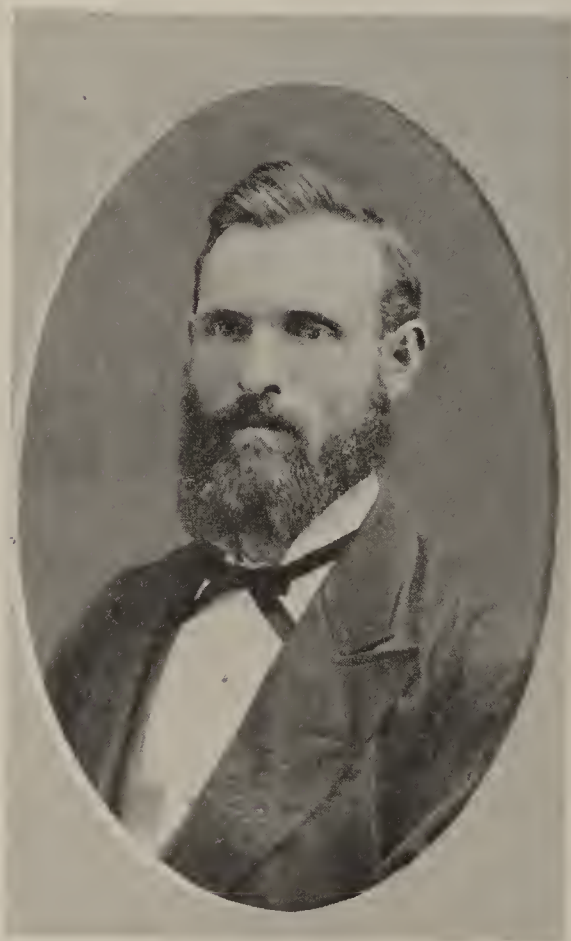

Barbara lived most of her life in her native land of Scotland. On December 31, 1843, she was married (1st) to George Shearer in Glasgow. (See page 47 ). He died less than three years later on August 26, 1846, leaving her a widow with two small children, Janet, age two years and John, age two months. Barbara moved in with her parents at Garthamlock where she lived for a time. Her daughter, Janet (Jessie) Shearer was the same age as her uncle William Leatham, Barbara's youngest brother, and the two children grew up together.

She married (2nd) Daniel McPherson and became the mother of seven more children. (See page 50)

Her son John Shearer came to Utah where he lived for many years, dying in Salt Lake City on September 8, 1915. He was unmarried. Her son James G. McPherson also came to America, and for many years served as water-master of Eureka, Utah, dying in Nephi, Utah without issue November 2, 1917.

Barbara, like her brothers, recognized the truthfulness of the Restored Gospel of Jesus Christ, and was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, June 27, 1861, the same day that her brother Andrew was baptized.

She died November 23, 1907, at the age of eighty-five years after a useful life, and was buried in Jamfield Cemetery, Glasgow, Scotland.

Chapter 4

DESCENDANTS OF BARBARA LETHAM

JANET (JESSIE) SHEARER (Number 1, Page 47 ), wife of Alexander Miller, was born at Garthamlock, Lanarkshire, Scotland on August 4, 1844, the daughter of George and Barbara Letham Shearer. She grew up with the Letham children, and was only eight months younger than her uncle William Leatham.

Janet was the mother of a large family.

In 1927, at the age of eighty-five, she exhibited a kindness and friendliness which virtue seemed to make up her character. It was during this time (1927-28) that the author Elder Louis S. Leatham visited her many times in Glasgow. He was then serving as a Mormon missionary. She always prepared food, and would quietly give the writer a ten shilling note to help the work of the Lord along. She was a good woman and loved her relatives.

HUGH MILLER (Number 10, Page 48 ), son of Alexander and Janet (Jessie) Shearer Miller, was born June 27, 1883, at Dennistown, Glasgow, Scotland. The author also visited Hugh and his family during his missionary work in Scotland. At that time he was active in business and exhibited a keen intellect; he owned and operated a grocery store in Glasgow, and he was a member of the Glasgow City Council. He could quote Shakespeare by the yard and was a great reader and an admirer of Abraham Lincoln, the American Emancipator.

He was friendly toward the Mormon Church and told the author if he lived in the U.S. he would join the L.D.S. Church.

Recent letters addressed to Hugh Miller at his last known address have been returned. (See page 49)

ROBERT LEATHAM

1824-1885

Chapter 5

ROBERT LEATHAM 1824-1885

ROBERT LEATHAM (Number 2, Page 13) was born in Milncroft, Lanarkshire, Scotland, July 24, 1824. He was the eldest son of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart. He was one of God's noblemen--faithful, dependable, full of integrity, and zealous in promoting the interest of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. He spent his life building up the kingdom of God both spiritually and temporally.

He was baptized a member of the L.D.S. Church on October 3, 1843, by Elder John Bell and served as a traveling elder preaching the gospel in Scotland for two years. Following his baptism, he met Jane Steele and they were married Christmas Day, 1847.

In the fall of 1849, he left Scotland with his wife and infant son, Robert Steele Leatham, and embarked for America on the ship "Sailor Prince." The voyage was tedious over the rough sea, and the baby died during the voyage and was buried in the Atlantic Ocean. They came via New Orleans and up the Mississippi River. Robert worked in the coal mines in Pennsylvania and lived for a time in St. Louis where their eldest daughter Rosalia was born. In the summer of 1852, the small family started the long journey across the plains for Utah in Captain Carden's Company. While enroute the second daughter Annabelle was born at Hams Fork, Wyoming on August 31, 1852. That same year they arrived in Salt Lake City.

Soon after arrival in the valley, Robert Leatham was called by President Brigham Young to go to southern Utah, there to help open the coal and iron mines. He moved his family to Cedar City, and he was in Cedar City at the time of the Mountain Meadow Massacre, working in the coal mine when a mob came for him at his home. His wife Jane told them she did not know where he was nor when he would be back and they said, "If we cannot find him, we must have his rifle." One of the men stepped into the house and took the gun that was hanging on the wall over the bed.

In 1859, he was told by Brigham Young to take his family and to make his home in Cache Valley. Complying, Robert moved his family to Maughan's Fort (Wellsville), the oldest settlement in the fertile Cache Valley at that time, where he obtained land of his own. The rest of Robert and Jane's children were born here. (See page 126)

In accordance with the teachings and practices of the L.D.S. Church, Robert married (second) Mary Ann Williams, daughter of John and Rebecca (Evans) Williams, on October 17, 1868 in the old Endowment House at Salt Lake City. (See page 314).

In Cache Valley Robert Leatham's chief occupation was farming; although in rearing and educating his large family in the district schools and the Brigham Young College at Logan, he was compelled to work at various occupations. During 1868 and 1869, he worked for the Union Pacific Construction Company building the Utah and Northern Railroad from Ogden into Idaho. It was related of him by his associates that during this time he showed his faith in the teachings of his church in the following way: Being in charge of a number of men, Robert decided that he and his men would not work on Sunday; instead, they would retain the spirit of their religion by singing the beautiful hymns of Zion and reading the scriptures. At the end of the month it was found that his company of men had accomplished more work and had bigger checks than those of the other outfits who had worked on Sundays. Many of the other outfits later followed Robert's example.

The early settlers of Wellsville built their log houses in a fort touching each other for protection against the Ute Indians, who with their Chief, Pocatello, were on the warpath making many raids, stealing horses and cattle, and at one time killing a woman, and stealing a child. Because of the trouble with the Indians a committee of men was chosen to settle all difficulties. Robert was one of the men chosen who would hold a peace council and usually pacify the Indians with food, beef, flour and other provisions. He was also an officer (lieutenant) in the Cavalry of "Minute-Men" or "Home Guard" that was organized, and in his uniform of blue with gold braid and epaulet he trained the militia to defend themselves and their families against the Indians. With the drill grounds being in the fields north of Mendon, the men and boys drilled using the sword and rifle as weapons. Later the militia was disorganized because the U.S. Government objected to the Mormons keeping an army of any kind.

Robert was appointed in 1866, and served for eighteen years as superintendent of the Wellsville Sunday School, during which time he had a perfect punctuality and attendance record. Many improvements in Sunday School and in the program were made under his supervision at that time. He instituted the five minute talks and programs of children's exercises--songs and parts of the gospel which they learned and often recited in concert. Robert was so impressive to the pupils of the Sunday School that years later a woman said that she and her friends thought that he was the Lord Himself.

The Wellsville Sunday School was often complimented by the Church Authorities; once in the Salt Lake Tabernacle. The teachers learned to follow Robert Leatham's example and loved him very much. Once when he was at conference in Salt Lake City the men plowed his fields to show their respect, and at another time they surprised him with a gold watch and a suit of clothes.

He and his family suffered hardships and poverty which was the lot of all the pioneers. One incident is remembered when the family did not have any flour for the entire winter. They lived on potatoes so small that they could not peel them. Robert obtained work at Brigham City. He was then Superintendent of the Sunday School and one Sunday night about ten o'clock, he changed his clothes and walked through the canyon to Brigham City in time for work Monday morning. Working all week, he received a sack of flour, which he carried on his back to Wellsville Saturday night so he might be to Sunday School the next day. He arrived home at three o'clock in the morning. In the morning his wife took some of the flour mixed with salt and water and cooked some cakes on top of the stove. The children exclaimed that it was the best bread that they had ever eaten.

Besides his work in the church and other duties, Robert Leatham taught in the public and district schools of Wellsville and Logan. He was an excellent mathematician and served as school trustee for many years; part of the time, he served as the sole trustee. During this time he built what was then a grand stone school house with built in book cases and a platform and a cloak-room. He did most of the carpentry and masonry work himself, donating much of his time and labor. Years later when Mr. Willard Cranney of Logan was sent to audit his books, he said, "I have never audited such perfect books in my life. Why, he even has it in his books when he paid Miss Gibbs out of his own wheat bin for teaching school."

Being a master at his trade of stone masonry, Robert Leatham helped lay the corner stones for both the Salt Lake and the Logan temples.

In 1884, he was released from the superintendency of the Wellsville Sunday School and called to preside as Bishop of the Providence Ward. After holding this position one year, he was stricken with appendicitis while working on a meeting house and died October 25, 1885 at the age of 61. He left nineteen children--eleven born to Jane Steele and eight born to Mary Ann Williams. The following obituary of Bishop Robert Leatham appeared in the newspaper:

"The funeral of Bishop Robert Leatham was held at Wellsville on October 26, 1885. The last sad rites to the memory of Bishop Robert Leatham took place at Wellsville on October 26, and were very impressive. The throng in attendance was more than our large meeting house could comfortably hold. On the stand were our esteemed brethren, Apostle Moses Thatcher, President C. O. Card, Counselor Orson Smith, Bishops Pitkin of Millville, Molen of Hyrum, Oldham of Paradise, Maughan of Wellsville and Hughes of Mendon also our esteemed friend Brother George W. Thatcher, and many others.

"The deceased had been prominent for many years and was always before the public in some capacity. For a number of years he was Superintendent of the Wellsville Sunday School, which was a great credit to him, and by which he became endeared to the hearts of the children. A little over a year ago he was made Bishop of Providence where he labored unceasingly for the good of the people. Brother Leatham was a very unassuming man. His good conduct and faithfulness were dwelt upon by all the speakers."

Chapter 6

JANE STEELE LEATHAM

JANE STEELE, daughter of Janet Alexander and John Steele, was born in Kilbirnie, Ayrshire, Scotland on September 5, 1830.

THE OLD PIONEER HOME OF ROBERT AND JANE STEELE LEATHAM AT WELLSVILLE, UTAH

JANE STEELE LEATHAM

Her father John Steele was a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, and was said to possess the finest private library in Ayrshire. Ever a student, he passed much of his time in his study which he made more attractive and pleasant by joining to it a conservatory in which he collected many beautiful specimens of flowers and shrubs. He had a garden and raised vegetables, which with cut-flowers he sent daily to Edinburgh market. He was considered an Atheist by many. During his last illness, he was visited by ministers of various denominations each trying to convert him to their particular creed. He joined no church but when asked by one whether he believed in God, he smiled and pointed to his flowers but made no verbal answer.

Janet Alexander Steele, mother of Jane Steele Leatham, was socially inclined, fond of music, an excellent housekeeper, and strongly religious. Such was the home atmosphere that left its mark on the lives of her sons and daughters, who ever remembered their home in bonnie Scotland as ideal.

Sometime during the years 1843 and 1844, Janet Alexander Steele and several members of her family joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, being converted by Elder Robert Leatham, who afterwards married her daughter Jane.

Jane, the youngest daughter of the family, early showed a taste for the best in literature. History, fiction and poetry of most nations made her taste cosmopolitan, which she was able to gratify in her father's library where she spent much of her time. She received the education allowed girls in Scotland at that time, and although very young was an assistant teacher in the elementary schools for some years.

On Christmas Day, 1847, Jane Steele married Robert Leatham, and in the fall of 1849, with her husband and infant son, Robert Steele Leatham, she looked her last on her native land and set sail for America. The voyage was long and tedious and she was very ill. The baby died enroute, being buried in the Atlantic Ocean. They came via New Orleans and lived a few years in Pennsylvania and in St. Louis, Missouri where she was joined by her mother, Janet Alexander Steele, after her father's death. Janet Alexander Steele lived but a short time after coming to America and was buried in St. Louis. There too, their daughter, Rosalia, was born.

Soon after the death of her mother, Jane with her husband Robert and the family started for Utah. Their daughter Annabelle was born at Hams Fork, Wyoming, and they arrived in Salt Lake City in the autumn of 1852. Soon afterwards they went to southern Utah and lived for a time in Cedar City, where their daughter Janet and their son John Steele Leatham were born. In the year 1859, they went to live in Maughan's Fort, (later named Wellsville), the oldest settlement in the beautiful and fertile Cache Valley where with the exception of a short time they spent in Providence, they lived the rest of their lives, and where the following children were born: Jane, Robert Alexander, James, Agnes, Mary and William. (See page 126.)

For a number of years they lived in the fort in close communication with their neighbors for mutual protection against the Indians, who often went on the war-path. There they never slept without guard and the men took their turns watching. At the least sign of danger the militia was almost instantly called and there were only a few serious happenings. One, a woman was killed and another, the stealing of the little "Thurston" girl who died of exposure, but whose fate was not learned until her parents suffered years of agony always searching for her. The community sorrowed with them. Thus the pioneers suffered hardships and sorrow and learned sacrifice and love.

However, life in the fort had its high lights. It was a happy time for the family when they came to live in what then was their beautiful pioneer home. (See photograph, p. 56.)

The house was built of logs with a large front living room which also served as bedroom and kitchen, a girls' bedroom in the back and a large bedroom for the boys upstairs. The large fireplace was the center of activity. The young people liked to gather around it on winter evenings to tell ghost or Indian stories, or to listen to the music of the accordion or flute. There in the quiet of her home, Jane enjoyed her books and often read to the children--tales of Jenny Lind, Florence Nightingale and Mrs. Scott Siddons, fairy tales and fables, or amused them at the plight of Ichabod Crane or Tam O'Shanter. Her voice was beautiful and often in the evening she sang to them the old Scotch and Irish melodies, such as, "The Mistletoe Bough," "Last Rose of Summer," and her favorite song, "Kathleen Mavournee."

Not only did she have a beautiful voice, but she was also talented in writing. She wrote obituaries and other articles for the "Women's Exponent," a paper published in Salt Lake City in the interest of the L.D.S. Relief Society.

In 1879, Jane Steele Leatham was called by Bishop William H. Maughan to go to Salt Lake City and study obstetrics under Dr. Romania Pratt, and then to perform a mission among her people in Cache County. At first her health prevented her from complying, but later Robert bade her go and do her duty. She took this training and became one of the first midwives in Cache Valley. Practicing obstetrics for nineteen years, she became very proficient and was loved and depended upon by all who knew her.

One day while returning from Logan where she had gone for medical supplies with her son James, the horse they were driving became frightened, ran away, and threw her against a telephone pole, fracturing her skull. Apostle Moses Thatcher came to her assistance and took her to his home for medical aid. She remained unconscious for twenty-four hours; she never fully recovered. However, she continued in her profession, but her health continued to decline as a result of the accident, and on January 11, 1901, she died. She was buried in the Wellsville cemetery beside her husband, Robert Leatham.

MARY ANN WILLIAMS LEATHAM

MARY ANN WILLIAMS, wife of Bishop Robert Leatham, was born December 25, 1851, at Aburvale, Glamorganshire, Wales. She was the daughter of John and Rebecca (Evans) Williams

Her father came from Cefn-Coed, Glamorganshire, Wales where he was superintendent of the coal mines and a traveling elder for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. . President David O. McKay's mother was also born in this town. Her grandfather was one of the first converts to the L. D. S. Church from Wales, being converted by elders sent from Nauvoo.

Mary Ann was the sixth child of a family of fifteen children. The children, at the time when Mary Ann was baptized, were frightened at night of a mysterious lady called the "Skipper," but it did not deter her from being baptized at night in the river. When she was twelve years of age, she came to America on a very small vessel, whose passengers also included Polly Jost and John Taylor. While on the sea they encountered such a raging storm that they were afraid of being drowned. However, they landed safely in America and started their trek across the plains in 1862 with an ox team. The women walked nearly all the way except when going down hills, and in crossing creeks when the men of the company would carry them to safety. The ox teams were ferried across the streams on log rafts. Indians molested them a great deal of their journey, but they had faith that God would protect them and He did.

In order to make a camp fire for evening, they would gather buffalo "chips" in the daytime and when their wagons stopped for the night forming a circle, they would build fires in the center around which they would have a meeting and offer prayer to God for his protecting care. God lightened their hearts and gave them courage, for they had much enjoyment, singing, dancing and playing around the fires. At day break the following morning they would continue their perilous journey.

Arriving in Utah in 1862, the Williams family stayed for awhile at the home of George Bywater. Then they went to Tooele and lived in the old fort built by the pioneers for protection against the Indians. So troublesome were the Indians that the gates were guarded day and night by armed men; no women were ever allowed outside the gates and men only ventured out to care for the crops.

While Mary Ann was still a young girl the family moved to Wellsville to live. They traveled the entire distance of almost 150 miles on the running gears of the wagon since they had little money and material was scarce for the "box." Upon arriving in Wellsville, they rented a barn where her brother John was born. Pioneer life was hard, and for a time their mattresses were made with cornhusks or cat-tails.

Soon after, her father built a log cabin, but there were no windows and only the top of the door which was covered with a table cloth let in the light. At the first harvest of crops her father threshed his grain with a flail which he had made. After the crops were harvested, he brought wood from the mountains for burning and for building, while her mother spun all winter and made enough cloth for her father and grandfather a suit, and for her sister Lizzie and herself a dress. A fancy touch was given to the dresses by making colored stripes of blue and yellow dyed in blueing and rabbit brush.

From her father, who it seemed had been trained along this line in the Old Country, Mary Ann learned to knit a "fence" stitch, a "fox" stitch and a "geese" stitch, and to also knit lace and stockings and to refoot stockings. He also taught her to braid straw hats from the bleached grain straw. Because of her father's eyesight becoming very poor, she and her mother made and sold quilted petticoats to make a living. She helped a neighbor milk ten cows and received as pay a bucket of milk each day. She could rake hay, stack wheat and do many other farm jobs. She also made candles from tallow. The first cotton dress she had she earned by pulling sunflowers with her mother. For this labor they received sixteen yards of calico from which, when only thirteen years old, she made her own dress.

As a child Mary Ann had very little time for play. One game she enjoyed was "jack stones" using stones out of the creek. After little recreation she would hurry back to her work and knitting. She remembered once when a lamb died, she pulled the wool off its body and used it for making stockings and "nubbies."

Mary Ann Williams was married to Robert Leatham on October 17, 1868, in the endowment house in Salt Lake City. They became the parents of eight children, four boys and four girls. (See page 314.)

After being married seventeen years her husband died and she was left with a large family to support. Since her children were young and needed her attention, she was unable to leave home but did sewing and weaving of carpets to support her family in her home. She worked long hours at the weaving machine after caring for her children and home. She wove the first carpets for the assembly room in the Logan Temple (about fifty yards).

Later she brought her family to Ogden to live. She was uncomplaining, cheerful and happy in spite of all the pain she was in from physical infirmities and a bad rupture which she patiently suffered for many years. She was past eighty years old when it became absolutely necessary to have her ruptured side operated upon and she smilingly underwent the operation with nothing but a local anesthesia. She contracted but recovered from pneumonia, living about five years thereafter. She died August 25, 1935 in Ogden, Utah and was buried in Wellsville cemetery beside her husband Robert Leatham.

LEVI GARRETT LEATHAM

LEVI GARRETT LEATHAM (Number 5, Page 221 ), fifth child of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born November 8, 1890 in Wellsville, Utah. He began school in Wellsville and finished in Alicel, Oregon where his parents moved and where he worked in the sugar beet fields.

In 1906, he returned to Wellsville with his parents and family. On May 14, 1914, he was called to the British Mission for the L.D.S. Church, spending most of his two years in South Wales. He sailed for Great Britian on the "Virginian". He was laboring in Southern England when World War I broke out and returned home in the spring of 1915 at the height of the German campaign to destroy English shipping. Some of the missionaries in Levi's group had planned to return to the United States on the "S.S. Lusitania" but were advised by the mission president not to do so; whereas, he sailed on the "U. S. S. Scandinanin." Meanwhile the "S.S. Lusitania" was sunk and many passengers were drowned, thus bringing the United States into World War I. Levi went directly to St. Anthony, Idaho where his parents and family were residing, and took up farming on Hog Holler east of St. Anthony.

Levi G. Leatham and his wife Mary Ivie Rose Leatham.

The following year on April 5, 1916, he was married to Mary Ivie Rose in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple by Joseph Fielding Smith. When Mary Ivie was about six years of age she came to Twin Groves, Idaho from Mapleton in a covered wagon. Here she attended school in the first school on the banks of the Snake River. Being the oldest girl in a large family, she helped raise her younger brothers and sisters. She worked in the home of Vera Shark (daughter of George Q. Cannon) for two years; also for a southern lady (Kate Clark) for several years and learned the art of southern cooking. She was active in the M.I.A. program being a beekeeper in Twin Groves when the program was first instituted. She was a counselor in the Y.W.M.I.A. when she was married and since, she has been active in relief society as a block teacher for 30 years. Mary Ivie acted as superintendent in the Junior Sunday School and is active in temple work. She has been through the temple about 400 times. At present, she is active in the Daughter's of the Utah Pioneers organization serving as a captain.

The first few years of their married life, Levi and Ivie dry-farmed east of St. Anthony where their first five children were born. On September 13, 1920, their first daughter died of intestinal disturbances and was buried in the Wilford Cemetery near St. Anthony, Idaho.

Levi moved his family to Shelley, Idaho in the spring of 1916 where he rented a farm on Hayes Project about 4 miles west of Shelley. Two children (Marion and Betty) were born here. Later, in 1940, they bought a farm just inside of the city limits of Shelley which has become their permanent home. They have sent two sons on L.D.S. Missions—Calvin Levi, the eldest son, to Tahiti and their youngest son, Marion Moore, to the Central States. Three of their four sons served in W.W. II, and four of their children attended college. (See page 236.)

The following are some of his offices and services. In Twin Groves he was superintendent of the Sunday School (Jan. 1917-May 1920), YMMIA secretary (1915-20), Chairman and teacher of genealogical committee and Sunday school teacher (1915-16). In St. Anthony he held positions of YMMIA counselor (1923), and ward teacher. He was a stake missionary (1921) in Yellowstone Stake and served as YMMIA counselor in Shelley First Ward (1925), Sunday school teacher (1926-27 and 1949-52), Sunday school superintendent (1936-43), President of the Shelley Stake High Priest Quorum (1943-52) and a MIA teacher (1948-52). Since 1925 he has been a ward teacher and is serving at the present as ward teacher supervisor. He has also been a member of genealogical committee for a number of years and has been to the temples in Idaho Falls, Logan, Manti and Salt Lake City about 400 times.

He is also interested in civic affairs. He ran for Democratic County Commissioner (1948) State Representative from Bingham County (1950) and County Commissioner (1952). Served twelve years as Trustee of Taysom School District (1928-40). Levi was twice President of the Leatham Family Organization (1940 and 1951), was chairman of the Community Commission A.A.A. (1938-48), and a member of the Beet Growers Local Committee (1946 to present). He is still actively engaged in farming and enjoys fishing as a sport. He has traveled extensively in California, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Idaho, as well as, England and Wales.

DR. ELMO PRESTON COBURN

ELMO PRESTON COBURN (Number 3, Page 131), son of John Preston Coburn and Annabelle Leatham, was born September 19, 1883, at Wellsville, Utah. He was blessed on November 2, 1883, and baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints at the age of eight years. When he was nine years old his father died.

He attended elementary school at Wellsville, and the Utah Agricultural College in Logan for three years, after which he attended the Kansas City Veterinary College and graduated in 1912 with a degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine and licensed to practice his profession in Brigham City, Utah.

In Brigham City he married Kate Marie Brandley on November 21, 1912. There he became the Scout Master of the Brigham City Troop # 2, retaining this position until he went into the service of his country (during World War I) in September 1916. He achieved the rank of captain.

From 1918 to 1920, two children were born to Elmo and Kate Marie, a daughter, Elmona Jane who died shortly after birth, and a son, Richard Karl.

In 1921, Dr. Coburn was employed with the Lederle Laboratory taking over their sales in the State of Iowa and traveling throughout the state for four years. He also was a Sunday School superintendent for two years. Here the second son, Elmo Preston, Jr., was born in the Iowa Methodist Hospital in Des Moines.

From 1925 to 1937, Elmo Preston Coburn located for practice in Richmond, Utah. During this time he was ordained a seventy, served four years on the Benson Stake M.I.A Board, served as scout master, served on the Cache Valley Boy Scout Council, was a charter member of the Richmond Lions Club, and was the vice president and president of the Cache Valley baseball league. Two sons were born in Richmond, Don Brandley and Hal Jeremy.

In May 1932, he went to Chicago and was employed at the U.S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry, Meat Inspection Division. While in Chicago he was made a councilor in the branch presidency. The following year he was transferred to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he did a great deal of work in scouting. He was appointed chairman of the Court of Honor for the North District of the Boy Scouts of America, acting in this position for four years; and he acted as Court of Honor Chairman for the Milwaukee County Council for one year. He organized the first boy scout troop sponsored by the L.D.S. Church in Wisconsin with about half non-members of the church, and the first cub scout pack of the L.D.S. Church in Wisconsin in which four out of ten were Latter-Day Saints. He also served for two years as superintendent of the Y.M.M.I.A. of the Milwaukee Branch.

After he resigned from government service in September 1939, he practiced veterinary medicine in Smithfield, Utah, until August 1940, when he moved to St. Anthony, Idaho. Since going to St. Anthony he has served one term as mayor of the city, during which time he purchased the St. Anthony Hospital and served two years as the first chairman of its board; completed the armory building; and purchased and put into operation the St. Anthony Airport.

He has held many civic positions. He served one year as commander of the American Legion Post and one year as the district commander of the seventh district. At two different times he was appointed as delegate to the national convention; once in Milwaukee, and another time in Los Angeles.

Elmo's wife, Marie, has always been very active in L.D.S. Church work. she served many years as president of all the different auxiliaries, stake secretary of the genealogical society, a charter member of the Chicago Stake Relief Society Board, and she has completed twenty-five years of Primary work. At the present, she is a member of the Yellowstone Stake Relief Society Stake Board and a teacher in the Junior Sunday School of the St. Anthony First Ward.

Two of their sons, Don Brandley and Hal Jeremy have completed missions for the L.D.S. Church in the Northern States and Central Atlantic States respectively. Richard is a professor of mathematics at Ricks College; Elmo is manager of the Albertson Food Store in Vale, Oregon; Don is training in reactor technology at Oakridge, Tennessee under a government scholarship; and Hal is working for the Atomic Energy Commission as a chemist for the Health-Physics Division at Idaho Falls. Three sons have served in the Armed Forces and Hal, who will be married this year (1954), is waiting his call into the service as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve. The Coburn's have ten grand-children. (See page 134.)

ROBERTA LEATHAM

ROBERTA LEATHAM, (No. 4, Page 236), the fourth child of Levi Garrett Leatham and Mary Ivie Rose Leatham, was born April 23, 1922, in St. Anthony, Idaho. She was named after her grandfather, Robert Alexander Leatham. She moved with her parents to Shelley, Idaho, in 1924. Her elementary education was obtained at Taysom, west of Shelley, in a two-room school house. She attended high school at Shelley and was active in school affairs, having leading parts in three school plays and being entered in several speech contests. She was a graduate from the Shelley L.D.S. Seminary in her sophomore year. For about six years, she was active in 4 H work during the summer months and was leader of a group for two years. She won several honors in her 4 H work, one of them being a scholarship to the University of Idaho, which she did not use.

In 1940-41 Roberta went to Ricks College at Rexburg, Idaho, on a scholarship presented by the Shelley Stake Seminary, majoring in home economics. The following years she worked at Mallory's Department Store in Shelley. She attended business college in Idaho Falls for nine months during the 1942-43 term. The school being closed in 1943, she came to Salt Lake City with her cousin, Velda Leatham, with the intention of finishing business training at the L.D.S. Business College in Salt Lake City. She was encouraged by a friend to go to work at the Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which she did. She was put on their research staff and was given specialized training in this work for a period of time, being then assigned her own patrons. She was a member of their staff for over four years. During this time she was active in church and special fireside activities in the 18th Ward. She was set apart as a stake missionary in the Ensign Stake and served in this assignment for 18 months.

Roberta attended the University of Utah in 1945-46 while she was still on the research staff at the Genealogical Society. She followed the major of Child Development and received much training she has been able to use to advantage.

While working at the Genealogical Society, Roberta met Rex B. Lindsay, who was also working there as a part-time employee while attending the University of Utah. They were married April 3, 1946, in the Salt Lake Temple by Elder Mark E. Peterson. (See Page 111 for Rex's biography.)

Roberta continued to work for about 18 months following her marriage at the Society and Rex continued his education. They moved to Ephraim, Utah, in the fall of 1947 where Rex taught psychology, education and social problems classes at Snow College. They were active in school, church and social activities at Ephraim, where Roberta also took extension classes from the U.S.A.C. at Logan to further her education. She served two years as an officer in the women's faculty organization and was a teacher in the M.I. A.

In October, 1951, Roberta and Rex with their two children moved to Bountiful, Utah, and Rex took a job with the federal government. Two children have been born since coming to Bountiful where they still reside. (See Page 239) Roberta is active in genealogical work in the Third Ward in Bountiful and also serves as genealogist for the Leatham Family Association and also the Garrett family organization.

GEORGE WILLIAMS LEATHAM

GEORGE WILLIAMS LEATHAM, (No. 8 Page 314), son of Robert Leatham and Mary Ann Williams, was born December 29, 1883, in Wellsville, Utah. His father at that time was in Providence, a small town on the other side of the valley, building a home for the family, as he had recently been appointed Bishop of the Providence LDS Ward.

When George was about one year old, his father died leaving his widowed mother with seven children to rear. The boy left school after a time, in order to help his mother run a small farm. She also wove and sold carpets to supplement the family income. When George was about 16 years old, the family moved to Ogden, where he lived for many years. George worked with his brother, Alexander, in the electrical wiring business when the Utah Power & Light Company first established its operations in Ogden. In 1900, he served an apprenticeship as lineman for the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Company. Subsequently he worked as lineman for the Utah Power & Light Company in Ogden, transferring to the meter division, where he later became head of the department. Realizing his scholastic insufficiency, he determined to obtain more education and enrolled as a student at Smith's Business College, attending evening classes. He studied reading, writing and arithmetic, finally completing a course in electrical engineering from the International Correspondence School. About 1907, George left the employ of the Power Company to assume the duties of superintendent of the Ely Light and Power Company, Ely, Nevada. He later became superintendent of construction for the White Pine County Telephone Company. He tried his hand working in the gold mines of California and as a lineman for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in San Francisco, but, becoming homesick, returned to Ogden in 1910 where he was employed as a construction foreman by the Bell Telephone Company.

Some years later, George served as deputy sheriff of Weber County under his brother-in-law, Ed. Harrison, who was sheriff at that time. For five years, 1912 to 1917, George served the citizens of the community in this capacity, traveling to nearly all states in the Union in the line of duty.

It was during this period that he met Myrtle Chugg, whom he married April 1, 1914. Not being blessed with children of their own, George and his wife adopted Donald Carl, at the age of two weeks, and reared him to maturity. (See Page 335.)

Following the election of 1917 and the public selection of new officials, George resumed his employment with the Utah Power and Light Company, where within a short time he became superintendent of the Layton district comprizing all territory between Ogden and Salt Lake City. In 1929, George returned to Ogden, where he was with the industrial sales department of the company. In 1935 he became district representative or manager of all Utah Power and Light Company business south and east of Soldier Summit, where he remained until 1953. On December 29, 1953, he was honorably retired at the age of 70, and is now living at Price, Utah.

George served as president of the Industrial Club of Ogden; was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, both of Ogden and of Price, Utah; member of Rotary Club, and served as chairman of the Carbon County Draft Board from 1941 to 1946. His own son was called into service during this period. He also was chairman of several U. S. Savings Bond drives and is still serving in some of these and many other civic duties.

JANE STEELE LEATHAM GLENN

JANE STEELE LEATHAM GLENN, (No. 4, Page 260), daughter of James Hamilton Steele Leatham and Margaret Bailey, was born December 27, 1901. Blessed by her grandfather, Charles R. Bailey, baptized by Richard Brenchley, she was later confirmed by Heber Parker, Sr. Coming from talented parents, she began reciting at public gatherings when she was four years old, and has continued this practice throughout her life.

Her father died when Jane was seven, leaving her mother with six little children to support. As a young girl, Jane did odd jobs for others, in order to help out the condition at home.

She attended school at Wellsville, taking part in dramas and public speaking.

When Jane was sixteen, her mother again married, to her brother-in-law. A baby was born of this union, but a week after its birth, the mother died. By this time, Jane's older sister, Susie, had married, so Jane made a home for her brothers and the baby.

On October 22, 1919, Jane married Harold Bankhead Glenn in the L.D.S. Temple at Logan, Utah. He was born May 4, 1898, a son of Adam S. Glenn and Martha Bankhead, receiving his education in Wellsville and South Cache and working in the Lewiston Sugar Factory until the time of his marriage.

Jane and Harold farmed for a time, and during World War II, Harold worked as a guard at Bushnell Hospital at Brigham City, Utah. Both Harold and his wife have been active in church and civic affairs throughout their lives. He is at present superintendent of the Sunday School of the Wellsville Second Ward, his wife is a Primary teacher, and has also taught Mutual, Religion Class and Relief Society classes. She was president of the Primary for five years. Harold has been president of the seventies and is now a high priest.

The couple have been blessed with five sons, who have been much comfort to their parents. (See Page 273) All five have served with the armed services, four of them at one time during World War II. The sons are all married and have given Jane and Harold nine lovely grandchildren.

Jane did much writing of poems and stories. The following copy of one of her poems was always carried by each of her sons when away from home:

BOY OF MINE

Dear touseled-headed boy of mine,
As this day draws to its close,
I send a prayer to God above
To keep you safe from harm.

To save you from the sins of men
That are in the world today,
To make you the man, we would have you be
For this we will ever pray.

From birth we have cherished and loved you
And taught you the things that are right;
Our prayers are always for you
In the day as well as the night.

The first little clasp of your finger tips
Did something to our hearts,
They tied a knot in our heart strings
That we cannot tear apart.

The first little things you did, dear,
Filled us so full of joy,
But the fine manly things you now do,
Thrill us just the same, my boy.

But when a wrong step you have taken
Our hearts sink in despair;
So when tempted, remember, my dear boy
You've a mother and father who care.

Hold your head up, and do the things
You would like the world to see,
Keep yourself clean and as spotless as when You knelt at your mother's knee.

Don't be afraid to stick to the right
Whenever you're called to task;
Be the man we would always have you be,
That's all any parent could ask.

And again, as this day draws to its close,
We pray to our Father above,
"Oh, watch and guard and bless, dear God,
That boy we so dearly love."

As her boys departed for the service, Jane wrote the following:

MY SOLDIER BOYS

I'm lending my boys to you, Uncle Sam,
Five stalwart and handsome young men,
To fight for the freedom we hold so dear,
In this beautiful Promised Land.

They are priceless treasures I'm sending you,
So brave and strong and true,
And the job of watching and guarding those boys,
Uncle Sam, I'm leaving to you.

But I'll add my prayers and tears each day
For their care and protection, too,
And I know I can trust and depend, Uncle Sam,
For the rest to be done by you.

My heart was almost torn apart,
To see them, my handsome sons,
Leaving their homes and loved ones too,
To march off to the roar of guns.

Those boys are my pride and joy, Uncle Sam,
And so willing to do their part,
Like hundreds of other mothers' boys
Who were ready from the start.

So give them the best you've got, Uncle Sam,
And they'll give their best to you.
Whether at home or o'er seas they may be
To the U.S. they'll always be true.

And I'm sure the Lord will help, Uncle Sam,
With the burden you have to bear,
Because from these boys, and parents too
Every day will come a prayer.

That this strife will soon be over,
And love will again reign supreme;
From the grist of our noble men,
The wicked will all be gleaned.

And our boys will all come marching home,
Victorious and happy too,
As they were the day we loaned them,
Uncle Sam, to our country and you.

JAMES HAMILTON STEELE LEATHAM

JAMES HAMILTON STEELE LEATHAM, (No. 8, Page 126), son of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele Leatham, was born May 30, 1862, at Wellsville, Utah. His parents were very talented and of Scottish descent. James came from a Mormon polygamist family, his father having had plural wives.

As a small boy and throughout his life, James gave many recitations on many programs. He attended school at Wellsville, later receiving his teacher's permit at Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah. During this period he was active in dramatics and on debating teams, organizing his own groups in drama and debate and traveling throughout the State. He was interested in many sports, being an excellent swimmer. He taught school for many years in Cherry Creek and Rockland, Idaho, and College Ward and Wellsville in Utah.

At the age of 33, in 1895, he married Margaret Bailey, daughter of Susannah Hawkins and Charles R. Bailey, who also had plural wives. In 1901, James and Margaret had their marriage solemnized and their three children sealed to them in the L.D.S. Temple. Later three additional children were born to them. (See Page 260).

MARGARET BAILEY LEATHAM and JAMES HAMILTON STEELE LEATHAM

For years after his marriage, James taught school, and later the couple homesteaded near Paradise, Utah, where they participated in many different activities of the L.D.S. Church.

In 1903, James was appointed as first forest ranger of the Logan Forest Reserve, now included in the Cache Forest Reserve. In 1906, he built a new home for his family of which they were very proud. They were all very happy but sometime later tragedy struck. While returning home on November 28, 1908, James was involved in a run-away accident resulting in serious injury to him and ultimately causing his death.

For the next three years, the widow and her six small children had a very difficult time getting along, and on July 28, 1911, her small six-year-old daughter passed away as a result of a serious case of scarlet fever. Sometime later, Margaret was operated on for a breast cancer. Margaret did much practical nursing, aiding many babies into the world.

During World War I, her two sons were called into the service, causing her much anxiety, but they both returned home safely.

In 1918, Margaret married her brother-in-law, George H. Murray, and on April 25, 1919, gave birth to a baby boy named Don. A week later, on May 2, 1919, after severe illness, she passed away at the age of forty-four, leaving a heart-broken family.

A daughter, Jane, made a home for her brothers until she married Harold Glenn, after which she and her husband raised Don as their own.

In 1953, James Hamilton Steele Leatham had twenty grandchildren, twenty great grandchildren, and ten of his grandsons have served in the armed forces.

Chapter 14

LOUIS NORDGREN LEATHAM

LOUIS NORDGREN LEATHAM, (No. 8 Page 304), was born May 2, 1915, at Wellsville, Utah, a son of Joseph William Steele Leatham and Ida Amelia Johnson Nordgren. He was blessed July 4, 1915, by Elder William L. Coburn, baptized December 1, 1923, at Wellsville by S. John Perkins, confirmed December 2, 1923, by George Perkins, ordained a deacon by Alex W. Archibald January 29, 1928. Later he was ordained a teacher by Bishop John J. Hendry February 11, 1930, a priest by Parley G. Hall, December 18, 1933, an elder by John C. Brenchley December 18, 1938, and a seventy by S. Dilworth Young of the First Council of Seventy on November 23, 1952. He received his patriarchal blessing July 22, 1941 from Orson M. Wilson.

He attended the Floradell and Junior High School at Wellsville, and graduated from the South Cache High School at Hyrum in 1935. In 1935, he also graduated from the South Cache L.D.S. Seminary.

With his brother, Eldon, he worked on his mother's farm until 1942, and for two months, was employed by the Union Pacific Railroad. He also worked on the construction of the U. S. Army Bushnell Hospital at Brigham City, Utah, now the Intermountain Indian School.

In November, 1942, he was drafted into the Army, receiving basic training at Camp Robison, at Little Rock, Arkansas; Ordnance Automotive School at Waco, Texas, and further training at Jefferson Barracks near St. Louis, Missouri; then was sent to a replacement camp in California. On May 31, 1943, he sailed for Brisbane, Australia, where he was assigned to the 475th Fighter Group in the Fifth Air Force (later Far Eastern Air Force). He served in New Guinea, the East Indies, and the Philippines, his work being an airplane mechanic. During this period he worked on planes flown by Major McAfee, Major McGuire, and Colonel Charles A. Lindberg.

Returning home after an honorable discharge from the U.S. Army on August 12, 1945, he married Margaret M. Turnbow, May 15, 1946, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. The marriage was performed by Robert I. Burton.

Margaret M. Turnbow, wife of Louis Nordgren Leatham, was born September 2, 1920, at Tabiona, Duchesne County, Utah, a daughter of Benjamin Octavious Turnbow and Effie Eliza Jones. She was one of twelve children, being a twin, the other twin, Mary, died at the age of five months. Margaret was blessed November 7, 1920, by John H. Jones, an uncle, was baptized September 2, 1928, by her father, Benjamin Octavious Turnbow, and confirmed September 2, 1928. She attended school in Tabiona but left after the tenth grade to help care for her younger sisters, her mother having died when she was seven years old. Being active in the L.D.S. Church, she worked as secretary and later as second counselor of the Y.W.M.I.A. She received a patriarchal blessing in 1947 from John C. Brenchley. In March, 1942, she moved to Salt Lake City with her father and younger sisters.

After marriage, this couple made their home in Wellsville, where Louis worked as a farmer, moving later to Jerome, Idaho, and still later, returning to their home in Wellsville, Utah.

Louis worked at the Utah General Depot at Ogden as a mechanic for three years and is now employed at Clearfield, Utah, at the Naval Supply Depot.

To date, December, 1954, five children have been born to them. (See Page 311).

Louis was active in dramatics, taking part in several dramas presented by the M.I.A. and Sunday School. He was in the Y.M.M.I.A. Presidency, serving also as secretary and later president of the Sixth Quorum of Elders of the Hyrum Stake, and is now class instructor and also secretary of the 28th Quorum of Seventies of Hyrum Stake, at the same time being active in genealogy and temple work.

The accompanying photograph shows Louis holding the sword of his grandfather, Robert Leatham, (No. 2, Page 13 ), an officer of the Militia in Wellsville in early times.

Chapter 15

MARY ANN PAINTER LEATHAM

MARY ANN PAINTER LEATHAM, wife of John S. Leatham, and daughter of William Painter and Elizabeth Bradshaw, was born in 1862 at Wellsville, Utah, in the old Maughn's Fort. She attended school in the old rock school house between the ages of seven and fifteen, getting about three months schooling yearly.

She married John Steele Leatham in the year 1879 in the Salt Lake Endowment House and became the mother of fourteen children, ten girls and four boys. Six children died in infancy, and one at five years of age. (See Page 167). She was left a widow in 1920, at the age of fifty-eight years, with seven surviving children.

Sixteen years before her death, she said:
"I have passed through many trying ordeals and hardships in my day. I went from my father's home to my uncle's to work at the age of twelve. There I worked and got a little schooling until I was fifteen. I then went to Logan and lived with my cousin, Mrs. Sarah Card, for six months, and worked for Margaret Ballard of that city. From there I came home and lived with Janet Bradshaw for one winter, earning my own living from the time I was twelve years old.

"I am now sixty-two years of age (this letter was written in 1924) and still able to do a good day's work. I feel that my life has not been wasted and the Lord has blessed me. Every day my faith is stronger. I am only waiting for my husband's call to go. I know that I will meet him in the eternal world. I cannot say, 'Then I have finished my day's work,' for my day's work will begin again. I feel like I could improve in many ways and what a glorious feeling to know that I will have a chance again; that I can go on and live forever and meet and mingle with the dear ones who have gone home. This has always been my haven of rest. My family has been my joy and pride. I hope to keep the faith and, when my time does come, that I can say 'All is well' and go in peace."

Mary Ann Painter Leatham died on June 30, 1940, at Wellsville, Utah.

JOHN STEELE LEATHAM

JOHN STEELE LEATHAM, (No. 5 Page 126) son of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, was born August 5, 1856, at Cedar City, Iron County, Utah. When he was three years of age (1859) he came with his parents and his sisters, Rosalia, Annabelle, Janet and Jane, to Cache Valley and settled in Wellsville. His early education was limited in schooling but varied in experience. John grew up in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was baptized and ordained to the various offices in the priesthood according to the custom. He was ordained an elder in 1876 and was married to Mary Ann Painter on December 12, 1879, in the old Endowment House in Salt Lake City by George A. Smith. From this union fourteen children were born, ten girls and four boys. (See Page 311).

John Steele Leatham was ordained a seventy in the L.D.S. Church on February 15, 1885 by William Willie and was appointed as one of the seven presidents of the seventies quorum in Wellsville. He was called and set apart to fill a mission to Great Britain December 3, 1897, and labored in the Scottish District until November 25, 1899, when he was honorably released. While he was in Scotland he rendered a great service in searching out the records of his Scottish ancestors. He was considered one of the best genealogists of his day.

His early life was spent on the farm with his father, and at the age of twenty years he began freighting from the railroad center at Corinne to the mining camps in Montana and continued at this work for ten years, after which he bought a ranch in Wellsville Canyon, which he worked for thirty years.

During his career he held many local offices, such as Justice of the Peace; Constable; served as City Councilman for one term; Assessor and Collector for one term; local trustee of schools for twelve years and a member of Cache County School Board for eight years. He always took a keen interest in schools and education.

He was set apart as senior president of the 28th quorum of seventies in Wellsville, at which he worked diligently until December 13, 1913, when he was advanced to the office of high priest. He served as counselor to the Hyrum Stake Sunday School superintendent for two years, 1901 and 1902.

The last years of his life his health was very poor. He passed away November 10, 1920, leaving a wife, seven children and fifteen grandchildren. He was buried at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah.

The accompanying photograph was taken in Glasgow, Scotland, while he was serving as an L. D. S. missionary in 1898 and 1899.

ROBERT PAINTER LEATHAM

ROBERT PAINTER LEATHAM, (No. 2, Page 311), son of John Steele Leatham and Mary Ann Painter, was born December 28, 1881, at Wellsville, Utah. After graduating from the district schools at Wellsville, Utah, in 1898, he attended the Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah, in 1899 and 1900. He received a scholarship and attended the University of Utah during the years of 1901 and 1902. He taught elementary school at Wellsville (5th and 6th grades) during 1903 and 1904. He attended the University of Utah in 1905 and was principal of the Wellsville schools from 1907 to 1918. (The accompanying photos show Robert and his wife, Alverta Jensen Leatham.)

For several years he attended the Utah Agricultural College summer school and extension classes, which amounted to the equivalent of two years' residential work. He derived much enjoyment from research work in the laboratories and libraries, and achieved success as a school teacher. A total of 267 students were graduated from his eighth grade classes. He also worked in high school for two years.

Robert was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on April 19, 1890, by Richard Brenchley, and was confirmed a member April 20, 1890, by Robert Baxter, Sr. He was ordained a deacon, November 15, 1894, by William H. Maughn; a teacher, December 14, 1900, by William H. Darley; an elder, January 14, 1907, by Daniel T. Stewart; and a seventy, February 2, 1913, by Brigham H. Roberts. Robert has had an active career in church work, being always occupied with class instruction work in almost every auxiliary and quorum of the ward, from primary to stake teacher of quorum activities.

He was secretary of the Mutual Improvement Association for four years, and president for four years; worked as president of the 28th quorum of seventy for ten years and was teacher of that quorum for eighteen years. For a period of nine years he also served as teacher of the combined seventy quorums of the Hyrum Stake, and has taught the same class in Sunday School for forty-four years. His teaching also included parents class and gospel doctrine class. At present he is teaching some of the great grandchildren of his former students.

Robert married Alverta Jensen January 16, 1907, in the Logan L.D.S. Temple by President William Budge, and any success he may have attained, he attributes to her friendly cooperation and help, also to the many clean shirts and wholesome meals she has provided.

Robert and his wife have raised a family of eight children, (See Page 170), all of whom completed high school, while six have graduated from college. All of their children have been baptized and confirmed members of the Latter-day Saint Church. As a good citizen, Robert always has taken an active part in civic and political affairs. He served as City Judge at Wellsville, Utah, for fourteen years, and at present has completed twelve years as postmaster. He has been influential in helping to organize the Farmers' Cooperative and was secretary-treasurer of the Cooperative Dairy Association for eight years, 1917 to 1925, during which time the Cache Valley Dairy Association was erected and operated cooperatively. This concern was later sold and became the Morning Milk Company. He was secretary-treasurer of the South Cache Valley Grain Growers and managed the local branch of the Farmers' Grain Cooperative at Ogden, Utah, and for eleven years bought and stored grain for the local farmers.

MARY (MAY) LEATHAM REID

MARY (MAY) LEATHAM REID was born November 1, 1866, at Wellsville, Utah, (No 10 Page 126), the daughter of Robert and Jane Steele Leatham, natives of Scotland, where they were converted to and joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Her parents were married Christmas day, 1847. Two years later they came to America and located in beautiful Cache Valley, where they built a permanent home.

Mary writes the following account of her life:

"My father was a man of sterling honesty. He had great faith in the Divine Father and His Son, Jesus Christ, to whom we knelt morning and evening in family prayer. His books included the Standard Works of the Church, bound volumes of "The Millennial Star," "Times and Seasons," books from the "Faith Promoting Series," and many others of a religious character. They formed an important part in our home readings.

"Mother (Jane Steele) had books of the best literature of many nations, many of them she brought from her father's rare collection in Ayrshire, Scotland. She loved to tell us beautiful legends, fairy tales, tales of kings and queens and of fine historical characters, such as Florence Nightingale and Jennie Lind, the Swedish nightingale. She gave us good books to read. Ours was a typical Mormon home. We had a violin, flute and concertina, and the young people often gathered there for an evening of music and fun.

"When I was six years old I began school. I loved school and my teachers. I loved our games of ball before school; to go in all flushed and happy when the bell rang. We played the game our own way. We weren't supervised. I attended school in Wellsville until 1879, then at the suggestion of Joseph Howell I attended the Brigham Young College at Logan for three happy years. Miss Ida Cook was principal and Horace Cummings and James Z. Stuart teachers.

"In 1882 I passed the State teachers examination and the same year taught school in Wellsville. I taught three years in my home town, two years in Mendon, and one in Benson Ward.

'On October 8, 1891, I was married to Robert Reid, a young man of good character and strong religious tendencies. We went to Manti to live and went through the Manti Temple. In Manti I learned to love his people and there we spent many happy years. There four children, May L., Robert Leatham, Elmo Steele, and Mildred were born to us. After we moved to Lund, Nevada, Wesley A. and Margaret were born.(See Page 289)

"In June, 1901, with our possessions in wagons we started for Lund. Our nephew, Robert R. Reid, assisted us in driving the milk cows and a few range cattle. We were ten happy days crossing the beautiful Utah and Nevada desert. The days were hot but the nights were cool. We enjoyed cooking on the camp fire and listening to my husband sing as he tended the stock. We went to sleep listening to the weird howling of the coyote and opened our eyes each morning to a beautiful sunrise.

"We reached Lund July 1st, 1901. We stopped at the home of my husband's brother, Alexander Reid. Our dear sister-in-law, Ann Reid, was at the gate waiting for us. She looked up at me and said, "Dirt, May." Well, I found plenty of it. The soil was loose. The wind started about 9 o'clock and blew until about four in the afternoon each day.

"My husband, however, was a good pioneer. He had been here a year before I came and had two adobe rooms almost completed. He had planted a row of tame sunflowers and had some cactus plants in bloom to greet me. He soon had a large lawn and shade and fruit trees planted. We still enjoy them.

"The people of Lund were loyal, generous and friendly. We learned to love them dearly.

"On the 4th of July I attended my first public meeting. It was held in the midst of a hay field. We sat on the great log sleepers fresh from the canyon and listened to a splendid patriotic program with music and singing. The afternoon to me was a get-acquainted party and I thought Lund a great little town.

"Soon after we came to Lund, Bishop Thomas Judd left and Orin Snow succeeded him, with A. R. Whitehead as first and Robert Reid, my husband, as second counselor. I was privileged to go with them to St. George when they were set apart.

"I was soon working as teacher in Sunday School and as counselor to Sister Rhoda Burgess as President in the Primary Association. Soon after I came to Lund I joined the Relief Society organization and was secretary when Sister Emily Burgess was President and part time when Sister Eva Whitehead was President.

"There came a time when we were to work more closely together. Many of us were called upon to see our boys march off to the ring of martial music. Our country was at war. A war, we hoped, would end war. It didn't. The time was not yet come. We did our bit as we saw it. Our boys came home -- all save one (In World War II.)

"I was called to work on the Nevada Stake Board, theology department. My first assignment was to attend a Relief Society conference at Preston with President Mary Horlacher presiding. She talked of Relief Society work and of the beautiful spirit present. My talk was the Book of Mormon and the three witnesses. After the meeting the elderly principal of the Preston School -- not of our faith -- came and told us he was very much interested and that we had a rare meeting. The Spirit of God had been with us and touched his heart.

"We next held meeting in McGill. President Horlacher and other board members gave the message. I gave a reading "If" by Kipling. There was a good feeling there. Sister Horlacher seems always to inspire love, perhaps because she gives of it freely.

"When we held conference in Baker it was well attended and the local Relief Society members gave an interesting program of talks and music. I gave the talk on the "Life of Christ" and was followed by Elder Nelson on the "Mission of Joseph Smith." We had the usual friendly reaction. I was very happy when a number of young girls scarcely more than adolescent age came with shining eyes and told us how lovely the meeting was.

"Afterwards we had a rare social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Robison. There was friendly intercourse, music and song, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson joining the singing with their fine voices.

"Our next conference was at Metropolis and Wells, where we met the same sweet spirit that characterized meetings of the Latter-day Saints. Elder Fred Horlacher, late of the German mission, was our principal speaker. Little more need be said. The people indeed had a spiritual feast. We went home humbled.

"I was soon released and rejoice that the work is being carried on by hands younger and more capable.

"As I near the sunset of life, my mind often goes back to my childhood. I see my mother's flower garden of morning glories, four o'clocks, bergemot and a riot of poppies. I had it in mind when I wrote these verses for the amusement of my children who were writing rhymes for their high school English. I would finish my sketch with them."

TWO PICTURES

It was in the early morning
When the earth was all aglow,
All the air was filled with music
And a murmur soft and low
Came from nearby field of poppies,
Where the humming birds and bees
Sipped the nectar and the honey
As they swayed there in the breeze.

Where a little child had wandered Attracted by the sight
Of the glorious field of poppies,
Poppies crimson, gold and white;
And her blue eyes filled with wonder
At the beauty and the grace,
But the wondrous field of poppies
Was less lovely than her face.

With the morning glow upon it
And a glad look meek and mild
That the man who looked upon it
Murmured, "As a little child,"
And he wondered there in sadness
Why the sweetness did not stay
Why the soft cool breath of morning
Must give place to burning day.

Why the lure of gold must ever
Take us hurrying down the road,
Why pleasures that it pays for
Take us farther from our God.
And again he looked in longing
At the picture that she made
Standing there among the poppies
'Til a mist his vision stayed.

And he saw another picture
Of a field of ripened grain
And he heard the Master calling
All the reapers home again.
"Feed my sheep," the words were music
Falling gently on his ear,
And he turned to do the bidding
Of the master's voice so dear.

Had he thought that distant mirage
Ever beckoning down the way
Was the gold that never rusted
That no thief could take away?
No, the Master's voice was clearer,
Sweeter as he heard the call
That brought him to the wheatfield
Where all humbly worked for all

And the sky was clearer, brighter,
At the setting of the sun
When he had a task accomplished
When he heard the words, "Well done."
And he saw as in a vision,
Life's pictures all complete
In the morning, lovely poppies.
In the evening, wheat.

-- Mary (May) Leatham Reid

GREETINGS TO MARGARET BROWN SMURTHWAITE

May I wish you a happy birthday?
I still have your card in my purse.
Did I hear you say eighty-one, dear?
Why that is eighteen in reverse.
Eighteen when we stood on the bridge o'er the river,
Saw the sunset's bright glow in the west;
Then down at our feet in the water,
The great ball of the sky sank to rest.
And still 'til the twilight we lingered.
The stars tumbled down at our feet,
The new moon we must see o'er our shoulder
Or they'd look at that girl down the street.
Just an hour did we steal from your birthday
We left frivolous eighteen at the gate,
Then back to eighty-one and the lamplight
Toasting your toes by the grate.
"Now bring me my warm flannel nightgown,
From my Bible, just read me a verse."
And she sighed as her eyes closed in slumber,
Eighty-one is eighteen in reverse.

Chapter 19

MILDRED REID IVINS

"I celebrated my first birthday, June 24, 1901, on the desert as my family was moving from Manti, Utah, to Lund, Nevada, a small farming community near Ely.

"My cousin, Robert Royal Reid, who drove a wagon out for us, told me how he taught me to walk that day and how I followed the chickens they had turned out to pick around the campground.

"I, of course, never missed the old home in Manti and was too young to realize the hardships that my parents and the older ones endured to make our beloved home in Nevada.

"I adored my family. My father, Robert Reid, although a serious man (only my youngest sister ever questioned his authority), loved fun, ball games, dances and parties. He enjoyed especially the birthday parties we always had for him on his natal day, February 14.

"He was a firm believer that cleanliness is next to Godliness, and order was almost a passion with him. His rows in the garden and fields had to be the straightest and the most free from weeds in town; his animals the biggest and best cared for. Although he must have been ready to drop when he came from a hard day's work in the field, he always spent some time each evening caring for the lawns, flowers, shrubs and trees around the house.

"I was quite small when he built an addition to our two adobe rooms and we had one of the finest houses in town. We had one of the first three cars in town. Father had a beautiful singing voice, which only my brother Robert inherited.

"We looked forward to the times he would swing his team of four or six big horses and two wagons into the lot to unload provisions, -- always a case of oranges and canned tomatoes, sugar, flour, new shoes, overalls, yard goods, hats, and all sorts of things he had taken in exchange for hay and grain he had freighted to Ely.

"Then after the horses had been taken care of and with supper over, we thrilled to the stories he told of the new thing called 'movies' he had seen in Ely.

"He was in the bishopric of the L.D.S. Ward at Lund for twenty years. Only on rare occasions did he ever go to bed without first reading at least a few chapters in one of the Standard Works of the Church. He died July 8, 1925.

"My mother, Mary (May) Leatham Reid, now 88 years old (1954) is still with us. She has been our guiding light and inspiration throughout the years. She was a wonderful cook. To this day I've never tasted meat and chicken to equal hers, or, for that matter, bread, cakes or pies either, and her Scotch shortbread is a tradition. Then, too, although she never fixed them fancy, her vegetables were cooked just right, and the clothes she made for us were of high quality and style.

"She made the most of her opportunities and even by standards of today, she is a very well educated person. She had read all the best books up until a few years ago and memorized long excerpts from books of Faust, Emerson, Byron's poems, and a great many others.

"She read beautifully, and we children would forego outside pleasures to listen to the books she read aloud to us each evening. She was always ready to help in sickness and need around the town. She loved her friends and counted the day lost that she didn't get a little visit with one or the other of them.

"She has always done so much for all of us, it is sad now that she can no longer see to read, although she still wants to help, and tells me stories of the old days as we do the dishes.

"Her grandchildren and great grandchildren have all loved her very much, especially our little two-year-old grandson, Kerry. They spend long hours together, and a few lines of an old poem she used to say come to me as I watch them. 'She was an old, old, old, old woman, and he was just half past three. And the way that they played together was beautiful to see.'

"I had two sisters and three brothers. (See Page 289) The eldest, May, always called Mazie, was born in Manti, July 23, 1892. She has truly been a wonderful sister to me. I can go to her with my troubles and my joys. She taught school before she was married and would buy and make me pretty clothes. She married Garr Ashby on September 24, 1918, in the Salt Lake Temple. He now has a coal business in Ely. They have four beautiful daughters. They are all talented musically.

"Audrey plays the piano and was valedictorian when she graduated from high school. She attended the Brigham Young University before she married Lanse Smith. They have four children, Kendal, Leslie, Andrea and Allison. (See page 291.)

"Kathleen played the violin and went to the B. Y. U. She married Frank Carr of Fresno, California. They have two children, Richard and Joan. (See Page 292.)

"Next came Margaret (Peggy). She is a lovely girl, always thoughtful of others. One music teacher said of Peggy that her own father had spent thousands of dollars to teach her what Peggy knew naturally. She married Van Gardner of Lund, Nevada, and they have two children, Rhoda, three years old, and a baby boy born January 17, 1954.

"Dawn, the youngest, was president of the student body at Lund High School, and valedictorian of her class. She married J. L. Whipple in the Salt Lake Temple on June 8, 1953.

"Mazie, my sister, is again teaching school with great success.

"My brother, Robert L. Reid (No. 2 Page 289) was born July 4, 1894. He looked after me and taught me lessons in charity and kindness to those less fortunate that I shall never forget. He went on a mission to Mexico for the L.D.S. Church, and later married Zella Harrison of Lund, Nevada, in the Salt Lake Temple. (See Page 295.) They have four fine children, twins, Kay and Karma, then Mary Lou and Sheldon.

"Kay (No. 2 Page 295) served in the Navy in World War II. He married Josephine Oxborrow and they have two little girls, Gayle and Kaylene.

"Karma (No. 1 Page 295) was valedictorian of her class and taught school. She married Harry Lewis and they have two little girls, Harriet and Josephine.

"Mary Lou (No. 3 Page 295) was promoted a year ahead of her class in school. After graduation from high school she married Jack Hendrix and has three boys, Norris, Bruce and Rickey.

"Sheldon (No. 4 Page 295) is a big likable fellow, very popular with the young people of Lund. He married Darlene Hendrix and they have a son, Dennis. I have been told he has a singing voice with perfect pitch, but he has been too shy to develop it.

"When Sheldon was three months old, Robert, his father, had an attack of appendicitis. He was operated on but died January 1, 1928.

"Elmo Steele Reid, my brother (No. 3 Page 289) was born in Manti, January 6, 1896. As we grew older we were in the same crowd and he, too, took his turn looking out for me, seeing that I got to dances and parties. We went to high school together at St. George, Utah. He was a witty fellow and a great favorite with both boys and girls. He was very intelligent in his quiet way, and I was always proud when men, old and young, would say, 'Well, Steele Reid said that.' And if he said it they seemed to feel that it was right.

"He was in the army two years in World War I. He was gassed, and although he lived some twenty years afterwards, it caused his death March 16, 1936. He died as he lived, quietly and unafraid. He said at the last that he thought Dad and Bob might be a little surprised to see him coming so soon.

"I (No. 4 Page 289) came next, then my brother Wesley (No. 5 Page 289), a sweet, good-natured boy who has had more than his share of troubles -- his face mashed almost to pieces when he was about ten in a run-away wagon, his back broken in a fall when he was working on the railroad, and operations too numerous to mention, but he still has his fine disposition and now has a wonderful family. He has taken trophies and won prizes at fairs with his cutting and roping. He now raises purebred whiteface cattle. He married Edith Ashby September 5, 1933. She has a son, Wallace, a fine fellow, by a former marriage. Wallace enlisted in the Air Force and was in Korea.

"Wesley and Edith have four children of their own. (See Page 302) Clark, an excellent student, co-valedictorian, and chosen on the all-state basketball team. He worked in Ruth, Nevada, a year after graduation, and was given a trophy for most outstanding player in the league there that winter. He is now going to school at the University of Nevada.

"Jack is a junior in high school, sings, plays basketball, and has always been at the head of his class.

"Norma, ten years old, a great reader, has been promoted a grade ahead of her class.

"Sherry, three years, is the little dancing darling of the family and neighborhood.

"My sister, Margaret (No. 6 Page 289), born January 29, 1906, was a beautiful blonde baby, the youngest in our family. She is what you might call a positive personality. Very intelligent, she taught school before she was married to Morris Oxborrow, who has worked at Ruth and now has a fine farm and herd of dairy cows.

"They have one son, Robert Morris (See Page 303), a very likable fellow, who was voted most popular boy in high school and is a fine basketball player. He went to the B. Y. U. for two years. He married Geraldine McKenzie and they have a beautiful baby girl. (See Page 303.)

"Margaret, an outstanding teacher, has been teaching again the last few years and is now at Las Vegas, Nevada.

"There was no high school at Lund when I (No. 4 Page 289) was ready to go. In my childish philosophy I decided as long as I had to go away to school I might as well see different places. So I went to high school in Ely, Nevada, St. George, Utah, and L. D. S. High School in Salt Lake City. I went to the Agricultural College in Logan for one year and to summer school at the University of Nevada.

"I taught school three years in Nevada and one year at the Center School in Heber City, Utah, after I was married.

"Loraine Redd Ivins and I were married by his uncle, President Anthony W. Ivins, in the Salt Lake Temple, September 3, 1924. We went up to Heber where he taught in the high school and I in the first grade. 'L. R.' has always been a great teacher -- the best. And although teaching hasn't brought in much money, it has had its compensations. There is hardly a day that passes that some student, either from the past or present, doesn't say how very much L. R. has helped him or her. He is a good golfer, has won countless trophies and prizes, including the L. D. S. All-Church Golf Tournament, and he would like to go to Scotland and play on the golf course on the old Leatham estate.

"From Heber we went to Lund, Nevada, where Loraine helped to get a four-year high school established. Then we went to Overton, Nevada. He was the coach and served as principal and agriculture teacher in the high school there.

"We have three children. (See Page 300). Della Mae was born in 1926 in Ely, Nevada. No one could ask for a lovelier daughter, brilliant in school, always kind and thoughtful of others, happy and full of fun. She won many honors in high school, among them the Balfour award for scholarship and activities, wrote the school song in contest for Farrer Junior High in Provo. She graduated from the University of Utah with high honors and was one of 60 students to be awarded Phi Kappa Phi honors in a graduating class of over 1200. She also plays the piano very well. She married a fine fellow, Paul Rasmussen, an engineer graduated from Cal. Tech. They have two children, Kerry Reid, and Leslie Kim. They are now living in Provo, where Paul is resident engineer of the new building program at the Brigham Young University. (See Page 301.)

"Loraine Reid came next. I have always called him my lucky baby after we found a four-leaf clover on the lawn as we were going into the hospital for his birth. He was a mischievous little fellow, always into something, but before we moved to Provo for two years when he was ten, he milked cows, drove the tractor and in many ways took responsibility. He plays the cornet, was always fond of sports and was one of the highest scorers in the state when he played basketball for East High School in Salt Lake City. He went to the University of Utah three years, but in June 1952 he enlisted in the Air Force for four years. He graduated as a jet pilot and went to Korea in March 1953. He flew fifty-one missions, and in the thickest of the fighting, not long before the truce, he was promoted to First Lieutenant and was given a presidential citation and an additional oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal, for bravery in action and devotion to duty. (See Page 300) He is now stationed in the Philippines. Following is the Citation which he received:

of four (4) F-86 type aircraft, 18th FighterBomberWing, Fifth Air Force, on 15 June 1953. After the largest enemy frontline drive in two (2) years threatened to overrun United Nations positions on the eastern front, maximum air effort was necessary to stop this break-through. Lieutenant IVINS on an armed reconnaissance mission flew at dangerously low altitudes along enemy main supply routes, seeking targets of opportunity. With continuous ground fire from all directions, Lieutenant Ivins strafed enemy troops at Kosan-ni, Korea, resulting in approximately thirty (30) enemy troops killed or wounded. While still hedge hopping hazardous mountain terrain approximately two hundred (200) enemy box cars were observed in a marshaling yard at Songhung-ni, Korea. Dive bombing from absolute minimum altitude to insure accuracy, the flight leader and Lieutenant IVINS made rail cuts, thus trapping the enemy box cars and affording a stationary target for the remainder of the flight. Lieutenant IVINS' accurate bombing started fires which rapidly swept through the box cars, setting off large and numerous secondary explosions of munitions. Through intense anti-aircraft fire, which by now had become seemingly impenetrable, Lieutenant IVINS made strafing passes until forced to withdraw due to low fuel supply. As a result of this highly successful mission, large quantities of munitions vitally needed by the enemy for his frontline offensive were destroyed. Through his skill, courage and devotion to duty, Lieutenant IVINS has brought great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.'

"Nancy, our youngest, was born January 9, 1935, a bright, beautiful little girl who has brought much joy and sunshine into our lives. She graduated from Granite High School and is now attending the B. Y. U. in Provo. She has always been a great favorite with the young people, and a teacher once told me that of all the pupils that had come and gone in her classes, Nancy was the one she would choose for her own. She is talented and energetic, can start a dress after school and wear it to a party that night.

"We have made our home in Salt Lake City since 1946. "

Chapter 20

OTHER RELATIVES AND DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT LEATHAM

DONALD CARL LEATHAM (Number 1, Page 335 ), adopted son of George W. Leatham and Myrtle Chugg, was born May 22, 1926 at Ogden, Utah.

He attended elementary and high schools in Price, Utah and in March 1944 enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He trained in Chicago where he met Eleanor June Wille who on July 26, 1946 became his wife in the Manti L.D.S. Temple. (See page 336.)

Don served at the U.S. Navy Fleet Post Office in San Francisco prior to his going overseas for a year and a half in the Pacific Theater of War. He attended Carbon College for one year and studied chemical engineering, later working as a chemical technician for Standard Oil Company. At present he is a sales service engineer in Salt Lake City.

ELMO COBURN LONGSTROTH (Number 4, Page 135) worked as a carpenter and in the construction business following his graduation from Ogden High School.

He started working for and is still with the Young and Smith Construction Company after he served in the U.S. Army. During his period of service he was assigned to military police work, and also to the Army Corps of Engineers in the European Theatre.

He is an elder in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

PAUL LONGSTROTH (Number 5, Page 135 ), after graduating from Ogden High School, enlisted in the U.S. Army, serving for two years in Hawaii prior to "Pearl Harbor."

He married on November 24, 1941, and was called back to service being assigned in the Pacific Theatre. He served a total of seven years in military service. He was a cook and baker and at present he is manager of the Continental Baking Company.

ALICE LONGSTROTH PERRY (Number 2, Page 135 graduated from Ogden High School. She worked in Quinn Garment Factory, and in the alteration department of L.R. Samuel's apparel store, where she is at present working as a clerk.

She married Mike Perry. They have one son who was born January 8, 1935, and who is studying electrical engineering and drafting.

LENA LONGSTROTH (Number 1, Page 135) is the mother of seven children from two marriages. She graduated from Box Elder High School, and has worked for the telephone company for some time. She is a supervisor of the telephone company at the present. Her oldest son, Kent Richardson, served in Alaska with the Army Corps of Engineers for two years.

IVY LEATHAM COBURN LONGSTROTH (Number 5, Page 131), daughter of John Preston Coburn and Annabelle Leatham, was born February 12, 1888, in Wellsville, Utah. Her father died when she was four years old.

She attended school at Wellsville, the Brigham Young College at Logan, and one year at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City. She taught school for one year at Cache Junction; one year at Avon; and one year in Wellsville in the rock schoolhouse built by her grandfather, Bishop Robert Leatham.

She recalls that when she was eight years of age her mother, Annabelle Leatham Coburn, was called to follow in the footsteps of her mother, Jane Steele Leatham, being sent to Salt Lake City to study obstetrics. Ivy Ann was left behind to attend school and to stay at the home of Rosabelle Bradshaw Thorpe. The following year, her sister Lena became very ill and her mother was called home. Lena had a ruptured appendix and the first operation of that kind ever performed in Wellsville was done on Lena, but in spite of all that was done, her life could not be saved and she died October 3, 1897.

Ivy married Alma Longstroth, October 12, 1910. Together they homesteaded and pioneered 320 acres of land in the Pocatello Valley, and when their children were old enough for school they moved to Brigham City. Later they moved to Ogden where Alma took up carpentry as an occupation. On April 1938, they bought a home in Ogden located on Liberty Avenue, where they still reside.

Ivy and her husband are both active in the Democratic Political Party. She is ward chairman and registrar and Alma is district chairman. She has been a Primary teacher and a block teacher for the L.D.S. Relief Society. She is active in the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers and has been camp president for six years.

Since the Coburn family lost both their father and their mother when they were all young, Ivy has done all in her power to be a mother to her brothers. They all look to her for love and counsel and her home is their home whenever they need her. She is loved by all who know her.

The photograph of Ivy is taken from an old family album.

JOHN LEATHAM COBURN (Number 1, Page 131) was born September 1, 1879, at Wells-ville, Utah, the eldest son of John Preston Coburn and Annabelle Leatham.

He attended elementary school in Wellsville and later graduated from the Brigham Young College, Logan, Utah, in 1905 as an honor student. While attending college he taught mathematic classes. After his graduating, he was made secretary of the college and later purchasing agent. He held this position under John A. Widtsoe and President E.G. Peterson for twenty years until a political change released him from his job.

He was well-known throughout the state for his perfect bookkeeping. "Jack" helped organize the Home building and Loan Company of Logan, being made secretary and later president of this institution which he held until his death in 1946.

He married Alta Hammond in 1914, and they raised a fine family of five children. (See page 132.)

He served in a Sunday School superintendancy and has held other church and civic positions.

When Jack was only thirteen years old, his father died, leaving him to be the head of the house.

The following poem was penned by him:

PRAYER

"O Lord, let me do my work each day, and if the darkened hours of despair overcome me, may I not forget the strength that comforted me in the desolation of other times. May I still remember the bright hours that found me walking over the silent hills of my childhood or dreaming by the margin of the quiet river, when a light glowed within me, and I promised my early God to have courage amid the tempests of the changing years.

"Spare me from bitterness and from the sharp passions of unguarded moments. May I not forget that poverty and riches are of the spirit. Though the world know me not, may my thoughts and actions be such as will keep me friendly with myself. Lift mine eyes from the earth and let me not forget the uses of the stars. Forbid that I should judge others lest I condemn myself. Let me not follow the clamor of the world, but walk calmly in my path.

"Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am, and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps, the kindly light of hope. And though age and infirmity overtake me and I come not within sight of the Castle of my Dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life, and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet, and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still."

ANNABELLE LONGSTROTH (Number 3, Page 135 ) attended Ogden High School. She married Russell Clyde Smith who is known by the name of "Scott." They have six children--three boys and three girls.

JANE LONGSTROTH (Number 6, Page 135) graduated from Ogden High School. She married Raymond C. Wright, who at that time was a U.S. Naval flier, in Houston, Texas. One son has blessed their home. Her husband now works at Hill Air Force Base in Ogden.

FRED LEATHAM COBURN (Number 7, Page 131) was born March 31, 1892. His father, John Preston Coburn, died three months prior to his birth. Annabelle Leatham was his mother. He married Celia Hill.

He attended public schools in Wellsville, and the Utah Agricultural College in Logan. He left school to engage in farming in Cache Valley, following that line of endeavor his entire life. He operated a large dairy farm in Smithfield, Utah for a number of years until he moved to Oxford, Idaho where he purchased a farm and is still residing there.

He has served on the Oxford City Council, the school board, and in many church affairs. He has sent and supported four of his children (Jack, Seth, Melvin and Coleen) on missions for the L.D.S. Church. He and his wife are the parents of nine children. *

His daughter-in-law (Leon's wife) died in 1953, leaving five children. A son, Jack, who is now the Bishop of Oxford Ward, is raising two of the motherless children of his brother Leon.

CELIA HILL COBURN

ROBERT LEATHAM COBURN, (Number 4, Page 131 ), son of John Preston Coburn and Annabelle Leatham, was born in Wellsville, Utah, October 27, 1885.

The following was written by Elmo P. Coburn, a brother:

"Robert attended school in Wellsville and after finishing school he went into Canada where he was in the transportation business for about four years. Returning to Great Falls, Montana, he went to work for the Great Northern Railroad, working as a fireman and locomotive engineer for 37 years.

"He retired in 1944, and since that time he spent his time in Montana, California, Nevada and Utah. 'Rob' was a member of the Latter-day Saint Church, a member of the Elks Lodge and the Great International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He is survived by one sister, Ivy; four brothers, John, Will, Elmo and Fred.

"Because of failing health, he went to stay with his sister Ivy in April 19~~54~~<sup>45</sup>; later he went to the Dee Hospital in Ogden, where he remained for two months, and finally passed away on October 17, 1945.

"There is something in this world that we do not understand--God sometimes takes away from us the things that are nearest and dearest to our hearts. And early in life he took from this family a father and a little later a mother, but I cannot help but feel that in compensation for these losses God gave us two of the greatest blessings that it is possible for a family to have. He gave us brother John who from that time on has taken the place of a father; He gave us sister Ivy who has been and continues to be a mother for the family and who, during the trials of Rob's illness, seemed to be in confident faith in the thing that made it possible for him to live for the past two months. God bless her.

"My feelings are expressed in the following poem, "Crossing the Bar" by Alfred Lord Tennyson:

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar. "

JANE LEATHAM REID, (No. 6 Page 126), daughter of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, was born April 25, 1858, in Cedar City, Utah. Her parents had been sent to Cedar City to help settle that town but when she was only a few weeks old, they were called back to Wellsville by Brigham Young. She spent her girlhood in Wellsville, and lived there until she was twenty years of age, when she married William K. Reid in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City and came to Manti where she made a home and bore eleven sons and daughters. (See Page 191). After her husband died she was left with seven children under seventeen. The three older girls were then married. She rented her home and took her family to Salt Lake City where she ran a boarding house while her girls went to business school. After many lean years the girls (5) all became stenographers, good ones too, and the boys, Robert Royal and Donald, were electricians.

Jane Leatham Reid was always a reader and interested in current events and the people with whom she associated and those who made the news. She was a charter member of the first Woman's Club in Manti (1896) and after she moved to Salt Lake City she was always a member of the Ladies' Democratic Club. She kept her interest in politics and the men we entrust to run our country. She had a keen sense of humor and was an interesting conversationalist. Jane was a beautiful woman, tall and stately with dark hair and lovely brown eyes with freckles in them. She was very much like her father, Robert Leatham. Jane died August 11, 1923, in Salt Lake City, and lies by her husband and two children in the Manti cemetery.

WILLIAM KIRKWOOD REID, son of John Patrick and Margaret Kirkwood Reid, was born in Ireland October 25, 1847 and died April 9, 1905 at Manti, Utah.

When just a lad William stepped barefoot on a piece of glass and a sliver of it got in the blood stream and for several years he was a semi-invalid. This was before the days of X-ray and when the doctors tried to operate the glass had moved. His side was a mass of scars where he had been cut. The family had given up ever getting it when the boy heard of the L. D. S. Elders and the cures they had made by administration and faith, so he persuaded his father to ask them to his home. He said he knew they could cure him. Finally his father consented and a short time after they had laid their hands on his head and blessed him the bit of glass came out of his right hand. The hand was always crippled but otherwise he became well and the family joined the Church.

"The family was a large one and poor, so it seemed impossible to get to Utah. But William K., then a young man, came to America with an uncle, William T. Reid, and finally earned enough money to bring his father's family over in 1873. His Uncle William lived in Payson for a time but went south to Manti when they settled that town. Here the John Patrick Reid family came when they finally arrived in Utah. The Reid family all lived in Manti together and all died and are buried there.

William K. became a school teacher and while he taught school in the day time, he studied law at night, and shortly after 1880 he passed the bar and became one of the best lawyers in southern Utah. He was for many years county attorney, district attorney, and district judge. He had a brilliant mind, truly a self-made man, as he had to leave school when he was about eleven. He was a brilliant orator and an accomplished actor.

While teaching school in Wellsville, Utah, he fell in love with one of his pupils, Jane Leatham, and on her twentieth birthday they were married in the Endowment House and came to Manti to live. They had 11 children born in Manti. He died there in his 58th year. (See Page 191)

BARBARA LEATHAM CRONQUIST, (No. 13, Page <sup>167</sup>~~311~~), has a B. S. degree in sociology, minoring in education. She graduated from the Utah State Agricultural College in 1951, and was a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

She married Parley Cronquist, farmer and industrial worker by trade. He died, 1941.

At the present time, she is teaching in the elementary schools of North Logan, Cache County, Utah. Her specialty is art.

PARLEY DONALD CRONQUIST, (No. 1, Page 189), son of Parley Cronquist and Barbara Leatham, graduated from the Utah State Agricultural College in 1951. He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi with a bachelor degree in agriculture and economics, minoring in chemistry.

He enrolled with the United States Air Force, doing Atomic Research.

On August 12, 1953, he married Noreen Jorgenson.

ROYCE VERL CRONQUIST, (No. 2, Page 189), spent four years in the United States Air Force, being stationed in Alaska for some time.

At the present time, he is attending the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah, studying Business Economics.

DOROTHY BARBARA CRONQUIST, (No. 3, Page 189), is at present attending the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah, majoring in Interior Decorating and Elementary Education.

JAMES J. LEATHAM, (No. 3 Page 170), son of Robert Painter Leatham and Alverta Jensen, was born September 14, 1913, at Wellsville, Utah.

James attended schools at Wellsville and graduated from South Cache High School. His schooling also included one year at the Utah State Agricultural College and some training at Henager's Business College for nine months.

He was employed by Utah Power and Light Co. for five years, then was drafted into the armed forces. He served in the Air Force as a mechanic and as crew chief. In 1945, he was released from the service. At the present time he is farming at Wellsville, Utah.

JOSEPH WILLIAM STEELE LEATHAM, (No. 11 Page 126), born October 17, 1870, in Wellsville, Utah, was the youngest of the children of Robert and Jane Steele Leatham. He spent sometime in Salt Lake City as a youngster, while his mother was studying to be an obstetrician. Other than this he lived out his entire life in Wellsville, being reared, educated and later becoming a farmer there. As a farmer he raised mainly sugar beets and dairy herds.

On May 23, 1900, Joseph William Steele Leatham and Ida Nordgren were married in the Logan L. D. S. Temple. She was the only child of Jens Mathiason Nordgren, a native of Malmo, Sweden, and Marie Johnson, a native of Trollhetton, Sweden. Jens Nordgren was a carpenter by trade, also a farmer.

Of the union of Joseph William Leatham and Ida Nordgren, ten children were born. Three of the children died in infancy, seven were reared to adulthood and six are now living (March 1953) (See Page 304). Up to the present time (1954) 22 grandchildren have been born; 21 are still living. There are also 2 great grandchildren.

Joseph William and Ida reared and educated their family in Wellsville and Hyrum, Utah.

He passed away at a Logan hospital June 13, 1935, after many years of ill health. He was buried in the Wellsville cemetery June 16, 1935.

Ida, besides rearing her family was active in Relief Society work for many years. She passed away at the family home in Wellsville, October 23, 1945, and was buried in the Wellsville cemetery Oct. 26, 1945. (Photo shows Joseph William Steele Leatham and his wife, Ida Nordgren.)

ELDON LEATHAM, (No. 7 Page 304), born January 29, 1913, in Wellsville, Utah, was the son of Joseph William Steele and Ida Nordgren Leatham. In 1939, he married Othea McBride in Ogden, Utah. The couple lived in Wellsville for the next five years and while there, three children were born to them. (See Page 309).

On March 31, 1943, Eldon and Ida had their children sealed to them and their own marriage solemnized in the Logan L.D.S. Temple.

Eldon attended school in Wellsville and the South Cache High School at Hyrum, Utah. He is presently employed at the Naval Supply Depot in Clearfield, Utah, and the family home is at Hyrum, Utah. (See photo on Page 308).

LEDA MARIE LEATHAM, (No. 2 Page 304), was born January 21, 1902, at Wellsville, Utah, daughter of Joseph William Steele Leatham and Ida Amelia Nordgren. She was baptized April 2, 1910. She attended the Floradell and Junior High Schools at Wellsville, graduating from South Cache High School at Hyrum, and then enrolling at the Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah. For about three years, she taught kindergarten in Wellsville Sunday School, and was secretary of the Y.W.M.I.A., as well as being active in Relief Society.

While in high school she met James J. (Jim) Wilson, and on June 28, 1923, they were married in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple, making their home at Hyrum, Utah, where farming is their occupation.

James J. Wilson was born April 20, 1901, at Hyrum, Utah, a son of James John Hansen and Katrina Jensen. His mother died when he was nine days old and he was reared by his mother's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Orson M. Wilson. The young boy received his education at Lincoln and South Cache High Schools at Hyrum. He served as a missionary for two years in the L. D. S. Canadian Mission. He was active in Scouting for thirty years and was in the Hyrum First Ward Bishopric for seven years. Four children were born to this couple. (See Page 307).

The oldest son, Jay, spent two years in the Army Air Force during World War II, and two years as an L.D.S. missionary in the Northwestern States Mission.

Oren Dale, another son, spent 19 months in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Orson William, the youngest son, is now serving with the armed forces in Germany. (See family photo on Page 306).

IDA IRENE NORDGREN LEATHAM, (No. 10 Page 304), was born February 17, 1920 at Wellsville, Utah, a daughter of Joseph William Steele Leatham and Ida Amelia Nordgren. She was blessed April 4, 1920, by Edgar Williams. She attended Floradell School and gave the salutation address at graduation from Junior High School at Wellsville. In 1938 she graduated from South Cache High School and in 1941 she received her normal diploma from Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah.

She taught school at College Young Ward and Wellsville Floradell schools. Her church activity included teaching Sunday School and kindergarten at Wellsville L.D.S. First Ward, and being speech director in the Y.W.M.I.A.

Her marriage to Fenton Kirby Christoffersen at Ely, Nevada, took place March 17, 1944. She was endowed in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple May 16, 1950. (See Page 312). The couple lived in Tonapah, Nevada, later moving to Vallejo, California, where they now reside. (See Page 312 for family photo.)

PHYLLIS NORDGREN LEATHAM, (No. 5 Page 304 ), born February 18, 1906, at Wellsville, Utah, attended the Floradell and Junior High schools at Wellsville, Utah, and graduated from South Cache High School at Hyrum, Utah. She was baptized a member of the Church when eight years old and attended church regularly.

She married John Rose Mont Fuell in the Logan L.D.S. Temple November 27, 1929. They made their home at Trenton, Utah, and later moved to Logan. No children were born to them.

On September 29, 1940, she died after a short illness in a Logan hospital and was buried in the Wellsville cemetery.

STEELE NORDGREN LEATHAM, (No. 6 Page 304), born June 28, 1907, at Wellsville, Utah, was a son of Joseph William Steele Leatham and Ida Amelia Nordgren.

He was raised at Wellsville and attended the Floradell and Junior High schools there and the South Cache High School at Hyrum. As a boy he had to do most of the work on the family farm because of the poor health of his father, and as he was the oldest boy. Later he did farm work in Idaho and in Montana.

On December 6, 1933, he married Mae W. Brodrero in the Logan L.D.S. Temple and they made their home in Wellsville and Hyrum, Utah. Moving to Ogden, Utah, sometime later, they built their home at 1145 Harrop Street. He worked at the Ogden Arsenal for about four years and is now employed at a flour mill in Ogden. (See Page 305 for family photo.)

FENTON LEATHAM, (No. 1, Page 260), oldest son of James Hamilton Steele Leatham and Margaret Bailey, was born February 6, 1896, in Wellsville, Utah. His father died when the boy was twelve years of age. Fenton served overseas in World War I. His mother passed away while he was still a young man, and his sister, Jane Steele Leatham, made a home for him and his brothers.

Fenton married Norma Arlene Montag on July 31, 1926, at Salt Lake City, and they are the parents of three children, (See Page 261), also two stepchildren.

THORA STEELE LEATHAM, (No. 5, Page 260 ), daughter of James Hamilton Steele Leatham and Margaret Bailey, was born May 24, 1905, in Wellsville, Utah.

At the age of six, Thora contracted scarlet fever, which ultimately resulted in her death July 28, 1911.

ROYAL BAILEY LEATHAM, (No. 3, Page 260 ), son of James Hamilton Steele Leatham and Margaret Bailey, was born September 21, 1899.

His father was killed when the boy was eight years of age.

Royal married Veda Fawn Purser, and they are the parents of five children. (See Page 267).

EARL LEATHAM, (No. 6 Page 260), son of James Hamilton Steele Leatham and Margaret Bailey, was born November 22, 1907, at Wellsville, Utah. His father was killed when the boy was one year old, his mother dying when he was twelve. He made his home with a sister, Jane, and her husband, Harold Glenn, until he was grown. He married Esther Anderson and they have three children. (See Page 279).

AGNES STEELE LEATHAM PRICE, (No. 9 Page 126), daughter of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, was born October 10, 1864, in Wellsville, Utah. She married Franklin Whitmore Price on November 20, 1888, and became the mother of six children. (See Page 280). She and her husband lived in Wellsville and operated a farm located between Wellsville and Hyrum. Her husband was very successful at farming and built a beautiful home for Agnes and the family of which they were very proud. She passed away at the age of 78 on July 21, 1946, when she was struck by an automobile on the Wellsville-Hyrum road. The accompanying photo of Agnes Steele Leatham Price and her husband, Franklin W. Price, was taken many years ago.

ROBERT LEATHAM BRADSHAW, (No. 5, Page 145), son of George Hield and Janet Leatham Bradshaw, was born February 28, 1883, in Wellsville, Utah. His mother died when he was but one hour old.

He was raised by his father's other wife, Elizabeth, whom he loved dearly, as she was a wonderful woman. Elizabeth had twelve children of her own, and the dead mother left five, three of whom were taken by Elizabeth, and two little girls, Georgie and Jessie, went to live with their grandmother, Jane Steele Leatham.

When Robert was fifteen years of age, his stepmother died, leaving the boy badly in need of a mother's love and companionship.

Robert attended the district schools, and had one year of college at the old Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah. When he was twenty years old, he was called on a mission to England, which he fulfilled honorably and was released after twenty-six months.

He returned home in the spring of 1906, and on September 5, 1906, married Ellen (Nellie) Bradshaw. He had spent all of his money for his mission, so after marriage, he started from scratch, working on the Oregon Short Line Railroad for $1.60 a day.

Eight children were born to this couple, two young boys dying, one at nine and one-half years, and one at sixteen years of age. He worked very hard at any jobs he could get. Later he and his wife adopted a seven year old boy. (See Page 161).

Robert served as postmaster at Wellsville for six years, was justice of the peace there for two years, and worked as labor foreman for one year on Bushnell Hospital at Brigham City, Utah. In 1942 he moved to Ogden and worked for the Union Pacific Railroad as a car man.

Robert was ordained a seventy by Rulon S. Wells of the First Council of Seventy. He taught an L.D.S. Sunday School class in Wellsville for thirty years, was a member of the Wellsville Ward Choir and after moving to Ogden, was president of the 15th Ward Choir.

All of his children graduated from high school, three graduated from college, and one has his master's degree.

Robert became afflicted with the same incurable disease which struck down the great ball player, Lou Gehrig, a victim of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a malady which slowly paralyzes the spinal column, and was confined to a wheel chair for a year and a half. It was very sad to see one who had been so active become so helpless, but he was patient, and finally passed away on January 23, 1950. (Photo shows Robert Leatham Bradshaw, and his wife, Ellen (Nellie) Ferguson Baugh.)

ELLEN (NELLIE) FERGUSON BAUGH BRADSHAW, (Page 161), wife of Robert Leatham Bradshaw, was born January 27, 1885, at Logan, Utah. When she was but a few months old, her mother was deserted by her father. After some time she remarried an older man of fifty years of age, John Baugh, of Wellsville, Utah.

Ellen grew up in Wellsville, attending district schools, and after graduating from ninth grade, enrolled at the L.D.S. Business College for one year in Salt Lake City, Utah. In addition, she completed a course in general nursing. She obtained her nurses training with Dr. William Parkinson in a Logan hospital.

After her marriage she worked with her husband who was postmaster at Wellsville for six years. When the family moved to Ogden in 1945, she worked for the Utah General Supply Depot as a clerk in the engineering department. Ellen was fifty-seven years of age when she began working, and continued thereafter for five years. When she stopped working, she was chosen president of the Ogden 15th Ward Relief Society, after previously serving five years as president of the Wellsville Ward Relief Society. When her husband became ill, she was released, later being chosen as a member of the Farr West Stake Relief Society Board. Her other church activities included some stake missionary work, going out two nights a week for a year, and she also taught a Sunday School class.

At the present time she is still a member of the Stake Relief Society Board and is also teaching a Sunday School class.

She states: "The Gospel is very dear to me and since the death of my husband it has given me more consolation and hope than I ever dreamed of. I know this Gospel is true and that after the Savior's death, the Gospel was taken from the earth, and that it was again restored through the Prophet Joseph Smith. I have had the privilege of doing work for the dead in the Temple. In October, 1952, I had the pleasure of going to Hawaii and went through the Hawaiian Temple. At the present time, 1953, I have twenty grandchildren, and one great grandchild."

JESSIE BRADSHAW, (No. 3 Page 145), daughter of George H. Bradshaw and Janet Leatham, has taught school for many years in various places. At the present time (1954) she is retired from public school teaching but still does private teaching. She goes to the homes of the handicapped children who are unable to attend school and gives them individual instruction. At the present time she is making her home with her sister, Mrs. Georgia Bradshaw West.

ROBERT B. BRADSHAW, (No. 5, Page 161), son of Robert Leatham Bradshaw and Ellen (Nellie) F. Baugh, served in the United States Armed Forces from 1941 to 1943, being stationed in the Philippine Islands. He graduated from the Utah State Agricultural College in 1941 and in 1945 received his master's degree. At the present time he is teaching school.

Being active in church work, he is now serving in the bishopric of the First Ward in Smithfield, Utah, and belongs to the stake men's chorus. He also teaches Sunday School. (See Page 164).

JANET LEATHAM, No. 4, Page 126), born July 26, 1854, in Cedar City, Iron County, Utah, was the daughter of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele. She was a young child when her parents left Cedar City and moved to Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, where she attended school. About 1874 she married George Hield Bradshaw, and five children were born to them. (See Page 145). When her last son, Robert, was born, she was very ill and died when the baby was but one hour old (February 28, 1883). Subsequently her children were raised by her husband's other wife, Elizabeth, along with her own large family.

Janet is buried in Wellsville.

GEORGE HIELD BRADSHAW was born September 11, 1833, in Manchester, England. He joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and emigrated to the United States. With the James R. Ross Company, consisting of 249 persons, he crossed the plains, coming to Utah. The company left Florence, Nebraska June 17, 1860, and arrived in Salt Lake City, Utah, on Monday, September 3, 1860.

George settled in Wellsville, Cache County, marrying as his first wife, Janet Leatham, daughter of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, and as his second wife, Elizabeth Hampton, in accordance with the teachings of the Church in the earlier days. He and Janet had five children (See Page 145), who at her death were left for Elizabeth to raise. Later in life, after the death of Elizabeth, George Bradshaw married Jane Parkinson, a widow at that time.

He died January 2, 1910, and is buried in Wellsville, Utah.

MARION MOORE LEATHAM (No. 6 Page 236) son of Levi Garrett Leatham and Mary Ivie Rose, was born May 12, 1927 in Shelley, Bingham County, Idaho. He went to school six years in a little country town called Taysom, then moved to Shelley with his parents and finished grade and high school there. In his junior year of high school he graduated from seminary. He was on the boxing team for two years and played football for one year. When Marion was twelve years of age he was presented with the first Aaronic Priesthood award ever received in the Shelley L.D.S. Stake. The award was presented by Presiding Bishop LeGrand Richards who later became one of the apostles of the Church. Marion served as president of his deacons and teachers quorums.

Marion grew up on the farm of his parents. On November 30, 1945, he left left Blackfoot, Idaho, for Fort Douglas, Utah, to enter the Army infantry in World War II. He received his basic training at Camp Roberts, California, then went overseas in April 1946 and served with the Occupational troops in the 222nd Infantry in Austria. After his discharge in February, 1947, he returned to his home in Shelley, Idaho.

Five months later on June 16, 1947, he entered the mission home in Salt Lake City, Utah, preparatory to going on a mission for the L.D.S. Church to the Central States. He completed his mission under President Francis W. Brown, spending most of his time in Dodge City, Kansas, and Pratt, Kansas. A month before his mission was completed, he was advised of the death of his brother and returned home at once for the services. His father being in poor health, he was advised by his mission president to stay at home and help operate the farm.

In September, 1949, he entered Ricks College in Idaho, majoring in agriculture and minoring in religion.

He was married to Ethel Loaine Moss on September 22, 1950, in the Idaho Falls L.D.S. Temple. Ethel attended Union grade school and Madison high school in Rexburg, Idaho. After graduation she worked for the American National Bank in Idaho Falls, Idaho, until she was married. She is active in Primary and Mutual activities.

Marion and Loaine built a home in Shelley and farmed for two years, then rented their home and moved to Hayes Project, four miles west of Shelley, where they and their two children, Joyce Loaine and Marlon Moore Leatham, now reside. (See Page 240)

Marion raises potatoes, sugar beets, hay and grain. The family belongs to the Woodville Ward and Marion is a teacher in Sunday School and the Elders quorum, Scout-master and ward teacher.

CALVIN LEVI LEATHAM (No.1 Page 236)
son of Levi Garrett Leatham and Mary Ivie Rose, was born March 8, 1917, at St. Anthony, Idaho.

He attended first grade in St. Anthony, coming to Shelley with his parents in the spring of 1924 and continuing through the eighth grade in the district school at Taysom.

He became a member of the Shelley First Ward in the fall of 1925, serving as deacon quorum president for a time. After graduating from the L.D.S. Seminary May 17, 1931, he served as ward teacher and as head ward teacher until called on his mission. During this period he also served in the quorum presidency and was called to serve as first counselor to Bishop Warren S. Tew, the quorum president, for some time after being ordained a priest.

To help obtain funds for his mission he rented and farmed 22 acres of farm land from the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company in the spring of 1936.

After graduating from Shelley High School in May, 1936, he was called to serve as an L.D.S. missionary to the Tahitian Mission by President Heber J. Grant, October 6, 1936. He entered the mission home October 26, 1936, was set apart November 11, 1936, by Rudger Clawson, arriving in the mission field November 28, 1936. He completed his mission, leaving for home on the Haurake December 4, 1939.

Calvin rented his father's farm in Shelley in the spring of 1940. He was married to Ruth Annie Johnson on November 19, 1940. (See Page 237).

He was called to the Stake Mission January 20, 1942, and later as district president over Shelley District; he was also ordained a Seventy in the Shelley Stake Tabernacle on February 1, 1942, by Elder Oscar A. Kirkham. On August 14, 1944, he was released from the Stake Mission.

Calvin moved from Shelley First Ward to the Woodville Ward and began farming for the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company. While residing in this ward he became teacher of the Gospel Doctrine Sunday School class.

During the winter of 1946, he became ill with lockjaw, from which illness he has never fully recovered.

Moving back to Shelley First Ward in the fall of 1947 and to the farm which his father had operated since coming to Shelley, Calvin was called to be one of the presidents of the 106th Quorum of Seventies and was set apart by President Milton R. Hunter. He received a second call to labor in the Shelley Stake Mission on August 3, 1951, where he served until the time of his release August 9, 1953.

ALTA HAMMOND COBURN, wife of John L. Coburn, attended Brigham Young College and Utah State Agricultural College until the time of her marriage on October 8, 1914. She has been active as a Relief Society and Primary teacher in the L.D.S. Church. (See Page 132).

LAVERNA COBURN HANSON, (No. 1 Page 132), daughter of John L. and Alta Hammond Coburn, attended and graduated from Logan Senior High School, spent one year at Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, then enrolled and graduated from Woodbury College at Los Angeles, California. Since that time she has been office manager for different business concerns in Los Angeles. Her husband was killed in World War II, leaving her with one daughter, Jo Carol Hanson.

PAUL HAMMOND COBURN, (No. 2 Page 132), graduated from Logan Senior High School and the Utah State Agricultural College. He spent a year and a half in the armed services at Fort Lewis, then was sent to Australia with the Air Force, where he remained until the end of World War II. He has been program director and announcer for different radio stations since leaving the service, being at the present time with Station KNAK in Salt Lake City. He married Lucy Harris in 1947.

CALVIN HAMMOND COBURN, (No. 3 Page132), graduated from Senior High School and is now a senior at the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah.

REX B. LINDSAY, firstborn in a family of five boys, was reared at Moreland, Bingham County, Idaho. He attended Moreland elementary and high schools. His maturing years were seasoned with a variety of general and specialized farming activities. He was incapacitated for six weeks with an acute attack of rheumatic fever during the next to last year of high school, still graduating, however, at the age of sixteen. Several years following graduation were spent seeking a vocation and goals in life compatible with both health and ambition for achievement. He attended Utah State Agricultural College in Logan during the school year 1937-38. After service in the Army Air Corps, where a recurring attack of rheumatic fever resulted in a medical discharge in 1942, he returned to complete his undergraduate work at the University of Utah, graduating with honors in June, 1944. Returning to school the following year, he earned a Master's degree in Educational Psychology. He worked a half-time shift at the Genealogical Society of Utah during the four years of attendance at the University of Utah. He accepted a position as instructor in psychology and education at Snow College, Ephraim, Utah, during the years 1947 - 1951. During the summers, he continued his education at the University of Utah and the University of Minnesota.

Lacking funds to complete his higher education and still meet the responsibilities of caring for a growing family, and because of dissatisfaction with the progress toward certain of his life goals, he decided to move to the vicinity of Salt Lake City and seek employment. The succeeding years to the present time have been spent working at Hill Air Force Base, primarily in the Civilian Personnel Office as a Position Classifier and in the Management Branch of the Maintenance Engineering Directorate as an Organization and Methods Examiner.

Through the years he has always taken an active part in the activities and affairs of the Church, holding such positions as assistant in the Sunday School superintendency, North Twentieth Ward, member of the Sunday School Stake Board in South Sanpete Stake, and elder's representative in the Ward Genealogical Committee in the Bountiful Third Ward.

He married Roberta Leatham. (See Page 239).

JOHN STEELE PAINTER LEATHAM, (No. 8, Page 167), was born the second son of John Steele Leatham and Mary Ann Painter, on December 15, 1889. He was blessed February 6, 1890, by William H. Maughan, Sr., in the Wellsville Ward, Cache County, Utah.

John became eight years of age while his father was serving an L.D.S. mission to England. His desire was to be baptized by his father and he wanted to wait until his return, but young John's mother persuaded him to be baptized before his father's return. On April 2, 1898, he was baptized by Richard Brenchley and confirmed April 3, 1898, by William H. Maughan, Jr.

As a boy, John loved the out-doors and only under duress did he get his schooling. Many days he would start for school riding his pony, only to ride into the hills to spend the day contemplating nature rather than to ponder books. He attended school in Wellsville and at the Brigham Young College in Logan, Utah.

He received his patriarchal blessing under the hands of his uncle, Alexander Leatham, on February 15, 1912, and was ordained an elder in the priesthood by Thomas Leishman, March 4, 1912.

John left to serve an L.D.S. mission to England April 15, 1912, and returned home

May 15, 1914. He labored in the Chesterfield, Rutherham, Mexboro, Barnsley and Sheffield branches of the mission.

In May, 1911, he met Anna Loretta Halvorson in Hyrum, Utah. They kept in close contact by mail during his mission to England and on June 5, 1914, following his return they became engaged. On July 15, 1914, their marriage was solemnized in the Logan L.D.S. Temple with William Budge officiating.

To this union were born seven children. (See Page 181). The family lived in Wellsville, where John spent his life as a farmer and served as a teacher in the Elders quorum of the priesthood.

On November 16, 1941, John Steele Painter Leatham passed away in the William Budge Hospital in Logan, of peritonitis resulting from perforated stomach ulcers. Burial was in the Wellsville cemetery November 19, 1941.

Loretta Halvorson Leatham, his widow, moved to Oakland, California, a year later. She met and married Herman Kuhn in October, 1945, and has since resided there. Children of John S. P. and Loretta Halvorson Leatham are as follows:

Owen H. Leatham attended schools in Wellsville. He now lives in Drummond, Montana, where he is employed in the sheep business.

Louis H. Leatham attended schools in Wellsville. In 1938, he married Roma Pitcher of Smithfield and resided in Wellsville, Amalga and Smithfield, employed as a farmer. To them were born five children. (See Page 182). Roma Pitcher Leatham died June 24, 1952, and Louis H. Leatham died December 8, 1952, in Oakland, California. Both were buried in Smithfield, Utah.

Anna Loretta Leatham attended schools in Wellsville and senior high school in Hyrum. She married Burdett DeVoo Jenson on June 9, 1937, in Ogden, Utah. To them have been born five children. (See Page 183). The family resides in Sandy, Utah, and are engaged in farming.

Margaret Lila Leatham attended schools in Wellsville and senior high school in Hyrum. She married Cyril Delore Garr in 1942 in the Logan L.D.S. Temple. To them have been born three sons. (See Page 184). They reside in Logan, Utah.

Elizabeth Jean Leatham attended schools in Wellsville. She married Ray Eldon Larsen in 1942 in Preston, Idaho. To them have been born four children. (See Page 185). The family resides in Logan, Utah.

Neal H. Leatham attended schools in Wellsville, Utah. He served in the U. S. Army of Occupation in Austria. There he met and married Erna (See Page 186) in 1948. To them have been born two daughters, Gisella and Gretchen Leatham. The family resides in Alameda, California.

BETTY LOUISE LEATHAM, (No. 7 Page 236) seventh child of Levi Garrett Leatham and Mary Ivie Rose, was born November 7, 1928, in Shelley, Idaho. She began her schooling at the age of five at Taysom, moving to Shelley with her parents and finishing grade and high school there. She graduated from the Shelley L.D.S. Seminary in her junior year of high school. Betty attended the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan for three years, then went to work as a bookkeeper and stenographer in Idaho Falls, Idaho, working for several firms there. She married Roland Gentillian of Firth Idaho, July 8, 1949. She has one child, Sharon, born September 1, 1950, in Idaho Falls, Idaho. (See Page 241).

She and Roland were divorced in September, 1954, and at present she and her daughter are making their home in Shelley. Betty is working for the Atomic Energy plant at Arco, Idaho.

ARNOLD REX LEATHAM, (No. 3 Page 236), the third child of Levi Garrett Leatham and Mary Ivie Rose, was born June 8, 1920, in St. Anthony, Idaho. He went to school in Shelley, Idaho, and graduated from high school and seminary there. While in school he took an active part in sports and was captain of the basketball team during his last two years in high school and president of the Athletic Club in his senior year. He was secretary of the Y.M.M.I.A. for three years during his years in high school. While at school he worked and helped his parents and brothers and sisters on the farm. He enlisted in the Air Corps but was rejected because of an illness of which he was unaware. He then went to Brigham City, Utah, and worked on the construction of the Bushnell Hospital for the wounded service men and women of World War II.

On August 17, 1942, Arnold was married to Viola Jan Sawtell at Shelley, Idaho. She attended Brooms Beauty School in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and had been assisting in a beauty shop in Shelley, later working in Salt Lake City at the time of her marriage to Arnold.

A week after they were married, Arnold was drafted in the armed forces, and assigned to the Air Force. He received his training at Scott Field, Illinois, then was transferred to Louisville, Kentucky, where he received a medical discharge. He was trained as an electrician in the service and continued to follow this line of work for the rest of his life.

He made his home in Los Angeles, California, with his wife and two children, Trudy Ann Leatham and Linda Jan Leatham, who were both born in Long Beach. (See Page 238).

At the age of 14, Arnold had scarlet fever which left him with a kidney ailment. The infection became active about the time he was in the service. He suffered with the disease for ten years, then died in the Veteran's Hospital in Salt Lake City at the age of 31. He is buried in Shelley, Idaho.

His widow and two daughters reside at 3326 Adriatic, Long Beach, California, at the present time.

RULON JAMES LEATHAM, (Jimmy), (No. 5 Page 236), the fifth child of Levi Garrett and Mary Ivie Rose, was born December 18, 1923, at St. Anthony, Idaho. At the age of five months he moved with his parents and older brothers and sister to Shelley, Idaho.

He graduated from the Taysom grade school and the Shelley high school where he was active in athletics. After attending one term at the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, he entered the armed service of his country in February, 1943.

He served in the medical corps and received his training in Texas. While in Texas he played Army football in the "Victory Bowl" in the national Army game, and his team was victorious. After spending time in Texas, Jimmy was sent to New Guinea in March of 1944.

Jimmy had always been active in his church duties and was secretary of the Y. M. M. I. A. group while in the Pacific. After a year of service at New Guinea, he was sent to Luzon and served in the city of Manila. Continuing his church duties, he was made a counselor in the Y. M. M. I. A. While in the service he was connected with the 60th General Hospital Unit. He was discharged from the Army at Fort Lewis, Washington, in February, 1946.

He helped his father on the farm until school began that fall, then enrolled at the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan to begin his training as a veterinarian, an ambition he had carried with him and planned for since he was a small boy. He completed his credits for a B. A. degree in pre-medical school in the summer of 1948. He was to have received his diploma of graduation from the Agricultural College the following June. While attending the Agricultural College he took an active part in the Lambda Delta Sigma fraternity and graduated from the L. D. S. Institute in 1948.

He entered Veterinarian School at Washington State College at Pullman in the fall of 1948, where he assisted in organizing a chapter of the Lambda Delta Sigma at Pullman. He was active in the L. D. S. Ward at Moscow, Idaho, and the branch at Pullman. While Jimmy was at Pullman a new ward was organized, in which he took great interest and pride.

Much to the sorrow of his family and friends, Jimmy's busy life came to an end very suddenly when he passed away of a heart attack about 6:30 a. m. on May 14, 1949, in his room at Pullman, Washington.

His body was returned to Shelley, Idaho, for services and burial there.

His parents were presented a diploma of graduation in his behalf from the Utah State Agricultural College in June, 1949.

ROBERT ALEXANDER STEELE LEATHAM (No. 7 Page126), the seventh son of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, was born in Wellsville, Utah, July 24, 1860. He attended the schools of Wellsville, and as a young man drove a freight wagon between Corinne, Utah, and Montana, also working in the mines around Garfield, Utah.

He married Rachel Currie Garrett in the Logan Temple on February 23, 1882. Her father, Levi Clutcher Garrett, was of Jewish descent and joined the Mormon Church in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, when sixteen years of age. He came to Salt Lake City, operating one of the first meat markets there, and was considered a great colonizer and pioneer. Sometime later, he moved to Wellsville, where he again entered the meat business. Rachel was only a child when her mother, Christine Currie Garrett, died, but she helped her father make a home for her young brothers and sisters until she herself married.

The young couple began their married life by homesteading in Wellsville Canyon, just north of Dry Lake. They surmounted many problems as young settlers in a new country; and while living at Wellsville, nine children were born to them. (See Page221).

In 1896, a great sorrow came into the lives of this family. The oldest daughter, Christine Garrett Leatham, then just fourteen years of age, became ill and died of typhoid fever.

A sugar factory was erected in LeGrande, Oregon, in 1900, and a group of Mormons who had had experience raising sugar beets went to nearby Alicel to live and raise sugar beets along with a number of other families from Wellsville.

While the Leatham family lived in Oregon, many young men from Utah came there to thin and hoe sugar beets, and to many of them Rachel acted as mother. She saw that none of them were ever in need of a home-cooked meal or a place to sleep. They all loved to come to the Leatham home and never forgot her kindness to them.

After residing in Alicel until December 6, 1906, Robert and Rachel Leatham brought their family back to Utah and settled on a farm in College Ward, Cache County. While they lived here they sent their third son, Levi Garrett Leatham, on a mission for the L. D. S. Church to the British Isles. The Leatham family lived in several different places in Cache Valley before moving to Twin Groves, near St. Anthony, Idaho. By this time several of their children were married and had homes of their own.

In July, 1916, Robert Alexander Steele Leatham was stricken by illness and was an invalid for a year prior to July 5, 1917, when he died. Funeral services were held in Twin Groves and burial was in Wellsville, where his home had been for so many years. Another service was held in the Second Ward before burial in the Wellsville cemetery beside his daughter, Christine.

After Rachel became a widow she moved to St. Anthony and lived in an apartment with her unmarried children for about three years. She sent two of her sons, Raymond and William, to fight for their country during World War I.

In 1925, Rachel Garrett Leatham came to Shelley to keep house for her son, William, (Bill), who was farming on the Hayes Project. Her oldest daughter, Florence Leatham Bradshaw, suffered a heart attack in 1928, and passed away very suddenly. After this loss, Rachel's own health began to fail, and a year later, while visiting her daughters, Kate and Eva, in Glendale, California, she also was stricken with a heart attack, living but a few days thereafter, and passing away December 16, 1929. Her body was returned to Wellsville for services, where she was laid to rest beside her husband and daughter, Christine, in the Wellsville Cemetery.

FLORENCE GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 4 Page 221), daughter of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born July 26, 1888, in Wellsville, Utah. Her early schooling was obtained in Wellsville, later moving with her family in 1900 to Alicel, Oregon, where they resided for six years. Here she met Fred Bradshaw from Wellsville, and the two were married in the Logan Temple about 1907.

The couple homesteaded in Raft River, Idaho, for a number of years, later moving to Burley, Idaho, and still later to Pondosa, Oregon. Fred and Florence Leatham Bradshaw were the parents of six children. (See Page 235).

Florence suffered a heart attack following surgery and passed away suddenly at her home in Pondosa, Oregon, on April 29, 1929. She was buried at LeGrande, Oregon.

Her husband, Fred Bradshaw, died in 1936 at Burley, Idaho, where he is buried.

Harold Garrett Leatham and his wife Florence Anderson Leatham

HAROLD GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 8, Page 221), son of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Garrett Leatham, was born January 15, 1897, in Wellsville, Utah. He moved with his family in 1900 to Oregon, where he obtained his early schooling in LeGrande, also helping in the beet and potato fields. Because of his mother's poor health, the family moved back to Utah in 1906, where they settled on a farm in College Ward until Harold was sixteen years old. In 1913, they moved to Twin Groves, Idaho, where the boy worked on his parents' farm.

On July 5, 1917, his father died and the family moved to St. Anthony and Harold was baptized in the L. D. S. Church, and was active in several different positions of the Church.

Harold married Florence Anderson in the Logan L. D. S. Temple on September 17, 1918, and the couple lived for two years in Idaho Falls, moving in 1921 to Shelley, Idaho, where they rented a Utah-Idaho Sugar Company farm, and have lived there to the present time.

Seven children have been born to the couple (See Page 244), four are now married with homes and families of their own.

Harold and Florence also purchased a home in Shelley where they plan to retire when their working years are over.

Harold is Ward Genealogical chairman, has served as recreation leader and twice as stake missionary.

VELDA LEATHAM PETERSON, wife of Warren W. Peterson, was born May 23, 1923, in Shelley, Idaho, a daughter of Harold G. Leatham and Florence Anderson. During her childhood, she helped her parents on the farm, and later graduated from the Taysom grade school and the Shelley High School.

In July, 1942, she and her cousin, Roberta Leatham, went to Salt Lake City and found employment at the Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Velda remained with this work until April, 1946, when she received a call to fulfill a mission to the North Central States. For the next eighteen months she labored in Winnipeg, Canada, and in Duluth, Minnesota.

While in Duluth, Velda met Warren W. Peterson, and on May 28, 1948, they were married in the Idaho Falls Temple by President David Smith, and have since resided in Duluth.

One boy was born to the couple, Kent Warren Peterson, on April 19, 1950.

WILLIAM GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 7, Page 221), son of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Garrett, was born August 9, 1895, at Wellsville, Utah.

Graduating from the eighth grade in 1912, he spent a number of years farming in Utah and Idaho.

In October of 1917, William (Bill), enlisted in the U. S. Navy, training at San Francisco, California. From there he was sent to radio school at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts, on July 1, 1918. Bill arrived in France just a few days before the Armistice was signed on November 11, 1918. Two months later he contracted typhoid fever and was given a medical discharge in March, 1919.

After working in the sawmills at Perry, Oregon, for a few years, he and his mother moved to Shelley, Idaho, and operated a farm. His mother passed away on December 16, 1929.

On December 23, 1930, Bill married Freda Johnson of Shelley. Freda was born at Greenfield, Missouri, October 31, 1908, and came with her family to Pocatello, Idaho, in January, 1918, later moving to Shelley, Idaho, and obtaining her education there.

Bill and Freda have three children. (See Page 243). Billy, their eldest child, attended the University of Idaho, graduating on June 7, 1953, the same day he received his commission as a Second Lieutenant in the army reserve. Billy is at present stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Jerald, the second child, obtained his early schooling at Shelley, Idaho, where he is now completing his senior high school year, having been active in football, track and the Thespians Club. He also served on the Student Council and as president of the student body.

Myrna Lorraine, the third child, graduated from the eighth grade with high honors, and was active on the student council and as secretary of the student body in high school.

All three children attend the Methodist Church in Shelley, where Myrna is pianist for the junior Sunday School.

At the present time Bill and Jerald are farming on land which their father (Bill) has operated for the last twenty-nine years.

REED GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 10 Page 221), the tenth child of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born April 14, 1902, in Alicel, Oregon. He moved with his parents and brothers and sisters when he was four years of age to Cache Valley, Utah, in 1906. He started his schooling at College Ward, later moving to Twin Groves, near St. Anthony, Idaho, where his education was concluded.

He moved to Shelley, Idaho, in 1925, and lived with his brother Bill and their widowed mother on a farm on the Hayes Project, four miles west of Shelley.

Reed was married November 12, 1927, at Weiser, Idaho, to Mae Richardson. The couple farmed on the Hayes Project until about 1932, during which period three of their children were born. Later they moved to Ellensburg, Washington, where two more children were born. (See Page 255). After living in Ellensburg for several years, they moved to Tacoma, where Reed worked on the harbor at installing refrigeration in ships. His present address is 321 East 29 U.S., Tacoma 4, Washington.

EVA GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 11 Page 221), youngest daughter of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born March 23, 1905, in Alicel, Union, Oregon. When she was three years of age, her parents returned to Cache Valley, Utah. She started school in College Ward and later moved with her family to Twin Groves, near St. Anthony, Idaho, where she finished her schooling.

On January 10, 1927, Eva married Charles (Charlie) Lewis Davenport, who was a mechanic and truck driver by trade. He and Eva lived and worked in various places in Idaho, Utah and California. They were living in Montebello, California, when their only child, Eva Marie Davenport, was born February 3, 1932. They finally settled in Salt Lake City, Utah, where both Eva and Charlie worked for the Remington Arms Plant during World War II.

Charlie was driving an oil truck for Collett Tank Lines September 2, 1949, when he was involved in a serious accident and met a tragic death attempting to avoid an automobile which apparently went out of control on the highway between Salt Lake City and Heber. The day following the accident, September 3, 1939, his twin grandsons, Patrick Lewis and Michael Lewis Strosburg, were born to Glen Lewis Strosburg and Eva Marie Davenport.

Funeral services were held for Charlie in the Deseret Mortuary and he is buried in the Salt Lake City Cemetery.

At the present time Eva lives in Salt Lake City. Her daughter, Eva Marie, and her two grandchildren make their home with her.

VERNALD LAMAR LEATHAM, (No. 4 Page 244), son of Harold Garrett and Florence Anderson Leatham, was born March 28, 1929, at Shelley, Idaho. He attended Shelley schools and then served with the U. S. Navy from April, 1946, to April, 1948. On July 27, 1949, he was married in the Idaho Falls L.D.S. Temple to Helen McGavin, daughter of George and Hazel McGavin of Idaho Falls. (See Page 248.)

Following marriage, the couple made their home in Idaho Falls, where LaMar was employed. At present he is plant foreman for the Mission Orange Bottling Co. The family home address is 915 Wheeler St., Idaho Falls, Idaho. One child, an infant daughter named Lorette, has been born to the couple, her birth date being January 10, 1954.

VIRGIL OLIN JACOBS, (No. 2 Page 249), was born July 7, 1927, in St. Anthony, Idaho, the second son of Kate Leatham Jacobs and Olin Floyd Jacobs. He was baptized into the L.D.S. Church in 1935, and ordained a deacon in 1939 at Boise, when he was twelve years of age.

He took a basic engineering course at the University of Idaho at Pocatello and studied six months at a machinists course. After completing his schooling, he went to Seattle, Washington, where he worked in war industries.

He entered the Navy November 6, 1943, being sent to Camp Farragut for his training. He also trained at the Great Lakes Naval Base and later taught engineering school in Gulf Port, Mississippi. For a time, he was assigned to the USS Lavaca, a troop transport, with a rating of M.M. 2/c. He was discharged on May 31, 1946.

After his marriage, September 8, 1946, to Mardiell Gillett, the couple moved to Salt Lake City, Utah, where in due time, two little girls were born to them. (See Page 251). During this period he was employed as a driver of gas trucks.

The couple separated and finally were divorced. Later Virgil went to Boise, Idaho, to work where he met and married Roberta Roberts Burnett on December 24, 1950. Roberta had two boys by a previous marriage.

Virgil and Roberta went to Canada, where he worked with a construction company, returning some time later to Pocatello, and then to Burley, Idaho, where he is now working with the Westcott Oil Company.

KEITH LEROY JACOBS, (No. 1 Page 249), was born June 15, 1922, at St. Anthony, Idaho, the eldest son of Kate Leatham and Olin Floyd Jacobs.

He attended school in St. Anthony, Idaho, Los Angeles, California, and Boise, Idaho, and was baptized into the L.D.S. Church September 8, 1930, at Boise. He was ordained a deacon in 1933 in the Boise 2nd Ward.

The family moved to Twin Falls, Idaho, in the spring of 1939. There Keith graduated from high school and joined the National Guard, where he was active for two years. August 4, 1940, he entered the Army and was sent to Fort Lewis, Washington, for training. He transferred to the Air Force and began cadet training September 9, 1942, at Santa Ana, California, continuing training at Oxnard, California, Taft, California, and Phoenix, Arizona.

He married Alice Nora Mulkey on June 19, 1943 at the army chapel at Phoenix, Arizona. In June, 1943, he graduated from a cadet to a Second Lieutenant, and was chosen to be a fighter pilot. In December, 1943, he was sent to Ireland where he flew 32 missions in a P-51 Mustang fighter plane over Germany. He then served in Belgium in charge of a gasoline and ammunition dump. In 1945 he was made a First Lieutenant, and in December of that year came home where he joined his wife and settled in Twin Falls, Idaho. They now live in Kimberly, Idaho, where he is employed by the Idaho State Highway Engineering Department. He is also active in the Air Force Reserve and was promoted to Captain in February, 1953. He is a great outdoor enthusiast, loving hunting and fishing.

DONNA RAE JACOBS, (No. 3 Page 249), was born to Kate Garrett Leatham and Olin F. Jacobs on January 24, 1932, in Boise, Idaho, where she lived until she was seven years of age. The family moved to Twin Falls, Idaho, in the spring of 1939, where Donna attended school to the eleventh grade.

She married Alvon A. Thompson on September 4, 1949, in Twin Falls, Idaho. The couple moved to Cascade Locks, Oregon, settling in the Hood River Ward in Hood River, Oregon. Their marriage was solemnized in the Idaho Falls Temple on March 30, 1950. Alvon served in the Boy Scout organization and his wife in the junior Sunday School of the 4th Ward, Twin Falls, Idaho.

They moved to Kimberly, Idaho, in November of 1951. Alvon is at present a stake missionary and operates a service station in Twin Falls.

JOYCE ANN JACOBS, (No. 4 Page 249), was born in Boise, Idaho, on July 21, 1934, the daughter of Kate Leatham and Olin F. Jacobs. She lived in Boise until the spring of 1939 when the family moved to Twin Falls, Idaho. For six years she attended the Lincoln grade school and graduated from Primary in the L.D.S. Second Ward, also completing Bee Hive work in the Mutual Improvement Association. She took an active part in drama, belonging to the Bluebirds, later joining the Camp Fire girls, and going on outings with them to the hills.

She played softball in the Knothole League, of which her team were champions. Sometime after completing the 11th grade in high school, she met Kenneth Milton Miller, whom she married August 18, 1951, in Elko, Nevada. They are now operating a farm in Jerome, Idaho. (See Page 254).

ROBERT EARL GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 3, Page 221), son of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born May 15, 1886, at Wellsville, Utah, where he obtained his early schooling. With his parents, he moved to Alicel, Oregon, in 1900, where his education was continued.

He returned to Cache Valley in 1906, and was married December 2, 1908, to Ida Christiana George. Robert and his wife homesteaded in Raft River, Idaho, where they resided a number of years. Later they moved to St. Anthony where they lived for some time. Robert worked for the Union Pacific Railroad as a welder in Wyoming for many years, while still maintaining a home in Morgan, Utah.

He retired from the railroad in 1948, and since then, he and his wife have traveled extensively in the states. They spend their winters in Mesa, Arizona, and summers in Wyoming.

KATE LEATHAM, (No. 9, Page 221), daughter of Rachel Garrett and Robert Alex Steele Leatham, was born at Wellsville, Utah, on January 5, 1899. The family moved to Alicel, Oregon, but after a short period returned to Utah where Kate obtained much of her schooling in College Ward. They lived in several different places, including Logan, where Kate was baptized, and Twin Falls, Idaho, where she finished Grade School.

She was active in the Primary Association, of which her mother was president, also played on the girls ball team. After Kate's father passed away in 1917, the family moved to St. Anthony, Idaho, where Kate became employed in a seed house. After her two brothers, Bill and Ray, entered the armed services in World War I, Kate obtained employment in Burley, St. Anthony, and in Ashton, Idaho.

In 1921 Kate was married to Olin Floyd Jacobs by Bishop Spires. On June 15, 1922, a son was born to the couple. The same year, the family moved to Wyoming, but returned to Boise in 1927, where Olin and Kate both were occupied with farming and dairying.

In 1928 they moved to Glendale, California, which period they enjoyed very much except for the fact that Kate's mother passed away during this time, and this loss was very hard on both Kate and her small son, leaving them homesick for Idaho.

They returned to Boise where Olin worked for the Utah Oil Refining Company. In 1939 the family moved again to Twin Falls, Idaho, where the children started grade and Sunday School. Keith, the older son, graduated in 1940, and joined the National Guard, later serving with the Air Corps in World War II, while Virgil, the younger son, joined the Navy. Both sons returned safely from their service.

Kate and Olin took several enjoyable vacation trips, including tours of Canada, Seattle, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Arkansas.

Kate is still active during Red Cross drives and on election boards, while Olin belongs to several civic clubs and is a member of a bowling team.

RAYMOND GARRETT LEATHAM, (No. 1, Page 221), son of Robert Alexander Steele Leatham and Rachel Currie Garrett, was born December 5, 1882, in Wellsville, Utah. He went to school in Wellsville and moved to Alicel, Oregon, with his parents in 1900. On October 22, 1902, he married Susannah Evelyn Porter in the Logan L.D.S. Temple. The couple farmed at Nibley, Oregon, for two years, then moved to LeGrande, Oregon, where Ray worked for the railroad. During the depression in 1907, he worked in a barber shop in LeGrande.

In 1908 they moved to Cache, Idaho, and operated a farm for Dan Leatham, moving in 1911 to Twin Groves, Idaho, where Ray farmed and later began working for Studebaker Company.

Ray enlisted on March 19, 1918, at Fort Douglas, Utah, in the famous 45th Division, training at Camp Kearney, California, transferring to the 59th Coast Artillery at New York and going overseas about June 1, 1918. Arriving in France, he was moved to the front lines at St. Michael in August of 1918. This was the first all-American unit to go into action in France. He remained in the front lines until the Armistice was signed later that year, being just outside of Metz with his division when the war ended. Returning with his unit to New York, he was sent to Camp Funston, Kansas, where he was discharged February 7, 1919, with the rank of corporal.

After joining his family in Blackfoot, Idaho, they moved first to Pocatello in 1921, and later to Cokeville, Wyoming, where he worked for the Ogden Packing Company. In 1924, Ray began ranching, and in 1935, the family moved to Lava Hot Springs, Idaho, where he farmed and worked for wages.

In 1940 he moved to a dry farm on the Blackfoot River, where the family still resides, spending summers on the farm and winters in Basalt where they have purchased a home.

Among the positions Ray has held in the Church are: Bishop's Counselor at Cache, Idaho, 1909-1910; Bishop's Counselor at Twin Groves, Idaho, 1914-1915; Bishop's Counselor at Lava Hot Springs, Idaho, 1937-1938.

Ray is a very well read man. He has made an extensive study of the Bible and other Church works.

GILL LONGSTROTH (Number 7, Page 135), son of Alma Longstroth and Ivy Leatham Coburn, enlisted in the U.S. Army on May 6, 1943. In October, 1943, he left for overseas where he received the infantry combat medal on Bougainville Island, serving with the American division. In September, 1944, he was sent to Australia for officers' training. After completing the course he was commissioned a second lieutenant. Gill was released from service in 1946 with the rank of captain.

He married Kathleen Livermore, which was his second marriage, August 1, 1950.

After graduating from the University of Utah Pre-Dental school, he re-entered the Army in 1950, and left shortly thereafter for duty in Korea. He served in Korea for fifteen months.

He graduated from Ogden High School and attended Weber College in Ogden.

WILLIAM LEATHAM COBURN (Number 2, Page 131), son of John Preston Coburn and Annabelle Leatham, was born September 22, 1881, in Wellsville, Cache County, Utah. He received his education in Wellsville, and early in his life he began to farm.

He was called on a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and left for Liverpool, England on April 12, 1910. He labored in the London District doing an outstanding work. He returned home on May 13, 1912 with an honorable release.

He was a member of the Hyrum Stake Sunday School Board for several years. Around St. Anthony, Idaho he worked for Andrew Swenson and later he was made foreman for Island Park Railroad Ranch. He was ordained a high priest in the Melchizedek Priesthood at Ashton. He moved to Pocatello and helped build the high school there; and from there his work took him through the Western States being employed by T.J. Roland on road construction.

"Bill" never married but he made his home with his sister Ivy Coburn Longstroth at different times. After his health declined he came home to Ivy where she nursed him with loving care. He died of cancer on January 29, 1951, and he is buried at Wellsville.

HELEN LOUISE COBURN, (No. 4 Page 132), graduated from Senior High School and from the Utah State Agricultural College, being valedictorian for her class of 1950. She then attended Penn State College, receiving her master's degree, and a scholarship of $1,200 to Penn State College and $400 from Alpha Chi Sorority. She also received a scholarship from Penn State to Radcliff College and is now working for her Ph. D. which she expected to receive during the summer of 1954.

She was hospitalized a year and one-half in Children's Hospital in Los Angeles, and six months at St. Mark's Hospital in Salt Lake City for polio.

JO CAROL COBURN HANSON, (No. 1 Page 133), daughter of Emmett Hanson and LaVerna Coburn Hanson, attended Senior High School at Logan, then entered the University of Chicago, completing one year. Her father was killed in World War II.

She married Milton R. Morse on January 6, 1953, and they are the parents of one daughter.

JANET LETHAM

JANET LETHAM

JANET LETHAM (Number 3, Page 13), third child of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart, was born June 15, 1876, at Shettleston, Lanarkshire, Scotland. She lived out her entire life of ninety years in Scotland and was the only one of the Letham or Leatham brothers and sisters who grew to maturity and did not join the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Janet was a pretty Scotch lassie and equally proud. As a young girl she was courted by Walter Weir, and the family story is that one day they had a slight dispute and she refused to see him anymore. Walter then married another girl. Sometime later, however, his wife died and Janet Letham was again courted. At the age of thirty-eight years she married Walter Weir who died twenty-three years later about 1885. Janet lived until March 24, 1916.

It is reported that one of her sons emmigrated to Canada, but very little is actually known about this branch of the family at this time.

The James Leatham Branch

James Leatham

JAMES LEATHAM

JAMES LEATHAM (Number 4, Page 13), second son of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart, was born in the town of Hogganfield, Lanarkshire, Scotland on December 15, 1830. He heard the glorious tidings of the Restored Gospel of Jesus Christ as early as the spring of 1843, and was impressed with its divinity when thirteen years old just three years subsequent to the time it came to Scotland.

He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints May 19, 1848, with Elder James Jordan officiating, and was confirmed on the following day. He was ordained a deacon in the fall of 1848, and a priest in the spring of 1850. He was filled with youthful enthusiasm and love for the truth and did telling missionary work among his friends and kinsmen. Through his diligence and perserverance he was able to add fifteen new members to the L.D.S. Church the first quarter of his mission.

He was ordained an elder April 9, 1851, and at the Glasgow conference, held in the month of October, he was called as a travelling elder to labor in that conference under the direction of Elder Robert L. Campbell and President John Lyon.

On December 31, 1852, he married Margaret Irvine who was at this time a faithful member of the church. He continued his missionary work with uniform success until March of 1853, when he was honorably released for the purpose of emigrating to Zion. An entry in his diary dated Saturday, March 19, 1853, reads: "This morning I took farewell of my father, mother, brothers and sisters, and started for the valley of the mountains. I took the track boat to Glasgow--where I got to see all my brothers and sisters from Chapelhall who came down to see me sail from Glasgow. Also my brothers John, Alexander, and sisters Barbara and Janet--I took farewell of them all."

He sailed from Liverpool on board the ship "Faulkin", March 28, 1853, and arrived in New Orleans May 18th of the same year. He proceeded up the Mississippi River as far as Keokuk, Iowa, and here stopped for several weeks when he joined Captain Appleton Harmon's wagon train bound for Zion. The Missouri River was crossed at Council Bluffs and the transferring of the wagon train from one side to the other was a task requiring skill and judgement, and in which he took an active part.

After a journey in which the usual adventures and hardships of the pioneers in those days were met and overcome, the company arrived at Greenriver. Here a halt was made and he, with five other brethren, were called to go ahead of the train on foot and carry a special message to President Young at Salt Lake City for the purpose of obtaining provisions and relief for the rest of the company. They pushed on and after fording numerous creeks and several rivers finally arrived in Salt Lake City on October 5, 1853.

On the following day he attended conference and on October 9, was ordained a member of the 37th Quorum of Seventies.

Soon after arriving in the valley, he entered the employ of President Brigham Young. In all his life's work he adhered strictly to the advice of President Young, "To stay at home and assist in building up the material welfare of the city and state."

James Leatham was one of the first to break ground for the erection of the Lion House in Salt Lake City, commencing in January, 1854. He was actively engaged on the construction of many of the prominent buildings erected in Salt Lake City, including the Salt Lake Theatre, the Salt Lake Temple, Tabernacle, and Assembly Hall. He also helped construct the wall of masonry which to this day surrounds the Temple Square. That famous old land mark, "the white bridge", which spanned the Jordan River on North Temple Street is another structure which he helped erect.

Soon after his arrival in the Salt Lake Valley, he made arrangements for the immigration of his wife and her family, including her father, mother, four brothers and two sisters.

He drove the "kitchen" carriage for President Brigham Young and his company, including Heber C. Kimball and a number of the apostles, on their tour through the settlements in May, 1854. They journeyed as far south as Cedar City and Harmony, and on the return trip located the site for the present town of Goshen on the west side of Utah Lake. Parley P. Pratt and President Joseph F. Smith were distinguished members of this party, the former to locate a southern route to California and the latter headed for the Pacific Coast on his first mission.

James worked for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the aggregate over forty years. He helped quarry rock for the Salt Lake Temple in Little Cottonwood Canyon and was employed in constructing a wagon road in Big Cottonwood Canyon as far up as Silver Lake.

In the fall of 1854, a relief expedition consisting of three four-mule teams, one owned by President Brigham Young, one by Heber C. Kimball and one by Daniel H. Wells, was organized and sent out to meet incoming emigrant trains which very often ran short of provisions and supplies. He drove the team belonging to President Young. They went out past the sweetwater and on the return trip brought back a load of merchandise from a heavily loaded church train which was being brought through from the east by Captain Horace S. Eldredge.

He was present at a celebration held on July 24, 1857, at the Silver Lake in Big Cottonwood Canyon when word was received of the approach of "Johnson's Army." He was appointed that fall as a member of the guard which was stationed in Echo Canyon and served faithfully through those dark and trying days. He was one amongst a force of men who plowed up the ground and carefully covered up the walls of the Temple prior to the famous move south and assisted in uncovering these same walls after the trouble was amicably settled and the U.S. soldiers had passed peaceably through the city to their camp west of the Jordan River.

In the year 1859, he met with a very serious accident while working on the Salt Lake Temple Block, having his left leg badly fractured below the knee. This misfortune proved very serious and kept him in confinement the better part of a year.

He was appointed as assistant superintendent of the first Sunday School organized in the Sixth Ward in 1865. At the time of the "reformation" he officiated in re-baptizing several hundred people and also assisted at a subsequent general re-baptizing performed in the Endowment House. June 12, 1870, he was received as a member of President John Taylor's Prayer Circle in the Temple, and remained an active and faithful member of the same up to the time of the division of the old Salt Lake Stake of Zion in 1904, when he joined the High Council Circle of the Pioneer Stake.

He has seen long and faithful service as a ward teacher and has never lost an opportunity to bear witness to the truth of the Gospel to the many strangers with whom he has come in contact in his long and varied career. He worked eighteen years as a guide on Temple Square, meeting in that time hundreds of strangers and tourists. He distributed innumerable tracts explaining the principles of the gospel and by his natural tact and diplomacy has sent many of them on their way with a much higher opinion of the sincerity and honesty of the "Mormons" than they previously held.

He married second, Isabell Harris in 1866; third, Emma Nielsen in June 1877; and fourth, Rachel H. Hill in February 16, 1882. (See page 415). He was the father of nineteen children, eight boys and eleven girls. (See pages 378 & 415).

During the troublesome and trying times in 1890 in Utah, he was among the many who were martyrs for conscience sake. He suffered the penalty not in a spirit of bravado, but with an unflinching faith in the truth of his position.

January 31, 1891, he was ordained a high priest, and in 1904, when the original Salt Lake Stake of Zion was divided, he was called and set apart April 6, 1904, as second councillor to David McKenzie, President of the High Priest's Quorum, Pioneer Stake.

He died in Salt Lake City, December 21, 1921, having lived ninety-one years and six days. He was buried on Christmas Day, 1921.<sup>1</sup>

Dear Brother James,

I have long felt like I should write a few <sup>lines</sup> to you. But I have nothing new nor of much importance to write. But I was much pleased to learn from Bro- William that Margaret & you were usually well. I had an enjoyfull time with brother William in his brief stay, visiting among my Children. We also paid brother John a visit. John seems to be drooping fast, his wif looks stronger but a little lame.

I have copied the family names from the record I have which you wished me to send you. I have changed the shape of record to you a little, but dates and no dates and localities are not changed.

I hope you are both well, and I am thankful I am as well as I am.

MARGARET IRVINE LEATHAM

Margaret Irvine Leatham <sup>1</sup>

By Annie Wells Cannon

"Oh fair are youth and strength; but fairer yet
The face of age when sculptured by a soul
Where love of God and man have held control
And wrought no line that wisdom could regret."

A BEAUTIFUL woman was Grandma Leatham, even after she was 94 years old. Love of God and man was her daily creed, and always her comely presence and smiling countenance radiated joy and cheer where'er she passed. A truly great woman was Grandma Leatham, for she took the common things of life and walked nobly among them.

In far away Scotland where she was born she was called a "bonnie lass" and many are the tales her dear ones had to tell of her beauty, her goodness and her courage. One oft repeated story was that one summer night after the long stroll over the heather with her young lover when she returned to the thatched cottage, her face aglow with love light in her soft brown eyes she told the "gude folks" that she and "Jeemie" had plighted their troth and would be married right away, because James was to leave in a few days for America.

The gospel message had come to Lanarkshire, their native town, and the Leathams, and the Irvines, and the Hunters, and other families, had heard and believed and were anxious to gather to Zion and partake of the blessings of their new found faith. They knew it meant separation from dear ones, and hallowed things, they knew it meant sacrifice, but they were ready and willing.

So they were married, this maid of sixteen summers, the youth a trifle older. Her courage when he left her was typical of all the years of her long life. She looked always forward, undaunted, to a brighter day beyond.

Two years passed and between them they had saved enough to make it possible for her to follow to the "Promiesd Land."

ON a bleak cold day in the spring of 1856 she left her native land. Every rock and flower, every sparkling stream and shimmering lake was dear to her heart, but she fought back the welling tears, knowing full well that forward was her fate though the path be perilous and untrod.

Steerage passage in a sailing vessel meant weeks tossing over the turbulent Atlantic, mid scenes and associations scarcely to be endured. Endure them she did, however, and proved herself a ministering angel among this motley throng. Here, at this early period developed in the soul of Margaret Leatham that "touch of human kindness that makes the whole world kin."

She discovered in herself an aptitude for nursing. Days and nights she spent helping the almost helpless women care for their little ones, and assisting the ship's doctor deliver the new born. So helpful was she that the doctor told her, even at this early age that she would make a good midwife and nurse.

AMERICA at last, and then the journey across the states to the frontier. As had been previously planned before embarking, the British companies this year would fashion for themselves small carts, to hold the necessary belongings, which they would push over the plains, walking themselves the whole long journey. So they came, several hundred of them, trudging along, at first full of song and mirth and determination, but as the weeks advanced and provisions fell short, many faltered. It seemed there had been a miscalculation of time or else the storms this year came earlier. There was much distress of mind and great physical suffering. These zealous people knew little, or almost nothing, of the perils of such an undertaking, but having started, they saw nothing else to do but push on as best they could towards their goal.

There was need for the young and strong to shoulder the burdens, to lighten the loads, to put heart into the wavering souls, who sometimes felt they would rather die than try to take another step. Margaret Leatham was straight and strong and young. She waited on the aged, she nursed the sick, she carried the little children across the rivers, making many trips back and forth and one night when a little babe was born on the frozen ground in a de-file near the head of Echo Canyon she was able to do for that poor mother, the part of nurse and doctor and she praised her Heavenly Father for the knowledge she had gained while helping the doctor on the ship.

In her quaint Scotch accent she often related many a pleasant story or sung a ballad to brighten the somber days of that never to be forgotten journey, while onward she pressed with forward look and hope serenely placed.

UNITED in the valley with her husband the two young people began to build a home. Pioneer life with all its hardships and inconveniences, has also its pleasures and compensations. Cooperation in work, neighborly kindness, friendly hospitality and willingness to lend a helping hand or share the meager meal all tend to bring happiness and good cheer. Such was the nature of the home life of this goodly couple.

In Aunt Margaret's garden grew fruits and sweet herbs which she well knew how to prepare into savory foods and medicines to take to the sick or aged friend, where her services were often needed. Though she began her practice of midwifery when doctors were few, she continued in this service to within a few weeks of her death. At first it was a necessity among the people that called for her ministrations, but later it was choice, for those who knew her preferred her skill to any other. She went to all alike and gave them the best she had. She demanded no pay from the poor, and from those who had plenty only accepted a small remuneration. During the long years of her practice she delivered nearly 4,000 women, scarcely having any misfortune and then the trouble was due to other causes than the confinement.

For seventy years she lived in the home her husband provided when they first decided to live in Salt Lake City. It was humble, comfortable, not richly furnished, and yet she might have acquired wealth, but her charities were many and her wants were few. Twelve children were born to Brother and Sister Leatham, seven preceding them in death. The following five sons and daughters survive John and William A. Leatham, Margaret L. Pitt, Alice L. Kesler, and Sarah L. Woolley; also sixteen grandchildren, twenty-three great-grand children and two great great grandchildren. A large and fine posterity to honor the good works and revere the memory of their pioneer parentage. She was a consistent Latter-day Saint serving humbly in the Relief Society, never seeking office. She was a good citizen and appreciated fully the right of suffrage. She kept herself posted on public affairs and was an ardent believer in women taking part in political matters. Mrs. Leatham served as a municipal and county election judge in every election in Salt Lake from 1856 until the last election before her death, having the distinction of being the oldest election judge at the polls.

At the age of 87 she made a trip to Alaska to visit a grandson, who was superintendent of a mine in that far away land.

To have lived almost a century and through all those years to have been a friend in need, to have retained a perfect memory, to have not lost the luster of the eye, nor the sense of sound, to have a sympathetic understanding of human nature is indeed a marvel. To have known and associated with such a woman is indeed an honor. Blessed be her memory.

Margaret Irvine Leatham was born January 3rd. 1837, in Lanarkshire, Scotland. She died July 8, 1931, aged 94. (see page 378)

A BLESSING, GIVEN BY WILLIAM LEATHAM, Patriarch, upon the head of Margaret Irvine Leatham, daughter of William and Agnes (Kerr) Irvine, born January 3, 1837 at Berry Hill, Lanarkshire, Scotland.

Margaret, in the name of the Lord and in the authority of the priesthood I place my hands upon thy head and at thy wish proceed to confer upon thee a Patriarchal Blessing. May God direct by His Holy Spirit such an one as will be comforting and strengthening unto thee. Thy lineage has been declared by God's servant and is recorded in the Church of the First Born and thou shalt be known amongst thy people who are chosen and elect people of God. Thou art a choice vessel Margaret, and have passed thru a varied and checkered experience, but the time has never been when God has not had a special care over thee---He loves thee for thy many virtues. Thou hast fed the hungry, clothed the naked, visited the sick and buried the dead; thou hast also visited those who were in prison for their allegiance and their obedience to the law of Gods Holy Priesthood. This, my dear sister, will be accounted unto thee as if thou had done it unto the Master, for He loves His people and calls His servants His friends. In thy labors and ministry thou hast had much joy, for God's spirit has comforted thee---nevertheless, thou hast had many trials but by Gods help thou dist in thy affliction and in thy sorrow acknowledge the hand of the Lord in all things. In laying away your loved ones thou hast been moved to the innermost depths of thy soul, but know this Margaret, yet a little while and it will be thy privilege to meet your loved ones whom you have laid away in their innocence; and every wail of anguish wrung from thy soul in the depth of your sorrow shall bring forth blessings in the resurrection which shall equal a casket of jewels as bright as the unwasted stars---as you laid those dear ones away, so shall you receive them again, and nurture and care for them with unspeakable delight, and see them grow to maturity and develop to proportions adapted to the noble spirits that inhabited them from their infancy. Thy joy shall know no bounds, it is beyond all power of expression, yea, beyond our conception in mortality.

I bless you that you may have joy and satisfaction in rounding out the latter days of your mission on earth. I bless you that you may look forward in absolute faith to the joys and blessings and privileges that await thee in the beyond, and the glorious resurrection in which shall be realized the great blessings God has indicated to thee now.

I seal thee up to life eternal and against the power of the adversary unto the day of Redemption. I seal this blessing upon thee in the name of the Messiah,

Amen. M. Leatham

RACHEL HANNAH HILL LEATHAM

RACHEL HANNAH HILL, wife of James Leatham, was born in the little village of Gamston, near Retford, Nottinghamshire, England, on the 25th day of February, 1859, the daughter of John and Hannah Robinson Hill.

Bartholomew's Gazeteer of the British Isles gives the population of this little village as 221. It covers 1974 acres. In the village was a wonderful stone church with five bells that chimed merrily each Sunday, bidding the members, including the Hill family, to come to early morning worship. Within the church was a fine pipe organ and there was a choir composed of the children of the village, both boys and girls. And how they could sing and chant! No music was ever sweeter to Rachel.

Rachel, in her own words, gives this account of her life:

"My father died in January of 1859 and was buried on the 20th day of that month, just five weeks before I was born. He had never heard the Gospel as taught by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, but was a member of the Baptist Church. He said he joined that church because he believed in baptism by immersion, as taught by the Savior in the scriptures.

"I was the seventh child. Two brothers and a sister had preceded my father in death, so at the time of my birth my mother was a widow with four children to support.

My father was a farm laborer but his wages were so small he and mother had not been able to put much away for a rainy day, although mother had always been thrifty and frugal. My oldest sister, Ann, was at that time fifteen years of age, my brother William eleven, and my sister Sarah two years and three months.

"After I was born Ann kept house and took care of the younger children and mother went out and earned a living for us. Three years later, Ann married and William hired out as a farm hand. Little Sarah and I were sent to school, I being a little better than three years old at the time. It was a government school located in our own little village and the charge was two pence per week per child. I attended that school regularly until I was seven years old. In that four years I had mastered the compound rules of English arithmetic; I could read fluently and write crooked. I had also learned how to knit and sew.

"The school house stood directly across the street from our lovely stone church, and on Sunday mornings the children would gather at the school house at ten o'clock, then at eleven o'clock we would all march over to the church for Sunday morning service. This lasted two hours. We committed much to memory; a prayer for every Sunday in the year, 52 in all, the 'Apostles Creed,' the 'Niceine Creed,' a lengthy Catechism, and much scripture. By the age of twelve I was a real Bible student.

"We lived in a farming community. The acreage was rented out to a few moneyed men who styled themselves 'Gentlemen Farmers.' They hired the men of the village to do the farm labor. Women and children were also employed as farm hands. I did every kind of farm work it was possible for a child to do. After the grain was planted I stayed in the fields all day to keep the crows from picking it up; two seasons I herded the sheep in the green lanes. The skylarks were my friends those days. I would watch them fly suddenly from the green grass and soar up into the blue sky, singing their beautiful song until they were lost to my sight. I weeded corn (all grain was called corn at that time in England); I singled (thinned) turnips and dropped beans. A man would make a hole in the soft earth with a dibbling iron, and a child would drop one bean in each hole. A man and four little children could plant an acre in a day. We worked in the harvest fields too, and after the crops had all been gathered, my sister, Sarah, and I gleaned enough wheat for our bread for the winter, and enough beans, peas and barley to feed two pigs, one for our winter's meat, and the other to be sold to pay our rent. We also gathered hops from the hop gardens. Our day's work began at six in the morning and ended at six in the evening. For this we received from six to eight pence per day. When the harvest was over and the potatoes gathered, the children went back to school until the next spring.

"My Sunday School and church were the great joy of my life. I was raised in the Church of England. How I loved to sing and chant those psalms! And sponcer the litanies and prayers! But their teachings filled me with fear, not love. One heaven, one hell; the good went to heaven, the bad to hell. If we died with the smallest sin unrepented of, we were cast into hell fire forever. In my childish innocence, I thought all the weaknesses of the flesh were sins and I lived in fear and dread of dying.

"I was now in my 13th year and old enough to leave my home and go out in the world to make my own living. 'Going out to service', it was called, and it meant staying at the place where we were hired for at least one year. The first two years I worked for what was known as 'Cottage Farmers,' middle class people who lived on rented farms. The next four years I spent among numerous servants in the large established homes of the English aristocracy. During all these years I remained a devout member of the Church of England.

"In the meantime, my mother, my brother, William, and sister, Sarah, had joined the Mormon Church. Sarah had married; William had already emigrated to the United States with his family, and mother was arranging to sail for America the following spring. I was now 21 years old and decided to accompany my mother to Utah and find out more about this peculiar people and their religion.

"On the Sunday evening before we were to sail for the New World, I attended a cottage meeting held by Latter-day Saint missionaries, and there in that cottage meeting I first heard the story of the first vision of the boy prophet, Joseph Smith, and I believed it, every word of it, nor have I ever doubted it since.

"At Liverpool, on the evening of the 15th day of April, 1881, I went with my mother aboard the good ship 'Wyoming.' (See photo on Page 831). It was the eve of Good Friday and the sailors were superstitious about sailing on that day, so we did not begin our journey until the early morn of Saturday, the 16th. The next day was Easter Sunday.

"After eleven days at sea we landed at New York. As soon as we could make arrangements we took a slow train for the west. It seemed to fairly crawl across the endless plains. We arrived in Ogden, Utah, about the 7th of May, and from there went direct to Brigham City, near where my brother had established his family on a small farm. I set out immediately to find work and was fortunate in getting employment at the Brigham City dairy nearby. I worked there for about six months.

"In October of 1881 mother and I went to Salt Lake City and found a place to live in the old Sixth Ward. We arrived on Friday, and on the coming Sunday I attended a meeting in the Tabernacle. It was the funeral service for Elder Orson Pratt. On that Sunday I was so homesick for the ringing of the church bells of the dear old Church of England that I wept.

"I was baptized on the 3rd of January in 1882 in the old Endowment House. At that time all emigrants were rebaptized and received on the records of the Church through that rebaptism. An Elder was appointed from each ward to take care of the people from that ward. When a name was called the person would answer by saying either baptism or rebaptism. The brother representing the Sixth Ward was very insistent that I say rebaptism, to which I would reply, 'No baptism.' 'But you were baptized in the Old Country,' said he. My reply was still 'No.' It was the first time in my life I had seen this very insistent man (James Leatham), but six weeks later I was married to him. Referring to this baptism in later years he would say, 'Well, I knew all the time that you were a saint.'

"On the 16th of February 1882 I was married to James Leatham in the Endowment House. Elder Daniel H. Wells performed the ceremony. I passed through all the trials the saints were subjected to for practicing their religious beliefs. When my fourth child was six weeks old my husband was imprisoned for six months for conscience sake. By making yeast and exchanging it for flour, and by taking in washing and sewing, I sustained my children and myself until he was released.

"I am the mother of eight children, four sons and four daughters. My youngest son, George Urquhart, died when he was fourteen years old. My youngest son, David Hill, died in May, 1937, and my oldest son, Joseph Melvin, died in April, 1939. (See Page 415).

"I made my home in Salt Lake City for more than forty years, but shortly after the death of my husband, which occurred the 21st of December, 1921, I moved to Los Angeles, California, where most of my children lived. I spent my time among them, going where the string pulled the hardest.

"During all the years since I became a member of the Church, I have rejoiced in my testimony and have tried to give active service. I have held many positions in the auxiliary organizations of the wards in which I have resided. During my later years I have given much attention to Genealogical Research. I knew that if I were to make a success of this work I would have to study and qualify. I accordingly took advantage of the lesson courses given at that time by the Church on this subject. I faithfully filled all the assignments and on the 14th of November, 1934, received my certificate as a Qualified Genealogical Researcher. This lesson course, which extended over a period of several years, has assisted me very materially in the research of my own ancestry. I have been able to get together quite a record of my people, and with the assistance of my sister, Sarah, and other members of the family a considerable amount of temple work has been done.

"My life has been rich and full. I have experienced both joy and sorrow and the end is not yet. I rejoice in the Gospel of Jesus Christ and revere the name of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and can truly testify to the truthfulness of my patriarchal blessing which said that my last days should be my best days."

Her daughter, Mrs. Rachel H. Leatham Jensen, adds this postscript to the above story:

"As my mother told me on one occasion, her real life's story will never be known except to God. The best way I can describe her is 'She went about doing good'; and she was always 'anxiously engaged in a good cause.' There is a little item of history about her last years that I would like to note here. It was published in the April 1938 number of the Genealogical Magazine of Utah, together with her picture: 'Mrs. Rachel Leatham, aged 79. Sister Leatham has an outstanding record of accomplishment in genealogical activity. At 75 she was the first member of the Los Angeles Stake to receive the first year Senior Award. At 79 she taught a second year Junior Class and herself completed all the assignments. She has spent much money in gathering genealogy and in Temple work, being the first to contribute to the Church Security Temple Project from Pasadena Stake.' I would like to add that she was the second in her stake to get the second year Senior Certificate and the thirtieth in the entire L.D.S. Church to get the third year Senior Certificate.

"Among my priceless possessions is a picture of mother in a 'cap and gown.' When my sister Mary was working for her Master of Arts degree in the graduate school of U.C.L.A., mother became acquainted with a number of her classmates. Many of these girls were away from their own homes, and they loved to go home with Mary and visit mother, who was their friend and confidant. When graduation time came around, they insisted that she go along with them, don the cap and gown and have her picture taken.

"Mother died in Los Angeles on the 30th of December, 1939. Had she lived two more months, she would have been 81 years old. She was brought home to Utah for burial and was placed in the family plot in the Salt Lake City cemetery."

WILLIAM ALEXANDER LEATHAM

WILLIAM ALEXANDER LEATHAM (Number 9, Page 378), son of James and Margaret (Irvine) Leatham, was born February 12, 1872, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was baptized in 1880 in the Endowment House that was located on Temple Square, Salt Lake City; and he was confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints a few days later by his father.

In his early youth he was active in Sunday school work. He attended elementary school in the old Sixth Ward meeting house, and at the age of sixteen years registered as a student at the University of Deseret (later changed to the University of Utah), from which he graduated in 1889.

William A. engaged in the grocery business for a number of years, and in 1896, was employed by the Golden Gate Mining Company at Mercur, Utah, in the assay office. He was under the supervision of Colonel Daniel C. Jackling, who later developed the now famous Utah Copper Mine at Bingham, Utah, the largest "open cut" copper mine in the world.

During his early youth he was ordained to the office of deacon in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints; later, teacher; and then, priest in the Aaronic Priesthood. At present he holds the office of high priest in the Melchizedek Priesthood.

During the Spanish-American War, William, as a young man, enlisted in Company "K", Second Regiment Volunteer Engineer Corps at Fort Douglas, Utah, July 9, 1898. The following day he left Salt Lake City over the Western Pacific Railway for San Francisco, California, and thirty days later he sailed for the Hawaiian Islands. In reminiscence he states, "We arrived in Honolulu, the capitol city, located on the island of Oahu, August 17, 1898. I had a useful and marvelous experience on these beautiful islands. After the war ended, our company left the islands for San Francisco on the 22nd day of April, 1899, where we were mustered out of service on the 16th day of May, 1899."

Soon after arriving back in Salt Lake City, he engaged in public service. He has held numerous appointive and some elective offices in Salt Lake County and Salt Lake City, and he has worked with the Utah State Tax Commission. He was elected to serve as Salt Lake County Assessor in 1913. In 1915, William was appointed by Governor William Spry to take charge of the Utah exhibit at the World's Fair held in San Francisco. There he accomplished a marvelous work in bringing the virtues of the state before the thousands attending that Panama Expositions. After fifty years of public service, he retired from employment with Salt Lake City on June 30, 1948.

On September 28, 1905, William was united in marriage to Pirene Florence Beck. This civil marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. His wife has been true and devoted, and a source of great comfort during forty-eight years of their married life. They have one adopted son, now living in San Diego, California. (See page 410).

His wife and he have done ordinance work in the Salt Lake Temple since his retirement, and at present, they are actively engaged in this important work. At the age of eighty-two years he still leads an active life, and enjoys the association of his neighbors and friends.

At this time he is a member of Liberty Ward, Liberty Stake, and together with his good wife they reside in their own home located at 1059 South 4th East, Salt Lake City. Signature below was written by him in January 1955 at the age of 83 years.<sup>1</sup>

RACHEL H. LEATHAM JENSEN

RACHEL H. LEATHAM JENSEN (No. 2 Page 415) daughter of James and Rachel Hannah Hill Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, November 17, 1884, and was blessed and named the following New Year's Day. Her parents, like Father Abraham, "had come out from a land of spiritual darkness to the place appointed of God for the gathering of his people."

MR. AND MRS. J. ERNEST JENSEN

She has always been a little proud of her Scotch and English ancestry and of her rich spiritual heritage.

Her father, James Leatham, was born in Hoganfield, Lanarkshire, Scotland, and her mother, Rachel Hannah Hill, in Gamston, Nottinghamshire, England. She is their second child. In her childhood home she was taught honesty, integrity, and a deep devotion to duty.

She well remembers the day she was baptized. It was on the 3rd of January, 1893, just eleven years to the day after her mother's baptism.

She began her education in the Salt Lake City public schools and after graduation completed a business course at the Salt Lake Business College. A few years later she attended the Latter-day Saint University for a time.

As a child she was of a studious nature and an avid reader. She attended all the L. D. S. Church organizations and early developed a love for the Gospel. When she was about fourteen she had the rare privilege of teaching a kindergarten class in Sunday School under the direct supervision of her cousin, Edith Hunter (Lambert). That was the beginning of her Church activity.

Shortly before her 18th birthday, one morning as she was about to leave for work, there came a knock at the door. It was her Uncle, John Leatham; he was in Salt Lake City to attend the October General Conference and had stayed the night before at the home of Aunt Agnes Hunter close by. He said he had come to give her a blessing. She knew that he was a Patriarch and that he had been specially commissioned to bless his own kinsmen, and was thrilled through and through. He gave her a wonderful blessing and it has been a guide and a comfort to her all through the years.

Her first venture away from home was to accept a position with a business firm in the city of Idaho Falls, Idaho. She was then 18 years of age. She identified herself with the Eagle Rock Ward and remained in Idaho Falls the better part of a year. Upon her return to Salt Lake City she was employed by the Merchants' Protective Association, and later by the National Tea Importing Company.

During the winter of 1904 and 1905 she attended evening classes at the Latter-day Saint University, taking a Missionary course with Benjamin Goddard as instructor.

On Labor Day of 1906 she was called to fill a mission for the L. D. S. Church in Colorado, now known as the Western States Mission. She had always hoped that some day she might have such a privilege and accepted it joyfully. She left for her field of labor in October and returned in the early spring of 1908. Her labors were mostly confined to the city of Denver and the surrounding country. She worked both in the office and in the field and met many fine people and had many wonderful experiences. She has kept in close touch with her Mission President, Joseph A. McRae, all through the years since that time, and though he is now in his late eighties, he is still a frequent visitor in her home.

Immediately upon her return, Rachel was called to be a guide and a missionary on the L. D. S. Temple Block. She was to give her services each Sunday morning and on holidays, which she did up to the time of her marriage nearly three years later. This was another wonderful experience in her life.

On the 18th of January, 1911, she was married to James Ernest Jensen in the Salt Lake Temple. He was born in Juab, Juab County, Utah, a son of Carl and Elsa Christina Peterson Jensen. He was the sixth of a family of nine children. The first, a boy, died in infancy, then came four girls, then a boy (Ernest), followed by two more girls and then another boy. Raised as he was with six sisters and then later becoming the father of six daughters, he might very rightly be called a "lady's man." When he was three years old his parents located on a farm near Sandy, Utah.

The first few months of their married life, Rachel and Ernest spent in Bingham where the young husband worked as a meat cutter in one of the large markets. Then they moved to Ogden where Carol, the first child, was born. When Carol was a year and a half old they moved to Salt Lake City and purchased a new home that was just being completed. By this time Ernest had become proficient in his trade and had obtained employment as foreman in the Palace Market, the largest meat market in Salt Lake City at that time. But after all, he had been raised on a farm and was a farmer at heart, and always in the back of his head was the desire and the longing to get back to the old homestead in Sandy. Upon returning from his L.D.S. mission in the fall of 1908, he found that his folks had leased the farm out and were preparing to move into Salt Lake City. When this lease ran out he arranged with his parents to take over the place, first renting it, and then a few years later, buying it from them.

They moved out to the farm on Thanksgiving Day in 1914. Carol was not quite three years old. Rachel will never forget that day. They had sold their little new home with all its modern conveniences, and had come out to an old farm house, with no electricity, no running water, and no close neighbors. It was indeed a time of adjustment for Rachel, but her husband loved every foot of the ground and he was a good farmer and they soon began to make headway. They immediately identified themselves with the L.D.S. Ward and before long were taking part in community activities.

In a few years they were able to build a new house, electricity was now available, and they could surround themselves with more of the comforts of life. Ernest started a campaign to interest the neighbors in obtaining piped culinary water. Meeting after meeting was held at their home. Sandy City finally promised to sell them the water if they would put in their own line. Accordingly, a carload of pipe was ordered; each man dug his own trench and they soon had running mountain water in their homes.

In the winter of 1920, when the town of Sandy was divided into three wards, Ernest was called to be first counselor in the Bishopric of the Third Ward where they lived. Six years later he was made Bishop of that ward. He held that position until April of 1937, when he was made a member of the East Jordan Stake High Council, and the Stake Work Director in the Welfare Program. When the Stake was divided in May, 1942, he was appointed to the High Council of the Mt. Jordan Stake, and two years later, in February, 1944, was made first counselor in the Stake Presidency, the position he now holds.

When the Jensen children were young, that Rachel might be better qualified to care for them, she took a Red Cross course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick and received her certificate in March, 1926.

It has always been a thorn in her flesh that she did not get a better education, but she has tried to keep her mind alert and has taken a number of University extension courses, and availed herself of different Leadership weeks, etc., both at the Agricultural College in Logan and the Brigham Young University at Provo. Last winter she took the prescribed classes and earned her certificate in Genealogical Research.

She has helped in many of the Church organizations, both ward and stake, among them being: Teacher and Stake Board Member of Sunday School; Ward President, Stake Board Member and first counselor to Stake Primary Association; teacher, secretary and president of the Y.W.M.I.A.; theology class leader, counselor, twice ward president and board member in two stakes of Relief Society; and she has served on Stake Genealogical Boards of two different stakes. At present she has charge of the Teacher Topic work on the Mt. Jordan Stake Relief Society Board.

One of the bright spots in the lives of Rachel and Ernest has been the contact they have had with the leaders of the L.D.S. Church. During their stake conferences they have entertained many of them in their home, and have always felt blessed and built up after such visits.

Five of their six children were born after moving to Sandy. Their fifth child died at birth. (See Page 419). Two daughters have filled L.D.S. missions. The girls are now all married to good men, all sealed to their husbands in the temple of God and all of them are mothers. They are all active in the L.D.S. Church, as are also their husbands. Two of the sons-in-law are members of bishoprics. They have thirteen grandchildren, seven boys and six girls. (1954)

DALE LEATHAM PITT

DALE LEATHAM PITT (Number 2 Page 385), prominent mining engineer, business executive, and consultant, was born June 18, 1884, in Salt Lake City, Utah, son of Robert Calvin Pitt and Margaret Elizabeth Leatham. He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints when eight years of age, and was active in the Seventeenth Ward in his youth.

Dale's education included the following: Salt Lake Public Schools (1891-99), Salt Lake High School (1899-1903), and the University of Utah (1904-07). He graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree in mining engineering. While attending the U. of U. he was on the varsity football team, playing both halfback and quarterback positions. He was also a member of the varsity track team and captain in 1907. He was associated with the Alpha Pi and Beta Theta Pi fraternities.

His professional service has been fraught with great accomplishments and has brought him to positions of leadership in the mining industry. His work includes various engineering work in mines in Utah and Nevada (1907-12) holding the following professional positions:

Engineer for Federal Lead Company, (Subsidiary American Smelting and Refining Co. Flat River, Missouri (1912-13); Chief Engineer, Federal Lead Company (1914-15); Field Engineer, Tacoma Smelter, (Subsidiary American Smelting and Refining Co.), Tacoma, Washington (1916-19); and Manager, Premier Gold Mining Company, Ltd., Premier, B.C.,

(1919-34). He built a mill, surface plant and small city at Premier, bringing property into production. He also built two of the world's outstanding aerial tramways, Number 1 from Hyder, Alaska to Premier which is twelve miles in length, and Number 2 from Marmot River, B. C. to Porter, Idaho Mine which is five miles long. The Premier Mine developed into an outstanding producer of gold and silver, and in later years of lead and zinc. This mine is still producing, with the name of the company being Selbak Premier Mines, Ltd., located with its head office in Vancouver, B.C.

Dale married Victoria Leona Watson on March 3, 1914, in St. Louis, Missouri. Two children have blessed their home. (See page 387).

From 1934 to 1940, he was director and manager of Big Bell Mines, Ltd., Big Bell West Australia. While on this job he developed and brought to production the Big Bell Mine, a large low-grade gold producer. He also built a mill, surface plant and a small city at the mine.

During the period 1942-44, he served as director and manager of Colonial Mica Company, New York and Washington, D.C. This company was set up by the U.S. Government to produce and procure mica during World War II. (Mica was classified as the Number 1 strategic mineral at that time and no expense was spared by this government agency to procure it.) He held the position of President, British Columbia Mining Association (1947-48), an association of all mines in B.C.

From 1946 to the present time he has been managing director of the Selbak Premier Mines, Ltd., Vancouver, British Columbia. He also serves as a director of various mines in British Columbia, Canada, and Alaska.

His affiliations are many. At present, he is a member of the American Institute Mining & Metallurgy, the Canadian Institute Mining & Metallurgy, the Australian Institute Mining & Metallurgy, and the American Mining Congress. Dale also maintains membership in the Mining Club, New York City, and the Vancouver Club.

Dale was a personal friend of Elder George Albert Smith, former President of the L. D. S. Church, who used to visit Dale while on his various world travels.

Home address - 3726 East Madison, Seattle 2, Washington.

Office - 907 Birks Building, Vancouver, B. C.

OTHER DESCENDANTS AND RELATIVES OF JAMES LEATHAM

GORDON BENTLEY WOOLLEY, Captain U. S. Navy retired, (No. 1 Page 411) son of Richard Bentley Woolley and Sarah Ann Leatham, was born January 30, 1896, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

He graduated from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland (Class of 1918) and entered upon his career as a naval officer. After retiring in November, 1939, with the rank of Commander, he continued to live in San Diego, California, where he now resides. During World War II, he was called back into active duty with the Navy, and attained the rank of Captain (same as full Colonel in the Army), in which grade he is now retired. He married Allah A. Niles June 31, 1919. They have two children. (See Page 412).

ALLAN MACKAY ACOMB (No. 1 Page 382), assistant purchasing agent for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 7, 1910, son of Leland Irvine Acomb and Alice Mackay.

He filled a mission to Great Britain for the L.D.S. Church in 1929-31, and served in the Armed Forces of the United States during World War II. He holds the rank of full Colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve at the present time, and is Commanding Officer of the 364th Q.M. Reserve Depot Unit at Fort Douglas, Utah. His brother, Glenn M. Acomb, also filled a mission for the L.D.S. Church to New Zealand during 1938-40. Allan and his wife (See Page 383) live with their family at 2121 Westminster Avenue, Salt Lake City.

DAVID HILL LEATHAM (No. 3 Page 415), son of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 17th of April, 1887. He received his early education in the local public schools, and while still a very young man, moved to California. He lived in several of the northern cities before finally making his permanent home in San Francisco.

He had a very keen mind and a gift of pleasing verbal expression. He was an excellent story teller and could give remarkable and fascinating accounts of things he had seen and heard.

He also had a superabundance of childlike faith. He believed that as God takes care of the sparrows, He will not forget any of his children. He was a salesman by vocation. He never married.

He died in San Francisco on the 25th of May, 1937, of pneumonia, and was buried in that city.

MARY LEATHAM MORIARTY (No. 5 Page 415), fifth child and third daughter of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, and widow of the late Earl T. Moriarty of San Francisco, was born in Salt Lake City, July 8, 1892.

She received her early education in the public schools of Salt Lake City, and later entered the University of California at Berkeley. She graduated from this institution with an A. B. degree in Romanic languages and literature.

She obtained her Master's degree from the Graduate School of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

She spent three years specializing in music at the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston, and attended summer sessions at Columbia University, McGill University in Canada, the University of Mexico in Mexico City, and the University of Havana in Cuba.

She was elected a member of various national scholastic honor fraternities, including Pi Lambda Theta, Pi Delta Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Phi Beta Kappa.

For twenty-five years she has taught music, French, and Spanish in the public high schools of Utah, Idaho and California.

She served for a number of years as Ward Organist and President of the Y.W.M.I.A. in the Second Ward of Salt Lake City, and has given valuable help in many of the different L.D.S. wards and stakes in which she has resided. At present she is a member of the L.D.S. Third Ward of San Jose, California.

JOSEPH MELVIN LEATHAM (No. 1, Page 415), was born on the 26th of December, 1882, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was the oldest child of James and Rachel Hannah Hill Leatham.

He received his education in the Salt Lake City public schools and when still a very young man learned the Machinist's trade. He was employed in the railroad shops in Salt Lake City for many years.

On June 14, 1905, he married Grace Elizabeth Dickson of Salt Lake City. They had no children. In the fall of 1920, they took into their home four little orphans, legally adopted them and raised them to maturity, giving each one a good education. They were children of Grace's sister and brother-in-law. Both parents had died during the summer of 1920, the father of an accident, the mother of an illness.

In 1921 they took their little family and moved to Los Angeles, California. They bought themselves a home and for the next five years Joseph followed his trade of machinist.

In 1926 they purchased a Roller Skating Rink which grew and prospered until they owned and operated one of the largest high-class Amusement Centers for Youth in the City of Los Angeles. It furnished employment for the entire family.

In 1934, because of illness, he was compelled to retire from active business but his wife and family continued on. He was an invalid for five years.

He passed away on the 2nd of April, 1939, and was buried in Inglewood Park Cemetery, near Los Angeles, California.

ISABELLA H. LEATHAM, (No. 4 Page 415), daughter of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, October 18, 1889.

She began her education in the Salt Lake City public schools, and later attended the Burdett Business College in Boston, Massachusetts, and subsequently became a student in the University of California at Los Angeles.

She served for twenty-five years as an aide in the Department of Physical Education for Women at the University of Utah.

She was elected a member of Orchesis, National Honorary Dance Society, and was awarded the "U" white sweater by the Women's Recreation Association in recognition of outstanding service to college girls.

She is now retired and living in the L. D. S. Third Ward in San Jose, California.

HENRY ROBINSON LEATHAM (No. 6 Page 415), son of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, November 3, 1894.

He was educated in the Salt Lake City public schools and in 1917 he married Viola Ordway of Boston, Massachusetts.

He established himself in business as a Hotel Broker in Salt Lake City. Later he moved to California and became interested in horticultural activities, in which he is still engaged in the city of Beverly Hills where he now resides.

MARY BERNICE JENSEN SCHOENROCK (No. 3 Page 419), daughter of James Ernest and Rachel H. Leatham Jensen, and granddaughter of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, is number three of a family of six sisters, and first saw the light of day on the family farm in Sandy, Utah, October 3, 1917. Her mother always tells her that she was garnered in right along with the potato crop that year.

The summer she was three years old her parents built a new home on the opposite side of the farm and there she lived all of her childhood days.

Her education began in the elementary and junior high schools of Sandy in the Jordan School District, and then on to Jordan High School, from which she graduated in 1934.

The next fall found her enrolled in the University of Utah where she completed one year of college work.

As a young girl she always had a liking for the art of Beauty Culture and hoped some day to perfect herself in it and practice it. After her first year at college the opportunity seemed to present itself and that fall she entered the Quish School of Beauty Culture in Salt Lake City. Upon graduation she obtained a state license and practiced for a short time in Salt Lake City.

Her aunt, who owned and operated Vilate's Beauty Studio in Hollywood, California, had been in close touch with her during her time of training, and suggested that Mary go there and take post-graduate work under one of the splendid teachers in Hollywood, and also get some practical training in her Studio. In June of 1937 Mary left her home in Sandy for the first time, and during the next year lived with her Grandmother Leatham in Hollywood.

Upon returning to Sandy, she opened a Beauty Salon of her own and operated it for a number of years.

She later returned to southern California and took a position as receptionist and dental assistant to a prominent dentist in Westwood. She had prepared herself for this work by taking extension courses and night school classes.

During these years in California she lived in Hollywood Ward. Her early home training stood her in good stead. She was raised in a religious, God-fearing home and was trained in all the auxiliary organizations of the L.D.S. Church, and so it was natural for her to keep close to the Church. Her Bishop was always her friend. In the Hollywood Ward she served in the M.L. A. as Bee Keeper, Junior Girl leader, Activity counselor and President. She was also a member of the ward choir.

The man she married is a convert to the L.D.S. Church. He is Lawrence Arthur Schoenrock, and when she met him he was an earnest, sincere investigator. Her father baptized and confirmed him a member of the Church. Mary and Lawrence were married on August 2, 1948, in the Hollywood Ward Chapel by Bishop John Russon, now President of the Los Angeles Stake, and left Hollywood to make their home in the San Fernando Valley. Two years later, on the 15th of September, 1950, they went to the Salt Lake Temple and got their endowments and had their marriage solemnized there. They have a son; Kenneth Lawrence, born December 30, 1949, and a daughter, Sally, born December 23, 1952. (See Page 422 ) At the present time they have a home in the city of Van Nuys, California, and are members of the Van Nuys Second Ward. Her husband is a designer and builder of overhead doors, and an artist in his profession.

Since her marriage, Mary has served as Sunday School teacher, Secretary of Relief Society, and is now Secretary of the Junior Sunday School. Her husband, Lawrence, serves on the Finance Committee and they are striving to raise funds for a new ward chapel, a new stake house, and also their share of the new Los Angeles Temple.

She states: "I owe a great deal to my fine parents for their wise counsel and outstanding example of devotion to high principles and worthy endeavor."

Although her life has not been spectacular in any way, she has always felt that it has been unusually rich and full. She looks back upon a happy childhood spent in a home where she and her sisters were taught love and respect for each other and for the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Their roots grew deep on the family farm in Sandy, Utah. In all her years in her parents' home the family moved only once, from the "old house" to the "new house," about a block apart on the same farm, when she was six years old. Home to her has always been a place of refuge. She always felt that there was no problem too big to be solved if she could just get home and talk it over with the family -- particularly her parents.

She attended the elementary and Junior High School in Sandy, Utah, and was graduated from Jordan High School in 1932. While attending high school, she served as sophomore representative on the school yearbook, "The Beetdigger," and during junior and senior years was editor of the school paper, "The Broadcaster," published once each month. She also had the honor during her senior year of being a member of the short-hand team which represented the business department of her school at the contests held at the Brigham Young University.

Lillian completed a three year normal course at the University of Utah in 1935 and later returned and finished the final year, graduating with a B. S. degree in 1943. She was fortunate in being able to graduate with high honors and to be elected as a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic fraternities.

She also attended summer sessions at the Utah State Agricultural College in Logan, Utah, and at the University of Oregon in Portland.

From 1935 to 1937 she taught third and fourth grades at Bluffdale, Utah, in the Jordan School District.

Lillian served in the Texas L.D.S. Mission from July of 1937 until January, 1939, with a fine and varied experience in the cities of Dallas and Houston, eight months in the countryside of East Texas teaching in the Church School at Kelsey, and during the last part of her mission, working in the mission office at Houston, Texas. During this time she served as Primary Mission Supervisor and had the privilege of traveling over a great portion of the states of Texas and Louisiana with a group of missionaries specially called by President ElRay L. Christiansen to hold "Leadership Conventions" in various parts of the mission. While living at mission headquarters, there was an inspiring opportunity to meet in a very friendly situation some of the distinguished guests who visited there, such as President J. Reuben Clark, Jr., President and Mrs. Stephen

L. Richards, Elder Joseph F. Merrill, Dr. and Mrs. Adam S. Bennion, President Williams of the Spanish-American Mission, and former President Charles E. Rowan of the Texas Mission and his wife and family, as well as Orval W. Adams, who was at the time President of the American Bankers' Association.

After returning from her mission, Lillian worked for several months in the offices of the Church Department of Education, after which she taught school for three years at Copperton, Utah, in the Jordan District.

The L.D.S. Church has always meant a great deal to her and Church activity has been a great pleasure. She began her first formal Church work when she was called to teach the Primary class in Sunday School at the age of fifteen. Since then she has filled a variety of assignments, including the following: Teacher of various other Sunday School, M.I. A. and Primary classes; member of the Sunday School Stake Board of East Jordan Stake; secretary, counselor and president of the Primary; Primary District Aid; branch Genealogical representative; theology teacher in the Relief Society; and at present, teacher of the Literature lessons in Relief Society and ward correspondent for the local newspapers.

The greatest honor she received in the way of a Church assignment was when called in August of 1943, to be General Secretary-Treasurer and member of the Primary General Board of the L.D.S. Church, a position she held until her marriage in November, 1944. This calling was a great opportunity and blessing, allowing her the inspiring privilege of working intimately with such splendid women as Adele Cannon Howells, LaVern W. Parmley, and Dessie Grant Boyle, who composed the General Presidency of the Primary at that time, as well as with the other wonderful women who were members of the Primary Board. Elders Harold B. Lee and Marion G. Romney, advisers to the Primary from the General Authorities, were also a great source of inspiration. It was a great responsibility but also a splendid experience to travel to various stakes in the Church to hold Primary Conventions and to carry out the other assignments in connection with this calling.

The crowning experience in her life has been a most happy marriage to Edwin Gean Austin and the privilege of having a family of her own. They were married November 24, 1944, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple and have since lived in Laguna Beach, California, a lovely and picturesque spot on the southern coast of the Pacific Ocean, with an ideal climate. Gean is a teacher of instrumental music in the Laguna Beach School system and is first counselor in the bishopric of the Laguna Beach Ward, East Long Beach Stake. They have three lovely daughters, Claire, born August 29, 1945, Mary, born May 23, 1947, and Lillian, born December 20, 1948. A fourth child was expected in November of 1953. (See Page 421). The baby arrived on the 11th of November, a fine son.

Lillian was born in Sandy, Utah, April 15, 1915, the second child and second daughter of James Ernest and Rachel Leatham Jensen.

GRACE VILATE LEATHAM MENDELSON, (No. 7 Page 415 ), daughter of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, and widow of the late David Mendelson of Los Angeles, California, was born in Salt Lake City, February 8, 1897.

She began her education in the public schools of Salt Lake City, and later entered school in Los Angeles, California.

She graduated as a cosmetician and electrologist from the Marinello School of Beauty Culture in Los Angeles, and for a number of years owned and operated Vilate's Beauty Studio in Hollywood.

Trained subsequently as a laboratory technician at Los Angeles City College, she was employed for five years in the Clinical Laboratory of the Monte Sano Hospital.

In 1950, after serving an apprenticeship under Dr. Morris Horwitz, a noted radiologist of Beverly Hills, and after additional experience at Temple and Good Samaritan Hospitals in Los Angeles, she passed the registry examination as an X-Ray technician. At the present time she is employed as chief technician for a seven-doctor medical group in Los Angeles.

She is a member of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians, and was recently elected State Secretary of the Society of X-Ray Technicians of California.

She makes her home at Beverly Hills, California.

GEORGE URQUHART LEATHAM (No. 8 Page 415) son of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, was born November 10, 1899, in Salt Lake City, Utah, and lived just four months beyond his fourteenth birthday. He was a bright, loving child, and at the time of his death had finished the first eight grades of the elementary school and was due to graduate from the junior high school in May of that year. He was a Deacon in the Second Ward of Liberty Stake.

He died of a mastoid infection on the 22nd of March, 1914, and was buried in the Salt Lake City Cemetery.

HELEN MARJORIE JENSEN PROCTOR'S (No. 4 Page 419 ) childhood was spent on her father's farm in Sandy, Utah, where she was born March 7, 1921, to J. Ernest Jensen and Rachel Leatham. She attended Sandy public school, Sandy Junior High School, Jordan High School, and Brigham Young University, where she studied Secretarial Training.

Helen's first place of employment was the Beneficial Life Insurance Company in Salt Lake City where she worked as an office clerk.

In the fall of 1942, she moved to Los Angeles, California. Here she was employed by the Bank of America as a stenographer. She attended the Hollywood Ward of the Los Angeles Stake and it was at this time that she stopped taking the Church for granted and really began to appreciate it. She was called to serve as a Stake Missionary in January of 1944. However, she did not complete this assignment as in May of that year she was called to serve as a full-time L.D.S. missionary in the Spanish American Mission.

Most of her time in the mission field was spent in the Mission Office at El Paso, Texas, where she worked as Mission Bookkeeper and Stenographer under President Lorin F. Jones. She also spent a few months working with the Mexican Saints in Brownsville, Texas. It was while she was in the mission field that she met her future husband who was also a missionary there.

On September 16, 1946, she was married in the Salt Lake Temple to Homer L. Proctor. They now have three children. (See Page 423 ).

Because of their great love for the Mexican people and their understanding of the problems of these people developed while they were missionaries, since the time of their marriage, they have been affiliated with the Mexican Branch of the L.D.S. Church in Salt Lake City. They have seen the membership of that Branch increase in numbers and have witnessed the desire of their hearts fulfilled -- that of having a lovely new chapel of their own in which to meet. Brother Proctor has served in the Mexican Branch Presidency for the past seven years. Helen is at present helping in the Branch Primary organization.

BONNIE JEAN JENSEN HOUSTON, (No. 6 Page 419) granddaughter of James and Rachel H. Hill Leatham, began her life May 4, 1928, in a Salt Lake City hospital, the sixth and youngest daughter of J. Ernest and Rachel L. Jensen. Sandy, Utah was her home, where she lived on one of the nicest farms in Salt Lake County. She will always remember the happy times spent with her father riding on the various farm implements and enjoying the out-of-doors with him. Her childhood was indeed a happy one.

She attended the Sandy elementary and Junior High Schools and served as the school cashier in the 9th grade. She graduated from Jordan High School in 1946. While in high school she was a member of the honorary scholastic pep club, worked on the school paper, played in the band, took an active part in dramatics and school plays and served on the student council. She also spent a great deal of time with music at this period. She played the piano, the clarinet, and sang in vocal groups.

Most of her church activity was connected with the music department. She served as a Primary, M.I.A. and ward organist, as well as a teacher in the various organizations.

The three years following graduation from high school were spent at the Brigham Young University. These three years were filled with many rich and wonderful experiences in scholastic, religious and social ways. She will always be grateful to her parents for making it possible for her to attend this great university. During her junior year, Bonnie Jean met Fred Vernon Houston who became her husband. He was also studying at the B. Y. U., and graduated from it with a major in bacteriology and chemistry.

They were married June 19, 1950, in the Salt Lake Temple and have made their home in American Fork, Utah, since that time. For two and one-half years after her marriage she worked for the Columbia-Geneva Steel Company at Provo as a secretary in the Accounting department, along with being a housewife. She did this in order to help her husband further his education. They now have one child, a son, Reed, born September 17, 1953. (See Page 424).

At the present time Fred is a research bacteriologist in the Chemical Corps of the U. S. Army, and is stationed at Dugway, Utah. After he is released he plans on continuing research work in the field of public health.

Bonnie has always been proud of her parents and the heritage they have given her, and hopes to live up to this heritage which has been handed down from past generations.

CAROL ISABEL JENSEN BENNION (No. 1 Page 419) It was Christmas season 1911 that she became the first-born of James Ernest and Rachel Leatham Jensen. With the spirit of this beautiful season in the air, she now became a part of it and was given the name of Carol. And so she began her mortal life on the next to the last day of the year in the historic city of Ogden, Utah.

It was in Ogden that she learned to walk and talk, and then at the age of two her parents moved back to Salt Lake City for a short time. Her father could never quite get the love of the soil out of his being, for he was raised in the "great out-of-doors." It was his urgent desire to get back to the land, which ultimately brought a move to Sandy, twelve miles south of Salt Lake City -- and the farm. It was on this farm that he spent his boyhood, and so it followed that on this farm he raised his children.

As a small child, she remembers the fields of wild flowers and sage brush, and the company of an old wind mill. She grew up with four wonderful sisters: Lillian, Bernice, Marjorie, and Bonnie Jean, who all cherish their childhood memories. There were cousins and friends too that add to her storehouse of fond recollections. She recalls a distinctive memory at the age of twelve. It was during this year that she spent a summer in southern California with her maternal grandmother, Rachel Hannah Hill Leatham; and aunts, Mary and Grace. Each one contributed to making it an outstanding year for her. There is still a glow in her heart for this "red-letter" summer, and for the State of California. She will always cherish these her kin for helping to enrich her childhood experiences.

Carol attended grammar school and the Jordan High School at Sandy, and enjoyed being the first editor of a school paper. She is prone to recall lasting impressions that ever serve as guideposts in one's lifetime from outstanding teachers she had. Among them was a teacher who said concerning college, "If you only have the opportunity of going just one quarter, go that one quarter and get the feel of college life. It will be worth it."

When she graduated from high school in the early thirties, the country was in the beginning of a great depression. She went to the L.D.S. Business College for over a year, but office employment was scarce. Finally, an opening materialized. Out of eighty applicants, she was fortunate enough to be selected. Even then it was discouraging. The salary was barely adequate, and there were no opportunities for advancement, so she made a decision. She worked for a year, saved all she could and with the help of her folks, enrolled at the University of Utah.

At this point in her life a new world of interests opened up. She was fascinated by new fields of study. To make it all the more perfect she had a wonderful opportunity of living just off the campus with her Aunt Belle (Isabel Leatham), her namesake. Then she discovered a new point in the teacher's advice -- once the college start was made, the effort to continue became greater. "I shall always be grateful to my folks and my Aunt Belle for the sacrifices they made to help me at this time and for the love and consideration they have given me through all the years," she stated.

She completed her course of study and graduated in the field of Teaching. It was during this period that she met her future husband, Earl H. Bennion. Some of the happiest years of her life were spent on the University of Utah campus.

The depression was not over -- positions were few. She approached her own principal, the one under whose supervision she had left the Sandy school. The University had sent him her record and he said he would like to have Carol in his school as a teacher, and would put his efforts toward making it possible. And so it was that she went back to the school she had left, to teach.

She felt it a great challenge to teach under her esteemed principal. She enjoyed her experience in the school and found it very difficult when the time came for her to leave. One year she was privileged to have her youngest sister, Bonnie Jean, as a student in her class.

In 1937, Carol married Earl (Jack) Hayball Bennion, the eldest son of Earl Slade and Nell Hayball Bennion. They have made their home in the "City of Roses," Portland, Oregon. It is a beautiful home city, nestled among wooded hills, and surrounded by flowing streams. They have a lovely daughter, Joan; and two fine sons, Philip and Stephen; and at the present are occupied in helping them to grow up. (See Page 420.) Her big interest through the late years has been with her family and the many avenues of endeavor into which such activity takes one.

Carol and her husband have met many interesting people and cherished friends in this great Northwest country. They have watched the Church in the Portland area grow from a branch to three stakes. During the years of World War II, the teacher shortage was acute; and Carol went back to teaching school for a short time in Vancouver, Washington, as her contribution to the war effort.

Her life in Portland has been fruitful and happy. She and Earl have faced difficulties too, but when they take an inventory of their life there on each wedding anniversary, they "count their many blessings," with thanksgiving in their hearts.

It is a great satisfaction in one's life to have a knowledge of one's Creator and His purposes. This has been her heritage through the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She was privileged to be raised in a family that was always faithful to this heritage, and always endeavored to serve in its behalf. It has been her opportunity too to work in teaching and executive positions in various organizations of this great Church: the Sunday School, stake and ward; the M.I.A., stake and ward; the Primary; the Genealogical Society; and the Relief Society. And now this couple look into the future and all it has in store for them -- for this is not the time for an ending to their story.

JOHN LEATHAM

Chapter 29

JOHN LEATHAM

PATRIARCH JOHN LEATHAM, or Letham, (No. 5 Page 13 ), well-known pioneer of Teton Basin, Idaho, and also an early pioneer of Utah, prominent churchman, farmer and Indian Scout, was born June 1, 1833, at Blackfaulds, Lanarkshire, Scotland. His parents were Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart. John spelled his name both Letham or Leatham.

The early part of his life, or until he was twenty-one years of age, was spent in or near Glasgow. His main occupation was coal mining. As a mere youth, he was converted by the L.D.S. missionaries and was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on October 10, 1846, at the age of thirteen.

At the age of twenty-one years, or in 1854, he came to America. His brother, Robert, had preceded him, coming for the restored gospel and settling in Utah. John crossed the ocean in a sailing vessel, taking six weeks for the voyage. He tells many experiences which he had on the voyage, one of which is as follows:

There was an old lady and her son on the ship. The boy had been sick for two or three days, when one morning they discovered that a whale was following the vessel. The lady became frightened. She declared that when a whale followed a ship it was a sign that someone on board was going to die and the whale was awaiting the body. The whale followed the ship for two days but on the morning of the third day it was gone.

The vessel landed at New Orleans, and from there John Letham took a boat up the river to Omaha. There he joined a company of L. D. S. saints and came to Utah in 1854.

The company reached Salt Lake City in the early winter and he found work as a scout and handy man for President Brigham Young during that first winter.

In 1857 and 1858 he was called by Brigham Young to go on a mission with Richard Horn and they went to St. George and further south and west to "The Muddy." They were down there for the purpose of developing or demonstrating the capabilities of the country prior to families being called to settle that part of the Territory.

In the latter part of 1858, John returned to Salt Lake City, and on December 3, 1858, was married to Helen Peterson. (See page 457). Brigham Young performed the marriage ceremony in the L.D.S. Endowment House. John later married Esther Emily Ogden, (See page 514), and still later, Elizabeth Penman. (See Page 528).

He participated in the Echo Canyon War under Brigham Young's leadership. He was also one of the pioneers of Wellsville, in Cache Valley, Utah, which was then known as Fort Maughan. He helped to build the first schoolhouse and the first meetinghouse in the valley. The family lived there until 1882, when they moved to Montana where they stayed but two years.

In the spring of 1890, he moved to Teton Basin, in Idaho, which at that time was a new country. There were no more than a dozen homes scattered over an area of thirty miles.

Helen Letham, a granddaughter of Rexburg, Idaho, in 1921, related an incident which she had heard her grandfather, John Letham, tell when some Indians left the reservation at Blackfoot, Idaho, and went up through the Teton Basin on their way into Jackson Hole. She says that, "The Indians were in the habit of going up into that part of the county for elk, but this time quite a number of them came and gave the settlers some trouble. The Indians and the whites had a little skirmish at the place which is now Victor. (Victor received its name after the fight.) The part which I remember best is of my grandfather telling of going out after the fight was over and finding a little papoose, about four years old, which no one claimed. He took the papoose home with him, gave him some supper and put him in a bed to sleep. The next morning when grandfather got up, the papoose was found out in the yard sound asleep. In the night he had gotten up, taken a blanket, gone out in the yard and made himself a bed in the open where he was used to sleeping."

When settlers first arrived in Teton Basin, Rexburg was their nearest town and post office, a distance of forty-five miles from John Letham's place. For the first winter or two it was almost impossible to get out of the Basin except on snow shoes. All supplies had to be taken in before winter set in.

John Letham was always very active in the activities of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Haden Ward was the first ward in Teton Basin, Idaho, and when it was organized, John was chosen a member of the first bishopric. He held the position of bishop's counselor until he was ordained a patriarch on September 2, 1901, by John Henry Smith. When Teton Stake was organized, he was chosen to be a member of the Stake High Council. He was highly regarded and loved by everyone. John was always very willing to help people, and he would go out at any hour of the night to administer to the sick.

He did quite a bit of work among the Indians. On one occasion, an old Indian Chief was very ill and asked some of his people to send for Mr. John Letham, who lived some twenty miles distant. When the messenger arrived and told John that the old Indian Chief had insisted that John Letham be sent for, John returned with the messenger to the sick Indian Chief and administered to him, after which the Indian arose from his bed, picked up his blanket and walked.

The following historical incidents in the life of John Leatham were taken from his old diary and put into story form by his granddaughter, Christine Wach Capener:

Grandpa and Grandma may never seem as interesting as when their story comes alive from the crumpled pages of their own hand-written diary. History, ancient and modern, has been accurately written in many of these little booklets hidden away in some attic trunk.

These diaries have brought forth historical sidelights which might never have been known except through these often overlooked recordings. Stories of men's and women's lives have been painstakingly hand-written, neglected for years, then come to life as important or humorous bits of history. Such a diary was John Leatham's, who was one of Brigham Young's Scouts.

"If ever a man was out of his own element, it was I when I joined the wagon train of settlers headed from Missouri to Utah," wrote John.

John came from Scotland to America in 1854, when he was twenty-one years old. He came alone without family or friend. Slight of build, with very fine features, he seemed almost frail; but though slender, John was tall, agile and quick-witted. He had an unwavering belief in his decision to leave his own home and head for Utah.

On the last lap of his long trip from Missouri, his ability to think and act quickly saved his life. It was three nights before the company was due to arrive in the Salt Lake Valley and the wagon train had stopped for the night. The wagons were drawn closely together forming a circle, a circle the campers were warned to stay within. Men and women were singing and dancing, happy in the knowledge that they were almost to the end of their trip.

John leaned against a wagon wheel with a far-away look in his eyes. He'd been thinking of his home and family all day. He seemed to be a "misplaced person" among this group of out-door men and women. His black broadcloth trousers, white shirt and multi-colored scarf made an incongruous picture against the firelight and trees. He was so restless that he decided to explore the forest surrounding the camp. Forgetting the wagon leader's instructions, John moved out of the firelight into the forest.

The moon was shining brightly and he could see all around him; there was nothing in sight but trees. Suddenly a light crackle made him stop instantly. "Who is it?" John whispered hoarsely. "That you, Willie?"

It was not Willie. John looked up and found himself surrounded by Indians. Frantically he looked for a way out; quiet figures were completely surrounding him. They began jabbering to each other and then pointed excitedly at John's neck.

He wrote it this way in his diary: "I knew if I let these strange men know how terrified I was, I would literally end up without a scalp. Having no intentions of coming all the way from Scotland to become a headless pioneer, I determined to use my head to save myself. While the Indians argued among themselves, I tried to figure out what they were talking about, I could tell from their gestures that I had something they wanted -- something that pleased them. It must be the brightly-colored scarf I had twisted around my neck. My first instinct was to unknot it, throw it to them and run, but I realized it would be 'Goodbye, John,' if I did, so I stood my ground. I then began to dicker with them in sign language. This was something they understood, and they entered into the bargaining like happy children. They finally traded me a fine deer skin for the colorful scarf and went away pleased with their prize."

After arriving in Salt Lake Valley, John soon became one of Brigham Young's scouts. This group of men were on call for any kind of special duty assigned to them: escorting travelers through the mountains or Indian country where trouble might arise was an every-day task for this courageous organization. Tedious jobs of helping companies settle new towns were given them, and dangerous assignments of protecting travelers from Indian or Renegade attacks were part of their services. Although the scouts lived dangerously, they had much time for their own recreation.

John spent much time exploring the countryside, acquainting himself with Indian customs and speech. He learned their language so well that he was often assigned the role of interpreter between the white people and the Indians.

It was while he was acting as translator between a company of white settlers and an Indian tribe that John's expertness at interpreting combined with his diplomacy saved a serious uprising between the two races. Sitting at the feet of the Indian Chief, John patiently acted as interpreter and peace maker. His understanding brown eyes captured the favor of the Chief, for he nodded approvingly at John from time to time.

Finally the trouble was adjusted and the Chief was so well pleased he placed his hand on John's shoulder and asked: "How long young Brave been here?"

"About a year."

The Chief looked appraisingly at this young pioneer who had grown so much in physical stature during that first year in Utah. Finally the Chief nodded his head knowingly and said: "Young Brave have heap big pockets in head."

John bent his head gratefully forward in acknowledgement of this sincere compliment but eight years later the statement of praise almost proved to be his undoing.

In 1861 a group of scouts were sent to St. George to aid in its settlement and John went with the group. In his diary he said: "Although the climate was too hot, the work very hard and the task of raising cotton seemingly impossible, we managed to spend many happy hours. Exploring the country east of St. George with four friends was among my happiest memories."

Towards the end of the summer these five scouts rode out across the red sand, towards the rock formations, on a three-day holiday. Being expert horsemen, they traveled fast, enjoying the scenery of rock castles, towers, sand caves and high orange arches over a wide area.

On their second day out a mild but friendly argument arose over who was the most skillful horseman among them.

"I'd say John Leatham there is the most expert with the horses," a scout named Red bantered. "He has such a convincing way with Indians he must surely be able to handle horses in a masterly way too."

"Why, sure, I remember the Chief said he had big pockets in his head, didn't he? John is heap big Chief among us," another fellow added.

The joshing picked up momentum as the men rode along and John began to get uneasy. He felt they had dreamed up some devilment and he would be the target.

"John heap fine rider, must prove heap big worth," scoffed Little Bill.

"Hey, chiefie," yelled Red, "I've got just the idea for you. See over there?" He pointed impishly toward a high archlike formation over a dry gulch. The scouts all looked up and John could see the diabolical idea hatching in their faces as they saw the massive arch stretching high into the air, an arch that was not quite perfect for a large piece was missing from the center of it.

"It'll be a perfect test for Big Chief John, won't it men?" Red called out to the others. "Nobody but John could do it," they agreed.

"Think of it, Chief," Red goaded, "A jump across that broken span and you'll have an everlasting reputation of greatness."

John knew he was not the first nor would he be the last of this small group to be required to prove his worth from time to time. Daring was an inherent part of their work and pleasure.

"All right, I'll do it," John told them. "Which way do you want me to jump, on foot or horseback?"

"They looked at me queerly," wrote John about the incident. "I knew they'd expected me to make the jump on my mount, but I had other ideas about it."

After sizing up the approach to the arch, John decided a better jump could be made from the other side so he said: "I'll make the jump on foot, from over there."

"It's a bet," Red said. "We bet you your life you can't make the jump on foot."

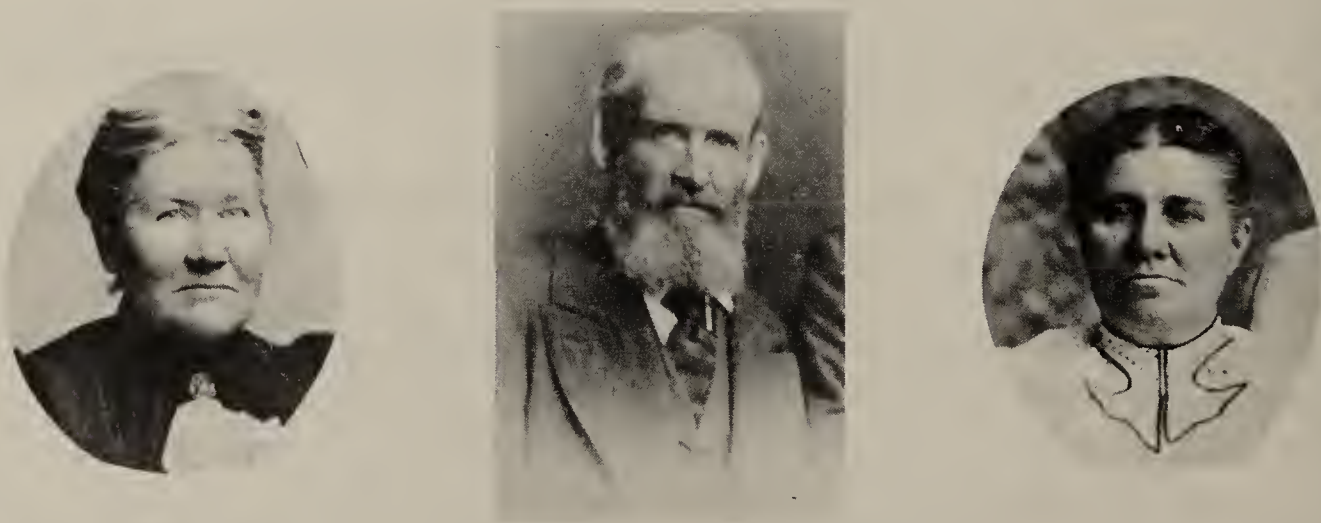

"You mean he's going to try it without his horse?" Little Bill asked. "I dunno if he'd oughta try that."

"Dry up, fella. It's John who's going to jump, not you," Red told him.

John headed his horse down the gulch on his way to the other side.

"When I got over there and looked back across the span I could see the men huddled together silently," wrote John. "I never once looked down from the bridge but moved back from the edge to gather all my strength. I started to run and paused momentarily on the edge, then leaped with all my energies across the broken arch. I landed almost at the feet of my fellow scouts. The men shouted and cheered; once I thought Little Bill sniveled, but anyway they were relieved, and believe me, so was I."

The daring spirit of these scouts has left its stamp of virility on Utah's richest crop -- their offspring, -- their offspring, who might never appreciate the wit, strength and patience of their forefathers except when they are reminded of these qualities by a painstakingly hand-written diary of a Grandma or Grandpa, or of a man like Patriarch John Leatham.

LINES INSCRIBED TO
Patriarch John Letham

By Daniel Letham
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, 1908

In Dreamland's lone romantic grove
Where pensive bards are wont to rove,
I hailed Sir Muse, one afternoon,
And with the seer did importune,
For lyric hints, or citing cue,
To fitly treat on something new,
That Church or State might recommend;
But lo, he sighed, "Excuse me, friend,"

And softly breathed, "I've many calls
From humble cots and gilded halls,
Which honor bids me promptly tend,
Yet to your wish I would commend,
For choice prose or measured rhyme
That would with writ and science chime,
And voice a chaste inspiring tone,
For such, consult your Brother John."

And further whispered in my ear,
"Your sacred calling to revere,
And to your prudent counsel hark,
Your record sun, and closely mark
The righteous course you have pursued;
And with discerning tact eschewed
The wiles and schisms of the day,
Devised to lure and lead astray."

Ah! Twilight signals night is near,
The heavenly orbs begin to peer,
Yet ere Sir Muse hies on his way,
Devout and zealously we pray,
Long may you live to bless and cheer
Within the Patriarchal sphere,
And may the gloaming of your days
Be hallowed with celestial rays.

After John Letham or Leatham was ordained a patriarch he went to the home of his brother, Daniel Letham and gave him the first blessing of his ministry as a patriarch.

THOUGHTS AT THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN

By John Leatham

When the bloom of youth was on my cheek,
And my step was elastic and tight,
I strayed one night on the banks of the Clyde,
In the pale moon's silvery light;
And the Angel of Destiny crossed my path,
And a pale ray kissed her cheek;
As I bowed my head, she gently said,
"What adventures do you seek?"

I told her, "I sigh for the Golden West,
And for freedom of limb and soul,
And a home midst the people I love the best,
Where the tyrant has no control.
And I long for fields of yellow grain,
And the mine with its glittering gold;
And a heart that is true to share my lot,
That can neither be bought or sold.
And then, I desire that you might impart
A wise and understanding heart.
And a will that cannot be swerved from right,
And an eye that is single and full of light --
With Power to walk on the right-hand road --
And be true to man and be true to God.

She said, "All you ask, O ardent Youth,
May be found in the path of virtue and truth.
Now, heigh ye away o'er the heaving main,
And the snow-clad hills and the desert plain.
And I'll meet you again on the mountain's height,
When your locks are few and beard is white.
And your name shall be found mong'st the washed and forgiven,
And you shall find Peace and Rest in the Kingdom of Heaven!

(Dictated from memory to his daughter, Barbara Wach, by John Leatham, in Collinston, Utah, at the age of 76.)

THE OLD FAMILY ALBUM

By Elizabeth Wach Simon

(Granddaughter of John Leatham. See page 544)

"Grannie" to me is a dear memory.

She typifies customs as they used to be.
And lest we forget her quaint old quips,
(They shall fall not again from our grandparent's lips.)
They now are recorded here by me,
For any new shoots on our family tree.

"The disclout is set by a bonny face."

And "The world you can't out-pace."

"Quarreling your dignity should be beneath."

"Remember to keep your tongue fast in your teeth."
Whenever I see her in my memory
I hear, "Oh, A Hum -- Harry me."

Patriarch Leatham, our Grandpa was he;

A solid old branch on our family tree.
When of roast turkey he would talk,
He'd ask for a piece of Bubbly Jock,
And meat loaf made from beef and ham
Was by him called "Trembly Tam."

For grace -- his coffee and tea he gave up,
On sugar and cream and hot water did sup.
Then he did with humor subtle --

Call this tasteless mixture -- Skuttle.
When upon his taste t'would pall,
He was "Scunnered," that was all.
("Scunner" with him was a favorite term.
His "scunner a cuddy" would make your ears burn.)

This he brought down from a far-off age --

I gather its author was not any sage.
"Maiden, Maiden, blithe and free,
Bear a kittle on the knee.
If you smile and laugh at me,
You'll never be a maiden."

These sketches I give you -- you may think are tripe,
But pictures are true as the Daguerrotype.

Q U E S T

By John Leatham

"Ye tell me, heaving Sea,
With your ebb and flowing tide,
If ever on your surface
You have rocked my Bride?"
She looked aghast, as the wind did blow,
And a dashing wave came answering "No!"

"You tell me, Silvery Moon,
That hill and dale can see,
If ever you did spy a maid,
A companion fit for me?"
Now she proudly winked from the upper blue,
And shyly said, "There's none for you."

"Tell me, Whistling Wind,
That pierces the building tight,
Did a handsome kitchen girl for me
E'er come into your sight?"
The wind itself had ceased to blow,
Till in a gust she answered "No!"

"Now, tell me, bird of wandering wing,
Strange tidings to our land you bring,
Have you not seen 'mong foreign tribe,
The rib I lost from my left side?"
She fluttered and looked as tho her nest was harried,
And said, "Wait tillyour sister Janet's married."

(Dictated by John Leatham from memory to Barbara Wach shortly before his death.)

Note: This was written originally in Scotland when John Leatham was a very young man and with the intention to tease his sister Janet, who was unmarried at the time. Any errors in dictation can be forgiven owing to the lapse of over one-half a century between the time of composition and the time of dictation!

MARY OF TETON

How stately grand the snow-clad peaks
Of golden Idaho,
How picturesque the crystal streams
That from her mountains flow,
Her shady groves, and flow'ry meads
Are fair to look upon,
But the crowning of her treasures
Is Mary of Teton.

Well might a Seraph Angel pause
If Mary were but near,
Apollo lull his fairy lute
Her winning voice to hear,
Her air with grace divinely links,
Her heart and love are one,
Adorn'd with Nature's rarest gifts
Is Mary of Teton.

Her eyes outshine the dewy gems
That greet the morning rays,
Her symmetry is Heaven's art,
Perfection sings her praise,
While Cupid joins in terse response,
Announcing from his throne,
The sweetest Maid in all the West
Is Mary of Teton.

Chapter 30

DANIEL PARLEY LETHAM

DANIEL PARLEY LETHAM, (No. 8 Page 457) stockman, farmer and Idaho and Teton Valley Pioneer, was born December 24, 1875, at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah; a son of John and Helen Peterson Letham. Early in the year of 1882 his family left the Utah territory and went into Southern Montana where new railroads were being built. There they ran a boarding house for the crews working on the railroads and in the saw mills. Dan, as he is known to his friends and neighbors, got his early schooling at Beaver Canyon and Lima, Montana. In 1890, at the age of fifteen, he accompanied his family to the Teton Valley in Idaho. They arrived at their destination just about a month before Idaho became a State. It was a new frontier in a new territory, but one that has continued to grow and develop. Here, in the heart of this beautiful valley directly west of the Grand Tetons, Dan Letham, at the age of twenty-one, filed on his homestead.

On Thanksgiving Day, November 29, 1900, he married Isabelle Moffat. They lived on the homestead until the fall of 1908, when they, with their family, then one boy and four girls, moved to Oregon. This venture proved unsatisfactory, so a return trip was made just one year later.

Stockraising, both cattle and horses, was the chief enterprise of Dan Letham from the time he first came to the valley. He raised some fine horses that ran on the mountain ranges in the summer. In the winter many of the colts were broken to work for use on the ranch or for sale. Horses were very necessary for all transportation and communication in the valley until modern methods and the use of motor vehicles replaced them.

Dan Letham served on the school board for fifteen years in the Cache District of Idaho where his children received their elementary education. He also acted as County Commissioner for two years.

As the country grew and developed, a dairy herd came into being at the Letham ranch and continued to grow until they reached a number of more than four score in the milking herd. Hay and grain were raised on the ranch for the livestock, and much grain also went into the commercial markets. Each fall Dan Letham's thresher was pulled out to thresh out his own and neighbor's grains.

Gradually the dairy herd was dispersed and in 1944 a herd of fine Herefords began to replace them. Now, in 1954, Registered Herefords are the chief diversion on the homestead, which is about four miles south of Teton, where Daniel Parley Letham still resides with his wife and eldest son, Angus. His progeny, mostly residing within the State of Idaho, consists of two sons and nine daughters. There are also forty-four grandchildren (twenty-two boys and twenty-two girls), and eleven great grandchildren.

Dan and Isabelle Letham celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in November, 1950. (See page 496).

TETON VALLEY NEWS, DRIGGS, IDAHO

Pioneer Couple To Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Letham of Tetonville will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary on November 29th, at the American Legion Hall in Driggs. Their friends are cordially invited to attend. Open house will be from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. Friends are also welcome to call at their home from 7:00 to 9:00 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Letham were married November 29, 1900, in Teton Valley, and have lived all their lives in this vicinity. They are the parents of eleven children, and have 41 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Letham have had the unique experience of having their children attend school in four counties of Idaho—all at the same schoolhouse, which was Cache school. When the children started to school this area was in Bingham County. In succession it became Fremont, then Madison, and then Teton.

Mr. and Mrs. Letham have requested their friends to please do not bring any presents on this occasion.

Chapter 31

HOWARD P. LEATHAM

All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.
--Longfellow

"OUR LEATHAM FAMILY," says an announcement of this project of the Family Association, "has accomplished much in building up Utah, the intermountain west, the nation and the L.D.S. Church...." Among those builders surely not the least has been Howard Painter Leatham, the subject of this sketch. (Number 5 Page 458).

Born at Wellsville, Utah, Howard Leatham can "point with pride" to outstanding results of his cooperation and leadership as a builder in both the dry-farm and dairying industries of Wellsville and Cache county. As president of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce he did much of the "spade work" which brought the Morning Milk Company's condensed milk plant to that community. At the state level, Howard was a member of the first state tax commission to which was assigned the work of putting into effect the revolutionary legislation which set up a new system of tax administration and placed the tax revenues of Utah in charge of one department. As the Family History goes to press he is directing the battle for the preservation of human life, limb and property on the highways of Utah, through proper enforcement of the motor vehicle drivers' license and traffic acts. And, according to National Safety Council officials, he is doing a might fine job.

Howard Painter Leatham was born October 18, 1889 at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, the son of John Alexander and Martha Painter Leatham. There were twelve children in the family, four of whom were school teachers. Howard attended elementary and high schools at Wellsville and for three years was a student at the Utah Agricultural College, as it was officially titled at the time. He married Hilda Wheatley in the Salt Lake Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints on September 29, 1915. They have two daughters, Hettie and Dorothy, and a son, Howard B. (See page 474).

Much of Howard's early life was spent on his father's dry farm of about 500 acres near Wellsville. Later the elder Leatham devoted attention to irrigated land and dairy farming in the valley. Howard acquired and operated a dairy farm, after leaving college, and his success in that industry soon attracted wide attention. In 1926, his herd of purebred Holsteins produced the highest annual average of butterfat of any herd in the South

Cache Testing Association--386 pounds per cow.

During this period, however, while dairy farming was a source of great satisfaction to Howard, he had many other activities to take up his attention. He engaged in the coal business, and for more than twenty years, as grain buyer, he distributed many millions of dollars among the farmers of Cache county and vicinity. His word was as good as his bond, and he found the same to be the case with the grain growers. A policy of fair dealing and frank honesty paid off.

Naturally, the young farmer and business man was widely and favorably known. His friends and neighbors showed their appreciation, at various times by electing him president of the Wellsville farm bureau, of the local branch of the Federal Farm Loan Association, and of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce. In public gatherings, while he was no orator in the formal sense of that word, Howard was a convincing public speaker, a formidable opponent in debate, and he had the capacity to assemble his facts and present them both concisely and incisively. And in his informal social contacts he is known for his ability to tell a witty and entertaining story.

Howard Leatham's first ventures into public office were on a trail his father had laid out before him. John A. Leatham had been city marshal and in 1913, the son, Howard, then twenty-three years old, was persuaded to take the same office, which he held for three years. Those were the days of prohibition and illicit traffic in liquor was becoming rampant. The bootlegger, however, soon learned to give Wellsville a wide berth, and it is Howard's boast and belief that the town was clean of that sort of law violation when he stepped out of office. Public office called him again in 1926-27, when Howard served on the Wellsville City Council.

Howard's father, had served in the Utah legislature in 1923, and in 1926, the son was nominated and elected to the same office. In the legislature Howard served two terms with distinction. In his second term he was chairman of the house committee on appropriations and vice chairman of the joint committee on appropriations. There is, perhaps, no better short course in Utah state administration than membership on the committee which must study the needs of each department and institution of state government, and provide the necessary funds for it, so far as state finances will permit. Next to the post of presiding officer of either house of the legislature, the chairmanship of appropriations is most coveted, and carries with it the most headaches.

In the same term Howard Leatham was author of two laws which indicate his interests at that time. One was the act to tax oleomargarine 5 cents a pound for uncolored, and 10 cents a pound for the colored product. The purpose was to protect the dairying industry, products of which pay state taxes indirectly through the taxes on farm land and dairy stock and equipment. One of the arguments for the bill was that it would produce revenue for the state general fund. At present, that revenue runs about half a million dollars a year. To steer this controversial measure through two houses of the legislature and to win the governor's approval, took some doing, and Howard was nicknamed "Oleomargarine Leatham."

The other Leatham law (in addition to the appropriations act, which carried his name) created a state building commission. This was designed to bring some sort of order out of chaos. Various state institutions had been fighting each other for a share in whatever money was available for construction and repair work, chronic needs at every state institution. The building commission serves good purpose in making a continuing study of those needs, in the preparation of specifications and letting of contracts for construction authorized by the legislature; and by acting as the owner's representative in seeing that contract terms are carried out. The commission now functions as a division of the engineering department.

Howard served as a Republican in a legislature that was strongly Republican, though the governor of the state, George H. Dern, was a Democrat. One important work of the 1929 legislature was the creation of a tax revision commission. In special session the legislature presented for vote at the 1930 election, several resolutions to amend the constitution of the state. One of these proposed to eliminate the requirement that all property, tangible and intangible, should be assessed and taxed in proportion to its value. The "uniformity rule" was a legal barrier to the passage of any state income tax law.

The ensuing campaign on this topic was hotly contested, but the revisionists won. Howard Leatham took an active part in Cache county, which returned a substantial majority in favor of revision.

The legislature of 1931, completed the work of the tax revision commission. One new constitutional amendment provided for a strong central state tax commission with authority to administer and supervise the tax laws of the state; Governor Dern appointed Howard Leatham a member. Naturally, the chairmanship went to a Democrat, the late E. H. Snow of St. George; but there was work aplenty for all four members of the new commission. One of its first important tasks was to attempt to bring about greater uniformity and equity in assessment of property. Flagrant inequities were found to exist in assessed valuations. A state-wide revaluation was needed and was undertaken.

In some localities public reaction was violent. In those days of the world's greatest economic depression, both firmness and tact were needed. Commissioner Leatham proved to be an expert "trouble-shooter" for the tax commission and a valiant and successful champion of the new state policy.

Organization of the income and corporation franchise tax administration was also among the first duties of the tax commission; and since the income tax law, as first passed called for a $1 filing fee, public resentment was vehement--probably justly so. In 1933, the direction of the motor vehicle, gasoline, cigarette, oleomargarine and other tax laws was taken over by the young commission. The sales tax and later the mine occupation tax were added to the state's system. Those were days of wonderful opportunity for the new tax officials. They could easily have become days of defeat and frustration. Commissioner Leatham's diversified experience, and his knowledge and sympathy with the problems of farmer, business man and industrialist, were important assets to the state.

Commissioner Leatham's qualities of leadership won him national recognition. He served a term as secretary of the National Tobacco Tax Conference, and in 1937, at a San Francisco session, he was elected president of the North American Gasoline Tax conference, presiding at the sessions the following year at Tulsa, Oklahoma. In that capacity he was invited to an international gasoline tax conference in Germany by the late, but not lamented, Hermann Goerring. That invitation was not accepted as war clouds were already threatening in Europe.

But in that same year, 1938, Howard and Mrs. Leatham crossed the Atlantic. Mrs. Leatham with her husband visited the scenes of her childhood in England, spending some time also in Glasgow and vicinity, the home of Howard's progenitors. They crossed the channel to Cherbourg, but did not spend much time in continental Europe, already seething with premonition of disaster to come all too soon.

National recognition has come to Howard Leatham, also, since his return to this country. As director of the drivers' license division, first of the state tax commission and later of the new state department of public safety, he participated in several conferences, including one of the famous "White House conferences" which are devoted to the cause of highway safety, and form a national spearhead for planning and carrying out on a nation-wide scale campaign to make the highways of America safer for the motorist and the pedestrian. In connection with this work he had been awarded plaques indicating outstanding achievements in driver licensing for Utah.

But that is getting a little ahead of the story. While Governor Henry H. Blood had retained on the tax commission the Republican appointees of his predecessor, Governor Dern, Governor Herbert B. Maw, on taking office in 1941, made changes, and Howard retired as commissioner. Soon, However, the new commission appointed him to take over the drivers' license division. When, in 1951, it became a part of the department of public safety Director Leatham's experience and efficiency were recognized by his retention as division director.

In the traffic safety field, Director Leatham faced a new challenge. Laws that were adequate last year, already were obsolete, so fast are changes made. The automobile is no longer a luxury, and if you take away a man's right to drive a car, you are taking bread out of his children's mouths. Yet the citizen who has due regard for the rights of others must be protected, in his right to use the highways. The dangerous driver must mend his ways or be taken off the road. Scores of problems are presented daily--each different from any other, but most fortunately, falling into some sort of pattern that ultimately will become reasonably clear. One thing is certain: If experience and good judgment, and ability to get at the heart of a problem and to assemble the pertinent facts will do it, Howard Leatham is a good man for the place.

In his sixty-fifth year, Howard finds that for more than half his life he has been in public service. Some persons may believe the task of a public official is to sit in a swivel chair, taking his feet off the desk only long enough to cash a lush pay-check on the public treasury. Several members of the Leatham family will attest that such a conception of public office-holders is both phantasy and fantastic. And even if it were 99.44 percent true, it has never been true of Howard Leatham. For the years he has spent in public office have been marked by intelligent, alert, active and unceasing devotion to the service of the public. Much of his service has been in offices where it brought little or no pecuniary reward; or in non-profit civic or cooperate organizations devoted to the interests of the general public and especially the community in which he was residing. In the L.D.S. Church work, too, he has been quietly and unobtrusively busy, willingly shouldering duties and responsibilities that called for ability and leadership. He served for six wartime years in the superintendency of Capitol Hill Ward Sunday School.

It cannot be said of Howard Leatham that his service in public office was inspired by desire for financial gain. His extensive experience in agricultural or commercial fields points to the conclusion that he would have been much better off financially--not that he is to be classed as a poor man--if he had continued in the ranks of private enterprise. But he expresses no regret on that score.

"There are rewards and there is satisfaction in public service," he says, "that may not be had, or may be had by a very, very few even among the leaders in agricultural, commercial or industrial circles. I have had the satisfaction of meeting, and frequently of intimate friendship, with men and women of high ideals and acknowledged leadership in their chosen fields. Few or none of these, in all probability, I would have met had I not been in public office. There are few states or important cities in the nation, I dare say, where I have not some friends who would heartily welcome renewal of acquaintance-ship."

Howard Leatham did not say it, but it may be that the greatest satisfaction that has come to him from his public service is rooted in the fact that he has had many important jobs to do and in each case the job has been well done.

As we go to press the news papers are announcing that Howard was elected Assessor for Salt Lake County, by the voters of the county. He will assume that important office on January 1, 1955 for the ensuing four years.

Chapter 32

JOHN ALEXANDER LEATHAM

JOHN ALEXANDER LEATHAM (Number 1, Page 457) was born in Maughans' Fort, Cache County, Utah on January 3, 1861, before the town of Wellsville was named. A son of John Leatham and Helen Peterson, he was always a student. His formal schooling was meager having begun in a one-roomed schoolhouse with a certain Mr. Lawson as school master. Later Joseph Howells, who compounded the merits of McGuffey's Fourth Reader and the old blue-backed speller, directed the education of the youth in the town.

In order to complete all the education available at the time, John took advantage of the winter term, attending school also after his marriage to Martha Painter, May 21, 1882, who became the mother of fourteen children. (See page 458).

Always the student, possessed of a brilliant mind, he was a self-educated man. His early ambition and natural inclination prompted him to obtain the law books to keep abreast of the times. He gave freely of his knowledge to many in legal distress who sought his council. He usually "oiled the machinery" with a favorite passage, "Advice, like castor oil is easy to give but hard to take, so you can govern yourself accordingly." He enjoyed argument and debate; he had a good clear voice suited to oratory. He often proved his point with a few well-chosen appropriate phrases that seemed to "hit home."

"John A. Leatham loved a fight" can best describe his battle of words in which he defended his principles. No one need ever guess where he stood--he knew no hypocrisy or double dealing, but always struck right out from the shoulder letting the chips fall where they may.

He served one term at the Utah State Legislature in 1923, and was influential in the passage, among others, of a bill to benefit farmers. Someone said of him there, "We always listened when he got up to speak."

As a young man, John held the office of Town Marshall and Justice of the Peace. He later was rewarded for his work in civic affairs by his appointment to Postmaster of Wellsville, which office he held for eighteen years. During all this time, however, he carried on his work as farmer and dairyman.

To members of the family, he was one of them--never the lord and master. He often gave his family supplementary training in subjects hard to grasp, particularly long division and many were the hours he spent "drumming it into their heads." His family had a chance for an education with one essential stipulation, that they must have the will to learn. Punctuality was stressed and definitely linked to success. To be late was inexcusable. Always solicitous of the welfare of his family and proud of their achievements, he sometimes advised with poetry: "Rather than depend on the ancient Indian symbol of luck, better to mix good common sense with old time hustle and pluck."

He had no use for the shoddy and artificial, but liked wholesome humor. He called it a poor joke if directed to cause embarrassment or to hurt feelings.

He did not condone an untruth and was strictly honest in his dealings. He combined his knowledge with common sense and always put forth a certain genuineness and dignity. He was a good citizen, frank, generous and kind. Margaret Leatham Wilson, a daughter, stated, "I would say of my Dad, 'Here was a man.'" He died March 23, 1923.

WILLIAM PAINTER LEATHAM

WILLIAM PAINTER LEATHAM (Number 4, Page 458), Mayor of Wellsville, was born in Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, November 22, 1887, son of John Alexander Leatham and Martha Painter. He was the first boy in a family of ten girls and four boys.

He attended the old Central School, and later was graduated from the Brigham Young College, Logan, Utah. After graduating from college, William taught school in the Cache County School District, and was principal of the Avon and College Schools.

On April 21, 1909, he married Elizabeth (Bessie) Bailey in the Logan Temple. Being unable to support his family on the small wages of a school teacher at that time, he quit teaching, although he loved the work, and went to work for the Borden Milk Company, later the Morning Milk Company. He also engaged in a small dairy business with a dairy herd of his own.

William Leatham was active in church work--as president of the ward MIA; in the stake MIA superintendency (1926-30); and president of the Sixth Quorum of Elders in Wellsville. He was ordained a high priest by Elder George Albert Smith, of the Council of the Twelve, and set apart as first councilor to Bishop John J. Hendry, December 17, 1920, serving until 1942. He was active as a ward teacher, and taught in the MIA and Sunday School.

"Will" helped organize the Wellsville National Farm Loans Association and served as Secretary-treasurer from 1917 to 1937; he organized the Wellsville Lions Club (1935), serving as its first president. In 1917 he was elected and served eight years on the Wellsville Council, later being nominated twice for the State Legislature (1935-1937) by the Republican Party. He was elected Mayor of Wellsville City three times (1947, 1949 and 1953) and at present is serving in that capacity. Among other services and improvements in his community, he rebuilt the water system. He received an appointment and acted as Assistant Sergeant of Arms for the 1953 session of the State Legislature.

He and his wife have raised a family of five boys and three girls. (See page 465).

OTHER DESCENDANTS OF JOHN LEATHAM

CLARA ELIZABETH LEATHAM BROWNING, (No. 2 Page 514), daughter of Patriarch John Leatham and his second wife, Esther Emily Ogden Leatham, was born in Wellsville, Utah, on May 21, 1865. She was baptized in E. T. City,<sup>1</sup> Tooele County, Utah, by Franklin D. Young. Because an official record was not available, she was re-baptized in Salt Lake City February 1, 1887, by James Leatham. Clara had two full sisters, -- Sarah, who lived to a good old age, and Jeanette or Janet, who died in infancy. As their parents were separated, the two little girls were placed in the homes of relatives. Clara lived with her mother's sister, Elizabeth Ogden Decker, until the time of her marriage when she moved to Ogden, Utah.

On July 19, 1886, Clara married Thomas Edmond Browning in Salt Lake City, Utah, the ceremony being performed by Probate Judge Elias A. Smith. The couple received their endowments and their marriage was solemnized in the Logan Temple on July 13, 1887. Clara was the mother of seven children. (See Page 523).

A son, Lorenzo Dow Browning, is at present Valuation Engineer for the State of Utah. He served as an L.D.S. missionary in Germany and was a Lieutenant in the U.S. Army during the first World War. He married Ida Chandler and they are now living in Salt Lake City. They have two children, Ida Marie Browning Hewlett, and Byram Dow Browning, also one grandson, Charles Browning Hewlett. (See Page 524).

A daughter, Rachel Emily Browning, died August 31, 1910, in Ogden, Utah, at the age of twenty-one years.

Other daughters are Claramay Browning, who is a teacher at the Ogden High School; Eva Ruth Browning, who attended Columbia University and is now librarian at Weber College; Elnora Browning, who is in the Railroad clerical service in Ogden, Utah, and Doris Jeanette Browning, who is in the U.S. government service and now lives in Washington, D. C.

Another son, Dr. Thomas Clifton Browning, is a physician and surgeon. He served on a mission in Germany, practiced medicine for twenty years in Chicago and is now located in Salt Lake City, Utah, with his wife, Dorothy Hughes Browning, and their children, Thomas Hughes, Dorothy Ann and Susan Elizabeth Browning. (See Page 527).

Clara Elizabeth Leatham Browning spent a life of service to humanity. She and her husband, Thomas E. Browning, who was Chief of Police in Ogden, Utah, for over twenty years, were always ready and willing to serve the sick and poor in their community. They took several motherless children into their home and cared for them as their own.

Clara Elizabeth Leatham Browning died on June 18, 1926, in Ogden, Utah, five years after the death of her husband.

RONALD L. (BUZZ) CAPENER, (No. 1 Page 546), President of the Salt Lake Junior Advertising Club, is the son of Dan L. Capener and Christine Wach, and fifth grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Wach (Barbara Leatham). He was born April 20, 1923. As a girl's name had been selected for the new baby, he was hurriedly nicknamed "Buster," a name which became "Bus," then "Buzz" by which Ronald is known today.

Buzz was born in Salt Lake City and went to grade school in what is now known as South Salt Lake, then to the South High and later to the "U" or University of Utah.

Although he was always capable and ambitious, Buzz was rather reticent about doing things in public until he got in the University. He joined the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, "because it's what I want. I like the people and what they're doing," he explained. He joined the Inter-Collegiate Knights, "so I can help with the student activities", and was selected for the Radio Fraternity. By this time he knew where he wanted to go and he majored in everything that would prepare him for a career in advertising.

During his last two years in college, Buzz became a B.M.O.C. (Big Man on Campus), anyway a busy one for he was chairman of several annual events and was selected by the Skull and Bones as one of the ten outstanding men during his junior year. This was followed by a like reward during his senior year.

After graduating from the University of Utah in 1947 he became affiliated with David W. Evans Advertising Company, Salt Lake City, and became their production manager.

For the past six years he has served with the Utah National Guard and says, "I've only eight more to go." He is a lieutenant.

In the fall of 1953 he won first prize in the amateur class of modern water colors at the Utah State Fair Art Show. He is President of the Salt Lake Junior Advertizing Club and was recently elected Junior Executive Chairman of the Advertising Association of the West.

Buzz married Rosemary Pantone Odmark August 6, 1954, in Salt Lake City, Utah. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael G. Pantone of Ogden, Utah.

EVELYN GARBER ROWLETTE, (No. 4 Page 559), daughter of Reid Hezeikiah Garber and Eleanor Hofeling, was born January 16, 1926, at Murray, Utah. She was baptized May 5, 1934 in Roseburg, Douglas County, Oregon, by Albert Earl Cullimore, and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on May 6, 1934, by Elmer L. Fillmore.

Her high school and elementary education was obtained in Oregon. The family moved to Salt Lake City for a short time where Evelyn attended the Columbus School. Later they returned to Oregon where her education was continued. These years were very pleasant ones for Evelyn as she made many wonderful friends among her schoolmates and teachers.

She was married to John Harvey Rowlette on September 5, 1942, in Eugene, Lane County, Oregon, by Bishop Roscoe W. Evans, and on June 24, 1947, she received her endowments in the L.D.S. Temple at Cardston, Alberta, Canada, where her marriage was solemnized on that same day. She received her patriarchal blessing from Eldred G. Smith on October 25, 1951.

Their first baby, a girl, was born to this couple just a month before Harvey left for the U. S. Army in 1943. He saw service in Africa, Italy, France and Germany. He was wounded twice and received the purple heart. Upon his release from the armed forces, Evelyn and Harvey bought a small home in Springfield, Lane County, Oregon, where they became active in church affairs and sometime later went through the temple.

John Harvey Rowlette, Jr. was born January 21, 1947, and sometime later, another small son, Mark Allen Rowlette, was born. During this period the family purchased a home in Eugene, Oregon, where the third small son, David Eugene, was born. This place was sold sometime later, and at present Evelyn, Harvey and their three sons and two daughters (See page 563) live in a large home in Irving, seven miles from Eugene.

Harvey is now ward clerk of the Eugene Ward. Both he and Evelyn have served as secretary of the Sunday School. Evelyn has taught in Sunday School and has been a visiting Relief Society teacher also.

RUBY PAINTER LEATHAM PITCHER, (No. 13 Page 458), was born June 1, 1905, at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah. Being the ninth girl and the thirteenth child born to the family, her birth was just a routine event to her father, John Alexander Leatham, and her mother, Martha Painter Leatham.

Her earliest recollections are nice ones. She says: 'I remember the house in Wellsville. It was a seven room white frame. An old-fashioned garden with many flowers and shrubs filled the front yard. A large gravel walk led up to the front door. This walk was large enough for a horse and carriage or buggy to drive up to the front porch. The farm house north of Wellsville was a busy place. Here we lived during the summer. The summer harvests of hay and grain made for great activity. Large meals were served to the family and hired help. Water was drawn from the well, later a tunnel was dug to the water. Snakes, branding days, haying, the large dairy herd and the many cans of milk are all cherished memories to me.

'As I reached school age, I had not mixed enough outside my family. I was so lost in the classroom, I began refusing to go to school. Each day they urged me on. Finally, my mother tired of giving me flowers for the teacher and leading me there, gave up, but not before she took me to the bedroom and put me over her knee. I told my father, 'Anyway I didn't want to go to school with those kids, besides I couldn't either read or write.' That did it, my father agreed that if I couldn't read or write, I didn't have to go. The next year I was ready for school. I believe that because of this maturity, I became a leader in my class.

'I was always interested in my sisters. I listened to the love life of each. It set a pattern for my own.

'I learned to swim in the 'Big Ditch' and the Wellsville Dam.

'I had a fond affection for my father. He was a good father for his family of ten girls. He lectured us continuously on conduct. He taught us truthfulness, honesty and integrity. We were proud of him as a father and as a civic leader. He had served as postmaster for seventeen years. He had been town marshall and served in the State Legislature. He passed away leaving my mother to raise the last five girls. It was a sad time for her, but a job she handled well.

'From grammar school to Wellsville Junior High School, I went on to graduate in 1925 from South Cache High. In 1929 I graduated from Utah State Agricultural College with a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics, with a secondary teaching credential.

"My first teaching position was at Wellsville Junior High, as a social studies teacher. The depression of 1929 had begun. I taught here for six and one-half years.

"I married Stanley J. Pitcher on December 24, 1935, and began a new epic in Southern California. We lived at 12445 Greene Avenue, Venice, California, until David was born. We now needed a two-bedroom house. We lived at 12472 Greene Avenue in Venice until Elaine was six, then we moved to Mar Vista, California. Here we were near the church and could enjoy all the activities. (See page 489).

"In 1948 I began teaching again by certifying for California. This was a fine experience. I loved teaching and I now am teaching Home making in the Los Angeles City Schools on the secondary level.

"I am happy with my heritage. I have tried to be a good wife and mother to my two children.

"The economy of my Scotch ancestors has set me in good stead, for I have always had the means to do the things that seemed important to me.

"I hope to reach old age thankful for all these gifts and blessings."

Ruby now resides with her family at 3780 Wasatch Avenue, Venice, California.

LEATHAM JENSON (No. 3 Page 459), son of Elmo Carlos and Mary Leatham Jenson, was born January 5, 1915, in Hyrum, Cache County, Utah.

He attended school at Ridgedale, Idaho, and graduated from Malad High School. He studied at the University of Idaho in Pocatello and the Institute of Air-Conditioning in Chicago.

Leatham entered the armed forces of the United States on April 11, 1941, during World War II and was listed as "missing in action" after the fall of Bataan. It was later reported that he had died July 9, 1942, of malaria and other ailments in a Japanese prison camp named Cabanatuan in the Philippines.

Funeral services were later held for him in the Malad Second Ward, Malad, Idaho.

CHRISTINE (TEENIE) WACH CAPENER, (No. 5 Page 541), the fifth child of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Wach, was born January 1, 1907, in Chicago, Illinois. Dr. Wach and his wife, Barbara Leatham, went to Illinois from Murray, Utah, so that the Doctor could finish his education and receive his medical degree.

Christine moved with her parents and brothers and sisters from Illinois to Collinston, Box Elder County, Utah, in 1910, where her father practiced medicine among the rural folk of that area and her mother took care of their six children, Marianne, Fred, Bess, John, Christine and Julia. Julia was born while the family lived in Collinston. (See Page 541).

Various nicknames haunted Christine during her growing years, such as Tennie, Tiny, Tena and Kelley. Her nickname now is Chris, assumed for literary purposes. Christine found that editors were more prone to view Chris Capener's stories favorably, than those of Christine's.

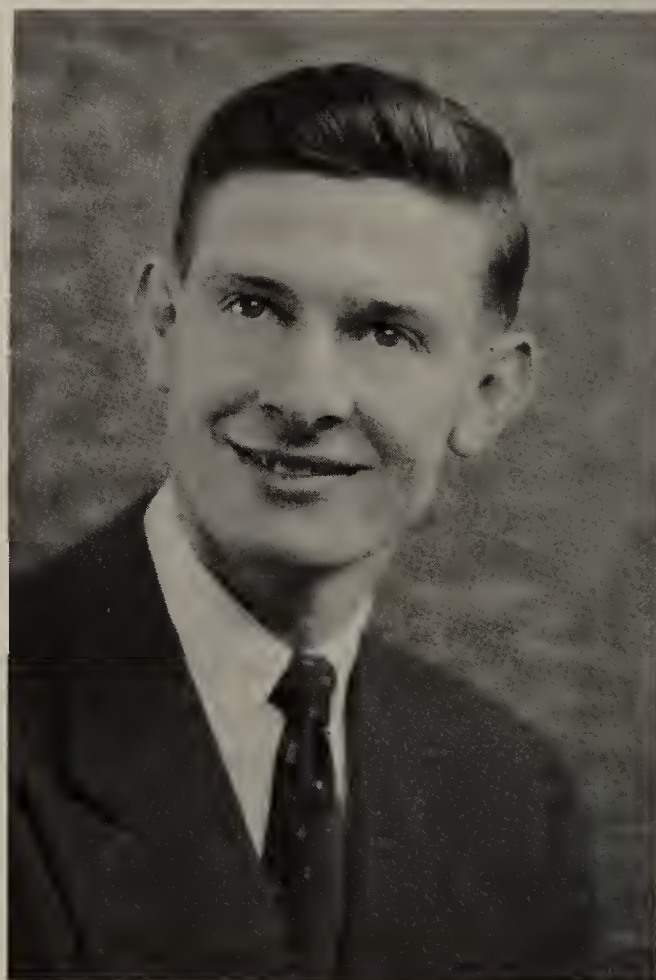

She attended high school in Brigham City and then attended East High School in Salt Lake City where her family had lived since 1921.

In 1923 she married Dan Capener who had been reared in Riverside, Utah, a village just across the river from Collinston. Dan had moved to Salt Lake City when a young man and he and Chris met there.

Dan and Christine have four children (see page 546). All are members of the L.D.S. Church and have been active in church activities.

Hobbies and work have filled Christine's life even more full than has the care of her children and her aged mother, who has been ill for three years. Radio writing, newspaper features and club activities have been bright spots in her life during the past few years. Now working for the Gallup Polls, she finds her life filled to the brim.

HOWARD BASSETT LEATHAM (No. 3 Page 474) was born January 20, 1929, in Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, the son of Howard Painter Leatham and Hilda Wheatley Leatham. He was the first son and third child in the family. He received his education in the elementary school at Wellsville and in Salt Lake City where his family moved when he was eight years old. He graduated from Salt Lake City's West High School in June of 1946, and entered the University of Utah in the fall of the same year. He attended the University for two years, then served as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Birmingham District of the British Mission from October, 1948, to October, 1950. Upon his return to Salt Lake City he completed his university training and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering in December of 1952. On March 25, 1953, he was married in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple to Arda Wetzel. They reside in Salt Lake City. Howard is employed by the State Department of Engineering. On July 26, 1954, a son, David Howard Leatham, was born in the Latter-day Saints Hospital in Salt Lake City. Howard was a member of the second place Capitol Hill Ward All-Church Championship M Men Basketball team in 1951. (See page 477).

VELMA LEATHAM SUMMERS, (No. 11 Page 458), daughter of John A. and Martha Painter Leatham, was born at Wellsville, Utah, March 30, 1901. She didn't learn to talk until she was two and one-half years old. She was a quiet sort, but with the years she has acquired a little knowledge and can now speak her own mind fluently.

Her schooling was at Wellsville, both elementary and high school.

Her first name is Sarah but she used Velma, her second name.

On October 29, 1925, she was married to Edwin Richard Summers at Mar Vista, California. Bishop Lind D. Stohl from Brigham City, Utah, performed the marriage ceremony. They were very happy and made their home in Santa Monica, California. They attended church at Ocean Park Ward.

On October 14, 1926, a daughter, Helen Maurine Summers, was born to her at Wells-ville, Utah. This was soon after Velma had separated from her husband and gone home to live, which was a heart-breaking experience. Velma's father had passed away in 1923. The family had been very fond of him. Velma and her brothers and sister as children thought he knew everything.

In relating her experiences, Velma says: "In 1935 I came again to Venice, California, to live. I did practical nursing. By saving I was able to buy a lot and build a home. I worked five years at Merrill's Sanitarium.

"My daughter, Helen, went to the public schools in Venice and graduated from Venice High. She went to work in a studio as a color artist. She married Kelvin Kliene Bean on July 5, 1948. Terri Lynn was born to them January 15, 1950. She was a very bright child. (See page 487). Helen separated from Kelvin and married James Charles Severin on September 14, 1951, to which union a son, James Vance Severin, was born June 11, 1952. (See page 486).

"Because of my love for children, I taught nursery school five years. I found many interesting things working with children. Flowers became my hobby, as it was my mother's.

"My life with my father's family was happy. I remember doing lots of things as a child, and once said, 'All I ever get is lickings and new shoes.' Once I took some pie and walked out of the house with it with my eyes closed, so no one would see me take it. Another time I followed the steamthresher to Bradshaw's farm, never realizing my parents would be worried.

"As children we lived on the farm in the summer. Hot and dry the farm was, but we enjoyed roaming the hills, picking wild flowers and making our own entertainment. We told time by the sun and the morning and afternoon train.

"My health was never good. I found I needed lots of rest to get my share of work done. I loved my parents beyond words.

"I am thankful for my heritage, and am hoping my grandchildren will learn something good from my life."

NORMA LETHAM MICKELSON (No. 4 Page 496), was born March 6, 1906, at Cache, Idaho, a daughter of Daniel Parley Letham and Isabelle Moffat.

She married Harris A. Mickelson on November 12, 1925. (See page 500).

Their daughter, Norma Larue, is serving as a missionary for the L.D.S. Church. She entered the mission field on November 11, 1953, to serve for a period of eighteen months.

A son, Riley Letham Mickelson, is a missionary for the L.D.S. Church also. He left for the mission field on April 14, 1954.

Norma and her husband hope to send many more of their children on missions for the L.D.S. Church in the future. The family home is in Lago, Idaho.

MARTHA BAILEY LEATHAM BANKS, (No. 6 Page 465), Salt Lake City business woman, was born May 12, 1923, at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, a daughter of William Painter and Elizabeth Bailey Leatham.

She was educated in local Wellsville schools graduating from South Cache High School in May of 1941. Martha also attended the L.D.S. Business College in Salt Lake City and the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah.

She fulfilled a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to the Central States Mission from 1946 to 1948, laboring in Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Along with other business associates, she organized the Utah Bookbinding Company, Incorporated, in Salt Lake City, during February of 1952, serving as Secretary of the corporation. This firm does a general bookbinding business and was the binder of this volume of the "Letham or Leatham Family Book of Remembrance."

Martha married Samuel Gerald Banks on June 11, 1954, in the Logan L.D.S. Temple. The couple make their home in Salt Lake City, Utah.

THEODORE (TED) ROBERT CAPENER, (No. 2 Page 546), was born January 11, 1932, to Dan L. Capener and Christine Wach Capener. Ted is their second son and was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he attended school.

Ted knew what he wanted to do when he was three years old. In the first place he wanted to sing -- and did even at three. From three on, Ted sang everywhere he got a chance. When he joined the South High School Choir, his interest in music soared and he continued singing in the university groups.

In the second place, he wanted to play ball, any kind of ball. When a toddler his mother could always find him at the ball park across from his home.

From Junior High on, Ted could be found in the center of any basketball toss-up and in High School he went in for football until he found out he was faster on his feet than the other boys, so he switched to track. The day he slid into the finishing line after running the four-forty for a big win at an interstate meet, Ted became a hero, but began to find out that High School athletics were too rough on teen-agers' physical make-up. Gradually, upon the urging of his doctor, he switched interest to a first love, sports writing. He won many awards in high school but when he got to the University of Utah he found that Buzz, his brother, had been there ahead of him. It worried Ted at first, but he was not deterred for long, as he was hustled into the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, became editor of the sports page of the University Chronicle, chairman of Frosh Week, etc., ad infin. The results were that he won the junior Skull and Bones award for outstanding service to his school, also the Owl and Key, the senior award, and became the editor of the literary magazine, The Pen. Ted was well known on the campus as "The Herder," an affectionate nickname given him by his friends because of the farmer-like clothes he chose to wear.

Graduating in 1953, Ted was appointed to the editorial staff of the National Wool Growers Magazine.

He has been with the Utah National Guard for three years.

Ted is not married --- yet. (1954)

The Alexander Leatham Branch

ALEXANDER LEATHAM

ALEXANDER LEATHAM

ON JANUARY 8, 1836, in Blackfaulds, Lanarkshire, Scotland, a little babe, now known to us as Alexander Leatham, (No. 6 Page 13 ), first saw the light of day. Nurtured by his Scottish father and mother, he learned to love old Scotland. Day by day characteristics needed to fit him for the mission God had in store for him were molded into his character.

Cheerfully before the dawn, as a youth he took his dinner pail with its scanty and coarse lunch and went into the deep underground of Scotland's coal mines. Here with a heavy pick he dug coal all day. At night, weary and tired of the darkness of the day, he wound his way homeward.

During this period he expressed his love of knowledge by making a supreme effort to attend night school. With stern, unsympathetic teachers, he struggled to get a glimmer of light through learning. How little of hope and promise must have seemed in store, but God in his goodness sent a ray of living light to this humble, industrious Scottish boy. This light was the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which came to him as early as 1843 when his older brothers were investigating it.

With an open heart and understanding mind he listened to the message of how God had revealed Himself to a new prophet in America, how the Book of Mormon had been made known to Joseph Smith, how the Church of Jesus Christ had been re-established on the earth with its ancient blessings, how the Priesthood had been given to man again and that God had established a home in the top of the mountains for his people. He accepted these beautiful truths and the gospel became a part of his very soul. After that no effort or sacrifice seemed too great for him to make for the gospel of Jesus Christ. He was baptized October 18, 1848, by James Jardine at the age of twelve years, thus becoming a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

While yet in his native Scotland, he was ordained a deacon June 7, 1853, a teacher November 1, 1855, and a priest in 1856. He strove to live a life that would honor the Priesthood. He accepted a call as a missionary in Scotland and labored incessantly to give his fellowmen the message that had been such a comfort to him. Perhaps the greatest sorrow to mar his joy was the fact that his parents could not see the truth.

In 1863, he and his sister, Agnes, immigrated to America. This was a long and tiresome journey as the vessel "Cynosure", upon which they sailed, was dependent on the wind and for three weeks the ocean remained like a sea of glass. Finally he arrived in America, the land of promise, hope and opportunity, but also a land wherein he would be tried to the utmost.

He had the spirit of gathering and longed for the Saints, so he accepted his lot as a pioneer of the west, and by oxteam began the long, long trail over the plains. His sister, Agnes, stood the journey well. Once during this trip, he forgot and left his pocket knife lying on the hub of a wagon wheel. It fell to the ground when the wagon started off. He walked back eight miles to get his precious knife. When he returned to camp a body of saints were preparing to look for him. Ever prayerful, ever helpful, he accepted the unpleasant features of the pioneer journey. No doubt some nights after the hardships of the day were over, and he lay gazing up at the stars and heard the cry of the hungry wolf, his heart would feel the pang that comes because of the love of a native country, but the love for the Gospel was greater. On arriving in Salt Lake City, he and his sister worked for President Brigham Young.

In 1866, from June to September, Alexander served as a soldier in the Black Hawk Indian War, thus coming in contact with the severe fighting tactics of the Redman. He received thirteen dollars per month as his pay for this service.

With others he strove to build up the Salt Lake Valley. Gladly he accepted the responsibility of helping to build God's temple. He aided in making the streets, served as a night guard, worked at the sawmills and the sugar factory, and was one who helped to blast and construct the railroad which connected Salt Lake City with civilization.

While at Salt Lake City, he met Jane Spence, a friend of his youth, and one who had listened while he preached the Gospel. They were married and moved to Cache Valley, where he continued to help build the west. Later he also married Margaret Allen.

In 1883, he moved his family to the Snake River Valley. No beautiful valley invited him there, only a vast stretch of sagebrush with a wicked river winding through it. Along with the others, he played his part as a true pioneer. At this time a tiny babe came to his home, the first child born in the valley, and he called him Rex after the town of Rexburg.

When a year had passed, he took his team and started to Wellsville for supplies. While fording the river, his team was drowned. To the pioneer the loss of his team seemed a tragedy.

In 1885, death entered his home taking his first wife, Jane. One month from her death, September 22, 1885, he was arrested by Federal Deputy Marshall Winn on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. He was tried at Blackfoot and sentenced to a six month prison term, guilty according to the law of man but not of God. With his own hands he wrote these words, which show his attitude when this trial came:

"We are living in times that are trying
To those who the truth have obeyed.
We'll not murmur, nor even feel downcast
Although we are wrongly condemned
For we've been true to our wives and children,
And our honor did meekly defend.
We will bravely bear under the burden."

Again, the spirit of a pioneer prisoner is expressed in these words by him:

"Oh, why should I murmur, or even complain,
While vile persecution and tyranny reign?
Although in prison I'm happy and free,
For I know that my loved ones are praying for me.

Why should I feel downcast or even repine?
I've broken no law, I've committed no crime,
Though confined in a cell, I am happy and free,
For I know that my dear ones are praying for me.

Oh, may I prove faithful and true to the end
The laws of God's kingdom defend.
Though now I'm in prison, contented I'll be,
For I know that my dear ones are praying for me."

In April, 1886, he was released from prison, but before arriving home, news reached him of the death of his other wife, Margaret Allen. Weak and weary of body, but strong in the spirit, he was forced to face the problem of caring for eleven motherless children, all under the age of eleven years.

This was the fiery test but he stood it. Dauntlessly he faced the future. He gathered his children from friends and relatives and located on a homestead about two and one-half miles northwest of Rexburg, Idaho. Here he made a glorious effort to father and mother his family.

In the community he gave time and effort to help establish schools. He worked on the Teton Island Canal, later serving as secretary and water master for many years. He was one of the first who courageously undertook farming on the Rexburg Bench. Success was his, and today his children reap the benefits. It was also desirous that a plot of his ground be used for the location of the Rexburg Passenger Depot, to which he gave his consent.

During this period he remained a faithful church worker, serving in various church capacities, one of which was that of a Sunday School Superintendent. He devoted much time and money to temple work.

In 1902, when conditions were such that he might leave, he spent a short term as a missionary in Montana. In 1905 a glorious privilege and honor was given to this faithful brother, for he was ordained a Patriarch in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, April 30, 1905, by John Henry Smith, and was set apart to labor in the Fremont Stake of Zion. He gave over two hundred patriarchal blessings. To add to his joy, two of his brothers were also ordained Patriarchs, making three from one family. (See page 9 ).

In 1910, when all had left the home nest, a longing for Bonnie Scotland came over him and he crossed the great waters and arrived in the land of his birth. Again he grasped every opportunity to be a missionary and gave many patriarchal blessings to the Scottish saints while there.

In May, 1919, he proudly accompanied his eldest grandson to Salt Lake City to see him depart to fulfill a mission. Great must have been his joy and satisfaction at the thought that someone was taking up the work he soon must leave. One week later, May 22, 1919, while still in Salt Lake City, his first home in the west, the spirit that had entered the babe in Scotland left its earthly body, but the good he did lives on.

His children have made their homes in the Rocky Mountains except Robert, who is at present working in the Arizona Temple at Mesa. There were sixty grandchildren in 1941. He was affectionately called "Sandy" by his close friends.

May his descendants appreciate their noble ancestry. May they grasp every opportunity to further the cause for which he gave so much and in the end prove as faithful a servant as he.

The following pioneer story of Alexander Leatham, by Theodore (Ted) Robert Capener of Salt Lake City, Utah, entitled, "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star", may prove interesting also.

Alec Leatham stopped to water his horse, gazing up towards the clear blue sky, he didn't dream that near this very spot a towering skyscraper, with a multicolored electric sign proclaiming "The Walker Bank Building" would be someday erected.

Alec wanted to dream, for he was discouraged and overwhelmed by this vast new country. He hadn't realized when he left his home near Glasgow, Scotland, that it took so much fortitude to be a Western Pioneer.

Giving the appearance of a boy because of his slightness of build and being only five foot four inches tall, Alec was at a disadvantage in this great wilderness. He was a dapper fellow, who would have seemed more at home in a drawing room, for his deep grey eyes were filled with wisdom way beyond his years.

Loneliness had been blurring his vision of freedom and truth he'd been seeking, and the picture of his home embraced his mind as he sank to the creek bank. He covered his face from the hot July sun as he remembered the day his father, Robert Letham, brought the two young missionaries into their family circle.

His father had been returning home from work and had been struck with pity when he saw two young fellows preaching on the street corner, without benefit of an audience. Moved by instinctive sympathy, Robert had waited for them to finish their talk.

"You are missionaries for this new church we've been hearing about, aren't you?" Robert asked in his forthright but friendly way. "I understand you must travel without money."

The two young men nodded and said simply, "We are quite hungry."

"You young fellows have your wagon hitched to a star, haven't you?"

The two young men smiled and answered, "Indeed, Sir, the star of truth."

Robert replied, "Well said, my boys, well said! Now I want you both to come home with me and have a good Scotch supper, and mind you we Scotch do not live up to our reputation of stinginess. Not when it comes to eating. Come along, now."

Although he was just a boy of seven, Alec could remember how he and his brother, John, had been squeezed out of their place at the supper table, for ten children, two parents and two visitors just wouldn't fit around the long, heavy piece of furniture.

Alec's loneliness grew along with memory of his home, and he could almost hear his mother's voice when she said: "You, Alec, are the fourth of the family to leave for Salt Lake. We have been very fortunate that we could send so many of our family to Zion. I'm leaving it up to you to take good care of your sister, Agnes, and find a place for yourself in the new world." His father had died a few years before.

Family love had been strong in the Leatham family, and Agnes and Alec had clung to each other during the crossing of the terrifying Atlantic Ocean. Not until half of their journey, by wagon train from Missouri was completed were they separated.

The train had stopped at high noon for lunch, high in the Rocky Mountains. Agnes and a girl friend had been listless, having tired of the long journey. With a burst of enthusiasm and daring they decided to climb the mountain instead of eating. "We'll easily return before the train leaves," they'd told each other.

Never realizing how far they'd strayed from camp, they slowly decided to go back. Looking down the side of the hill, Agnes screamed, "They've gone! Oh my, they've gone. Do you hear?"

Frantically they screamed, waved their aprons, in an effort to attract attention from the disappearing wagon train. In despair they sat down in the middle of the road and wept. A little later they raised their wet faces in wild relief at the sound of a lone horse coming back from the wagon train. Alec would never forget their faces blanketed with relief as he rode toward them.

"Alec, Alec, I was so darned scared," cried Aggie.

"Serves you right, Girl. Wanderin' away like that." Alec's words reprimanded his sister and her friend, Lillian, but he smiled as he encircled them with his arms. He'd made up his mind then never to leave his little sister again. Although she was over twenty years old, she was a mite of a girl.

Alec squirmed as his memory brought back that promise. Agnes liked Utah. Unlike Alec she had found her place among these people and was contented to be one of them. The memory of his promise to Agnes and the knowledge of her happiness here almost erased the idea of his returning home from his mind. He arose, mounted his horse, hesitated, then turned his face northward.

Settling in Wellsville, Alec began to gather friends around him. Having definitely made up his mind to stay in this new country, he'd set his mind to being a good neighbor. When aid was needed, Alec was the first to offer it; if an extra hand could be used on his neighbor's place, Alec was always available. He became the hub of the community in which he lived.

About this time Indian trouble was brewing in northern Utah. The Snakes and the Shoshones were threatening all travelers through their happy hunting ground. The Redmen questioned the right of travel through their country. The settlers had to group together to fight off these attacks. Alec, often was among the first to offer to go on these expeditions.

Near evening, late in the summer, Alec heard his friend Jim Hunter (who later became his brother-in-law) yell at him: "Come on, Alec, they're at it again. It's the Bear Lake Valley this time. Come on. We'll get behind the others."

The company of volunteers rode all night, arriving in the trouble area about noon the next day. Suddenly, Alec felt his horse hesitate, stop short and then plop to the ground. A silent arrow had hit his heart. Just ahead, Jim turned back, jumped from his horse and called: "Are you hurt, Alec?"

"I didn't have time to answer," Alec later told about it. "We knew the Indians had guns and we were surprised when another arrow whizzed past us, forcing us to the ground. We crawled behind the dead animal for protection. Our companions had gone ahead into the brush, never realizing we had been attacked."

Knowing the ways of the Indians, the two men realized they were outnumbered, even though their enemies could not be seen. So they decided to play dead.

"It wasn't long," related Alec, "before we were stiff and cold. We had to take the long chance and move out or freeze. Putting my hat on the end of a long willow, I cautiously raised it in the air, testing the area for straggling Indians. No attack -- no Indians, and believe me, we crawled out of there -- fast."

Safely hidden in the bushes, Alec and Jim waited for the return of their companions. When they did arrive, the two men heaved a sigh of relief and returned home feeling like genuine Western Pioneers.

Some years later, the L.D.S. Church sent out a call for volunteers to settle the Snake River Valley. Alec and his family decided they would go. In the early spring, they arrived in the community that would later be known as Rexburg, Idaho. There they built their home.

Before the summer was over, sickness struck the Leatham family, threatening to wipe out the entire family. Along with the hardships of breaking new ground, building a house and planting crops, the family felt they had more troubles than they could stand, but towards fall things began to look brighter and family hopes were better.

When their son, Rex, was born and acclaimed the first white child to be born in this wild country, they were indeed happy. The fall harvest was ready for reaping and marketing time was at hand.

Loading his wagon to the brim, Alec set off to cross the Snake River, knowing a market for his grain was in that direction. As he neared the great river, he stopped his outfit and decided to test the ford for safety. Finding it sound and solid, he lay down on his wagon load and went to sleep with the idea of crossing the river early in the morning.

Awakening with the rising sun, he set out across the river. Nervously, the horses stepped into the river, hesitated, and then frantically fought for their footing. The river had raised during the night, obliterating the ford. Losing all contact with the stream bed, they tried desperately to swim. Shackled by their harnesses and the heavy wagon, they were pulled under the swirling river and drowned. Jumping off the wagon, Alec fought for his life. Being a poor swimmer made the task very difficult. He floated downstream and clung desperately to a brush island. By nightfall he was blue with cold and hope of being rescued was almost gone. Suddenly a low, sharp whistle came to his ears. Stretching his frozen neck, Alec looked toward the sound. Two men were driving a small flock of sheep toward the river -- for water. Choking and sputtering, Alec was able to attract their attention.

Returning home, empty-handed, he slunk dejectedly into his wife. "It's all gone, Janie, -- everything. Horses, wagon, crop, -- everything. I guess I'm no good at this pioneering business. What do you say about our going home?"

"Home?" Janie asked.

"Yes, home -- to Scotland."

But word of disaster traveled fast in that country and Janie and Alec's friends in Wellsville soon had a wagon loaded with food, clothing and other aids on its way to them. When it rolled into their yard, Janie and Alec ran to meet it.

"This must be what your father talked about," she cried. Looking askance of her, Alec was silent as she went on, "You remember his advice: 'Hitch your wagon to a star'?"

He smiled as he remembered and said, "These look like horses, not stars."

"They sure look like a pair of guardian angels to me," she whispered, and they laughed together.<sup>1</sup>

JANE SPENCE LEATHAM

JANE SPENCE was born in Gallatown, Fifeshire, Scotland, on January 29, 1848. She was the first child of Charles Wright Spence and Elizabeth Morrison. Her parents were converted to Mormonism about the year 1852. Her father later held all the offices of the priesthood from Deacon to Patriarch, with the exception of a Seventy.

Jane had five brothers and five sisters. Her father worked as a coal miner in Scotland. Jane did her part by spending a number of years working in the flax mills at Dysart, Fifeshire, Scotland.

Her parents desired very much to gather with the Saints in Utah, but financial circumstances would not permit this for quite a number of years. During this time Alexander Leatham came to the Spence home as a local missionary. Jane fell in love with him, but being very young she was not married to him at this time.

In the spring of 1870, she sailed for America. On reaching Salt Lake City she found employment.

Alexander Leatham heard of her being there. This missionary, who had known her in Scotland, found her and renewed their courtship. They were married in the Salt Lake Endowment House on June 26, 1871.

They moved to Wellsville, Utah, about 1874, and continued to pioneer the country. Photo shows Jane and her husband, Alexander, about the time of their marriage.

Jane was a pioneer mother. She had five girls and two boys. (See page 613). Her husband worked in the mines some of the time, and she was left alone with her family of little children.

You can imagine in this unsettled country with Indians threatening, and other pioneer hardships, that this mother spent many sleepless nights and hours of toil.

In 1877 death entered the home taking the oldest child, little Jane.

JANE SPENCE and her husband
ALEXANDER LEATHAM.

In accordance with the principle of polygamy, Jane's husband married Margaret Allen about 1877.

Jane willingly accepted her lot, sharing her all for the sake of her religion. Those who knew her said her heart was full of love for every child. She took her place at the bedside of the sick and shared her food and home with those in need. She was very efficient with the needle and spent many hours sewing for her own and others.

In 1883, her husband with his second wife and family went to the Snake River Valley in Idaho. Jane, because of her physical condition, was forced to remain at Wellsville, Utah, for a few months. She stayed and cared for her little family until her baby was born. With her family, she joined her husband in the Snake River Valley in 1884.

No beautiful valley greeted her there. She must begin pioneering again. To add to her hardships she lived in constant dread of her husband being taken to jail for being a polygamist.

She fought the battle bravely, but her frail body could not stand the strain, and on August 22, 1885, death claimed her. She did not live to see her husband taken to jail by an unjust law nor to see her six little children left to the mercy of others' kindness until their father's return. She had stood the test and remained faithful until the end, and God in his mercy called her home.

Although her lifetime was only thirty-seven years, she lived it to the fullest extent. She was a pioneer mother.

May we all who have the pioneer blood flowing in our veins so live that we pay tribute to her memory.

CALVIN ERSEL LEATHAM

CALVIN ERSEL LEATHAM, (No. 3 Page 672), holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, the nation's second highest award for gallantry in action, received this honor during World War II. He was born April 8, 1912, in Rexburg, Idaho, the son of James Allan Leatham and Johanna Jensen.

Serving as a sergeant in the Army during World War II, he was on Bataan at the time of its surrender to the Japanese forces. He relates his experiences as a prisoner of war as follows:

'I was surrendered to the Japanese army by General Wainwright at Fort Mills, Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on May 9, 1942, and was held a prisoner of war by the Japanese for 854 days. While at Camp O'Donnell, the terminus of the historic 'death march' some 29,000 Filipinos and 5,000 U. S. soldiers died of mistreatment. We were taken to a penal colony in the heart of the jungle and put to work in the rice fields and at farming work, where many died of starvation. The last five months of my time were spent in helping to build an airfield near Davao, along with 750 other American soldiers. On October 19, 1944, we were put aboard a prison ship, and sailed in a Japanese convoy presumably for Japan and on September 7, were torpedoed by an American submarine four miles off the coast of Mindanao. Amid a hail of bullets and hand grenades, eighty-one of us swam ashore and escaped into the Mindanao jungle at Lei Lao point, across the back of the island from the city of Zamboanga. All others of the 750 were either killed or drowned. We then made contact with the Filipino guerrillas and an American radio station in the mountains. General McArthur was notified in Australia and two months later an American submarine came in and saved us, taking almost all escapees aboard and to the naval base in New Guinea. From there we were taken to Brisbane, Australia, and treated for wounds and malnutrition. We were sent on to America, and eventually to Washington, D. C., where we were interrogated by the War Department. I was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by General Douglas McArthur on Corregidor, the citation reading: 'For extraordinary heroism in action during a heavy and long sustained aerial bombardment at Fort Mills, Corregidor, Philippine Islands, on December 29, 1942.' Some 150 Jap bombers took part in this action.

Upon his arrival home, Calvin participated in and helped with War Bond drives and spoke at many public gatherings, telling his experiences and the horrors of war.

In addition to the Distinguished Service Cross, Calvin was awarded the Purple Heart, the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Medal with two battle stars, the Philippine Defense Medal, the American Defense Medal and the Philippine Liberation Medal. He was honorably discharged June 7, 1945. His name is spelled Latham on the Army records.

From his youth and early childhood, Calvin has always been a "man of action" -- almost overly daring, resourceful and ingenious.

JANET U. S. LEATHAM CLEMENTS

JANET URQUHART SPENCE LEATHAM CLEMENTS, (No. 2, Page 613), was born on December 7, 1874, at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah. Surely God must have instilled his choice qualities in the spirit of little brown-eyed Janet when he sent her to bless the home of Alexander and Jane Spence Leatham. Her parents had not been long from Scotland, a land they left because of the religion they embraced and believed to be true.

At the age of three, Janet felt the pangs of parting with her playmate sister, Jane, who died January 1, 1877, when she was four years old.

The first eight and one-half years of her life were spent at Wellsville, Utah. During this period her father hauled rock for the building of the Salt Lake Temple. She, anxious to do her childish bit, faithfully saved her pennies and donated them to the temple building fund.

In 1883, the family came to the Snake River Valley, which was then a lonely sagebrush prairie, and made their home in Rexburg. When Janet was ten her mother died, being unable to withstand the hardships of pioneer life any longer, leaving her family motherless in a strange, unsettled land. Throughout her life, Janet carried memories of the night she parted with her mother. The following day she took complete charge of her nineteen month old sister, Agnes. In the days that followed, she valiantly took her place as the eldest and helped her father care for her younger brothers and sisters. "Agnes," her sister says, "was the only mother I ever knew."

Educational opportunities were poor, but in order to equip herself for the life ahead, Janet made a supreme effort to go to school in Rexburg. Through the winter snow she trudged with her scanty lunch the three miles to the school room, her brothers going first to break a track in the snow. Sometimes a horse had to be ridden to get through the drifts. More often than not, she arrived at the school soaked to the skin, and then would sit in the classroom cold and wet.

On December 23, 1898, Janet was married to Johnney (John) Williams Clements in the Logan L. D. S. Temple. This union braved life's storms for fifty-three years. During this time they lived in Hibbard, Herbert and Rexburg. At Herbert, she was a counselor in the Relief Society. Many times she performed her duties with a great effort because of her physical condition. After moving to Rexburg, she was active in Relief Society, being a visiting teacher until her health failed. She was the mother of five children. (See page 614).

Her last years were spent in pain and sickness, but with the knowledge that she had lived her creed, "Do for Others."

Her daughter, LaVon C. Munns, pays this tribute to her:

Gracious, gallant, tender, true --
Those are things I love in you.
Laughing, loving, calm, and kind,
My ideal in you I find.

Peace you carry in your heart,
And you use it to impart
Strength to others, till it seems
You bring courage, hope and dreams.

Mem'ries of you are a shrine
Burning in this heart of mine
Till its gleaming, golden light
Guides me safely through the night.

And at last 'tis this I pray
Striving, yearning, day by day,
Somehow, somewhere, may I be Nearer your nobility.

Janet died at her home in Rexburg, January 2, 1952, at the age of 77, leaving twenty grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren.

Pioneer Couple To Be Honored On Anniversary

(Special to The Post-Register)

REXBURG, Dec. 20.—Fifty years of wedded life will be celebrated Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Clements with open house at the home at 67 West First South street.

Married on December 23, 1898 in the Logan LDS temple, the pioneer couple have been residents of the Upper Snake River Valley nearly all their lives.

Mrs. Clements is the former Jeanette Leatham, daughter of the late Alexander Latham, one of the early settlers of the valley. She was born Dec. 7, 1874 at Wellsville, Utah.

The Post-Register, Idaho Falls,

When Mr. Clements was only nine years of age he came with his family to Idaho, locating first at Camas. He first started farming in the Hibbard area where he had an eighty acre farm. Later he traded this for land on the Rexburg bench. His wife had already filed on a homestead there. They were among the first to help establish this great farming area.

Both have been active workers in the LDS church in the valley. Mr. Clements, a staunch Republican, has served as precinct committeeman, deputy assessor, deputy treasurer and assessor.

They have five sons and daughters, including Mrs. Jeanette Munns, Archer; Mrs. Flora L. Shelton, Exeter, Calif.; John W., jr., and Leonard L. of Rexburg and Mrs. LaVon Munns of Archer. They also have 20 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Both are still active. A few years ago Mr. Clements suffered burns when a gas lamp exploded and burned their farm home. He has now fully recovered after having been confined to a wheel chair for two years.

All friends and relatives are invited to call during their open house from 2 to 6:30 p. m.

Chapter 39

PETER ALLEN LEATHAM

PETER ALLEN LEATHAM, (No. 1 Page 663), was born in Wellsville, Utah, on July 18, 1878, the oldest son of Alexander and Margaret Allen Leatham. When the boy was about four years old, the family moved to Rexburg, Idaho, in the Snake River Valley. He had three brothers, one sister, two half-brothers and four half-sisters.

After his mother's death, and while Peter was still quite young, he left home to make his own way in the world. His leaving home, of course, saddened his family. The boy met many people, went many places on his travels, but never lost complete sight of his early religious heritage, and always planned to marry within his own church, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

He made many trips to Alaska, old Mexico, and all the western states. While in Nevada, he met an L. D. S. girl named Sarah Ann Barnum, whom he married February 7, 1912.

Although Peter had been baptized as a boy, after he and his wife settled in Nevada, he felt he would like the ceremony again, as his records were lost, so was re-baptized on January 7, 1914, in Mesquite, Nevada, by Charles Arthur Hughes.

Again came a period of traveling for the young couple, in search of opportunity for employment, often in districts where no church was available. He returned to his boyhood home about this time and lived on the Rexburg Bench at Herbert, Idaho. It was here that Peter was ordained a teacher by Henry C. Blunck on May 30, 1920, and a priest by James W. Archibald on September 5, 1920. Some years later while living in Grants Pass, Oregon, Peter was ordained an elder by Delos Benson Price on July 18, 1938.

Peter and his wife, Sarah, whose photo is here reproduced, are the parents of five girls and four boys. (See page 664).

In 1941, Peter's health broke and on his doctor's advice, the family moved to Redding, California. Peter passed away October 16, 1950, leaving his wife, Sarah, nine children all married, seventeen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Peter and Sarah had not gone through the temple, but had always planned to do so, but as circumstances proved, had put it off too long. Sarah, herself, received her endowments on June 13, 1951. At the present time, one of Peter's boys is preparing to go to the temple and plans to do his father's work.

Sarah remarried for time on November 21, 1951, in the St. George Temple to Stanley Pulsipher, and they are now living at Mesquite, Nevada.

Chapter 40

ALEXANDER SPENCE LEATHAM

ALEXANDER SPENCE LEATHAM, (No. 4, Page 613), was born January 29, 1878, in Wellsville, Utah, where the family lived until 1883, when they moved to Rexburg, Idaho.

On August 22, 1885, Alex's mother died, and a short time later his father was arrested and sentenced to serve six months in prison for practicing polygamy. The second wife was unable to care for all the children, so Alex with his brothers and sisters was sent to Wellsville to be cared for by friends and relatives. While here, the boy was baptized May 6, 1886 by William S. Poppleton.

Upon his release from prison, the father was faced with caring for eleven motherless children, as his second wife had passed away during his incarceration. The family located on a homestead near Rexburg, where young Alex was of much help to his father. As he grew into manhood, he also became a staunch and faithful church member.

On December 16, 1903, Alex married Isabelle Watson Archibald in the Logan L. D. S. Temple. In the spring of 1905 the young couple moved to Herbert, Idaho, where they homesteaded 120 acres of land. On January 9, 1910, he was called to the Herbert Ward bishopric, and was set apart as a high priest on February 5, 1910, by Thomas E. Bassett. Sometime earlier the family had moved back to Rexburg where they had bought a beautiful modern home.

On November 25, 1918, his wife, Isabelle, died of influenza, leaving five children, the youngest four months old. (See page 639). On May 22, 1919, Alex's father, Patriarch Alexander Leatham, passed away in Salt Lake City, Utah, at the age of eighty-three.

On March 17, 1920, Alex married Mary Winifred Whitney in the Logan Temple. To this union, four children were born. (See page 643).

His eldest son, Alexander A., suddenly passed away October 23, 1935, which extremely saddened the family.

Alex has been engaged in farming all of his life, and has watched Rexburg grow from the beginning to the present thriving community.

His wife in paying a tribute to him, says, "A more honest man never lived than he, a wonderful provider for his family, kind-hearted, wise in his advice to others, generous, unselfish, of very even temperament, and I have never heard him profane or abuse with vulgar language."

Alex was the father of nine children, and at the present time, he has twenty-two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Chapter 41

JAMES ALLEN LEATHAM

JAMES ALLEN LEATHAM (No. 3 Page 663) was born in Wellsville, Utah, March 27, 1882, the third son of Patriarch Alexander and Margaret Allen Leatham. Before he was two years old, the family had located in Rexburg, Idaho, where his mother passed away when he was about four years old.

During his childhood he learned the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic; and as time went by he learned to hunt and fish and swim expertly. He learned a good deal about farming and the care and handling of livestock, and also developed considerable skill as a carpenter.

On December 5, 1905, he was married to Johanna Jensen in the Salt Lake Temple. They settled in a two-room house which he built on her mother's property in Hibbard, about six miles from Rexburg. Here on June 29, 1908, their first child, a son, they named James Lynn, was born. Two years later, on May 15, 1910, a daughter, Chloe, arrived.

Not long after that they spent sometime dry farming but the venture was not very successful; so they returned to Hibbard where on April 8, 1912, their third child, another son was born and given the name Calvin Ersel.

His daughter Chloe Leatham Taylor tells this story of him:

"A short time later Father moved his family to Pocatello, Idaho, where he worked for the railroad company. In 1914 he decided to quite and return to Rexburg.

"We lived for a time with Grandfather, and a fourth child, a girl, Lucille, was born on August 23, 1914. Father moved the little house in from Hibbard and located it on a lot that Grandfather had given to him. He added another room and we began living there in the spring of 1915. On October 4, 1916, the fifth child, a son, was born and given the name Chester Fay.

"Then Father learned about some land that had gone back to the government and was available for 'homesteading' and decided it would be best to move us to the country. The land was about eight miles from Rexburg and was mostly 'bottom-land' that flooded each spring during the high water season.

"Grim predictions were made as to how long we would be able to 'tough it out' on this land; but people had underestimated my Father and Mother. They succeeded where others had failed. Not only did they gain permanent possession of the property but also managed to wrest most of their living from it.

"Some years later Father also acquired an adjoining eighty-acre tract and gained through long-term government lease the use of many additional acres of adjacent pasture land. Both Father and Mother remained there until the end of their lives. And after they were gone the property remained, as an estate, to be divided equally among their six children, in accordance with their wishes.

"We departed from Rexburg in June 1917 with a wagon load of furniture, Father driving the team of horses. Our cow was tied behind the wagon with Lynn following on foot to urge her on. The rest of the family followed in a one-horse buggy.

"Father had built a small house. It stood amid the sagebrush on the higher land. The land below the hill was beautiful. Much of it was wooded but there were open spaces as well.

There was much work to be done and Father was kept busy for some time building fences, a stable, chicken coop and a pig pen. He also scraped two wagon roads, running in opposite directions, diagonally down the steep sides of the hill. And he built a bridge across the stream below, thus making the wood supply more accessible.

"In season he hunted wild ducks to supply the table with meat and to provide feathers for pillows and a mattress as time went by.

"During the winter he trapped muskrats, stretching and drying the hides on forms he himself had made. Some years he 'wintered' livestock belonging to other people, and had to haul hay and straw from several miles away. During the summer and fall he 'pastured' cattle and horses.

"In the spring he sometimes was able to get some weak or motherless lambs, one year about fifteen of them, and we raised them on the bottle. Years later he acquired about a hundred old ewes through a partnership deal and was able to build up a nice little flock.

"When prices were very high he decided to mortgage the house in town for the purpose of buying a number of cows and a cream separator, but the depression years came soon afterward and we lost the house in town.

"At times, while the family was large, Father had to work for wages; and although he much preferred being 'his own boss' he was always dependable and painstaking on any job that he undertook.

"His services were in demand during the lambing season and again at sheep-shearing time. For a good many years he worked at 'haying' times and during the harvest. He also worked at the sugar factory in Sugar City, during the months when it was in operation.

"There were carpenter jobs that he took from time to time. One of them was on Old Faithful Inn at Yellowstone National Park. Once he went back to Pocatello and worked while a strike was in progress.

"Before we had lived on this place for any great length of time Father built a row-boat for our pleasure as well as for the useful purposes it served. He also added another room to the house. And he made a small one-horse sleigh in order that we might more easily make the four-mile-round-trip to school through the bitter cold of the severe winters.

"On June 22, 1921, the sixth and last child, a girl, was born and named Mary. A year later the family began to decrease in size as the older children began to work or to work and go to school away from home. The summer of 1929 found the family scattered over four states; but fatefully all had returned home or within easy reach of home by the middle of September.

"During the night of September 20, 1929, Mother passed away of heart failure, at the age of forty-six, after having completed her usual hard day's work. Thus, a life of willing self-sacrifice and unremitting toil came gently to a close.

"Father arranged for her funeral to be held at the Second Ward in Rexburg and prior to the service she lay in her coffin at the home of his brother Alex. (Eighteen and a half years later, when he passed on, his children made the same arrangements for him.)

"Mother had always been kind beyond compare and we were lost without her, but Father carried on as well as he could alone.

"Although the family had gathered shortly before Mother's death, it was soon dispersed more widely than ever. Lynn, the oldest boy, joined the peace-time army and was stationed at Manila in the Philippine Islands. He worked as an X-Ray technician in Sternberg General Hospital. He returned with his bride in 1933, and they stayed with Father a short time before going to Butte, Montana, where Lynn was employed in the copper mines for a number of years. He served in the army again for a short time during World War II, but the war came to a close without his being sent overseas.

"Less than three years after Mother's passing only the two younger children remained at home with Father. Then it was just a matter of time until he was left all alone. Mary, the youngest, was married and moved elsewhere when she was sixteen in 1937.

"Father was greatly worried during the war years when Chester and Calvin were overseas with the army and in the midst of the battles. He was even worried about my being in Portland, Oregon, a target city, and urged me to come home.

"We were greatly worried about Father living there alone as he grew older. But he was most reluctant about leaving his land which had given him a measure of security and a sense of freedom.

"He made one concession to pacify us -- he built a trailer house and said he would spend the winters in Rexburg. However, he kept putting it off and the trailer house was never moved from the spot where he built it until after he was gone.

"Even when he was suffering extreme pains from the slow, cerebral hemorrhage that took his life a week later, he was very reluctant to seek medical attention or enter a hospital. But finally the pain became so unbearable that he had to bow to the inevitable and enter a hospital. Death mercifully came to him on February 24, 1948, and he was laid to rest beside his wife who had departed so many years before him."

OTHER DESCENDANTS OF ALEXANDER LEATHAM

ALEXANDER E. ARCHIBALD (No. 1, Page 631), vice president of the Idaho Bank of Commerce at Rexburg, Idaho, and son of James Watson Archibald and Catherine Wright Spence Leatham, is a native of the Gem State. He was born in Rexburg, Idaho, on August 18, 1898.

He has always helped in building up the communities in which he has resided. For a time he served in the Presidency of the Yellowstone L.D.S. Stake in St. Anthony, and prior to that, as Bishop of one of the wards in that stake. As a banker he is held in high esteem for his business acumen and is considered to be an outstanding citizen.

He married Ethel Ruth Kane on April 5, 1922 in Salt Lake City, Utah, and they reside at present in Rexburg, Idaho, with their family. (See page 632).

JANET CLEMENTS MUNNS Was born September 23, 1899, near Rexburg, Idaho, the first child of Johney Williams Clements and Janet Urquhart Spence Leatham. She received her elementary education in the schools at Hibbard, Rexburg and Herbert, Idaho, and in high school at Ricks Academy, now Ricks College, graduating in the spring of 1918. She attended normal school at Idaho Technical Institute at Pocatello and Ricks Academy. From 1918 to 1927 she taught in various elementary schools of Madison County.

When Janet was seven years old, she moved with her parents from Hibbard to Herbert, a dry farm area southeast of Rexburg, Idaho. Here she spent most of her early life. She has always been active in various church organizations.

On January 4, 1928, she married Arthur James Munns, a son of Henry Alvin Munns and Sarah Ann Weekes, at Rexburg, Idaho. To them were born six sons and one daughter. At present two sons and the daughter are married; one son is in the army and one has just returned from the service. (See page 615). There are also four grandchildren including their daughter's twins.

Arthur and Janet are now living on a farm in the Lyman Ward about ten miles south of Rexburg.

The accompanying photo of the family shows: Front - Keith Johney, Arthur J., Janet Ann and Janet C. Munns. Back - Henry Alvin, Merlin Jesse, Lyrin Clements, Delos Arthur and Lynn Dale Munns. (1951)

JOHN (JOHNEY) WILLIAMS CLEMENTS and his wife, Janet Leatham Clements, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Thursday, December 23, 1948, in Rexburg, Idaho. They were married December 23, 1898, in the L.D.S. Temple in Logan, Utah, and have been residents of the Upper Snake River Valley of Idaho nearly all their lives.

John W. was the son of Silas Wilbur and Bresta Vestling Clements. He was born July 4, 1875, in St. Francis, Minnesota.

In 1885, when John was only nine years old, he went to Idaho with his parents. They located first in Camas. He began farming in the Hibbard area where he had an eighty-acre farm. Later he traded this for land on the Rexburg bench. His wife had already filed on a homestead there and they were among the first pioneers to help establish that great farming area. Both have been active workers in the L.D.S. Church.

Involved in many civic affairs, John, a staunch Republican, has served as precinct committeeman, deputy assessor, deputy treasurer and assessor of Madison County, Idaho.

In 1948 this couple had five sons and daughters, (see page 614), twenty grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

LILY JANE ANDERSON HAMBLIN, (No. 5 Page 651), was born at Salem, Madison County, Idaho, on October 25, 1916, the youngest child of Caleb Victor Anderson and Barbara Spence Leatham. Most of her pre-school years were spent on a farm between Rexburg and Sugar City, Idaho. She started school at Rexburg.

In the year 1926, her parents bought a home in the Third Ward at Rexburg, and here she lived until the time of her marriage. She graduated from Madison High School here. She relates her activities with the following words:

"The Third Ward was very active and I received a good religious education here along with varied social activities. At an early age I became interested in Primary teaching because of the faithful years my mother had spent in this work, and my main work and interest in the Church has continued to be with children and young people.

"The fall after I graduated I went to visit my sister, Selena, who lived at Alpine, Arizona, and here I met my husband, Edwin Hamblin. On November 17, 1936, we were married in the L.D.S. Temple at Mesa, Arizona, and returned to Alpine, Arizona, to make our home. My husband was ambitious and loving. We were blessed with four children while living in Arizona.

"In the Alpine Ward I resumed my interest in teaching the children in Sunday School and Primary and served as Primary President the two years before we moved to New Mexico in 1946.

"We love our new home in New Mexico and here another baby daughter was born in 1947. Here we lived sixteen miles from our church, and though it was an active ward it was impossible to get our children to attend Primary, so we L.D.S. families living in LaPlata (about twelve families) held Primary here for our children to learn the gospel and to help the outside children who came to our meetings.

"I am writing this sketch in 1953 at which time we are still residing at LaPlata, New Mexico, and feel we have been greatly blessed. We attend church at Farmington, New Mexico, where my husband, myself, and our children all join in the various activities."

BENJAMIN ARCHIBALD LEATHAM, (No. 5 Page 639), son of Alexander Spence Leatham and Isabella Watson Archibald, was born July 2, 1918, at Rexburg, Idaho.

He was honored with a farewell testimonial in the Rexburg L.D.S. 2nd Ward chapel prior to being called to the Eastern States Mission. He reported at the Mission Home in Salt Lake City on April 10, 1939.

He is a graduate of the Madison High School, and at the time of his call was attending Ricks College and also engaged in dry farming with his father on their farm near Herbert on Lyman Creek. His father was one of the first dry farmers in this area.

JAMES WATSON ARCHIBALD, husband of Catherine Wright Spence Leatham, (see page 631), died May 2, 1939, and the following obituary was printed in the Idaho Falls Post Register, dated May 3, 1939:

Death ended a lingering illness for James W. Archibald, sixty-five-year-old pioneer of the upper valley, at three p. m. Tuesday. Mr. Archibald passed his sixty-fifth birthday Monday. He had been suffering for nearly a year from stomach trouble.

Funeral services will be held in the Rexburg L.D.S. Second Ward chapel Thursday at 2 p. m. under the direction of Bishop H. Lester Petersen. Interment will be in the Rexburg cemetery under the direction of the Hansen mortuary.

Mr. Archibald was born at Wellsville, Utah, May 1, 1874, the son of Robert and Isabell Watson Archibald. When he was still in his teens, he came to Rexburg with his parents who homesteaded the farm on which Mr. Archibald died. He married Miss Catherine Leatham in the Logan L.D.S. Temple October 20, 1897. For a number of years he and his family were engaged in dry farming in the Herbert district. He has been faithful in L.D.S. Church work, holding a number of responsible positions. For sixteen years he served as counselor to Henry C. Blunck in the presidency of the Herbert Branch.

His widow and the following children survive: Mrs. Frank Wyatt of Wellsville; Mrs. Margaret Ricks of Hibbard; Thomas W. Archibald of Rexburg, David W. Archibald of Salem, and Robert G. Archibald of Boise.

CARMA MAY WELCH was born August 30, 1930, in Rexburg, Idaho, a daughter of Birnice and Lilly May Leatham Ward. At the age of five her family moved to Park City, Utah, where her father was engaged in the mining industry. After moving to Caldwell, Idaho, where they resided one year, they returned to Park City which has since been the family home.

Carma obtained her elementary schooling in Caldwell and Park City and graduated from the Park City High School in 1948, where her high grades earned a scholarship for her.

She was baptized a member of the L.D.S. Church on December 19, 1938.

On June 17, 1948, Carma married Delmo Gene Welch, who was also a member of the Church. The couple received their endowments January 18, 1952, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple, where they had their marriage solemnized for time and all eternity.

Carma and Delmo are the parents of two children. (See page 683).

DELMO GENE WELCH was born June 15, 1927, in Park City, Utah, a son of Clarence Alfred Welch and Della Madoline Frazier Welch. He has resided in Park City all of his life.

His elementary schooling was obtained in the Park City district and he graduated from the Park City High School May 24, 1946.

Elmo enlisted in the U. S. Navy while a junior in high school on March 22, 1945. He received a medical discharge October 18, 1945, and returned to Park City where he finished his schooling.

After graduation he was employed by the Silver King Coalition Mines Company for seven years.

He was baptized a member of the L.D.S. Church on March 18, 1948. On June 17, 1948, Delmo married Carma May Ward, a sweetheart of his school days. This marriage was solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple on January 18, 1952. At this time they had their first son sealed to them also.

Delmo continued his church work and was ordained a priest on December 31, 1950, and an elder on October 14, 1951.

Their second son was born June 19, 1952 under the covenant. (See page 683).

At the present time, Delmo and his family are residents of Park City, where he is a teacher of the Explorer Scouts, an age group counselor in the Mutual Improvement Association and secretary of the Elders Quorum.

MARY LEATHAM CHANDLER, (No. 6 Page 672), daughter of James Allen and Johanna Jensen Leatham, was born June 22, 1921, at Plano, Idaho. She married Earl S. Chandler in Rexburg, Idaho, on November 20, 1937.

Mary has worked in some organization of the L.D.S. Church almost all of her married life; for a number of years in the Primary; as a bee-keeper; in the Mutual Improvement Association, and at present she is a teacher in the junior Sunday School, where she has worked for the past two years.

Mary, her husband and their family reside in Rexburg, Idaho.

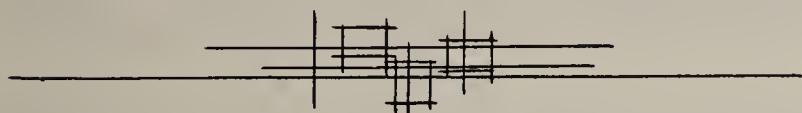

DORLA DEE RUDD, (No. 1 Page 676), daughter of George Lynn Rudd and Lucille Leatham, was born April 1, 1935, at Parker, Idaho.

An expert horsewoman, Dorla was queen of the Whoopee Rodeo in July of 1949. She was chosen by popular vote as she rode her beautiful horse in the Grand Entry, by members of the Upper Valley Wranglers. Her ability to ride is outstanding and her appearance and poise on that occasion was that of a real queen.

Dorla is now the wife of Laird Oleen Jenkins. The accompanying photo is of them.

They have two children. (See page 677).

SELENA LEATHAM ANDERSON HAMBLIN, (No. 2 Page 651), daughter of Barbara Spence Leatham and Caleb Victor Anderson, was born April 3, 1908, at Rexburg, Idaho.

She filled a mission for the L.D.S. Church to the Western States Mission between 1928 and 1930. Here she spent twenty-five months. It was during this period that she met Glen Obid Hamblin, to whom she was married April 1, 1931.

The couple made their home in Alpine, Arizona. Of this union, six children were born. (See page 674).

Selena has served as Sunday School teacher, primary teacher, counselor and president, and has been Relief Society President also for two years.

She states in writing of her husband: "It has been a joy and privilege to share and help in a small way with the responsibilities that have come to my husband, Glen. He was a Sunday School superintendent seven years, and counselor three years, as well as teacher. He was Bishop of the Alpine, Arizona, Ward six years. During this period, many prominent church people visited our home, including Bishop Marvin O. Ashton of the Presiding Bishopric, at the time of the dedication of the Alpine church building."

After moving to LaPlata, New Mexico, Glen served as bishop's counselor in the Red Mesa Ward for four years. Glen and Selena are now both in charge of the Junior Sunday School of the Farmington First Ward, working together.

Selena's family has brought much joy to their mother. Three sons are now actively holding the priesthood, a son-in-law has filled a mission, and her daughters are learning to assume their responsibilities.

LILLIAN BURNHAM LEATHAM, wife of Robert A. Leatham (No. 2 Page 663), met him and his four children (See page 665) in 1929 in Mesa, Arizona. Robert had moved there from Rexburg, Idaho, in 1925. When she met him, he was working as custodian of the Arizona L.D.S. Temple. His first wife, Alice, had died in Idaho nine years earlier.

Lillian and Robert were married in the L.D.S. Temple at Mesa on April 22, 1929. Two children have been born to them. (See page 669).

Robert's father, Alexander Leatham, was one of seven brothers, born in Scotland, all of whom joined the L.D.S. Church and migrated to Utah.

At the present time, Lillian and Robert have been married twenty-five years. Their son was married in the Temple (see page 669), and is now in the U. S. Air Force in Texas. Their daughter is married to a young Air Force Staff-Sergeant stationed at Williams Air Force Base near Mesa, Arizona. (See page 671).

In writing of her husband, Lillian states, "My husband is a good staunch Latter-day Saint. He has worked hard all of his life. I don't believe there are many persons better informed on gospel doctrine than he. He studies constantly, when he isn't occupied at fruit packing. He also studies Spanish in his spare time. He is a High Priest in the Second Ward of Mesa. We filled a two-year stake mission from 1947 to 1949, but had to resign on account of my own health. I teach literature in the Relief Society, and we go to the temple when we feel able."

CHLOE LEATHAM TAYLOR, (No. 2 Page 672), daughter of James Allen and Johanna Jensen Leatham, was born May 15, 1910 at Rexburg, Idaho.

She entered grade school at age seven, graduating from elementary school in 1924 as class valedictorian.

She loved dramatics and was chosen as leading lady in the high school plays for three successive years. She graduated from Edmunds High School in 1928, second highest in her class, and gave the prognostication speech to the graduates.

Chloe attended Ricks College from 1928 to 1930. She taught a Sunday School class at Colonial Heights L.D.S. Ward in Portland, Oregon, for sixteen months.

On December 22, 1933, she married Robert Bruce Taylor in Bend, Oregon. He now operates a jewelry store in Portland. The couple have three children. (See page 674).

BARBARA SPENCE LEATHAM ANDERSON, (No. 6 Page 613), daughter of Alexander and Jane Spence Leatham, was born April 6, 1881, in a pioneer home in Wellsville, Utah.

In 1884 the family moved to Rexburg, Idaho, and on August 22, 1885, Barbara's mother died leaving five motherless children in a strange unsettled land. There are memories of Indians coming to the home and of a frightened girl hiding under the bed. There was a time when disease swept through the district and Barbara saw a neighbor bury three children within a few days.

Educational opportunities were poor but she made the most of them. When quite young she began working away from home, often helping mothers of new babies. She became much loved for her labors among the sick.

On June 2, 1905, Barbara was married to Caleb Victor Anderson in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. Five children were born of this union. (See page 651) Her family and home were of paramount interest to Barbara. She was the kind of mother who had the time to make the doll dresses, fill the cookie jar, tell bed-time stories and teach baby lips to pray.

Her religion meant much to her and she served faithfully in many organizations of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Barbara died November 11, 1943, at Rexburg, Idaho, after a lingering illness.

RONALD BRUCE TAYLOR, (No. 1 Page 674), son of Robert Bruce Taylor and Chloe Leatham, was born July 19, 1936, at Boise, Idaho.

While attending the Kerns School in Portland, Oregon, he was Prince of the school for one year. He was twice awarded the Merit Certificate for his services as patrolman at that school.

He was also chosen Prince of the 39th Annual Rose Festival in 1947 at Portland, Oregon, a very distinctive honor to come to a young boy.

Ronnie graduated from the Cleveland High School, in Portland, Oregon, in 1954, and at present is a freshman at Portland State College.

CHESTER FAY LEATHAM, (No. 5 Page 672), son of James Allen and Johanna Jensen Leatham, was born October 4, 1916, at Rexburg, Idaho.

After graduating from Edmunds High School in 1934, Chester took a business course, then entered Brigham Young University at the start of the winter quarter in January of 1939.

Chester enlisted in the armed forces November 4, 1940, and was stationed at Fort McPherson, Georgia, with the 62nd Signal Battalion. Here he studied electricity and telephone line work. Later he took part in maneuvers in Louisiana, after which he was stationed for a time at Camp Blanding, Florida.

By the end of 1941, he was transferred to the Marine base at Quantico, Virginia. Here he became part of an outfit of 275 men made up of specialists in some kind of signal corps work from all over the country. Here Chester advanced in rank through corporal, sergeant, staff-sergeant, technical sergeant and master sergeant.

In 1942, he landed in Ireland with his outfit. Concerning his overseas service, Chester states the following in his own words:

"The plan was for us to arrive on the French coast and make a landing at a town named Dieppe, after Canadian troops had established a beachhead. However, the Canadians were practically killed to the last man, no foothold was secured, and so we did not go in. Instead we were sent to Belfast, Ireland, arriving there on August 19, as before indicated. In Ireland and Scotland we underwent almost continuous night invasion practices with the British Commandoes.

"We sailed from Liverpool, England, about November 1, 1942, with full combat equipment and organization, making landing on a beach near Arzew, North Africa, early in November. We followed troops through the North African campaign, Algeria, Tunis, Bizerte, etc., until the Germans were defeated, then made invasion on the beach near Licata, Sicily, about August, 1943.

"We made an invasion of Italy at Salerno, a seaport in southwest Italy during September of 1943, following through with troops to some river north of Naples where operations stalled. Our unit was withdrawn and sent back to Naples, from there to Glasgow, Scotland, thence to St. Austell, Cornwallshire, England. In England we again practiced invasion tactics, and participated in night maneuvers off the coast of France prior to invasion of Normandy. A German craft slipped into our fleet and quickly sank several of our LST's -- one loaded mostly with our company personnel, resulting in quite a few men being lost.

"We participated in the invasion of Normandy early in June, invading France by way of Utah Beach near Cherbourg, France, later following troops through northern France.

"My entire unit was relieved of duty early in November 1944; returned to Scotland briefly; then to the U. S. on the Queen Mary, arriving in New York about December 15, 1944. We went to Camp Pickett, Virginia, for issue of clothing, etc., then were ordered to proceed individually to Camp Callan, California, taking twenty days furlough enroute. I stopped briefly in Washington, D. C. and Chicago, then to Portland, Oregon, arriving there early in January of 1945. As I remember I was under orders to report to Camp Callan by January 20th.

"I suffered a relapse of malaria, which I had originally contracted in Sicily, also an inner ear infection, which resulted in my hospitalization at Camp Callan, California, until March 23, 1945.

"I received five battle stars for participating in five major invasions. On March 23, 1945, I was discharged with the grade of master sergeant."

It was during Chester's long period in the "fox holes" that the ear infection developed which eventually took him from the battle fields shortly before the end of the war in Europe.

In June 1945, Chester married Violet Allen, an English girl. She has now become an American citizen. On May 20, 1946, a daughter was born to this couple. (See page 678).

Chester now lives in Washington, D. C., where he is employed at office work.

LUCILLE LEATHAM RUDD, (No. 4 Page 672), daughter of James Allen and Johanna Jensen Leatham, was born August 23, 1914, at Rexburg, Idaho.

She graduated from high school in 1933, and on December 13, 1933, married G. Lynn Rudd in the Logan L.D.S. Temple.

Three daughters have been born of this union. (See page 676).

Lucille has been very active in various activities of the Church. She has served as bee-keeper in the Mutual Improvement Association, as a Primary teacher, as a Relief Society visiting teacher, as first and later second counselor in the Primary over a period of about six years. At the present time she is teacher trainer in Primary and also teaches in Junior Sunday School.

For a period she rode horseback with the Ladies Riding Club in Parker, Idaho, and was president of that organization for a while. She was also appointed as an officer in the Junior riding club.

NYLE BURNHAM LEATHAM, (No. 1 Page 669), son of Robert A. and Lillian Burnham Leatham, was born July 27, 1930, in Mesa, Arizona.

He attended public schools in Mesa and was reared in a manner typical of Latter-day Saint families, being active in the youth programs of the L.D.S. Church. He became an Eagle Scout, passed through the various stages of the Aaronic Priesthood program and was ordained an elder by his father.

Nyle graduated from high school in the fall of 1948 and was married to Leila Carol Jennings in the Mesa L.D.S. Temple. The photo of this couple was taken June 7, 1953.

The following two years, Nyle was employed as a draftsman in Mesa. Then the couple moved to the little mountain community of Payson, Arizona, where Nyle worked in a sawmill.

Here Nyle and Leila became active in the Latter-day Saint Church and at the same time developed a great love for the out-of-doors.

In November of 1951, Nyle started to fulfill his military obligation by enlisting in the U. S. Air Force. He trained as an aerial photographer first in Denver, Colorado, later transferring to Orlando, Florida, where he and his wife, Leila, reside at the present time.

Five of the seven sons and daughters of ALEXANDER and JANE SPENCE LEATHAM:

Part Eight

The Daniel Letham Branch

DANIEL LETHAM

Chapter 43

DANIEL LETHAM

REFLECTING ITS SILVERY SPIRES in the not too distant River Clyde, the little parish of Barony views its grandeur. Situated a few miles away on the south shore, it faces the majestic stream in the foreground. Behind and beyond the industrial spires and clay roofs, stretch the rolling, heathery meadows that are lost in the purple thistle of the bens and the glens. A long span of engineering genius, on whose surface clattering hoofs and carriage wheels echo and re-echo in the massive castle walls of Scottish nobility, connects its quietude with the busy, noisy thoroughfares of Glasgow proper, where one stands at the "Cross" and gazes in wonder and awe at such handiwork of the Royal Scots and Picts, who ages past prepared such a metropolis in the north of Britain. Here the ancient ships and barges wended their way up the Firth of the Clyde, loading or unloading their cargo.

Out of this industrious, thrifty posterity emerges the name LETHAM. It flourished and grew to become known among the heather and thistle as a name of merit and stability. Of this sturdy stock comes Daniel (Number 7, Page 13) of the Letham house, son of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham. Daniel's official birth certificate reads as follows: "Robert Letham, Collier of Hogganfield and Janet Urquhart have a lawful son, their child. Born the Twenty-fifth day of December, eighteen hundred and thirty-seven. Named Daniel. Duncun McNiven and William Buchanan, witnessed baptism the twenty-eighth day of January, eighteen hundred and thirty-eight. Parish of Barony in the county of Lanark, Scotland."

The life of Daniel Letham is a classic with his family. For nearly seventy-four years he lived among us in the simplicity and grandeur of honesty, uprightness, and trustworthiness. His faith in God was child-like. Never did he miss an opportunity to do good. He was a true friend to all, and possessed the artistic faculty of being able to express his deep convictions in rhyme and poetry. Well educated in engineering, he also was well-read and had a beautiful penmanship.

Schooled by Scottish masters and with ancestry of the pure blood of Israel, he was instilled with a venerable desire for truth and righteousness. At the age of 24, being converted to the Restored Gospel of Jesus Christ, he was baptized on June 13, 1861, in Hogganfield Lake, Lanarkshire, Scotland by Elder David M. Stewart and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints the same day by the same elder. Ten years after his baptism he emmigrated to the "Land of Promise" and thence to Salt Lake City, and Zion. He brought his beloved mother, Janet Urquhart, with him.

They arrived by train in Salt Lake City in 1871, making their home on Fourth West, between Third and Fourth South.

He proudly became a citizen of the United States of America --Territory of Utah on October 23, 1877. His citizenship papers read as follows: "Daniel Letham late of Scotland, in the Kingdom of Great Britain, at present of Salt Lake County, Territory of Utah, became a citizen of the United States of America on the Twenty-third day of October, eighteen hundred seventy-seven."

Four years later he met Harriet M. Britton, and they were married December 29, 1881. Harriet was born in the Territory of Utah, Salt Lake County on October 18, 1857. Her father, Richard Britton, was born in Birmingham, Warwickshire, England on January 22, 1811, and her mother, Elizabeth Lee, who also came to Zion, crossing the plains to Salt Lake City in 1852, was born in Birmingham, Warwickshire, England, December 11, 1819. The name Britton took its place among the Latter-Day Saints of Salt Lake City, Richard Britton, being the first gold-smith in the New Zion. He made the first gold chain of California gold, and the Sacrament Cups (with the aid of James Barlow) that were used in the old bowery on the Temple Square. When the great Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City was begun, it was Richard Britton who prepared the silver plate that was placed in the corner stone. Previously, it had been made by a man by the name of Jones. David McKenzie, being unable to engrave upon it in its crude state, sent it to Richard Britton, who gladly did his share of the work preparing it to be engraved upon.

Daniel and Harriet Britton Letham were the parents of eleven children. (See page 710). Daniel was ordained an elder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints on April 1, 1895, at Salt Lake City and was duly received as a member of the Ninth Quorum of Elders in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion. Nine days later on April 10, Daniel and Harriet went to the Salt Lake Temple, and had their first nine children sealed to them. One daughter and one son were subsequently born under the Covenant.

Daniel's literary works it is believed gives a better idea of him as a man and of the things he believed in than anything that might be written of him.

After the death of his first born son, Daniel, age one month, he wrote these lines:

My pilgrim feet have trod many a Strand
And clumb many a mountain wild,
And been dipped in many a rippling Stream
That was fringed with the flowerlet mild,
But my fairest flower from my side was torn
By death's ruthless hand in lifes early morn.

I have gazed on the arch of the azure blue
As it spanned o'er the vales of the free,
And looked on the Shean of a thousand stars
As they glittered down on the sea.

But the Star of my hope was torn from my side,
The gift of God by the hand of my Bride.

I stood on the deck of a gallant bark
When her canvas to shreads was driven
And looked on the white squall and waters,
In the face of a stormy heaven.

But I n'er was appalled by the grim monster wild,
Till he leveled his shafts on the heart of my child.

But why regret that he went away
From an orb that from God was driven
It's the wickedist planet I've heard men say
That revolves in the blue vault of heaven.

He's a gem that adorned Jehovah's throne,
And the Lord my God but claimed His own.

HARRIET M. BRITTON LETHAM

A favorite poem of his was 'Weary Toil'. "Often we would hear him repeat all or parts of it," stated his daughters.

WEARY TOIL

This life is full of weary toil,
 Preplexity and care,
 Design'd as leaven to the soul,
 And daily brought to bear,
 On man in whatsoever sphere,
 And many will be tried,
 As gold that hath the seventh time
 Been cleans'd and purified.

And fashion'd like to potter's clay
 Bright oracles of grace,
 Appointed by Omnipotence,
 To fill some honor'd place
 And go as lights into the world,
 Submissive to His will,
 Their sacred vows and covenants
 Observing to fulfill.

Proclaiming that the day is near,
 By prophets long foretold,
 When Israel will gather'd be
 Into that glorious fold,
 Where death and sorrow cannot come,
 Where tribulations cease,
 Where reigns supreme the Son of God
 Upon the Throne of Peace.

He wrote these three verses to put in some books the family were giving to a missionary before his departure into the mission field:

"BOOK OF MORMON"

Our prophet hath upon you called,
 Glad tidings to proclaim.
 I pray, the call to magnify,
 May be your constant aim.

"DOCTRINE & COVENANTS"

Clasp this treasure to your heart,
 Receive it as a friend;
 'Twill aid you in your efforts,
 The Gospel to defend.

"BIBLE"

To be efficient in the field
 In faith appeal to heaven,
 To all who ask in righteousness,
 Strength will be freely given.

Daniel loved his brothers and sisters. He and his brother John Leatham corresponded regularly. The following is the post script of a letter Daniel wrote to John, dated March 26, 1907:

P.S. I have been looking over a few of Orson F. Whitney's Poems and sacred songs; and in my opinion, his writings in that line are far ahead of many of the noted ancient; and modern Poets; and I am deeply impressed that he is one of the GREAT POETS of the present age. -- Now let me relate a dream I dreamed the other night. Of course I wish you to take it for granted that lots of people dream with their eyes open. -- However my latest dream is as follows:

I thought I was writing a letter: somewhat late in the Evening: after my Family had retired for the night; and who should usher Himself into my presence but the Scottish Poet, Robert Burns; and He drew a golden tablet from His pocket, and turned the Index leaf toward me; and there His name blazed as it were in letters of fire; and I broke the silence by saying: Illustrious Bard I'm at your call: And he drew near the table where I sat and asked the following question:

Burns: Dear Friend, does modern Authors say,
Who is the Greatest Bard Today?

Letham: Poetic Seer, permit me say,
Experts conven'd the other day,
And undertook the trying task,
To solve the question that you ask.
And as inspir'd they came out flat
And gave their joint opinion that
With few exceptions since the fall
The Utah Bard excels them all.

Burns: Who may this Utah Genuis be?

Letham: Orson F. Whitney, and,
Styled by Some, the Modern Milton;
Byron; Moore; and your Honored Self Combined.

Burns: What of Shakespeare?

Letham: Experts and Authors think it best
At present, to, let Shakespeare rest.

At this point Burns, made a momentary pause; and breathed a blessing upon me; Hence made His exit, like unto the disappearing of a shadow-- and I awoke, and found it was near the wee short 'oure ayont the Twal.

(ACROSTIC)

On Zions Hill Celestial Light
Reveals the Will of Heaven
Supreme above all other lights
Or blessings to be given
No lucre, art of princely sway.

Fame blased the world o'er

Will buy the Gospel Blessings that High Heaven hath in store.
In work and deed the Master has
The plan of life made plain,
No man can find another way
Eternal bliss to gain
Yea: Jesus said, I am the way!

Daniel's family always points with pride to the fact that the "Juvenile Instructor" of November 1, 1907, printed one of their father's poems. Charles J. Thomas composed the music to accompany this poem, and it was sung by the Salt Lake Temple Choir in the Temple Annex at one of their meetings.

ZION'S STANDARD IS RAISED

Zion's standard is rais'd, her banner unfurl'd
 Her calling is peace, and good will to the world.
 In vision the Prophets, her glory beheld,
 Which all other glories and callings excell'd.

Her mountains and valleys were held in reserve,
 The Purpose and will of JEHOVAH to serve,
 That His chosen might have a place of retreat,
 Secure and exalted IMMANUEL to meet.

And herald the Gospel, restor'd from on high,
 Commission'd by SHILOH on whom we rely
 For faith, strength and wisdom, His message to bear
 Throughout the dark Nations, engulf'd in despair.

Exorting all kindreds and tongues to embrace
 His will as reveal'd, ere the doorway of Grace
 SHALL CLOSE, as the ARK was closed to rescue,
 And save from destruction the faithful and true.

These are but a few of the many poems Daniel Letham wrote to his friends and relatives. He also delighted in making and playing the violin. His daughters in reminiscence state, 'Well do we remember the traditional Sunday dinners of a savory roast, steaming vegetables and mother's delicious pies. Father would play old Scottish tunes on the violin while his youngest daughter accompanied him at the piano. Dinner call! Father would remark before the prayer, 'It is so good to have you all together'."

Daniel's work in later years took him to the Utah State Penitentiary where he was employed by the State of Utah as a guard. His death came on February 23, 1911. From a local newspaper came this clipping: "Funeral of Daniel Letham --A large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral of the late Daniel Letham, veteran guard of the state penitentiary, held at the Sugar House Ward Sunday afternoon. Practically the entire guard force of the prison attended. The speakers included Bishop John M. Whitaker, Governor William Spry, John R. Smith, Hamilton G. Park, William Thompson, John Varley and others. Interment was made in the city cemetery. The pall bearers were guards of the state prison, including W. D. Davis, John Varley, A. G. Dyer, John G. Armstrong, George Johnson and H. C. Taggart. William Lawrence offered the opening prayer, C. Alston the closing. The Sugar House choir and a quartet furnished the music."

Only three daughter now survive this valiant man, and they jointly testify: "To our great heritage, we the living children of Daniel Letham and Harriet Britton, bow with reverence and humility, proud in calling them our parents--Elizabeth Letham Sorenson, Margaret Letham Thunell, Mary Letham Randall."

ELIZABETH LETHAM SORENSON

ELIZABETH ANN LETHAM SORENSON (No. 2 Page 710), daughter of Daniel and Harriet Matilda Britton Letham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, August 22, 1883. "Libby", as her intimate friends call her, spent her childhood days in the Sugarhouse area of Salt Lake Valley, attending elementary schools there, and later studying at the L.D.S. High School in Salt Lake City.

At the age of eight years she was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and later in life received her endowments in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. She has ever been faithful to the principles of the restored Gospel of Jesus Christ, and in addition to her many other duties frequently manages to find time to do vicarious work for her dead kinsmen and friends in the Salt Lake and Logan L.D.S. Temples.

In her youth Libby gave expression to her desire to serve mankind by going through the extensive studies and exacting training required to become a trained nurse. This obsession to serve materialized into full fruition when, in 1905, she graduated and received her R. N. certificate. Thereafter she devoted seven full years and a whole life of part-time service in hospitals and private homes, serving her fellowmen in her chosen profession as a Registered Nurse.

She became the wife of Guy Erwin Sorenson in 1909 and has lived in Salt Lake City most of her married life. (See page 711). For a time they lived in Idaho, but returned to Salt Lake City to answer the patriotic call of their country during World War I. Guy was called into the armed forces and Libby's call was to serve as an army nurse. However, before she was inducted, the Armistice was signed and there was no further requirement for her services.

An active L.D.S. Church worker, Libby has served in the Presidency of the Y.W.M.I.A. in L.D.S. Wards at Sugarhouse, Bingham Canyon, Utah, and Leslie, Idaho. She has served four years as a class teacher and a visiting teacher in her ward Relief Society. On one occasion before her marriage, the Sugarhouse Ward Sunday School presented her with a book as a token of appreciation for her service in successfully teaching the same class for eight years.

In civic affairs she has carried her share of responsibility having served as: Red Cross Section Supervisor in the collecting of funds; a registrar for seven years in her political district; and has filled every office including that of captain in the Lincoln and Sugarhouse chapters of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers organization.

While she has not been blessed with children of her own, Libby has mothered and reared six of her husband's brother's children, making a real home for them and guiding their footsteps in the pathway of truth and light.

She has always been valiant in upholding the principles of truth. She has kept close to her Church and its teachings. She has spent her time and talents in the service of her fellowmen, which is tantamount to serving God.

For a number of years Libby has been supervising some of the catering service of Snelgrove's Ice Cream Company, Salt Lake City; at weddings and socials, and through her efficiency, trustworthiness and business acumen along this endeavor, her services are appreciated by her employer as well as by those whom she serves.

Libby has served many years as vice president of the Letham or Leatham Family Association and has been especially active in gathering and distributing old family photographs amongst her relatives.

Always willing to give of her mature wisdom and sound judgment on the spiritual side of life, Libby stands as a pillar of strength in her sphere of activity amongst her father's family. Libby and her husband live at 865 Wilmington Avenue, Salt Lake City.

Bingham Canyon, Utah
29 December 1884

(Lines to My Daughter Elizabeth)

I have your letter Libby Dear
I've read it o'er and o'er
And while I read it yet again
Me thinks I see still more.
I see Thee in your little chair
Awriting to your Pa.
I see Thee draw the little marks
Assisted by your Ma.

And I see Thee in the evenings
So frolicksome and gay.
At ring around and roses too
I see Thee dance and play

And every morning when I wake
I hear Thy sweet hello,
And see Thee hunt your little hood
Awalking for to go.

And I hear Thee calling papa
Nor shall you call in vain
For I'm coming home to Libby
Upon the evening train.
So good-night Dear - God bless Thee,
And Angels still be near
To watch and guard and help Thee through A Happy Good New Year.

Chapter 45

MARY CAROLINE LETHAM RANDALL

MARY CAROLINE LETHAM RANDALL (No. 10 Page 710), daughter of Daniel and Harriet Britton Letham, was born May 20, 1895, in Salt Lake City, Utah. She was reared in a home where love and service prevailed and spent a happy, useful youth. She received her elementary education in the Salt Lake City public schools and later attended business college.

She married Leslie Pratt Randall July 3, 1919, in Salt Lake City. They are the parents of two children, viz: Leslie Claude Randall born the 25th of July, 1922, in Abilene, Texas, and Margaret Louise Randall, born May 8, 1927, in Houston, Texas. (See page 724). Mary has been active in L.D.S. Church work, having been Primary Ward President and Primary Stake President in Oakland California; Theology teacher in Relief Society, Relief Society President, Relief Society Stake Counselor and Genealogical Stake Counselor -- all in the Portland L.D.S. Stake, Portland, Oregon.

Mary has a very artistic nature. She has a diploma in ceramics and studied for a year at the Art Students League of New York City in portrait painting. Mary paints a lot in oils. "The Sacred Grove," one of her canvasses, is a favorite among the family.

Gracious, wise and kind, with a strong active testimony of the truthfulness of the restored Gospel of Jesus Christ, Mary goes quietly about doing good, teaching truth and pointing out the way of life and salvation by example as well as by precept. Her deeds of charity are legion and the world will have been made a better place in which to live through her life's activities. She has been a bulwark of strength over the years to her husband, who successfully serves as an executive of a large automobile company.

Ever willing to help in obtaining her various family genealogical records, she spends many hours at much cost in searching the library books in the various cities where she lives and in compiling these records. Mary and her husband are living in New York City at this time.

On the birthday of her sister, Margaret, in 1953, Mary wrote these lines:

REMEMBERING

As I turn back the leaves of my album
Fond memories I can see--
Of the Happy days of my childhood
That were spent at my Mother's knee.
I can see her now in the doorway
With her apron and high button shoes
Her hair piled high on the top of her head
And a smile that was hard to lose.
But she never complained when times were bad
And her cross was heavy to bear
And was always ready and willing
Our troubles and joys to share.
Remember the pickled peaches
She made with the cinnamon sticks,
The butter she churned for the week-end
And the home-made bread she'd mix?
It all brings back fondest memories
As I wipe away a tear.
The memories of my childhood
The things that I hold dear.

Remember the dolls you sold me, Mike?
As you swallowed a lump in your throat,
And boldly announced you had outgrown them for good.
No regrets--not even remote.
I paid you a dime for the whole shebang,
Which included the dolls and dresses,
And the beautiful hats you had made by hand,
To cover their pretty tresses.
Remember the orchard in blossom?
'Twas a beautiful sight to see.
The big tree in the corner was known as Maggie's Tree
And the stately one beside it belonged to Brother Lee.
The little tree with the crooked trunk
And branches all aschew
Is the one that brings fond memories
As the one that belonged to me.

Remember Toss and her puppies?
And Lee's family of little White Mice?
And his dog that he hitched to the dump-cart?
And other things Mother called vice?
There was Blindy, and Blacky and Whity and Speck
And the little brown Banty Hen.
And the old dog house that Father built
That was known as the Den.

The stream that ran thru the Orchard,
And the corn-patch on the hill,
The old chicken coop and the round house
And the well water cool and still.

The Apple pit near the Shanty
That was opened on Thanksgiving Day,
That brought forth a tangy odor,
You could get in no other way.
The fragrance that came in the Spring Time
From wild rose and apple trees,
The birds that perched on the Mulberry boughs
To sing to the April breeze.

Remember Mark and Maudie?
From the Castle on the hill
They were not allowed to play with us,
It was against their mother's will.
But when she'd leave on errands
With old Dobbin and the shay
They would hurry thru the orchard
A while with us to stay.
With eager eyes they would watch the trail
For the tyrant's return,
And then amid the frolicking
We'd hear them sadly say,
"We'd best be off to yonder hill
Here comes the one horse shay."

Remember Brother Hemsley with his bible under arm?
With long white beard and derby hat
And ever ready charm.

He'd have a different pardner each time he came to call,
Sometimes Brother Thopmson,
And sometimes Brother Ball.

In the shadows of the hanging lamp
In the parlor nice and neat,
He would tell us of the Gospel
And the scripture he'd repeat.

Then we'd all get up together with Father in the lead
And bring our chairs together a circle to complete.

And as we knelt in silence
He would pray to God on high
To keep us thru the coming month
With ever loving eye.

The Earth with all her beauties
Cannot compare it seems
To the memories of the years gone by,
My childhood fondest dreams.

Now Father - Mother - and Nettie - and Lee
Have gone to their home above
And all that is left, are just WE THREE Beth - and Mike - and Me.

--Mary Letham Randall

Chapter 46

OTHER DESCENDANTS OF DANIEL LETHAM

DARYL LEE LETHAM (No. 2 Page 722), eldest son of Andrew Lee Letham and Dialeth Josephine Tuft, was born in Centerfield, Sanpete County, Utah, on the 26th of August, 1927.

He came to Salt Lake City while still a small boy and in 1945 graduated from South High School. Wishing to further his education, he attended the University of Utah where he received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Electrical Engineering in 1950. His education did not stop here because by 1952 he had earned his Master of Science degree in Physics. The Bell Telephone Company offered him a position, which he accepted, and in 1952 he began to work in their laboratories in New York City. Daryl still works (1954) for the Bell Telephone laboratories and is also studying for his Doctorate degree.

DANIEL H. LETHAM (No. 3 Page 722), son of Andrew Lee Letham and Dialeth Josephine Tuft, was born September 8, 1930, in Centerfield, Utah

Daniel received his elementary education in Salt Lake City, Utah, where his parents and family were then living. He graduated from South High School in 1948 and attended the University of Utah for a year in 1949.

Daniel married Darlene Betty Van Leeuwen in Salt Lake City, Utah. They are the parents of two children, a daughter, Johanna Lee Letham, born August 26, 1949, and a son, Keith Daniel Letham, born June 10, 1951. (See page 723).

Daniel, a licensed plumber, is at present conducting his business in Salt Lake City.

LESLIE CLAUDE RANDALL (No. 1 Page 724), son of Leslie Pratt and Mary Letham Randall, was born July 25, 1922, in Abilene, Texas.

Leslie graduated from high school in Portland, Oregon, in 1941. He was active in student body functions, and during his senior year held the office of Senior Class President.

Leslie enrolled in the University of Oregon, which he attended for a year before his education was interrupted to answer the call to serve his country during the second World War. He was with the United States Army from October 1942 to May 1946.

While in the Army he met and married Jean Frances Segglin on December 23, 1944, at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland. They have been blessed with three children. Their son, David Leslie Randall, was born on October 26, 1945. Their daughters are: Diana Jean Randall, born May 19, 1948, and Linda Ann Randall, born August 31, 1949. (See page 725).

Leslie, in 1946, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. A. R.

He again enrolled in the University of Oregon in 1946 (Extension Division) and in 1947 studied in the School of Law at that University.

After finishing school in 1948, he started working for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. By 1949 he was an Assistant District Manager, and in 1950 he became a store manager in Phoenix, Arizona.

Leslie is also active in civic affairs. He is a member of the American Legion. He was a member and director of the Hood River, Oregon, Chamber of Commerce during 1948-49 and affiliated with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

MARGARET LOUISE RANDALL THIESSEN (No. 2 Page 724), daughter of Leslie Pratt and Mary Letham Randall, was born in Houston, Texas, May 8, 1927.

While attending the University of Oregon in 1949 she met Dale Geddes Thiessen. This campus romance was followed by their marriage on February 18, 1950, in Portland, Oregon.

Upon leaving school Dale was employed by the J. C. Penney Company. One of his first assignments was in Nampa, Idaho. Here two lovely daughters were born to Margaret and Dale. The first girl, Catherine Mary Thiessen, was born on the 25th of February, 1951. Almost a year later, the second daughter, Vicky Lynn Thiessen, was born on February 12, 1952.

Margaret, with her husband, Dale, established their home in Klamath Falls, Oregon, when Dale was assigned to the J. C. Penney store in that city. Here their third daughter, Sharon Lee Thiessen, was born November 4, 1953. (See page 726).

Margaret and her husband are active members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. On June 11, 1951, they had the privilege of going through the House of the Lord (Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple). There they received their own endowments and had their marriage solemnized, being sealed to each other as well as having their first daughter sealed to them, for time and all eternity.

AGNES LEATHAM

Chapter 47

AGNES LEATHAM HUNTER

Her airs, her manners, all who saw admired,
Courteous, though coy, and gentle, though retired;
The joy of youth and health her eyes displayed;
And ease of heart her every look convey'd.

-- Crabbe

AGNES LEATHAM (No. 8 Page 13), born October 15, 1840, in Blackfaulds, Lanarkshire, Scotland, was the daughter of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart. Her kindred were without exception Scottish by blood. No evidence that any of them rose to fame as great artists, musicians, or sculptors has been preserved to their posterity. On the other hand, records give assurance of their faith, honesty and integrity, qualities which characterize honorable God-fearing men and women.

Her home, a thatched-roof cottage, surrounded by purple and white heather-covered hills, was humble and unpretentious, yet withal it bespoke cleanliness and thrift. A footpath leading to the whitened door sill was bordered by a hedge of pink and white daisies, bespeaking culture and love of the beautiful.

Brothers and sisters she had many. There were Barbara, Robert, Janet, James, John, Alexander, Daniel, Andrew, William, David and George. Agnes was the eighth child, the third and youngest daughter. (See page 13.)

In her childhood she was delicate and keenly sensitive with a lovable personality. Her deep-set brown eyes were probably her greatest point of attraction. Even in her early youth she had a high sense of devotion to duty. An assigned chore was always as well done as was possible for her to do it.

On one occasion her father, who loved her gentle, obedient nature, praised her and gave her a half-crown for her diligence in basting the meat on the spit until it was perfectly cooked.

In their religious faith, her parents were devout members of the Scottish church. Thus as their children, who were twelve in number, grew they were carefully trained to habits of industry, economy and strict morality. The Sabbath was a sacred day in their home. On Saturday, the house was put in order, the hearth and door sill whitened, as was the custom in their village; "Sunday clothes" were brushed and pressed, shoes were shined, and placed in an orderly row, and food made ready, all in preparation that the Lord's day might be kept holy, as He had commanded.

Simply religious, kindly in manner and speech, refined and gracious in their social life, this family created an atmosphere which was fertile soil for the planting of the seeds of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ.

The gospel did reach this good home. In 1837 Heber C. Kimball was called by the Prophet Joseph Smith to proclaim the gospel in the British Isles. It was not until early in 1840 that Orson Pratt was called to proselyte in Scotland among its people known for their sterling qualities of integrity and industry. The exact time the elders taught the gospel in the Letham home is not known to us, but Robert, the eldest son, the first to receive the glorious message, was baptized October 3, 1843. John was baptized in 1846, James in 1848, Alexander in 1849; and so in succeeding years, nine out of the ten living members of this family were baptized members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Several of these fine young men not only received the truth, but they wanted to share it, and soon became missionaries in their native land.

Agnes, who was one of the younger members of the family, listened to her brothers discuss the principles and doctrines of the restored gospel, and the Spirit of the Lord rested upon her and bore witness that what they said was true. She went to church with them on the Sabbath. Dressed in their best, with their Bibles in hand, they walked seven miles each way to hear the Elders further explain the plan of salvation.

At the age of sixteen, with a testimony of the truth in her heart, she asked for baptism and was baptized December 20, 1856, by John Airmet and confirmed December 21, 1856, by Lachlan McFadgen.

Soon after her conversion and baptism, like her brothers, Robert, John and James who had gone to America, she had a longing desire to gather with the Saints in Zion. Over a period of years this longing never left her and often she talked with her mother about it. Her mother, not in sympathy, tried to persuade her to abandon the idea.

Many times Agnes listened to her mother tell of the hardships to be encountered and the privations to be endured in the new country. Failing in this argument, her mother said, with emotion in her voice (for she hated to be parted from her youngest daughter whom she loved), "We'll send you to school in Edinburgh if you'll be satisfied not to go." Even the thought of this great opportunity did not change her mind. Seeing her determination, her mother said: "Well, if your brother Alexander ever makes up his mind to go, you may go with him." This promise she cherished in her heart.

Alexander was on a local mission at the time and there seemed little likelihood that he would ever leave his loved Scotland. After his release from his mission, however, he decided to gather with the Saints. Her mother's promise was kept; as Agnes knew it would be.

The time came for Agnes's leaving, and under the tender and affectionate care of her brother Alexander, she, twenty-three years of age and in full bloom of her youthful beauty, set out on the long journey to the land of her dreams, -- America, Utah, and the Saints. Her mother, now fully reconciled, placed on her finger a gold ring, a symbol of her love. At the same time she gave her a Bible saying: "Keep it ever near to you, my daughter, and abide its sacred teachings."

"I will cherish it always," she responded with sincerity, "and I'll mind all the good counsel you and my father have given me."

With this promise she left her home and loved parents, her heart no doubt aching with a mixed feeling of regret, some apprehensions, but with hope.

The short journey from her home to Liverpool, England, from which port she was to sail, was no doubt filled with secret excitement. From Liverpool, she and her brother Alexander embarked on the packet ship "Cynosure" Saturday, May 30, 1863, with J. Williams as captain. There were seven hundred seventy-five emigrant Saints on board. The company was organized by Elder George Q. Cannon, who was at that time presiding over the British Mission. David M. Stuart was appointed president of the company, with J. S. Gleason and W. G. Smith as his counselors. Elder E. Edward Cliff, from America, who had filled a mission in Scotland, was returning to his home in Zion, and the following local elders who had been laboring as local missionaries in the ministry in the British Isles, were in the company: Robert Sands, William Hapwood, John Gibbs, W. Pitts, Alexander Leatham, E. Marwick, and William H. Parkes.

When the ship was thirty miles from Liverpool, on May 31, 1863, at 8:30 a. m., David M. Stuart wrote a letter to President George Q. Cannon. Speaking of the company, he said: "A good, contented, quiet spirit prevails in their midst, and songs of Zion and Israel are reverberating from stem to stern of the ship. Grumblers and discontented ones do not appear to have embarked on this vessel, such is the spirit of unity amongst them. They do not seem to dread sea-sickness, but look forward to it as a natural consequence which they will endeavor to endure with fortitude and forbearance, one to another."

"Your remarks and instructions to them at the organization on Friday last, seem to have sunk deep into their hearts, and they are already practising the same."

The long, tedious journey, which took seven weeks, was ended July 19, 1863, when the ship "Cynosure" arrived in New York harbor.

A company of Emigrant Saints, most of whom had crossed the Atlantic Ocean, left Florence, Nebraska, August 10, 1863. Thomas E. Ricks was captain of the company. No roster of the four hundred Saints was filed with the report. However, it is most probable that Agnes and her brother Alexander were in this company.

The journey across the plains was not unlike many other treks that preceded it. The company, as was the custom, was divided into hundreds, fifties, and tens, with an officer over each division. Hamilton G. Park, who later became Agnes's life-long friend, was in charge of her division of the company.

Travel was made less arduous by good organization. A bugle sounded the hour for all important activities of the day. The presiding officers were usually kind. The people, as a rule, obedient, uncomplaining and self-sacrificing. Most of those who were at all able, walked every step of the thousand miles.

Agnes was young and attractive, always anxious to make life less difficult for others. Her gentle kindness won for her many friends. Often when her tired feet almost refused to carry her one step farther someone would say, "Will you ride a spell with us, Agnes?" Her gracious "Thank you," seemed compensation enough and all were happy.

One of the unique and interesting features of the journey to her was the frequent sight of great herds of buffalo. The strange, roaring noise of these wild animals, as they galloped awkwardly by with heads down and tails in the air, was both deafening and frightening.

Agnes loved children and they loved her. As soon as camp was made the children would gather around her and cry: "Oh, a story! A story!" With a smile she would reply, "What kind of story would you like today?" Almost in one voice, they would answer, "Tell us a true story."

One day while the company rested at the noon-day camp, Agnes, with two eager listeners, sat in the shade of a tree and she began her story as all good stories begin, "Once upon a time."

The day was warm and they were all weary, so it was no wonder that, with the story ended, two little girls with their heads in her lap were fast asleep. Brief thoughts of her home in bonny Scotland, and then the story-teller also was asleep. Unnoticed by the moving company, they were left behind.

It was comfortable and cool, there in the shade -- no jostling or creaking of the wagon, so they slept on. They did not know how long. Perhaps it was the stillness that finally awakened them. When they opened their eyes there was not a wagon in sight. They were frightened. What could they do? The children's tears were soon dried by kindly hands. Then kneeling with them on the lonely road, Agnes prayed for help.

In the company ahead, Alexander, always watchful and protective of his sister, missed her. The mother who believed their little girls were safe with Agnes became fearful and excited. But in less than minutes Alexander had mounted a horse and was on his way back over the dusty road to find the lost ones. Agnes, with the faith and the true pioneer spirit, took each child by the hand and with heads high they followed the road over which the wagon train had passed. It wasn't long until they saw a cloud of dust in the distance. "Someone is coming for us," the children shouted. "Yes," Agnes observed with confidence in her gentle voice, "You see, children, our Heavenly Father hears and answers our prayers when we put our trust in Him."

When the camp was made that night and prayers were said there were many thankful hearts that the lost ones were found and safely returned.

The journey with all its joys and hardships was to Agnes interesting and rewarding. There was great rejoicing when this weary but happy band of emigrants arrived in Great Salt Lake, October 4, 1863.

Among the happiest were Agnes and her brother Alexander, who were warmly greeted by their elder brother, James, and his wife, Margaret, in whose home they found a real Scottish welcome.

After a visit with her brothers, Robert and John, and their wives, who lived in Wellsville, Agnes went to work on Brigham Young's farm, where her brother Alexander was also employed.

One day while she was at her work, Brigham Young observed her carrying a large bucket of milk, which was perhaps beyond her strength. He noticed her refinement and the gentility of her manner. He asked to see her and said, "I am afraid your work here is much too hard for you. There will be a place for you in the Lion House, if you wish." So to the Lion House she went and there found a real home.

Her work as dining-room girl was pleasant and profitable, for here she was associated with not only the fine mothers and members of their families but she met the many distinguished guests who visited that home.

Her always lady-like appearance and gracious manner won for her the love of everyone in the home. The daughters of the President, who were about her own age, became her good friends and she was invited to join in their social activities. She rode in the family carriage, attended the best plays in the Salt Lake Theatre, and enjoyed the jolly sleigh rides and picnics. The privilege most appreciated, however, was the opportunity of joining in their family devotions morning and evening.

The Lion and Bee Hive Houses

It was at the Lion House that she met James Hunter, a forthright young man, one of her brother Alexander's friends. Their love was spontaneous and mutual, and on June 14, 1869, they were married in the Old Endowment House by Daniel H. Wells. Their first home was as humble as were the homes at that time.

In July 1876 they bought a piece of land near the Old Fort and built a very nice adobe house which was their home, with improvements and additions, as long as they both lived. Nine children brought joy to this good home, eight daughters and one son.

"What though the rooms were wee?
Oh, kind hearts were dwelling there,
And bairnies fu'o'glee."

What a wonderful home! It was here that Agnes taught her children to pray, study, work and play; to be honest, industrious, and fair.

"The auld hame, the auld hame --
Deserted though ye be,
There ne'er can be a new hame
Will seem sae grand to me."

The Old Hunter Home in Salt Lake City.

What a wonderful Mother!
She was the heart of the home with her always kind and genial husband supporting her in all her loving services.

Agnes was so serene in her faith that she always had the assurance that all would be well. When her children were ill she would say with confidence: "Ask Father in Heaven to bless you and make you well, and you'll be better in the morning." And it seemed always to be so.

Thus she established faith in the hearts of her children. In fact, all problems and trials of her life were met with the same faith and fortitude.

So often in conversation or in giving counsel to her children, she would express some well-meaning truth by using a quotation from the Bible or other scripture. She gleaned much of her wisdom from Proverbs and Ecclesiastes. She loved the Psalms and knew many of them by heart. The sayings of the Savior were often on her lips. She read the Bible daily. Even in her later years, when her eyesight was failing, she persisted in reading the scriptures with the aid of a hand magnifying glass.

She encouraged her children to read the Bible aloud, and when they stumbled over words and difficult sentences, to their utter amazement she would supply the word or finish the thought or even the paragraph from memory.

Bits of wisdom such as these are often recalled by her children, always prefaced with, "As Mother used to say":

"The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good."

"Fear God and keep His commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

"Let your first 'Good Morning' be to your Heavenly Father."

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness."

"All things work together for good to them that love God."

The neighbors loved Agnes and would often come to her for counsel when they were in trouble or sorrow. Her words so gently and reassuringly spoken always sent them away comforted and blessed. "This, too, will pass," she would say.

"As certain as stars at night,
Or dawn after darkness,
Inherent as the lift of the blowing grass.
Whatever your despair or your frustration,
This, too, will pass."

The Gospel of Jesus Christ was everything in her life. Faith, so firmly implanted in her heart in her youth, never wavered and the men chosen by God to direct His affairs on earth were, to her, holy men.

Her loyalty to duty knew no bounds. As a visiting teacher in the Relief Society for over twenty years, she was ever faithful and dependable. Her work for twenty-five years in the Primary Association was characterized by love and patience. She felt the need of caring for the children during the summer months, and held meetings with them in groups in the shade of the meeting house or in her own garden.

She enjoyed temple work and redeemed hundreds of her own and her husband's ancestors.

Hers was a life of love and devotion to her church, family and friends. She loved her brothers and they loved her. Their frequent visits in her home always resulted in earnest conversations on Gospel subjects, for they all loved the Gospel as they loved their lives.

Her cherished family, of whom she was justly proud, -- all faithful members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, are: Janet Urquart, James Alexander, Margaret Ann, Agnes LeNora, Barbara Leatham, Edith Elizabeth, Mary Leatham, Chloe, and Lillie Belle. (See page 766).

Her beloved husband died January 27, 1914, at 69 years of age. During seven years of widowhood, Agnes was sustained and comforted by her unwavering faith and assurance that in God's own time she would be united with her loved and devoted companion.

The end came December 14, 1921, just after her eighty-first birthday. Quietly she fell asleep, her children and Aunt Margaret Irvine Leatham, her life-long friend, by her bedside. And so she left loving hearts not sorrow burdened, but filled with golden memories, her wonderful life a testimony that "All things work together for good to them that love God."

JAMES HUNTER

(HUSBAND of AGNES LEATHAM HUNTER)

AN ELDERLY SCOTSWOMAN, speaking on the merits of Scotland, said: "Whenever you meet a guid Scotsman, ye aye meet an honest man." James Hunter was a guid Scotsman and an honest man. He was a man of excellent morals; and he endeavored by example to instill into the minds of his children faith in God and every principle of honesty, honor and virtue.

He was tender-hearted, forgiving and charitable, never speaking ill of anyone. He was a lover of nature, of flowers, of beauty. He loved his fellow-men and had the rare gift of making friends, for he could appreciate the good in others. He loved his dog, his gun, his fishing rod, the mountains and streams and the great outdoors. He had a keen sense of humor and could tell an appropriate story on any occasion.

He had the power to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances or discouragements and never left a task unfinished. He was good and great, the result of rugged pioneer experiences which began at the early age of six years.

James Hunter was born in the humbler ranks of life. While his mother's people and his father's people were not wealthy, they were rich in uprightness and Christian devotion, which made them respected members of the communities where they lived.

James's parents were Robert Hunter and Ann (or Agnes) Hunter. They were born in neighboring towns. They were not blood kin though their surnames were the same. These good people had eight children, three daughters and five sons. James, the only son who lived to maturity, was born in Clackmannan, Clackmannanshire, Scotland, October 11, 1845.

At the time of James's birth, the restored gospel of Jesus Christ was being preached in the neighborhood where his parents lived. His mother, who was a devout member of the Relief Kirk of Scotland, heard the gospel and believed its divine message and was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in 1847. The next year, in 1848, his father and his three sisters were baptized.

On the 4th of September, 1850, his mother with her four children, Margaret, Janet, Elizabeth and James, left Liverpool, England, on a sailing vessel : "North Atlantic" for America. His father was to follow later. After eight weeks on the ocean they landed in New Orleans, November 1, 1850. From New Orleans they went to a small mining town called Gravies. While preparing for their journey across the plains, his mother died during the cholera epidemic. Thus in a strange land at the early age of six years, James began his life as a pioneer without the loving protection of parents.

He was a small, delicate, good-natured child, full of fun, never obstinate, with the rare ability to adapt himself to circumstances and conditions.

After his mother's death, James was taken into the home of his eldest sister, Margaret, who had married David Love, and with them and his two sisters, Janet and Elizabeth, he left St. Louis in March, 1852, for the long trek across the plains. They arrived in the Salt Lake Valley August 13, 1852.

James continued to live in the home of his sister, Margaret Hunter Love, sharing all the poverty and hardships of those early days. He had little opportunity for formal education. But while he herded cows in the fields and meadows, cleared sagebrush on the hillside, chopped down trees and rolled logs in the mountains, getting his shins and feet bruised, often suffering from cold and hunger, he learned important lessons of life. He found sermons in trees, books in running streams and good in everything. His children often listened in breathless silence and with tearful eyes to the dramatic stories of the hardships he endured in his childhood. They loved to hear him sing. From an old Scotch songbook, he would sing one song after another to their utter delight.

Throughout his whole life he was active and ambitious, always engaged in important and profitable work. First, as an adobe maker, then as a freighter between Salt Lake City and San Francisco. Later, he attained success as a surveyor.

In the spring of 1866, when Indian hostilities broke out in Sanpete and Sevier counties, he answered the call by Brigham Young for volunteers and took part in the Black Hawk War until the troops were called home.

Soon after the completion of the Central Pacific Railway in the valley, May 10, 1869, he became interested in railroading and was engaged in that work for the greater part of his life, as yardmaster for the Denver and Rio Grande, and as conductor on the Utah Central and Union Pacific railroads.

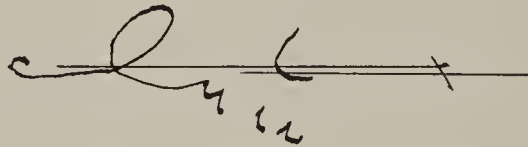

He was a devoted husband and loving father. He was a firm believer in the restored gospel of Jesus Christ. James Hunter was one of God's noblemen. He passed from this life January 27, 1914. (See Page 766).

Chapter 49

CHILDREN OF JAMES AND AGNES LEATHAM HUNTER

ONE SON AND EIGHT DAUGHTERS, born to a heritage of love and faith, all physically well and strong, blessed the home of James and Agnes Leatham Hunter.

Much that is praiseworthy could be written about each of the eight children who lived to maturity. However, an attempt will not be made at this time to give a detailed account of each one's activities and achievements, but rather to tell briefly how each used and magnified the God-given gifts with which each was so richly endowed. (See family group sheet on page 766).

JANET URQUHART HUNTER

(MRS. NEPHI THOMAS WEST)

"But charity is the pure love of Christ, and it endureth forever."

Book of Mormon - Moroni 7:47

JANET URQUHART, the first-born of nine children, was blessed with one of God's greatest gifts, the gift of charity, which she shared generously.

As the roseate hues of color that seem to rise from the background of the beautiful garden of flowers are often reflections from the unseen blossoms that pay compliment to the topmost, those richly delicate and half-hidden blooms many times are the most beautiful and fragrant.

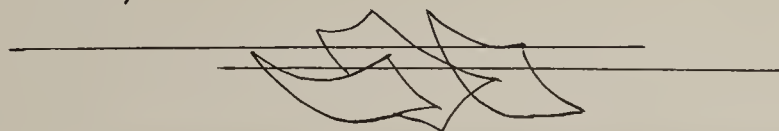

"Nettie" was one of these. She was modest and retiring, yet eagerly interested in life and in people, pouring out unselfish love wherever she went.

Through the driving snows of winter or on summer's hottest days, without thought of self, she went taking the friendly gift of loving service to those who needed help. Nor did anyone leave her home hungry or without comfort. In all her ministering, she followed the admonition of the Christ, -- she gave "her cloak also" and always went the "second mile."

It is no wonder that all who knew her speak in terms of love and affection when the name of Nettie Hunter West is mentioned, for she gave service with honor, not for honor. (Deceased, September 16, 1933.)

JAMES ALEXANDER HUNTER

(WIFE - BESSIE MARIE LARSEN)

"Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only."

— — — — — -- James 2:24

TO JAMES ALEXANDER, the second child and only son, was given unfaltering faith in God and in his own ability to succeed.

There is more power in life's events, work, duties and responsibilities, for the development of character than there is in books; however, "as the flower is before the fruit, so is faith before good works."

These truths were verified in Jimmie's life. The eternal, ennobling qualities which were his, being faith, integrity and fidelity, were unfolded and woven into his nature through his diligence and obedience in the school of life.

Whatever he set his mind and heart to do, with faith in God, he did with all his might. He never failed to take every opportunity afforded him to acquire good and useful knowledge. All the good he received he shared, and in sharing, he found new strength and power, his reward being a place of honor in his Church, exceptional success in the business world, and high esteem in the community. (Deceased, June 4, 1939).

MARGARET ANN HUNTER

MARGARET ANN was the third child, privileged to remain with her earthly parents only three short years.

Sweet and lovely was she, gentle and angel-like. Enshrined in the hearts of her loving parents, she left them September 13, 1875.

AGNES LENORA HUNTER

(MRS. HORACE WOODS BARTON)

"When ye are in the service of your fellow beings ye are only in the service of your God." -- Book of Mormon - Mosiah 2:17. ~~~~~

AGNES LENORA was the fourth child. Through her divine gift she found that the service of man is the best worship of God.

"She asked for love and God gave her the love of humanity, she asked for children and He gave her His children to minister unto."

Nora had a way of divining what everyone felt and wanted and needed. Therefore, she never waited until that someday when she could do big things for you -- she did all the little things when you needed them most. None but a loving heart could see the things that she found to do.

Her joy was full when she ministered to our Father's little ones. She knew the value of the story, its power of planting truths, and awakening right desires. Children loved her quiet gentle voice and the charm of her stories that always carried the spirit of love and faith.

Truly, Nora was a real follower of the Christ. She "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." By her faithful service, she glorified herself as a daughter, sister, wife, mother, grandmother and friend. (Deceased, August 10, 1942.)

BARBARA LEATHAM HUNTER

BARBARA, the fifth child and a beautiful little daughter, lived only a few hours.

---

EDITH ELIZABETH HUNTER

(MRS. JAMES NEEDHAM LAMBERT)

"Teach ye diligently and my grace shall attend you." -- Doc. & Cov. '88:78

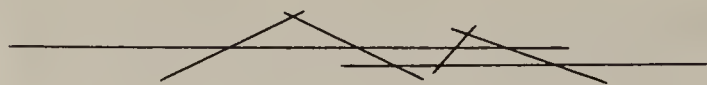

IN EDITH ELIZABETH, the sixth child, was developed a heaven-sent gift, the desire and the ability to teach. This she has magnified and her talents have been generously shared.

Early in her teaching experiences she acquired the strong conviction that God has created us so that what is planted in one's soul may bloom eternally. Therefore, no one has the right to plant carelessly, since it may be impossible to reset the planting.

This conviction, born of love and faith, has colored her teaching with a radiance that has touched many hearts and souls, leaving their lives enriched and blessed.

Her enthusiasm for teaching has increased with every rich experience throughout her life.<sup>1</sup>

Humbly she says, "If it please my Heavenly Father, I shall be a teacher in Heaven."

MARY LEATHAM HUNTER

(MRS. WILLARD GARDNER BURTON)

"Be ye kind one to another; tender hearted, forgiving one another."

-- Ephesians 4:32

BEAUTIFUL, LOVABLE AND LOYAL was Mary Leatham, the seventh child. She was blessed with tenderness and love.

There is power in kindness. Enrich a life with your kindness and it will return to you as a blessing. Sometimes it comes only in an expressed appreciation after many years, but it will come.

This truth is best told of "May" by two boys who played at her home when they were little. Now grown to manhood, each one said, "I'll never forget Aunt May; she was so kind to us when we were children."

An elderly woman speaking of her recently said, "When I left her home one day after receiving a gracious kindness, I knew I would never forget her, and I never have."

"Nay, Speak No Ill," a song she learned in her youth, remained in her memory to be a guide throughout her life. Never was she known to speak ill of anyone. This loyalty to friend and foe grew out of the kindness of her gentle, forgiving heart. Many there are, who call her blessed. (Deceased, November 7, 1924.)

CHLOE HUNTER

(MRS. FREDRICK RALPH WOOLLEY)

"Seek ye out of the best books words of wisdom, seek learning even by study and also by faith." -- Doc. & Cov. 88:118. ~ ~ ~

CHLOE, THE EIGHTH CHILD, always a beautiful, obedient daughter, now a gracious well-poised woman, intelligent, studious and spiritual.

Chloe is a student, a lover of good literature, not for its own sake, but because it ennobles life. Her books are chosen with the same meticulous care as are the artistic appointments of her beautiful home.

Her fervent belief in the power of prayer and the assurance that all our prayers are addressed in the handwriting of the heart, readable to God and ourselves only, has prompted her to make a collection of soul inspiring prayers. The greatest among them is The Lord's Prayer, given to us by Jesus the Christ.

Moments of supreme joy and peace are hers when in solitude she seeks protection and guidance for herself and her loved ones in prayer. Her spiritual endowment will make her rich through all the years.

LILLIE BELLE HUNTER

(MRS. CHARLES FREARSON COLES)

"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

—  -- Proverbs 17:22

TO LILLIE BELLE, the ninth and youngest child, God gave a merry heart, a voice of gladness and a smile that lingers together with a Christianlike philosophy of life.

Lighted by the radiance of her precious gift, Lillie found that the royal road to happiness is: Make someone else happy.

Wherever her paths have taken her, with willing hand and a song in her heart, she has left a trail of joy and comfort. She greets everyone with a smile and no one ever leaves her with the corners of his mouth turned down.

Though she has never seen Scotland, she can wear the kilt with dignity. Her almost perfect Scotch dialect has entertained thousands.

The promise -- "Great shall be your joy" is her rich reward.

"O, that's the lassie o' my heart,
My lassie ever dearer,
O, that's the queen of womankind,
And ne'er a ane to peer her."

-- Robert Burns

THE SECOND AND THIRD GENERATIONS are true and loyal to the faith for which their noble pioneer forebears, James and Agnes Leatham Hunter, sacrificed and lived.

Chapter 50

GRANDCHILDREN OF AGNES LEATHAM HUNTER

LOVABLE IS THE WORD that best describes Janet Isabella West McLachlan, (No. 1 Page 767). She was mild and lovely, kindly and gracious, qualities which grew out of her gentle spiritual nature. Nephi Jensen, her teacher and lifelong friend, often referred to her as "Pollyanna."

She was born June 28, 1889, in Hunter, Utah, the first child of Janet Urquhart Hunter West and Nephi Thomas West, and the first grandchild of Agnes Leatham Hunter and James Hunter.

"Nettie" was active in the L. D. S. Church organizations, beginning as a Sunday School teacher at the early age of thirteen years. Subsequently she was active in the Hunter Ward Mutual Improvement Association, taking special interest in dramatics.

She married John Lloyd McLachlan, of Scotch pioneer ancestry, May 27, 1918.

She was the mother of ten children, seven boys and three girls. In Nettie's life, her home and children came first. No sacrifice was too great for her to make for their happiness.

She taught them right values; gave them opportunities for the study of music; introduced them to the best books and guided them into right paths for happy living.

She loved the restored gospel of Jesus Christ and with her devoted husband lived it and taught it to her children, who say of her: "She was a wonderful mother, the kind God meant all mothers to be." (Deceased May 11, 1936).

THOMAS LEROY WEST, (No. 2, Page 767), the eldest of four sons born to Nephi Thomas and Janet Urquhart Hunter West, was born in Salt Lake City August 29, 1890.

His early childhood was spent in Salt Lake City. In 1897 his parents moved to Hunter, Salt Lake County, Utah. Here "Lee" lived the major part of his youth and early manhood. The blessings and happiness of a truly Latter-day Saint home, with kind and gentle parents during these years, had a profound influence on him and other members of the family throughout their lives.

His father was a builder and contractor who taught him the mason and brick-laying trade. Lee, by which name he is known, received his elementary and high school education at the Hunter and Granger schools. Later he attended the L.D. S. High School in Salt Lake City. He was active in the auxiliary organizations and the priesthood quorums, being ordained to the office of seventy when he was twenty years old by President Seymour B. Young.

Lee married Nellie Katherine Lewis June 6, 1917. Two children, LeRoy Lewis and Zella Janet, blessed this union. (See page 776). LeRoy Lewis married Lorna Hamblin on September 18, 1946. LeRoy Lewis studied at the University of Utah and the Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, Utah, graduating with a Master's degree from the U.S.A.C. in 1948. He became a teacher and educator. Zella Janet was also a student at the U.S.A.C. She married Stewart S. Allen of St. George, Utah, on July 5, 1947.

Lee served in World War I in 1918. He moved to Tooele, Utah, in 1922, purchased a home on Main Street, and became a permanent resident.

His life's occupation was brick-laying and masonry, being employed at the International Smelting and Refining Company at Tooele, Utah. He became superintendent of masonry for that company in 1936 and has served in that capacity since that time.

L.D.S. Church and civic activities have always been paramount in his life. He served as Tooele City councilman during 1933 and 1934, and has held office in the American Legion and other service organizations.

Church activities included chorister and choir work, Mutual Improvement Association presidency, Sunday School stake board member and High Priest group leader.

Lee continues to live happily with his wife, Nellie, at their home in Tooele, Utah.

AGNES RUTH WEST MILLER, (No. 3, Page 767), was born June 10, 1894, in Bountiful, Davis County, Utah. She is the daughter of Nephi Thomas West and Janet Urquhart Hunter.

She was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by her father, Nephi Thomas West, on June 10, 1902.

Agnes was married in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple September 24, 1910, to Ray William Miller.

Soon after her marriage she left with her husband for Claresholm, Alberta, Canada, where they made their permanent home. Here she was happy and prosperous with her devoted husband, both of them taking part in civic and Latter-day Saint activities.

Agnes worked many years in the Sunday School, in the Primary Association and the Relief Society. The accompanying photograph shows Agnes on the left.

Three children blessed this home. (See page 779) Ray West, their eldest son, was born January 28, 1912. He was killed July 4, 1931, in an automobile accident while on his way with the family to visit his maternal grandparents. Their next son, Jesse Abiah, died a few hours after birth. Marjorie Ruth, their only living child, was born August 13, 1918. She has her home in Cardston, Canada, where she is married to Lloyd Cooper. They have two adopted children.

Agnes suffered a severe shock when her husband, Ray, died very suddenly of a coronary occlusion on September 19, 1947. Since his death she has spent the major part of her time and energy in L.D.S. Temple work. She finds great joy in this work of service.

She is generous in her gifts of charity. Her special joy is giving books of worth to her friends and to her co-workers in the Cardston L.D.S. Temple.

She finds time to visit her relatives and attend all the General Conferences of the Church in Salt Lake City, Utah.

She has made her home in Cardston, Alberta, Canada for the past several years.

DR. JAMES HUNTER WEST, (No. 4, Page 767), is the son of Nephi Thomas West and Janet Urquhart Hunter. He was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, November 30, 1896.

In 1897 his parents moved to Hunter, Utah. Here in a home of love and refinement, he spent his early years. He graduated from the Salt Lake County schools in 1913, later the Granite High School, then attended the University of Utah for three years, from 1919 to 1921.

When "Jim" was just a boy, his parents discovered his aptitude in music, and gave him the opportunity for the development of his talent. As the boy progressed in his music courses, he decided the violin to be the instrument of his choice. He studied with Gustav Schuster and made marked progress, earning several awards.

He taught music in the Granite High School in Salt Lake City and in the high schools of Burley, Idaho, Richfield and Cedar City, Utah.

He married Margaret Rachel Barry on June 21, 1920, in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple. One daughter blessed their home, Margaret Aileen, born March 9, 1925. (See page 781). She attended the University of California for two years, then entered the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Los Angeles, California. She received her

R. N. and is a nurse of ability. It is said of her -- "Aileen nurses with her heart."

Not desiring to make music his life's work, James entered the University of Southern California and received his degree in Dental Surgery in 1928. He began the practice of dentistry the same year in Maywood, California, where he has offices at the present time. Since beginning his practice, he has taken several refresher courses in eastern schools.

He still retains his old love for his violin and recognizes it as an asset in his life.

He married Nancy Ney in the summer of 1949. They own their home at 7769 Otto Street, Downey, California.

DR. JESSE BARTON WEST, (No. 5, Page 767), son of Janet Urquhart Hunter and Nephi Thomas West, was born September 11, 1901, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

His paternal grandfather, whose name he proudly bears, was Captain Jesse West who rendered noteworthy service in the Black Hawk War in 1866 and 1867. His maternal grandfather, James Hunter, was a volunteer in Captain West's company.

Jesse received his early education in the Salt Lake County schools and graduated from the Granite High School. Later he went to business college, graduating in accounting. Like his three other brothers, he learned the building trade from his father.

On June 3, 1925, he married Vesta Vivian Vowles of Tooele, Utah, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. After his marriage he moved to California and Jesse again became a student, this time in the University of Southern California, and with the splendid and willing cooperation of his devoted helpmeet he accomplished his objective and was graduated in 1938 with the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

During World War II, he served as an officer in the United States Army Dental Corps from 1943 to 1945.

He is an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Hollywood Ward in Hollywood, California. He acknowledges with deep gratitude the power of the priesthood and prayer in a recent illness.

He is a practicing dentist with offices at 411 East Palm Avenue, Burbank, California, with membership in the following dental societies: Southern California, Hollywood, American and the American Academy of Dental Medicine. He is a member of the Oakmont Golf Club and the possessor of several golf trophies. He is also a member of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce.

IN HUNTER, UTAH, April 10, 1906, Edith Lillie West Pehrson, (No. 6 Page 767), was born. She is the sixth child of Janet Urquhart Hunter West and Nephi Thomas West.

She graduated from Cyprus High School after finishing in the Salt Lake City schools.

She worked many years in the presidency of the Hunter Ward Primary Association and several years as organist.

On August 22, 1928, she married Frank Pehrson, a metallurgical engineer and an ardent Aaronic Priesthood worker and Boy Scout leader. Two children blessed their home, Frank West and Lois Estelle. (See Page 782).

Edith's inherent love for children and especially for the underprivileged and handicapped, prompted her to take up Red Cross work. Her first assigned duty was driving the Red Cross ambulance which carried the blind and crippled children to and from the Health Center where they received rehabilitation treatments. This was an arduous task in winter, but she found it interesting and rewarding.

The same pull on her heartstrings finds her at the present time doing nursing and occupational therapy in the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, where she is happy.

STANLEY LEATHAM WEST, (No. 7 Page 767), was born October 30, 1910, in Hunter, Utah. He is the son of Nephi Thomas West and Janet Urquhart Hunter.

His childhood and youth were spent in a home built by his father and three older brothers. This home, where there was love and peace, and where the gospel of Jesus Christ was lived by his parents and family, had a great influence in the development of right values and standards in Stanley's life.

He attended the elementary grade schools and the Granite High School.

On February 20, 1931, he married Gertrude Jane Jacobson, and on February 27, 1948, he was endowed and had this marriage solemnized in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple. He is active in his priesthood quorum and in the various organizations of the L. D. S. Church.

He learned masonry and carpentry from his father, who was a contractor and builder. He worked with his father in this trade for some time and considers it one of the happiest and most rewarding experiences of his life.

He built his own lovely home where he resides at the present time.

After his father's retirement, he took a position with the American Smelting and Refining Company. He worked with this company for eleven years, during which time he received training as a machinist. He then took a position as machinist with the Kennecott Copper Corporation at the Arthur Plant where he is at present employed.

He has three children, Janet Lorraine, Stanley Leatham, Jr., and Thomas Gilbert, (See page 783), and two grandchildren, Wayne Earl Kirk and Lorraine Jane Kirk. (See page 784).

JAMES BURTON HUNTER, (No. 2 Page 785), was born August 10, 1905, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He is the only son of James Alexander Hunter and Bessie Marie Larsen Hunter. He was welcomed into the world both by his parents and his grandparents. His childhood, youth and young manhood were spent in a home of love and faith. When he was eight years old he was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

He attended the auxiliary organizations of the Church and in due time received the priesthood, both the Aaronic and the Melchizedek and was active in the respective quorums.

After finishing the elementary grade schools he attended the junior high school and later graduated from the West High School as an honor student.

His natural aptness for mathematics was a factor in helping him make his decision to study the sciences. With zest he pursued his studies at the University of Utah, and was graduated in 1929, with a Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering, with high honors.

He was elected to membership in Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering fraternity, also elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, another honorary scholarship fraternity.

After his graduation from the University of Utah, he spent one year with the Westinghouse Electrical Corporation in further study.

During the years of national depression, he, like many other young graduates, found it difficult to find work in his chosen line. He worked, however, in various capacities, always looking and working anxiously toward advancement in his profession, -- electrical engineering.

He met and loved Josephine Blackburn, and they were married in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple on February 14, 1934. A few short years later Josephine died.

Eleven years later, May 15, 1945, he married Natalie Pixton in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. They have one son, James C. Hunter, and a foster son, David Jensen.

During World War II, James, or Burton, as he is called, had charge of the laboratory in the Salt Lake plant in the manufacturing of radio transmitting tubes with the Eitel-McCullough Company.

All through his mature years his gift and love for teaching has been an enriching and satisfying factor in his life. He is at present engaged in teaching in the Vocational School in the Salt Lake area, in addition to his regular employment.

He is now employed in the department of engineering with the General Electric Company in Salt Lake City.

He owns his own home where he and his family reside, at 2549 Kensington Avenue, Salt Lake City, Utah. (See page 787).

NORMA HUNTER COWAN, (No. 1, Page 785), was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, April 2, 1901. She is the daughter of James Alexander Hunter and Bessie Marie Larsen. (Photo is from the old family album.)

She was baptized by Campbell M. Brown, who was her father's missionary companion, while he was in Germany. She was confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by her father, James A. Hunter, on July 4, 1909, in Salt Lake City.

She attended the Lafayette grade school, East and West High Schools and the University of Utah, all in Salt Lake City, and was elected a member of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority.

On October 3, 1924, she was married to Charles Benedict Cowan in Salt Lake City by Bishop Charles W. Hule.

In 1926, two years after their marriage, they moved to Pocatello, Idaho, where her husband, who was a civil engineer for the Union Pacific Railroad, was transferred. In 1931, they moved back to Salt Lake City. In 1943, Mr. Cowan became branch manager of Lederle Laboratories in San Francisco.

He held this position until 1950, during which time they lived in Alameda, California. Another promotion, and they moved to Dallas, Texas, where they reside at the present time.

Wherever Norma has been located, she has found the opportunity and the time to devote her talents to the fine arts -- music and the drama

While in Alameda she became interested in the Little Theater activities and for six years acted as assistant director of Alameda Little Theater under Director William Woodall.

Since living in Dallas, Texas, she has acted as assistant director in Dallas Little Theater and The Courtyard Players.

Norma is a useful member of society and reflects the influence of her devoted parents.

HORACE GILBERT BARTON, (No. 1, Page 788), is the son of Horace Woods Barton and Agnes Lenora Hunter. He was born July 8, 1902, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

He had the privilege of spending a great part of his life in the home of his grandfather and grandmother Hunter, where he was a great joy. The love and spiritual atmosphere of this home had a lasting influence on his life.

He was educated in the Salt Lake City schools, attending Lincoln and Lafayette grade schools, the West High School, the L. D. S. College and the University of Utah.

He married Elizabeth Marie Rushton on November 25, 1925, in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple. She is an accomplished musician, an ardent church worker and a sustaining strength to her husband. The couple have one son, Richard Gilbert. He is a graduate of the University of Utah School of Medicine, holding an M. D. degree. He served his internship and residency and taught at the University of Utah and practiced in Salt Lake City. Dr. Barton is currently serving as a Captain in the Air Force Medical Corps in North Africa. His wife and three children, Diana, Richard and David, are with him. (See page 790).

In 1917, when Gilbert was fifteen years old, he was secretary of the Sixth Ward Sunday School. In 1919, when he was seventeen, he was made ward clerk. In 1922 the Sixth and Seventh Wards were combined due to the encroachment of the railroad and industrial business in the area, and he continued as ward clerk of the new ward until 1924. In 1924, he was made counselor in the bishopric of the Sixth-Seventh Ward.

During the time he worked in this capacity, the Pioneer Stake Welfare program was developed under the direction of Harold B. Lee, then president of the stake, and Gilbert became director of the work projects in this program in his ward.

May 12, 1938, he was sustained as Bishop of the Sixth-Seventh Ward. During the period of his stewardship, there was a marked increase in population in the area due to the war preparations of World War II. This brought new and added responsibilities. A program to restore the aging chapel was begun; the heating and lighting systems were replaced, much of the work being done by himself; the old Sixth Ward chapel and property were sold and the money placed in a fund to complete the renovation program.

The Church Welfare Program was intensified due to a continued depression and Gilbert was made chairman of the Pioneer Stake Bishops' Welfare Council. He acted from 1944 to 1946 in this position.

After the division of Pioneer Stake in 1946, he was made chairman of the Temple View Stake Bishops' Welfare Council, until he was released from his duties as Bishop of the Sixth-Seventh Ward in 1947. He then served as a member of the Temple View Stake High Council for one year. In 1948 for business reasons, he moved to American Fork. While there he served in various teaching positions in the auxiliary organizations of the Church.

He returned to Salt Lake City in 1952 and took up residence in the Kimball Ward. He is a member of the Aaronic Priesthood Committee and superintendent of the Kimball Ward Sunday School.

In his business life, Gilbert has always been energetic and progressive. After leaving school he was first employed with the Mine and Smelter Company in Salt Lake City in the clerical department; later in the electrical contracting business. For the past twenty-seven years he has been with the Utah Power and Light Company as chief clerk in the service department and as customer's service representative. His latest advancement places him as senior consultant in the new business development department.

He is building a new home at 338 East Burton Avenue in Salt Lake City, Utah.

PAUL HUNTER LAMBERT (No. 1 Page 791), was born in Auckland, New Zealand, April 1, 1917. At the time of his birth, his parents, James Needham Lambert and Edith Hunter Lambert, were missionaries in that land for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. His father was presiding over the New Zealand Mission.

Paul's birth was the occasion for much rejoicing among the Maori people. They spoke of him as "Tamaiti Tapu", sacred child.

In the summer of 1920, when Paul was three years old, the Lambert family left New Zealand for their home in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Paul was ten years old when his father died, leaving him with a feeling that he should be a help to his mother, who later became second assistant in the General Presidency of the Primary Association of the L. D. S. Church. When Paul was twelve, on his own initiative he obtained after-school work. He continued to do part-time work during his high school and college years, experiencing not only satisfaction but contributing in a great measure to his education.

He graduated from West High School in 1933, and from the L. D. S. Seminary the same year. In 1937 he graduated from the University of Utah with a B. S. degree in Business administration and a second major in Marketing.

July 8, 1937, he left for the Latter-day Saint mission in East Germany. He labored in Rathenow, Stralsund and Barth for a few months and was then appointed secretary of the mission with headquarters in Berlin. In the beginning of World War II, he was Acting President of the mission in the absence of the president. When the crisis came he arranged for the evacuation of the missionaries to Copenhagen, Denmark. He returned home in October of 1939, the last elder to leave East Germany.

He was employed by the International Harvester Company in various capacities from 1939 to 1942, including six months executive sales training in Rockford, Illinois. He volunteered to serve his country during World War II in the United States Navy and was commissioned as an Ensign in August 1942. He had active duty at Naval Air Station, Hutchison, Kansas, and then went to Naval Supply Corps School at Harvard University for further instruction in Naval finance.

He served on the Destroyer USS Barton (DD 722) which saw action in the American, European and Pacific theatres during World War II; participated in the D Day landings, bombardment of Cherbourg; Philippine Liberation; Tokyo air strikes; carrier task force operations; Okinawa, China Seas and Japanese occupation. Paul's service ribbons and medals include: American Theatre, European Theatre, Asiatic-Pacific Theatre, Victory Medal, Philippine Liberation, Occupation Medal, Naval Unit Citation, Naval Reserve Medal.

He returned to the United States in October of 1945, and was married in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple October 31, 1945, to Ila Thomas of Spanish Fork, Utah. After a brief "leave" he reported to Naval Corps School, Harvard University, as instructor in Naval finance, and remained there until May 28, 1946, when he was released to inactive duty. Present rating is Lieutenant Commander, United States Naval Reserve.

Paul attended the Pacific Coast Banking School, University of Washington, during the summers of 1949, 1950 and 1951. His present occupation is banking. He is manager of the Spanish Fork office of the Commercial Bank of Utah. He is a member of the bank's executive committee and secretary of the Board of Directors. He is also interested in livestock and farming operations. He served in the bishopric of the Third Ward, Palmyra Stake, from 1947 to 1952. He is active in his priesthood quorum and teacher in the Mutual Improvement Association at the present time.

Paul and his devoted wife, Ila, share the joy of two lovely children, Ila Jean, born July 10, 1949, and David Thomas, born December 1, 1953. (See page 792).

They reside at 101 North Third West, Spanish Fork, Utah

WILLARD HUNTER BURTON (No. 2 Page 793), eldest son of Willard Gardner Burton and Mary Leatham Hunter, was born December 7, 1909, in Salt Lake City, Utah. Photo is from the old family album and shows him as a boy.

"Billie," as he was called, was baptized and confirmed a member of the L.D.S. Church in March of 1918. He attended the Salt Lake City grade schools, South Junior High and Granite High Schools and graduated from Washington High School in Portland, Oregon, in June 1927.

Willard was called from the Northwestern States Mission, Portland Branch, to serve a mission for the L.D.S. Church. He received his call May 14, 1929, and was assigned to the Eastern States Mission where he served until March 9, 1931.

His singing voice was a great asset in his missionary work and he was instrumental in establishing Church radio programs in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and in Wilmington, Delaware. These were the first radio programs of the kind in the Eastern States Mission and they are still active at the present time.

Upon completing his mission, Willard did not return to his home in Portland, but remained in New York City where he took an active part in the Manhattan Branch. He studied music, both instrumental and vocal and did some theatrical work, after which he took a position in the publicity branch of a motion picture company and remained there for a number of years.

During World War II he served in the Army Air Corps from May 17, 1942, until September 17, 1946. He had active duty in the European Theatre of Operations.

After returning from his war activities, he settled in the silver and precious jewelry field. At present, Willard is manager of a jewelry store located in the Hotel Plaza in New York City, N. Y.

SERGE HUNTER BURTON (No. 3, Page 793) son of Willard Gardner Burton and Mary Leatham Hunter, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on June 27, 1911.

Serge's boyhood and youth were much the same as that of other boys. He attended public school, Sunday School and the Primary, was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was ordained a deacon and lived a happy, normal life. When he was thirteen years old, sensitive by nature and training, he suffered a severe shock in the death of his mother, who was accidentally killed when struck by an automobile as she alighted from a streetcar near her home.

After Serge's mother's death, he continued his usual activities until 1926 when he moved to Portland, Oregon. Here he began a new life in a new home and school, making new friends and associates. He continued his Church activities and was advanced in the Aaronic Priesthood.

His father died in 1934 and Serge returned to Salt Lake City. On May 20, 1941, he married Winnifred Elna Nilsson Canning, a childhood friend both in school and church. She has blessed their home with love and has been and is a devoted and helpful companion. Her one daughter, Amy Deween Canning, is part of their happy family. Serge and Winnifred have two children, a son, Serge Hunter, born June 1, 1943, and a daughter, Valerie Ann, born April 1, 1953. (See page 794).

A contractor and builder by trade, Serge is at present employed as a carpenter with the American Smelting and Refining Company in Garfield, Utah.

They own their home at 2722 South Eighth East, Salt Lake City, Utah, where they now reside.

VIRGINIA HUNTER BURTON PARRATT (No. 4 Page 793), was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, December 27, 1914. Her parents are Willard Gardner Burton and Mary Leatham Hunter.

She was blessed, baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Virginia attended the grade schools in Salt Lake City and the Washington High School in Portland, Oregon. At the age of ten years, she was left without the loving care of a mother, who was killed accidentally when struck by an automobile. Virginia suffered a second loss in the death of her father, Willard G. Burton, in Portland, Oregon, in 1934. After her father's passing, she returned to Salt Lake City, Utah.

With the help and encouragement of her two brothers, Billie and Serge, she took a course and subsequent training in beauty culture. However, she did not follow this work because her heart told her it was not what she wanted to do.

March 21, 1936, Virginia married Fredrick Parratt. They have two daughters, Ruth and LaVelle. (See page 795). The old family album photo shows Virginia and her two daughters.

Even from childhood, there was in Virginia's heart a deep-seated love for service. She wanted to be a nurse. It was not until her daughters were grown that she found the opportunity to reach her life-long desire. She registered in the now nationally popular Practical Nurse course, passed her state board examinations and is now a licensed practical nurse.

Virginia, at present, is working in the Kennewick Hospital in Kennewick, Washington, declaring that she has found her purpose in life, -- administering to those who need help and comfort.

ROSCOE HUNTER WOOLLEY, (No. 1, Page 796), son of Fredrick Ralph Woolley and Chloe Hunter Woolley, was born November 19, 1902, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

His schooling through the eighth grade was in the Salt Lake City public schools. During the summer of his eighth year he was baptized in the Tabernacle font and, upon confirmation a few days later in the Eighteenth Ward chapel, became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

His high school education consisted of four years at the L. D. S. High School in Salt Lake City, where a life-long interest in science developed into a desire to follow the study of chemistry.

Upon entering the University of Utah in the fall of 1922, he began the study of chemical engineering and pursued this course for the following three years. Then followed an interval during which his university studies were laid aside and he worked in the shops of a local electrical and automobile repair company.

There a new interest, that of automobile engine design, developed that changed the course of his college studies, and upon returning to the University of Utah he took a course in mechanical engineering which led to a Bachelor of Science degree upon his graduation in 1930. As a part of his university work, he had also completed the Reserve Officers Training Corps and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the field artillery reserves.

Because of a general business depression in 1930, graduates found it very difficult to get positions in their chosen field, so Roscoe decided to pursue post graduate studies at the University of Utah. Two years later he was awarded a master of science degree in mechanical engineering.

The next two years were spent in the automobile repair and parts business. In 1934 a position as junior engineer was secured with a firm engaged in recovering chemicals from Great Salt Lake. It was during this period that he met LaDell Lowry, who was at that time assistant general secretary and member of the L. D. S. Primary General Board. Miss Lowry became Mrs. Roscoe H. Woolley on November 7, 1935, in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple. She proved to be a gifted, loving and helpful wife and under her able guidance the Woolley household has prospered. On May 18, 1937, a daughter, Barbara Ann, was born. (See page 797).

In the fall of 1938 the position of assistant chemist in the General Laboratory of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company was obtained. After about a year an advancement was made to chemist-in-charge, and that position was held until shortly after the beginning of World War II. On May 4, 1942, another child was born into the Woolley home, this time a fine son, Fredrick Roscoe. (See page 797). In the meantime an undeveloped talent for teaching was discovered and cultivated, resulting in Roscoe becoming an instructor of defence training classes at night in the University of Utah. This part-time teaching work led to an offer of a position on the faculty of the college, which was accepted in August of 1942. Working as an instructor in mechanical engineering, he continued in that capacity until World War II ended, then was transferred to the Utah Engineering Experiment Station on their staff as research engineer. Having retained his former university faculty standing and having obtained several promotions meanwhile, his present (1955) rank is that of Associate Professor.

He is currently a member of Sigma Xi honorary fraternity and the Utah Academy of Science, Arts and Letters. He is also first assistant superintendent of Sunday School in Ensign Second Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The previously mentioned son and daughter are a credit to their parents. Both have musical talents that are being developed and the daughter has artistic ability much above average. Barbara Ann, now seventeen years of age, is a freshman at the University of Utah, having won a Ford Foundation early entrance scholarship while at West High School. The son, Fredrick Roscoe, or "Ross" as he is called, is now twelve years of age and attending the seventh grade at Stewart Junior High School on the University of Utah campus.

CHARLES RALPH COLES, (No. 2 Page 798), was born August 13, 1911, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He is the son of Charles Frearson Coles and Lillie Belle Hunter Coles.

His pioneer maternal and paternal grandparents came to Utah as converts to the restored gospel of Jesus Christ. Ralph, like his parents and grandparents, early learned to appreciate the gospel and in his youth was active in the auxiliary organizations in music and drama. He was also active in the priesthood quorums and was ordained an elder when he was twenty-two years of age.

He received his education in the Salt Lake City schools and East High School where he continued the development of his talents in the fine arts in lettering and hammered copper. Later he found joy and profit in the making of fine jewelry.

Unlike most boys of his age, he found more pleasure in work than in play, and during his junior and senior high school years he found part-time employment with Z.C.M.I. This part-time work led him into merchandising and he became a manager with Z.C.M.I. in their branch stores in St. George, Payson, and later in their branch store in Sugarhouse.

At the beginning of World War II in 1942, Ralph took a position with the Whitmore Oxygen Company and continued with them as plant operator in Little Cottonwood Canyon during the war.

He married Maxine Christopherson August 3, 1935. They have one son, Carl Ralph, born May 15, 1943 (See page 799), in whom they have great hope and pride. They are devoted parents with the philosophy: "Make a child happy and you make him good."

In spite of Ralph's many responsibilities he has dedicated a part of each day or evening to spend with his son, teaching him to recognize God's handiwork in the great outdoors. He has discovered Carl's special talent in electricity and is giving him every opportunity for development. The spirit of Ralph's devotion to his son is, "Come, let us see what we can find."

He and his good wife own their own home at 2950 South Fifth East in Salt Lake City, Utah. He is employed as manager with the Whitmore Oxygen Company at the present time.

AGNES LUCILLE COLES McKENDRICK (No. 3 Page 798), the daughter of Charles Frearson Coles and Lillie Belle Hunter, was born June 20, 1917.

She was a welcome child and was given the cherished name of her grandmother, Agnes Leatham Hunter, whom she resembles in many ways.

Kindergarten and the grade schools were the beginning of her education, which ended in high school and the University of Utah. The teachings in her home and the auxiliary organizations laid a firm foundation on which her faith in the restored Gospel of Jesus Christ is based.

Her marriage to Maurice Nilsson McKendrick on November 20, 1937, was solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple by Elder Joseph Fielding Smith. They have been blessed with two children, Agnes Ann and John Charles, born respectively August 24, 1942, and April 15, 1945. (See page 800).

Lucille believes that a woman's highest purpose in life is to strengthen, beautify and sanctify the home. This she does, but she also finds time to do her share of the world's work. She is kind and helpful in her neighborhood, with children her first and deepest concern.

While in Provo, Utah, during 1943 and 1944, where her husband, a civil engineer, was employed, Lucille worked in the Mutual Improvement Association as ward and later as stake Bee Keeper in the Beehive Dept.

She also did volunteer work as receptionist in the Utah Valley Hospital. After her return to Salt Lake City, she found her greatest joy in Primary Association work where, during 1952 and 1953, she was counselor in the presidency of the Canyon Crest Ward in Highland Stake and in Beacon Third Ward in Monument Park Stake. During 1954 she did outstanding work as president of the Beacon Ward Primary Association.

Lucille and her husband, Maurice McKendrick, a civil and construction engineer, own not only a house at 2589 East Commonwealth Avenue in Salt Lake City, Utah, but are making it a real home.

Chapter 51

OTHER DESCENDANTS OF AGNES LEATHAM HUNTER

JAMES WEST McLACHLAN, (No. 6, Page 768), sixth child of John Lloyd McLachlan and Janet Isabella West, was born on a farm in Taylorsville, Salt Lake County, Utah, March 29, 1919.

He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints December 1, 1928, by Randel Porter in the Taylorsville Ward, Cottonwood Stake, and confirmed the following day by Lewis Swenson.

He attended Plymouth School in Taylorsville and graduated from Granite High School in 1938. In June 1936, when James was seventeen years old, his mother died of rheumatic heart disease.

Uriah G. Miller gave him his patriarchal blessing May 21, 1939. James worked for the Utah Copper Company at Magna, Utah, until December 7, 1941, when he departed for a mission to the Northwestern States, where he labored in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon under President Nicholas G. Smith and later President Desla Bennion.

He returned in December of 1943 and left for California where he joined the Merchant Marines in January 1944. He attended maritime school on Catalina Island, then sailed the South Pacific and European waters until 1947. Then he returned to work at the Utah Copper Company.

James was ordained a seventy by President Levi Edgar Young on April 1, 1949. He held positions as Stake M Men president and later as M Men Manual leader on the M. I. A. Stake Board.

On August 18, 1950, James married Winifred Naomi Morse, a convert to the Church from Bloomfield, New Jersey, who was working in Taylorsville as a public health and school nurse. The couple were married by President Robert D. Young in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple. (See page 773).

They reside at 4497 South 3200 West, Murray, Utah, in a home they have built on the old McLachlan farm. They have two daughters, Naomi Jeanne and Elaine. (See page 773).

At the present time James is president of the Taylorsville Ward Genealogical Committee, secretary of the Seventies quorum, and acting secretary of the North Jordan Stake Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association, and is also active in temple work.

LUCILE McLACHLAN, (No. 4, Page 768), daughter of John Lloyd McLachlan and Janet Isabella West, was born and lived at the old McLachlan home in Taylorsville until she was married. Her mother had ten children. The family had much love and happiness as well as heartache and hard times in their lives.

When Lucile was nine years old, her only sister died. She had been everything beautiful, gracious and kind to Lucile.

Lucile attended the Plymouth grade and junior high schools and later graduated from Granite High School. When she was sixteen, her brother, Owen, was killed and her father injured in a run-away school wagon. After high school, she worked in a department store. Her mother died when she was twenty-one, just before Lucile was married, and she took her small sister to her home until her marriage. Her brothers lived with her part time. Ralph, the youngest, was very ill with rheumatic fever, which was difficult for Lucile, without her own mother.

Four years after Lucile's marriage, she gave birth to a baby daughter; two years later, another little girl was born.

Two years later her brother, Marvin, was killed on Okinawa, preceding by a few months, the birth of her third baby daughter.

Lucile and her husband have been blessed with a fine family. The girls are talented and live in Salt Lake City. (See page 771).

Lucile's older brother, Jack, was killed accidentally June 16, 1948.

She has worked in the L.D.S. Primary as a teacher, play leader, second counselor and first counselor. She is on the Primary Stake Board at present, and teaches the senior class in Sunday School.

Services For Mrs. Barton To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Lenora Hunter Barton, matron of the L. D. S. Hospital Nurses Home, who died yesterday morning in Canada, will be held Friday at 12 noon in the Ensign Ward Chapel.

W. J. Eilddredge, counselor in the ward bishopric, will be in charge.

Mrs. Barton was active for many years in Primary work. As a young woman in 1904 she became a member of the first Primary Board of Pioneer Stake and continued active in this capacity until 1913 when she became stake Primary president. She held that position until 1928 when she left the stake to make her home with Mrs. Lambert at 265 Ninth Avenue, where she has resided since.

In March 1934 Mrs. Barton was appointed matron of the nurses home at the L. D. S. Hospital and was on a brief vacation from that post when death came.

Surviving her in addition to her son and Mrs. Lambert, are two other sisters, Mrs. Fred R. Woolley and Mrs. Charles F. Coles of Salt Lake and one grandson, Dick Barton. The body is being brought to Salt Lake for funeral services and burial.

Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Barton had been ill about ten days. She had been vacationing at the home of a niece, Mrs. Ray Miller. At her bedside when death came were her only son, Bishop H. Gilbert Barton of the Sixth-Seventh Ward and a sister, Mrs. Edith Hunter Lambert.

Mrs. Barton was born in Salt Lake Sept. 8, 1875 a daughter of James and Agnes Leatham Hunter. She was married June 12, 1901 to Horace Barton who died in 1919.

Nurses Home Matron Dies On Vacation

Mrs. Lenora H. Barton Was Long Active In Church

Mrs. Lenora Hunter Barton, 66, matron at the nurses home of the L. D. S. Hospital and active Church worker for many years, died early today at Claresholme, Alberta, Canada, where she had been vacationing.

Primary Counselors of 50 Years Service Were Feted

Two former counselors in the Primary General Presidency who gave more than 50 years service to the children's auxiliary, were honored Friday evening at the President's dinner held in the Hotel Utah.

Mrs. Edith H. Lambert of Ensign Stake, received the 30-year Service Award and Mrs. Sadie G. Pack, Thirty-third Ward, Bonneville Stake, the 20-year Service Award.

Primary stake presidents and wives of mission presidents attended the dinner as did the General Board.

Mrs. Lambert began her many years of service to the Primary when she was called as the first president of the Pioneer Stake Primary of which she served from 1904-07. While serving as a missionary in Hawaii she was a teacher in the mission school there. She was called to the General Board Oct. 11, 1910 and in 1933 set apart as a counselor. She was released from this position in December 1939.

Part Ten

The Andrew Letham Branch

ANDREW LETHAM

Chapter 52

ANDREW LETHAM

ANDREW LETHAM (Number 9, Page 13), son of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart, was born January 27, 1842, at Wamphlit Old Monkland, Lanarkshire, Scotland.

He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, June 27, 1861, by the Mormon missionaries laboring in the Glasgow Conference.

Although he never came to America to live, he travelled to Salt Lake City to visit his relatives in the early days soon after the trans-continental railroad was completed. His wife, Christina Glen, did not desire to come to America to live and he returned to Scotland to be with his family in Milncroft, Lanarkshire, Scotland.

He died in Scotland, December 26, 1909, and was buried in Sandy Mount Cemetery in Shettleston, Lanarkshire, Scotland, leaving a large posterity to carry on his name. (See page 810). Photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Letham and one of their children.

Milncroft By Shettleston
Glasgow, Scotland
Dec. 27th 1909

My Dear Brother James

I write just a few lines to let you all know that I am well in health. But I have also to let you know that Brother Andrew quite and peacefully died on Sunday morning Dec 26th at 3-15 o'clock.

Been busy making preparations to have him buried on Wednesday the 29th Inst. Two weeks ago he fell and bruised his right knee when at work in the coal pit which caused blood poison to show in several spots through his body. Sick only 7 days.

His Wife and family are all fairly well. Two Medical D<sup>rs</sup> Professors could not do anything to save his life.

He suffered very little pain.

I hope you are all well.

Your brother, Alex Leatham

The above letter was written by Alexander while he was in Scotland as a missionary.

Chapter 53

SOME DESCENDANTS OF ANDREW LETHAM

ROBERT LETHAM, JR. (Number 1 Page 812) was the son of Robert Letham of Milncroft, Lanarkshire, Scotland.

In 1929, when the author visited him at Cran Hill Farm near Shettleston, Scotland, he was a successful farmer and pig breeder. He and his wife "Chrissie" had at that time one son named Robert III. They were very hospitable to Louis S. Leatham, showing him around the country side and giving him lodgings and food. Upon his departure for America, they wrote the following inscriptions in his autograph book:

25th September 1929

*The wind may blow
The seas may toss
But firm as a rock
Shall my friendship be.*

*Cousin Robert Letham Jr.
Cranhill Farm
Shettleston Scotland.*

25 September 1929

Behold the hour, the boat arrives

Thou leaveth Dear Louis

But fate has willed, and we must part

CHARLES LETHAM, (Number 4 Page 814), son of Charles Letham and Mary Sewell, was born at Milncroft (by Shettleston), Glasgow, Scotland, on August 8, 1906.

He is a grandson of Andrew Letham and Christina Glen and he has always made Scotland his home. He now resides at 44 Walker Street, Cowdenbeath, Fifeshire, Scotland.

When he was eight years of age his parents separated and only remembers seeing his mother but once since that time as he was reared by his father till he reached the age of fifteen. At that time he left Glasgow and went to Fifeshire to work in the mines. There he married Jessie McGhie and raised five children, Charles, Janet, Mary, Elizabeth and George. (See page 815). At present, George is the only unmarried child.

Charles, at the present time, works for the British Admiralty (FAA). He has a very considerable knowledge of Theology and is a defender of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ, even though he is not a member of the church.

He is the author of many unpublished lyrical and poetical works such as the following:

(Lyrical)

You're sweeter than a summer rose,
My heart your fragrant beauty knows,
To me you are the noon day sun,
My dawn and sunset, lovely one.

(Poetical)

Nations of the world unite,
It can and must be done,
Out of the darkness into light
Come nations every one.

Chapter 54

WILLIAM LEATHAM

So when a great man dies
For years beyond our ken
The light he leaves behind him lies
Upon the path of men.

Longfellow

A guileless, faithful man of God was Patriarch William Leatham. His love for the Lord and his fellow men was his daily creed. His entire life was spent in their service. If there were one word which could sum up his character it would be integrity.

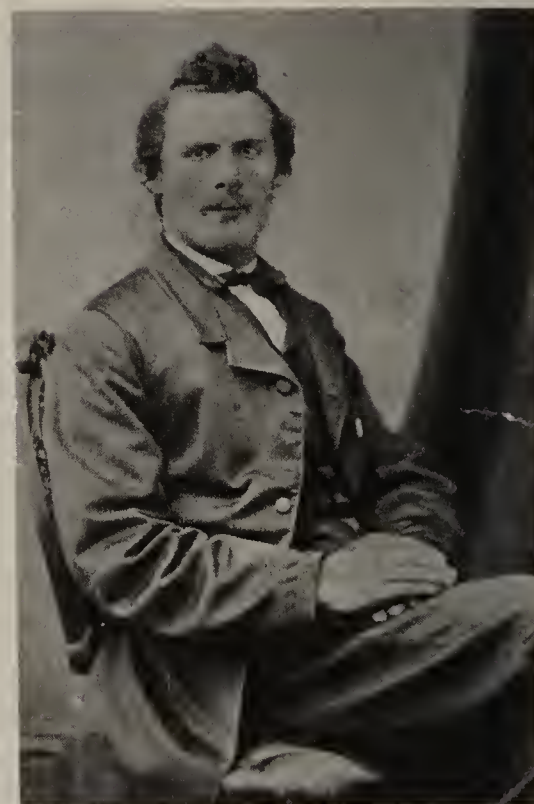

The tenth of twelve children of Robert and Janet (Urquhart) Letham, he was born January 31, 1844, in the rugged terrain and rigorous climate of Scotland. His place of birth at Craig-end Cottage, Garthamlock, Lanarkshire, was about four miles north-east of the Royal Exchange in Glasgow, Scotland. Here he gained a self-reliance, an ability to understand, love and lead people, and a grasp of the restored gospel which were to stand him in good stead. (No.10 page13)

Although his parents never did join the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, they willingly permitted their sons and daughters to be baptized beginning soon after the first missionaries arrived in that country in 1840. Four older brothers, Robert, James, Alexander, John and Andrew, and two sisters, Agnes and Barbara had joined the church beginning in 1843. They became stalwarts in the L. D. S. faith and some of them emigrated to Zion before William was baptized at the age of seventeen.

When William was sixteen his father died, leaving his brother Daniel and himself to care for their mother's needs.

William attended the Parochal school at Ruchazie not far from his home, and in his early youth learned coal and iron mining. While yet in his teens he went to Govan a ship-building town on the River Clyde near Glasgow and learned the trade of blacksmith and machinist. During the same period he attended night school to satisfy his yearning for an education and to equip himself more adequately for his life's work.

In 1865, at the age of twenty-one, he became an officer in St. Andrew's League and a member of the Broughan Literary Institute. He participated as a youth in many stage productions and dramas, gaining an ability which he retained throughout the rest of his life, to recite and entertain at a moment's notice.

In 1867, he returned to his work as a miner and became foreman of the Craig-end Colliery. In 1870, he became colliery (coal mine) manager for the West of Fife Coal Company, holding this position until he left for America much against the wishes of his employers. His employers gave him the following letter of recommendation (copied from the original hand written letter):

MUIRCKOCKHALL & TORRY COLLIERIES
OFFICE - GUILDHALL STREET

Dunfirmline, Scotland
17 June 1871

We have much pleasure in certifying that Wm. Leatham was Manager of our Torry Colliery twelve months; that he was active, diligent, strictly sober, attentive to duty, honest and trustworthy.

That he has a thorough knowledge of practical mining, and well up in Mechanical Engineering; that he conducted the underground workings as also the surface operations of that Colliery to our entire satisfaction. That he leaves our employment (to go to America I believe) at his own desire and very much against our wishes. However, our desire and belief is that if he keeps to his profession of Colliery Manager, success in every sense of the term will attend him.

THE WEST OF FIFE COAL CO.

(Signed) Geo. Birrell, Managing Partner

P.S. I will just add that Wm. Leatham was a miner and contractor for about four years at a Colliery that I had an interest in at Craig-end near Glasgow, and it was from observing his general deportment and aptitude for conducting mining operations there that I gave him charge of Torry Colliery. And I unhesitatingly affirm that my hopes were more than realized. And I never received the resignation of any manager with more regret than I did of Wm. Leatham.

(Signed) Geo. Birrell

Dunfirmline 17th June 1871 <sup>1</sup>

He had been baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, June 30, 1861, by David M. Stuart. The next year he was ordained a deacon by Robert Sands. In 1864, he was ordained a teacher and in 1868, when he was 24 years old, he was ordained an Elder by Joel Grover.

In 1870, he was called to do missionary work in Fifeshire. It was a tribute to his faith, character and abilities that he was able to preach the restored but unpopular Gospel and retain the esteem of his employers at the same time. He traveled to various branches in the Glasgow Conference, preaching and teaching as circumstances permitted under direction of Hamilton G. Park, President of the conference.

William Leatham was considered an eloquent speaker by the Scottish Saints and proved to be a pillar of strength to the Church there.

THE 'SS WYOMING'

William Leatham and his bride-to-be Margaret Buchanan came to America from Scotland on this ship in 1871. At that time it was one of the finest ships sailing the Atlantic Ocean. It was operated by the Guion Line. Many of the early day Mormon Saints came to America on it. Capable of making a speed of 12 knots per hour it was 366 ft. X 43 ft. in dimensions and had a displacement tonnage of 3238. Its Sister ship was the 'Wisconsin.' (Photo courtesy The Mariner's Museum, Newport News, Va.)

After asking for the hand of his sweetheart, Margaret Buchanan, he made plans to leave all, including his promising career as a mining engineer, and go to America to be married in a House of the Lord in Zion. Aboard the steamship "Wyoming" which sailed for America in June, 1871, the news spread of their impending marriage and passengers did their best to persuade them to have the captain of the ship perform the ceremony, after which all would enjoy a festive day. However, nothing could dissuade the staunch couple from their desires to enter the marriage covenant only when sealed by the powers of their prophet, seer and revelator for time and all eternity.

They arrived in Salt Lake City, July 12, 1871, and thirteen days later took their marriage covenants in the Salt Lake Endowment House, having received a Temple recommend from President Brigham Young who knew William Leatham by the record and reputation which had preceded him from Scotland. President Daniel S. Wells officiated in the marriage ceremony. (See page 852)

To them were born eleven children: William, Jr., Robert Simpson, Margaret, Janet Buchanan, Archibald Buchanan, Sarah, Agnes, Robert Buchanan, George Buchanan, Walter Thatcher and Lillie Claïressa. A twelfth baby died with its mother in childbirth. (see page 935)

On October 23, 1885, William Leatham married Martha Ann Salisbury in the Logan Temple with Elder Marriner S. Merrill of the Council of the Twelve performing the ceremony. Three letters which he wrote to Martha and her parents disclose some of the forthright and likeable characteristics of the patriarch-to-be. They are reproduced beginning on page 854 of her account.

Eight children were born to William and Martha Ann Salisbury Leatham: Martha Vera, Joshua Wesley, Elizabeth Salisbury, Hyrum Leo, Edith Rowena, Louis Salisbury, Arthur Hunter and Daniel Wallace. (see page 975)

In 1877, William went to Silver Reef, a mining town in Washington County, where he served as branch president. Later, on March 7, 1886, he was set apart as first counselor to Bishop Brigham Y. McMullen of the Leeds Ward.

He returned to Salt Lake City in 1894, and located with his family in the Sixteenth Ward, but worked as a mechanic in the mines and mills at Ophir, Mercur and Lion Hill. In 1902, he was master mechanic of mines and mill at Sunshine, and president of the branch there. (Alpine Stake). After 1904, he spent most of his time in Salt Lake City.

On March 19, 1908, he was called as a special missionary to the Fourteenth Ward, Salt Lake Stake, to help the bishopric in that transient ward. Notwithstanding, he lived in the Sixteenth Ward over a mile away, he accepted the call and for seven years trudged back and forth, by foot to his assignments in that ward. He helped greatly and became respected and loved by the entire ward membership.

William Leatham was well-built and enjoyed good health. He stood five feet eight inches tall, weighed one-hundred sixty-five pounds, and was of medium complexion with brown, wavy hair.

He was ordained a Patriarch, December 28, 1914, by President Francis M. Lyman of the Quorum of the Twelve. During his incumbency as patriarch of Salt Lake Stake, William Leatham gave seven-hundred and fifty-six recorded patriarchal blessings. Nearly half of these were recorded in his own beautiful handwriting and all are on file in the Church Historian's Office, 47 East South Temple Street, Salt Lake City.

He was richly endowed with the gift of healing. Thousands of saints who called upon him for a blessing received renewed health and strength. His own patriarchal blessing says: "Many shall seek thee for counsel and rejoice in thy teachings; thou shalt exhort the saints to faithfulness; thou shalt also have the gift of healing through the prayer of faith, for the Lord is pleased with thy integrity and thou shalt ask in faith and receive... Thy name shall be handed down with thy posterity in honorable remembrance from generation to generation." All of these promises literally came to pass. (Book "I", John Smith, Patriarch to the Church.)

Patriarch Leatham cultivated and possessed in abundance the virtues of faith, temperance, brotherly kindness, godliness, charity, humility and diligence. In all of his assignments he was faithful and inspiring--as a missionary, branch president, counselor to a bishop, teacher in the priesthood quorums and auxiliary organizations, and as a patriarch. He guarded well the interests of the church and brought cheer, comfort and blessings to those for whom and with whom he ministered. He did all things with an eye single to the glory of God.

He loved both old and young and there was a strong bond of affection between the patriarch and his kinsmen whom he dearly loved. He always greeted them with a warm handshake and a kiss.

It were as if the world around them did not exist when he and his brothers would meet and sit down in a quiet room at home or at the school where he worked in later life. They would tell each other of their church and personal activities or perhaps philosophize on the principles of salvation and always gave courage and cheer to each other.

At regular intervals he would walk to the Sixth Ward to visit his brother James or his sister Agnes or to other parts of the city to see his married sons and daughters, and would often take the smaller children to the Salt Lake Theater to see "Polly of the Circus" or some other fine stage play and afterward to Morrison's for a "scotch" meat pie!

Active in civic affairs and politics, he was in demand around Utah mining camps as a speaker for the Republican Party. He held various offices of trust in the party including district chairman and delegate frequently to county and state conventions. At one time he was president and director of the Unity Building and Loan Company.

Early in the 1900's, Eugene V. Debs, perennial candidate for President of the United States on the Socialist ticket, heard William Leatham on the political stump. Mr. Debs tried to get the Utahn to campaign for him and offered William the nomination for Vice President of the United States on the Socialist ticket. The offer was refused with thanks.

In 1909, friends urged Governor William Spry to appoint William Leatham as state coal mine inspector. Praising his ability and experience as a mining man, his backers included Nephi L. Morris, Joseph C. Sharp, J. Parley White, A. B. Kesler, George R. Emery, Edward T. Ashton, George Q. Morris, Elias S. Woodruff, Quayle Cannon and William G. Nebeker, and many others.

The following tributes are representative of the many which have been paid him over the years:

Thaddeus M. Evans, a nephew and President of East Riverside L.D.S. Stake, Salt Lake City, in 1953 wrote: "It is with profound pleasure that I pay tribute to the memory of Patriarch William Leatham. I knew him from my earliest childhood, having associated with the members of his families during my youth. He was affectionately known to our family as Uncle "Willie" having married my mother's eldest sister, Margaret Buchanan, in the year 1871.

"As a youth, I was afforded the opportunity of being employed as one of his assistants during the time he served as custodian of the Jackson Elementary School. He was then 68 years old and it was during this period that I learned to appreciate some of the true values of his nature and sterling traits of character. He was firm in the line of duty, meticulous in the performance of the work at hand, but patient and endowed with an understanding nature in matters pertaining to the immaturity and inexperience of youth. My association with him at that time made a deep and lasting impression throughout my life.

"It was later my privilege to receive under his hands a patriarchal blessing in November of 1916, prior to my entering the mission field, and as a result of that most inspirational blessing, my confidence and testimony in the gift of prophecy with which he was abundantly endowed, is beyond all doubt. Promises and blessings pronounced upon my head on that occasion, have been literally fulfilled; others are promised contingent upon my faithfulness.

"Upon my return from the mission field in December, 1918, I was sustained as a member of the Thirty-Fourth Ward Bishopric, and we, the members of that group were greatly benefited as a result of his wealth of experience in the Church together with the faith and humility he exhibited in our association with him. He was most helpful in counsel and added dignity and strength to our assemblies. I shall ever be grateful for his instruction to me as a young man in blessing and administering to those who were ill and desired a blessing. He was truly an inspiration to me whenever I had the privilege of assisting him in the performance of this holy ordinance as he was richly endowed with the gift of healing. Many faithful members of the church were restored to health as a result of his sincere faith and humble petitions to our Heavenly Father.

"I shall always cherish and revere his memory and ever be grateful for the interest he so generously manifested toward me during my early manhood. I can truly testify that through his influence and wise counsel, my life has been greatly enriched and my faith and understanding in the principles of the gospel definitely established."

In 1929, Elder James E. Talmage of the Council of the Twelve wrote: "I knew Brother Leatham well and have always held him in high esteem. He was a member of a little circle of men who met in sacred places for prayer at regular intervals. I honored him as a patriarch to which exalted calling he was ordained and in which he ministered according to the spirit of that holy office."

Mr. George Birrell, owner of coal mines and an employer of William Leatham in Scotland had this to say of him in 1871, "He was active, dilligent, strictly sober, attentive to duty, honest, and trustworthy. I never have received the resignation of any manager with more regret than I did of William Leatham."

William G. Nebeker, Alta Club, Salt Lake City, in 1909, wrote: "William Leatham is a valuable man of experience, and ability in general mining operations. He worked for me at the Ophir Hill Mining Company at Ophir, Utah, and I found him to be trustworthy and reliable."

Twenty years later in 1929, Nephi L. Morris, President of Salt Lake Stake and an insurance executive, said: "I have known this good man intimately for a little over a quarter of a century and have always regarded him as a great spiritual leader and a man of fine intellectuality. He was eloquent and particularly so in prayer. He always commanded my respect and esteem. He possessed a Christ-like spirit and gloried in service to the cause of truth."

Bishop LeGrand P. Backman of the Thirty-fourth Ward and an attorney said: "I feel it a disticnt honor to express the appreciation I have in my heart to my Heavenly Father for having known such a man as Brother Leatham. His faith was as great as that possessed by any man that I have come in contact with. He loved his family, his children, all of them, and his fellow men. A better and finer man I have never known."

Mrs. Joseph Fielding Smith (Jessie Evans), a niece, paid this tribute to his memory: "My Uncle William Leatham was an honest, upright man. It was he who gave me my Patriarchal Blessing which I have seen unfold and come to pass. I have also heard my mother, Mrs. Janet Buchanan Evans, say on many occasions that there was no finer man ever lived than Uncle William Leatham."

William Marks, an attorney acquaintance, wrote: "I first met William Leatham in Ophir, Utah in 1895, and met him frequently thereafter. I have known and associated with him in politics because of his interest in that line. I have found him high-minded, clean-cut and possessed of high ideals."

In 1929, at the age of 75, Archibald Buchanan who knew him both in Scotland and in America testified as follows: "I have known Brother Leatham since I was a boy. I have known him intimately since 1882. I have known him to be an upright, honorable, honest, God-fearing man. He was filled with faith in God and His work."

George J. Budd, Salt Lake City, stated: "He had a very convincing testimony of the gospel of Jesus Christ and a love in his heart for his fellowmen, and labored hard all his life for the necessities of the same. When a young man he was called to go to the mining camp known as the Silver Reef, where he served as Branch President in the church and later in the Leeds Ward Bishopric, and master mechanic for the Silver Reef mines and mills.

"The following two instances stand out in his noble life. A young Catholic priest by the name of Scanlan who had been traveling out of Pioche walked the 70 odd miles to the Silver Reef and was received by President William Leatham, who informed him there were a number of Catholic people in the "Reef" and tendered him the use of the L.D.S. chapel and choir. As far as we know, that was the first Catholic church service in Washington County, Utah, presided over by a Mormon Elder and the sermon by a Catholic priest. President Leatham afterwards gave the young Catholic a letter of introduction to President Brigham Young. The priest came up to Salt Lake City, and there organized a Catholic church, and finally became the first bishop of the Catholic church in Utah.

"On another occasion there was a man who had been gambling during the night and had won a considerable amount of money, but on his way home he was set upon by two men and killed and robbed of his money. His body was found the next morning and all the man's personal property was thrown in a badger hole. A young man who came up from St. George at that time to work in the mines, was suspected of being the murderer, but he was proven to be as innocent as a child. He was placed in jail and that night a mob was organized, who broke into the jail and took the young man out, placed a rope about his neck and was about to hang him when President William Leatham came upon them and addressed the mob with such force and such power and such eloquence that they dispersed and the man was placed again in the jail. It wasn't many days afterward that the the two men who had committed this crime were in Pioche, Nevada in a saloon and they got into an argument over the money they took from this man and they fought it out with knives. One man was heard to say, "Ever since the night we killed the fellow in the 'Reef' you have been trying to get rid of me, but I will get rid of you." They both lived a few minutes and then died, but their closing words were that the man's watch and other personal property and the iron that he was killed with would be found in the badger hole near where the body was found.

"I received this information from my uncle, my father and Brother Leatham."

The patriarch's long and active life of service reached an end December 18, 1929. At the age of eighty six, still active as a caretaker for the Board of Education, he was on his way afoot to work when he was struck down by an automobile at dusk, on the corner of 4th South and 3rd West streets, Salt Lake City. He died a few days later.

Funeral Services of Patriarch William Leatham <sup>3</sup>

Held in the Thirty-fourth Ward Chapel, Salt Lake City, Utah, Sunday, December 22, 1929. Bishop S. Burton Newman of the Thirty-fourth Ward conducted the services.

Vocal duet: Sisters Rachel Emery and Iretta Taylor Lambert.

Invocation: President Wilford A. Beesley. In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ we approach Thee in the attitude of prayer, our Father in heaven, and we pray for the influence of Thy Holy Spirit to attend us in this service this Sabbath day.

We have met today to honor one of thy servants who has lived these many years among us; we honor his name, O Father, because of the integrity of his life. The lesson that he has taught us by his sincerity, his devotion and his spirituality has affected our lives and has helped us to do better and to live nearer unto Thee. We thank Thee for the life of this man. We are mindful of his many years of usefulness, how Thou didst gather him out from the nations of the earth through Thy servants, that he heard the voice of the Shepherd and that it had a familiar sound unto him. By reason of his acceptance of this Gospel he has been able to influence the lives of hundreds of his fellowmen.

Help us to appreciate the many blessings that have come to us from membership in Thy Church. Help us to appreciate the influence that comes from a life well lived, that we may in turn by our example strive to better the lives of those with whom we labor and live amongst.

We pray especially this afternoon for Thy Holy Spirit to touch our hearts and bring to our remembrance the many deeds of kindness that this good man has rendered in Thy service. May it touch the hearts of his kindred and his friends and awake in us further resolve and determination to serve Thee and to keep Thy commandments, that we may obtain, as he has obtained, a seat in Thy Celestial Kingdom, there to live eternally with Thee.

These blessings we now ask in the worthy name of Thy Son Jesus Christ, Amen.

Elder Edwin F. Parry, former bishop of Sixteenth Ward. My dear brethren and sisters: This large audience is a testimony of the love and esteem in which our dear departed brother was held. Patriarch William Leatham was a very remarkable man. He was very industrious both in manual labor and in a church capacity. It is said that statistics show that 95% of the men are dependent upon their families or upon others financially at the age of sixty years. Brother Leatham has lived to the age of 86 years and was independent to the very last. He had a desire to work as long as he was able.

He loved to work not only with his hands but with his mind and with his heart. He loved to work in a church capacity and was always anxious and always ready. Brother Leatham, although he lived long and was industrious, never acquired a fortune, never became rich in this world's goods. I presume he had little desire to do so. He sought heavenly riches. He was wealthy in experience, wealthy in spirituality and he had intellectual riches which are worth far more than the wealth of the world. He lived not for himself; there was no selfishness about Brother Leatham. He lived for others. He loved mankind; he loved children at all ages. He had a love for everybody within the radius of his activities and he had a desire to serve. He was always on hand to do what he could in his humble way; for he was a humble man, a man full of faith and full of good desires.

I have worked with him for many years in a church capacity and I have known him ever since he came into this neighborhood to live, and have always found him ready to lend a helping hand. If anybody was sick and they called for him he was ready to go and administer to them and help them and encourage them. If he was called to teach in the ward, he was ready to do that. He not only taught in the classes of the ward for many years, but while I was bishop of the adjoining ward he was asked to help the bishopric in reaching people--people that especially needed visiting. His influence has always been good and uplifting.

He was called especially to labor in the 14th Ward for seven years and he was very faithful in those labors. I am sure of that because I met him very frequently passing by my residence going to his labors in that ward in the evening. I often met him coming from my work, or have overtaken him, and several times he stopped and said, "I will have to go in here. There is sickness here. Some of my friends here are sick; I must call on them." He was always serving his friends. He never sought happiness, he never pursued happiness in a worldly sense. Happiness overtook him when he was seeking the happiness of others. He loved his family; he loved his wife and children, as well as neighbor's children. In fact he loved all mankind. He had a love for mankind and a desire to serve them.

I can say for his good wife who is living, I was not acquainted with the one who passed away, that she is equally as good and worthy a woman as he was a worthy man. She helped her husband in all his labors. She sanctioned what he did and was willing to sacrifice her comfort for his benefit and for the benefit of others, whom he sought to comfort and assist. She was a real help-meet to him, and their life was a happy one because there was unity, peace and joy among them.

I feel sure brother Leatham was entitled to the blessings that the Lord Jesus Christ pronounced upon people, as found in what is called the Beatitudes, in the fifth chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel. One of these Beatitudes reads like this: Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Brother Leatham was one who sought after righteousness in his early life and he was filled with satisfaction, joy and a testimony of the Truth and the Spirit of the Lord to guide him from day to day. He always had that testimony with him ready to bear it at all times.

Another Beatitude reads like this: Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Brother Leatham was one who was full of mercy towards mankind, willing to overlook their faults and encourage them to overcome those faults, and I am sure that the Lord will be merciful to him.

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. Brother Leatham was a peacemaker. He always sought peace and strove to have peace among his brethren--among those with whom he labored. Blessed are the pure in heart: I believe he will see God. He lived to serve God throughout the days of his life. From the time he heard the Gospel, he accepted it with a willing heart and did all he could do further the cause of Christ. He labored in his native land, Scotland, and has always been active in this land. I feel that the Lord has a great reward in store for him.

I pray the blessings of the Lord will be on his family. His children have a wonderful example to guide them throughout their lives, both in their father and in their mother. If they will follow in their footsteps they will do no wrong, because they lived good lives and sought to do the right thing at all times. I pray that the blessings of the Lord may be with you all. I pray that his wife may be comforted, and that his children will remember their good parents and will seek to carry out their example. Nothing will please Brother Leatham better than to know that his children are following in his footsteps and are keeping the commandments of the Lord. May the peace of God be with us all, I ask in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

Elder LeGrande P. Backman, former bishop of the Thirty-fourth Ward. My brethren and sisters: I feel a distinct honor this afternoon in being called to say a few words at this our farewell to our dear brother. Ever since I was called upon to speak by one of the boys some few days ago, I have been wondering just what I could say. Knowing that Brother Leatham was a man of so much greater knowledge in the Gospel and with such great faith, I felt that the best thing I could say was to express the appreciation I have in my heart to my Heavenly Father for having known such a man as Brother Leatham.

When I was first called into the bishopric of the 34th Ward, I was just a young unmarried man. My counselors were young and inexperienced. Brother Leatham was here, as we felt, as a guide and bulwark of strength for us, and many a time he came to us and gave us words of encouragement and advice, and in a constructive way told us just how was the best way to do things for the betterment of the people in this Ward. I express my appreciation here today for the privilege I have had of knowing and associating with such a splendid man.

Just last night I read in the News his biography and felt in my heart that I knew so little after all of his splendid long life. Before he ever came to this country he had passed through many varied experiences that we know very little about. Although I have known him over since I was ten, I have always known him just as I last saw him--as a Patriarch in the Church, full of faith, full of a desire to serve his fellowmen. It seems impossible to think of him in any other capacity. I sometimes wonder if those who are brought in from out of the world and accept the Gospel of Christ are not given the gift of a little greater faith, a little greater diligence and desire to serve the Lord than some of us who are born and raised here in the shadow of the temple. His faith was as great a faith as that possessed by any man that I have ever come in contact with. I know that he loved his fellowmen. I know he loved his family--his children, all of them.

At this Christmas time, this is rather a sad experience for his family and all those who loved him to go through. Still I do not know of any man who carried the Christmas spirit any more than Brother Leatham did--the spirit of giving. What greater gift could any man give than the wonderful blessings that Brother Leatham has given to so many hundreds of people, who have come under his hands. They have contained words of encouragement, words of advice and love for the men and women who have received patriarchal blessings. A better and finer man, I am sure that we can say, with a heart full of gratitude, I have ever known or been in contact with.

It seems that each time I have come down to the ward recently it has been for just such an experience--to say goodbye to some of my dear friends who have passed to the Great Beyond. It always fills my heart with sadness to think of that departure, and yet we should feel at all times, especially those who have faith in the Gospel of Christ, that this departure, this separation, is only for a short time. Many times I have heard Brother Leatham speak on the Hereafter. I think that one of the dearest parts of the Gospel to him was his belief in the Hereafter. I have heard many a time a discourse from his lips on the Degrees of Glory--how that a man receives the reward that he merits from the life that he has lived, from the deeds that he has done while living in this existence. There is no doubt that Brother Leatham will reap the rewards of his righteous life here.

I do not feel that I should take more time today because there are other speakers. I do want to express my feelings and to express my sympathy to Sister Leatham and her family. I know many of the boys and girls and I feel very kindly toward them and think they should feel honored in having a parent such as Brother Leatham has been. I pray that God's blessings will be on us all, and I do it in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

Elder Archibald Buchanan, a brother-in-law. My brethren and sisters: I desire that the remarks that I may make will be under the influence of the Holy Spirit. There is one remark that I will make to begin with. I have known Brother Leatham since I was a boy. I have known him intimately since 1882. I have known him to be an upright, honorable, honest, Godfearing man. I have known him to be a man who was devoted to the work of God, who counted everything as filthy dross compared with the Truth that the Lord has revealed. He was filled with faith in God and faith in God's work. He had no other desire than to work righteousness and to live a life that would be acceptable to the Lord.

The fear of men had no place in his heart. As one of our hymns says: "Shall I for fear of feeble man--The Spirit's course in me restrain--Or undismayed by word or deed--Be a true witness for the Lord." This was precisely the attitude of Brother Leatham throughout his entire life; to work righteousness, to do that which was acceptable in the sight of God and before his fellowmen. Now a life of this kind, a life of this character can do nothing but bring a reward to those who live it, and he certainly lived just such a life as this. He also felt that the reward that would come to him, as to all other righteous men and women, was peace, happiness and joy and a reward that far exceeded the riches of this world; far exceeding, my brethren and sisters, that which power, possession or man could bring to him, and his life was accordingly. He lived the Gospel of the Son of God. He valued it above everything else, and everything else was a second consideration with Brother Leatham so far as the Gospel of Christ was concerned.

I have known him for this length of time that I have mentioned and I have never seen the act that would cause the blush of shame to come on to the face of any person who lived such a life as he lived. Seek ye first the kingdom of heaven and its righteousness and all other blessings shall be added unto you. This was precisely the attitude of this our brother. He associated with people sometimes who were not of his faith, who did not look at things as he looked at them, but nevertheless, his course was upright, straightforward, honorable and honest. That is my testimony regarding Brother Leatham's course in this world.

He has gone to his reward and I am sure it will be a good one to bless the memory of William Leatham. Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, neither has it entered into the heart of man to conceive the blessings that God has in store for those who serve Him and keep His commandments as Brother Leatham did in his lifetime. My brethren and sisters, he realized the blessings that come to those who do right--the light of Truth, the testimony of Jesus and the hope of eternal life.

I do not feel to continue my remarks as there are others to speak and I trust that the Lord will bless these children with the same inclinations and desires that their Father had, and bless his children's children, that they also like their grandparents will walk in the path of righteousness, which I seek in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

Vocal Solo, "Face to Face," Sister Nora P. Richardson.

Elder Alma C. Clayton of the Salt Lake City Board of Education. It seems strange when we attempt to figure up our real life and its makeup, when we go through life and reflect back on the men who have touched us as we traveled through life--the men who have given us encouragement and help--and realized that our life has been made sweeter and better through having met them.

It is true that I have been well acquainted with Brother Leatham for a long time. For six or seven years I labored with him in the 14th Ward as a missionary. I have been with him as a block teacher; I have been with him in a group of Sunday School and Priesthood quorum members. I have also had occasion to meet him very often in the last 26 1/2 years in his school work. He started first in 1903, to work for the Board of Education and continuing until his death. All his life he gave the very best he had at all times. He had no small responsibility when you take into consideration that in that period of time there have been thousands of children come under his observance and that he has had the constant care of these children during that period of time.

He never thought of himself; it was always of other people. In his life he never gloried in the riches of men but his time was occupied in doing more worth-while things that he might make others happy, and thus out of his life's work he stored up for himself untold blessings.

I know that he was very happy to have his son Louis fill a mission; he has just recently returned. It filled him with a great deal of pride to realize one of the fondest desires of his heart, to have his son fill a mission. I read a telegram in his home yesterday which bespeaks a thing that I hope travels through the beings of every one of his children. The young man who sent this message (Hyrum Leatham) said that he had such a wonderful father, such a loving father who always thought of everyone else but himself that he was thankful to have such a father. That boy will think that over and carry it through life. I say to all his children, that this good man has pointed out to you beyond question of doubt the road to happiness, the road that will lead you to the Celestial Kingdom, if you will follow in his footsteps. Everything is to be gained and nothing to be lost if you listen to the words of this good man.

I have heard him bear his testimony, I have heard him give expression in faith to his belief and knowledge in a life after this life, and he knew that blessings untold would come to those who loved the Lord and kept his commandments.

He has been able to touch the lives of many as he has traveled the journey of life. After all what is our strength? What is your strength? Our only strength is in the Lord and in doing good to our fellowmen as this man has done. Our greatest strength is in our influence for good as we pass through life. Brethren and sisters, that is our strength; we have no other. What a wonderful influence Brother Leatham had on those he came in contact with. The good that he has done cannot be measured.

God bless his memory and may his heritage sink deep into the hearts of his children that in your efforts you will find the road to happiness if you will follow the teachings of this good man. May this be our lot, I pray in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

Vocal Solo, "That Beautiful Land on High," Sister Jessie Evans, a niece.

Elder Nephi L. Morris, former President of the Salt Lake Stake. . . . When I read in the morning paper of the violent death of my dear friend, I was deeply grieved. Without warning and without the slightest degree of preparation he met an end that we would all want to avoid. I should rather have seen so beautiful and peaceful and kindly a life terminate in the atmosphere of peace and rest, not in violence. But I am reminded that in his taking away, he was deprived of the affliction that often attends lingering illness and dependence in old age.

On two occasions I have come near waking up in eternity, and on those occasions I think I could have regained consciousness in the other world just as easily as here and it would all have been over, and so it was with him. It was speedy; it was violent before the end came. But I know of no man or woman more superbly prepared for death than Brother Leatham. I cannot see how a man could be more ready to meet his Maker and balance his account of mortal existence. Thus he went. I have many regrets regarding his going away. One of a very personal character. I had promised to see him some time and talk over some of the affairs and work with which he has been connected. I shall have to defer that visit to sometime in the future, if I may attain to his company when shall be we able to sit down and talk about whatever we might have to discuss.

I have known this good man intimately for a little over a quarter of a century and have always regarded him as a great spiritual leader and a man of fine intellectuality. I did not know he was a member of the Broughan Literary Institute and an officer of the St. Andrews League; but I knew he had literary talent and intellectual development. When I heard him pray, I often thought how greatly he enjoyed the Spirit of the Lord. He was eloquent, but particularly so in prayer.

I knew his brother James, I have known his good wife here for sometime and also other members of his family. They are fine people.

During his lifetime he always commanded my respect and esteem. Now that he has finished his great and glorious work, what have we to say about it but words of appreciation and commendation.

I remember when this dear man came to me when his son was going on a mission. He was over eighty years of age and was contemplating sending his boy on a mission for two years. When I asked him if he was able to do so, he said, "I think so; I think I can; I am willing to try." I knew the man was willing, the spirit was willing, was he physically able to carry it on? I studied the matter and we took counsel upon it repeatedly. The boy went. Brother Leatham had supreme joy in sending his son on a mission and when Louis returned after having filled an honorable mission, his happiness was complete. I was very pleased that Brother Leatham remained to see his son return.

Brother Leatham gloried in service to the cause of Truth. He possessed a Christ-like spirit and was full of faith. He was a man of God and I felt it always. I felt God could speak through him to us, as he has upon a thousand occasions. He has gone to his reward, to the place of which we know so little except by revelation, of which Brother Buchanan spoke.

It does not matter altogether whether a man belongs to this creed or that creed if he be a righteous man or she a righteous woman, if their conduct in life squares with what is morally good, with the laws of justice and mercy and they will receive a reward in the world to come infinitely greater than their power to conceive. Those who do evil will be punished for their evil deeds, and the righteous and honorable, irrespective of creed, will receive a reward beyond comprehension of mortal man. Paul had a vision of the three glories and the place beyond, which is superior and infinitely more beautiful and enjoyable than this order of life for those who are faithful.

This good man has toiled and labored through four score years of his life, at least from boyhood to manhood to old age, in the service of the Lord. What a wonderful work he, Brother Bowman and the other brethren did in the 14th Ward for many years. How we might envy him here today for the splendid record he has made. Now he has passed through the change we call death.

In this winter time the earth is in the grasp of the ice and cold. Vegetation is dormant and all outdoors appears to be dead. Even the evergreens have ceased to grow above the surface and the sap, the vital life-giving fluid, is down deep in the soil. But spring will shortly be upon us when the sun will warm the earth and the vital sap will come back into branch and twig. All vegetation will take on new life, buds will burst and flowers bloom and everything will be green and beautiful.

So it is with man. The time will come when he will be called to take part in the glorious resurrection. This good man who lies before us will have a spiritualized immortal body of flesh and bones in the resurrection, in which there shall be no seeds of death. Jesus is our great example. He took upon Himself an immortal body in the resurrection and by his glorious power he is able to bring about the same miracle in us.

May God preserve us in the faith of the Gospel and in the hope of eternal life. May our disposition to serve and help be vigorous and enthusiastic and when we pass from this life may we have the joy, peace and blessings that come to those whose lives have been spent in doing good. May the Lord bless the family of this good brother. May He strengthen their testimonies and give them a greater desire to serve Him and keep His commandments. I pray God's blessings upon us all and I do it in Jesus' name, Amen.

Bishop Newman: Sister Leatham has requested that I read this letter:

CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER DAY SAINTS
THE COUNCIL OF THE TWELVE
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Mrs. William Leatham
71 North 7th West Street
Salt Lake City, Utah

December 20, 1929

Dear Sister Leatham:

The word of the sudden summons that came to your beloved husband was very grievous to me, as I know it is to the multitude of friends who knew him and loved him. I want to express my brotherly sympathy to yourself and to all your family in this great bereavement.

Although Brother Leatham had lived far beyond the usual term of life, and although, as we all know, he was prepared to go, we cannot ignore the fact that the deplorable accident is a shock to all who know the circumstances.

I knew your husband well, and have always held him in very high esteem. As you know he was a member of a little circle of men who met in sacred places for prayer at regular intervals. I honored him as a Patriarch, to which exalted calling he was ordained, and in which he ministered according to the spirit of that holy office.

Please accept for yourself and extend to your sons and daughters the true condolences and sincere support of a friend.

May the Christmastide be hallowed unto you through the divine gift of comfort and peace, which I trust will prevail in your home. Brother Leatham has gone to join the goodly company of Patriarchs in the paradise of God. I trust his children and their children will follow the good example he has given them and be worthy to associate with him in the realm of the blessed.

I confidently pray that the Lord will give you a measure of that comfort and peace which He alone can bestow.

Sincerely your brother,

James E. Talmage

Bishop Newman: In behalf of the family I wish to express thanks to all who have been so kind to them in this hour of bereavement, for the beautiful floral offerings which have been sent, for the music that has been rendered and for all the kind expressions that have been given, for the cars which have been furnished by friends and also by the bishopric of the 14th Ward as a tribute of respect and love for his services in that ward.

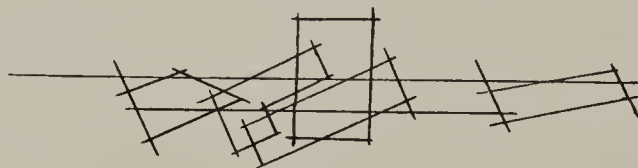

Brother Andrew Bowman, a patriarch of the stake and a life-long friend of Brother Leatham will dedicate the grave. The Evans quartette will also sing a number at the graveside. Interrement will be in the city cemetery.

Selection, Evans Quartette, nephews

Benediction: Moroni Gillispie, a brother-in-law. O God, our Heavenly and Eternal Father, at the close of these peaceful services, we come before Thee with thankful hearts for Thy goodness and kindness unto us, for the privilege of meeting together even under these sad circumstances and of having the privilege of laying away our dear ones in peace.

We are thankful for the life of our brother and we pray that we all may take inspiration from the example he has given us and go on and do better and live nearer unto Thee.

May Thy peace, blessing and consoling comfort, be with his family, and as we depart from this house of worship may Thy Spirit accompany us to the cemetery that no harm may befall us. Be with us at all times we pray in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

The letter following on next page was written by William Leatham to his son Wesley during World War I and is self explanatory.

71 North Seventh West

Salt Lake City, Utah

May 30, 1918

My dear son Wesley:

This being Decoration Day we are going to the cemetery and according to my custom-- kneel upon the sacred spot where we buried your little brother (Daniel Wallace) who died in his infancy, and there supplicate for the blessings and protecting care of God upon the living, that whether in life or in death, my son, we shall be worthy of His approval.

It pains me much to reflect upon the fearful conditions that prevail in the world at the present time, and whilst I have always viewed War to a certain extent to be carnage; nevertheless I do not share in the least degree, the views of the "Pacifists" of our land. Long before our government did declare War on our enemies, clearly setting forth the fact that we will maintain our rights, liberty and freedom in the World, and assist in putting down tyrants and tyranny; extending to all their inalienable rights without let or hinderance -- I had a just and correct view of the part allotted to us as a Nation to play in this important epoch of the world's history, because my sympathies went out to all the down trodden Nationalities and I hoped for their speedy deliverance -- but, when our own rights were trampled upon, our own people murdered, I was moved to the innermost depths of my soul, and much as I loved peace and all that it stands for -- rather would I see the warrior with his garments dyed in blood, fighting for justice and right, than the tyrant with his head upon the neck of the oppressed, flaunting in purple and gold. What though convulsions shake the earth, out of this darkness and strife may spring a glorious morrow, out of this chaos and confusion may leap love and harmony. Indeed, ever yet has freedom's babe been baptized in blood! ever yet have nations had to pass through a baptism of fire to their triumphs. So, I am convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt these warrings and strugglings are but the death pangs of tyranny and the birth throbs of liberty, making way for the spread of truth, justice and liberty, which alone makes men and women free -- So, if unable myself to do much, I am truly thankful to be well represented by loyal, stalwart, able sons. (Son, George, was also in the Army at that time).

I hope the day of triumph and peace is near, when our Nation shall reach its destined goal of usefulness and be recognized as a power for good in all the world.

You have doubtless heard from Ma, and know that she is at Bess's in Seattle, Washington. Next Sunday she will be in Baker, Oregon at Aunt Annie's -- I believe your cousin, Norman Salisbury, is in Oklahoma somewhere near you. Vera's children have had the whooping cough but are getting better. Edith is housekeeping by themselves up on the Eastside but she came down and stayed two weeks with us -- and will come down and help do for Louis and me a day now and then, so we will not hurry Ma home until she gets her visit out, for she surely needs a rest and change. Louis is working at Cohns (Dry Goods Co.) but will go to high school next September. He is small of his age. Arthur is with Ma. May God's blessings attend you, my son, and my blessing is always with you. Write often. Hoping your health is good and that you have satisfaction in knowing that you are serving your Country in a good cause -- in which we all share. Your Loving Father,

/s/ Wm. Leatham

Chapter 55

MARGARET BUCHANAN LEATHAM

MARGARET BUCHANAN LEATHAM, wife of William Leatham, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, on May 13, 1852, the daughter of Sarah McMurrin and Archibald Buchanan.

Her early years were spent in Glasgow, where she went to school, and grew up much as the other children of her neighborhood. As a young girl she worked at Grant's Mill in Glasgow, a steam loom factory, where lace curtains, muslin and other materials were made. Her father worked in a supervisory capacity at this same factory.

In her early teens, Margaret became acquainted with the principles of the Restored Gospel, through the teachings of her mother and the Mormon missionaries, and became a baptized member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, March 6, 1868, before she was sixteen years of age.

Margaret was an attractive-looking girl with curly hair, a glowing complexion and blue eyes. Among her many admirers was William Leatham, who lived near Glasgow, and first met Margaret when she was sixteen at an L.D.S. branch outing held on a May Day at Dunfermline. She immediately caught his fancy as she participated in the festivities of the day. She was vivacious, full of fun, and popular. He resolved right then that she was the girl he wanted to be his wife.

After making her acquaintance, he returned to his home, later explaining, "I left her in the Lord's hands and he took care of her for me. I knew she would be there when I came back." William Leatham had great faith, and events transpired as he felt they would. In the meantime, he worked hard as a coal mine manager and saved his money so he would be able to go to America, --Zion.

When Margaret was eighteen, he asked for her hand in marriage and was accepted. However, he had resolved that he wanted not a civil marriage, but one for time and all eternity, which could be performed only in Zion in a holy place provided for that purpose. She shared in this desire, and so they made plans to emigrate to America.

Margaret's father, although not then a member of the Church, had implicit trust in William Leatham and told his daughter, "He is the only man in the whole of broad Scotland I would trust you with." So they left Glasgow by train for Liverpool, where they set sail on the "S.S. Wyoming" for America with a group of other Mormon emigrants. Soon after their arrival in Salt Lake City, they were married in the Salt Lake Endowment House on July 25, 1870.

As a blacksmith and machinist with mining engineering experience, William Leatham sought work in various Utah mining camps, --the Stormont Mills and Silver Reef Mines in southern Utah, and at Mercur, Ophir, and Bingham near Salt Lake, --and whenever possible his wife was with him. The family increased, and eventually six sons and five daughters were born of this union. A seventh son died at childbirth. The family finally returned to Salt Lake City from Leeds, Utah, in 1894, and made their home permanently in the Sixteenth Ward. (See page 935).

Margaret Buchanan Leatham was a wonderful mother. She loved children and made a happy home for her family. She had many friends and was ever mindful of those in need. Her many acts of kindly thoughtfulness endeared her to her neighbors and associates. She had a beautiful singing voice and sang in ward choirs as well as in solo parts.

She died on May 22, 1897, when only forty-four years of age, from complications while giving birth to her twelfth child, a son. While her passing seemed tragic at the time, leaving her husband with a family of little children, the passing years have brought solace and sweet memories of her wonderful life and the good works she left behind.

MARTHA ANN SALISBURY LEATHAM

MARTHA ANN SALISBURY LEATHAM, wife of William Leatham, was born September 15, 1867, in the old L.D.S. tithing office at Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, the daughter of Joshua and Elizabeth (Hoskins) Salisbury. (See page 975).

Two hours after her birth it was discovered that she had been born with small holes in the lobes of her ears ready for earrings.

Top- WILLIAM LEATHAM AND MARTHA ANN SALISBURY LEATHAM at the time of their marriage in the Logan LDS Temple shown below. Their marriage ceremony was performed October 23, 1885 by Apostle Marriner W. Merrill. Both the Leatham family and the Salisbury family helped in the building of this temple.

Her parents came to Utah in 1860, by ox-team. Her mother served as president of the Wellsville Relief Society for eighteen years and her father pioneered dry-land farming in Utah. Four of her brothers filled foreign missions for the L.D.S. Church and three were bishops in the Church.

She was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints by Robert Leatham (who later became her brother-in-law) at the age of eight years, and subsequently was active in the various church organizations in the Wellsville Ward.

As a girl in Wellsville, she experienced the rugged life and experiences of the pioneers and recalled many times of seeing the indians do the war dance around her father's home in full regalia, disbanding only when given a beef or a wagon load of flour by her parents. She attended public school in Wellsville and learned to play the organ in her youth.

She married William Leatham on October 23, 1885, in the Logan L.D.S. Temple. Mariner W. Merrill of the Quorum of the Twelve performed the ceremony.

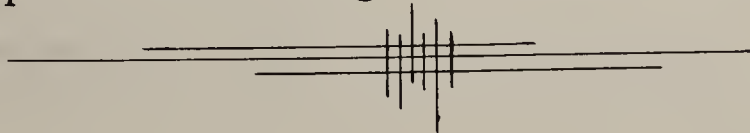

It was seven years after her marriage that her first baby was born. Eight children blessed this union, viz: Martha Vera, Joshua Wesley, Elizabeth Salisbury, Hyrum Leo, Edythe Rowena, Louis Salisbury, Arthur Hunter and Daniel Wallace. (see page 975).

After her marriage she lived for a time in Salt Lake City, later moving to Washington County, where she performed ordinance work in the St. George Temple.

With the closing of the mines and mills at Silver Reef, the family returned to Salt Lake City, later moving to Ophir, Utah, where they lived for a short period.

She was known by all her friends as an especially good cook, an excellent housekeeper, and as one who possessed a fine conception of fastidiousness in her dress and her appearance. She strove always to do her duty as a fine wife and mother in Israel, supporting her husband in all things.

She died September 29, 1938, in Salt Lake City, where she had made her home since 1904, from complications resulting from a fall in the home two years previously.

The following self-explanatory letter had been sent by William Leatham to the parents of Martha Ann Salisbury at Wellsville:

Stormont Mill, (Near Leeds, Utah)<sup>1</sup>
April 24th 1884.

Dear Bro & Sister Salisbury:

Upon reflection I feel somewhat to blame in making proposals to your daughter without first consulting you in the matter. On this account I felt much embarrassed at the time. And now I offer my apologies, and ask your forgiveness feeling assured that in the kindness of your hearts you will grant me the pardon I ask.

Were I a single man I would not propose to any lady until I were at least reasonably sure of an affirmative answer. But as it is I have not the disposition even if I had the opportunity of carrying on a protracted courtship. The obligations enjoined upon us in the Holy Priesthood impel me to take this step---And realizing as I do the benefit of getting a wife out of a good family, makes me the more bold to hazard the following proposition:

With your permission I will make a formal proposal to your daughter and without waiting for your answer I will enclose it here! Should it be in opposition to your wishes of course you need not show it to her. As you are well aware, one cannot help but feel that it is humiliating to be refused---but should this be my unhappy fate, all I ask is that it go not beyond your own family for whom I have much respect ---And our friendly relations so far as I am concerned shall always continue.

Respectfully your brother in the Gospel.

/S/ Wm. Leatham

This was the actual proposal letter enclosed in the letter to the parents who gave the enclosure to Martha:

Stormont Mill (Near Leeds, Utah) <sup>2</sup>
April 24, 1884

Dear Sister Martha:

Should it please your parents to present to you this note I hope you will think favorably of the proposal I made you and now re-new. As you did not offer any objection ---only that of being too young when I introduced the subject of marriage---Now that you have had time to reflect and can have your parent's counsel and advice, I again approach the subject and sue for your heart and hand.

If you will consent to be mine, I think I am in a position to take proper care of you, and need I assure you that Maggie would be so pleased to have one so well disposed as yourself, and for whom she has an unfeigned attachment, joined to the family.

If you accept my proposal it will be your place to name a time between now and next October Conference when the ceremony may take place---or if you would grant me that privilege I would specify a time in the near future!

The above is all matter of fact. True I might have offered protestations of love and sentiment, as is frequently the case. My apology is simply this---If you consent you will then be mine after which it shall always give me pleasure to manifest for you in every respect that Love which survives death and defies oblivion. Till then believe me

Your Bro. in the Gospel of Christ

/S/ Wm. Leatham

Martha replied that she was too young and would take a year to decide. A year later Elder Leatham sent this follow-up:

Stormont Hill<sup>3</sup>
 April 17th 1885.

Dear Sis. Martha:

Soon it will be one year since I heard from you - And such an eventful one too. The servants of God have and are bring-ing, signed, fined, imprisoned
 &c. for obeying the revealed will of God - The faith of the Latterday Saints is being tried, and the line of demarkation between the backsliders and the faithful is being more clear-
 -ly defined -

Our sympathies are largely with the broth-ers and sisters who are suffer-ing from the present on - slaught that is bring so cruelly maged - yet we have an abiding faith that God will deliver His people.

And in accordance with that faith we desire to conform to His law so far as it lays within our power that we may be entitled to the blessings promised.

Therefore I am made bold to propound the following questions. - You stated that you would like to stay at least one year at home, now, that year will soon be up, will you then be willing to cast your lot with mine? I would not inveigle you into an alliance against your own free will and choice even if I could, consequently

I will not attempt to cajole or work upon your feelings, but hope you will be able to decide in my favor, or as God may give you the light to see -

I will write you
at greater length next time if you give me the right to.

At present we are all well. With kind re-
-gards to your parents & family we remain

Yours Sincerely

ROBERT LEATHAM BRIDGE

ROBERT LEATHAM BRIDGE, manager of the Salt Lake Municipal Airport and First Counselor in the East Riverside Stake Presidency, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, March 22, 1909, a son of Robert Bridge and Janet Leatham. (No. 2 Page 941).

He attended the Jackson Elementary and Junior High Schools, also West High School where he participated in all sports activities. He played as center on the 1927, All-State Champion Football team, while attending West High.

He married LaVern McClellan June 28, 1935, in the Salt Lake Temple. Clarence Mac Lloyd and Kenneth Reid Lloyd (sons of LaVern by a previous marriage) were sealed to him and LaVern on June 6, 1944, in the Salt Lake Temple. Other children blessing this union are Robert McClellan Bridge, Michael Stephen Bridge and Ruth Ann Bridge, all born in Salt Lake City, (see page 943).

He was a member of the Sixteenth Ward until after his marriage, when he moved to the Twenty-eighth Ward. He came up through the ranks of the priesthood gaining experience and knowledge and setting an example to all. He was baptized August 31, 1918, by Ernest E. Ridges and confirmed September 1, 1918, by Edwin F. Parry. Robert was ordained a deacon on May 9, 1921, by Hyrum Selander; a teacher, January 22, 1923, by Charles G. Wright; a priest, February 4, 1924, by Gus Dyer; an elder, July 26, 1926, by Charles G. Wright; a seventy, April 22, 1934, by John H. Taylor; and a high priest, March 7, 1937, by George F. Richards.

Robert L. Bridge

He was sustained as second counselor to Bishop A. P. A. Glad of the Twenty-eighth Ward, Salt Lake Stake, on February 28, 1937, and set apart for this office by Elder George F. Richards on March 7, 1937.

On July 2, 1940, Robert was ordained a bishop and set apart to preside over the Twenty-eighth Ward, Riverside Stake, by Elder Charles A. Callis. He served in this capacity with distinction and honor until 1949.

Robert was sustained as first counselor to President Thaddeus M. Evans of the East Riverside Stake May 22, 1949, and set apart for this office the same day by Elder Joseph F. Merrill.

He received his patriarchal blessing under the hands of his grandfather, Patriarch William Leatham, December 14, 1922. It has been an inspiration and a guide to him.

Elder Bridge filled an honorable mission to Great Britain from 1931-33, serving as a district president for a time. He left Salt Lake City, March 12, 1931, and was released March 12, 1933.

He participated in the activities of the Sixteenth Ward and served as a Sunday School teacher from 1933 to 1936, as an M.I. A. superintendent from 1933 to 1935, and as chairman of the Genealogical Committee in 1935-36.

During the construction of the new $210,000 East Riverside Stake Center in 1949, Robert was put in charge and supervised its erection.

At present he is welfare director for East Riverside Stake, Salt Lake Regional Welfare Work Director, and first counselor in the East Riverside Stake Presidency. He has been manager of the Salt Lake Municipal Airport since 1948, and under his supervision a new $2 million instrument runway has recently been completed. On June 8, 1954, he was appointed a member of the Salt Lake City Board of Education, representing the Third Municipal Ward.

Robert L. Bridge has ever been interested in good government and progressive community life. He served as a district chairman for the Republican party for many years; also he has served as President of the Rosedale Improvement League, and has served the Community Chest, Red Cross and many other charitable organizations.

As we go to press, Robert is preparing to accept a position as Clerk-Treasurer of the Salt Lake City Board of Education.

Chapter 58

LILLIE CLAIRESSA LEATHAM SIMPSON

LILLIE CLAIRESSA LEATHAM SIMPSON was born in Leeds, Washington County, Utah, the eleventh child of William Leatham and Margaret Buchanan. (No. 11 Page 935).

One year after her birth the family moved to Salt Lake City and made their home in the Sixteenth Ward. Three years later her mother died while giving birth to her twelfth child. The baby, a beautiful boy, was also taken and the lovely mother and child were laid to rest in the same casket.

After her mother's death, Lillie's oldest sister, Margaret, took charge of the home and the children. Since her father's work required him to live in Tooele County, each summer the children looked forward when he rented a house there and they could spend the summer with him. "How we did enjoy those vacations in the hills of the mining town of Ophir," Lillie exclaims.

Lillie and her husband, Heber C. Simpson

At the age of nine and a half years, Lillie went to live with her mother's sister, Janet B. Evans, or "Aunt Jessie" as she is lovingly known and who is very dear to Lillie. Here in the home of Aunt Jessie Evans she grew up with the Evans family in Salt Lake City, as one of them. Here she was taught to attend Primary, Sunday School and Mutual and where she, along with her cousins (including Mrs. Jessie Evans Smith) received spiritual training that has been invaluable to her.

As she grew older she taught a Sunday School class in the Sixteenth Ward, which later was divided and became the Thirty-fourth Ward where she taught home economics in the Relief Society.

Lillie attended the Jackson School, also the Union High School in Salt Lake City. Later she secured a position with the Bell Telephone Company where she was supervisor and later assistant chief operator. She remained there until her marriage.

She married Heber C. Simpson on September 14, 1914, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. The ceremony was performed by Elder Alvin F. Smith. It was at their first residence, 170 North Ninth West Street, in Salt Lake City, that their son Robert Leatham Simpson was born August 8, 1915. When Robert was five and one half years old they moved to California and made their home in the Bay District. (See page 972).

This was 1921, and they attended the L.D.S. meetings in a rented hall belonging to the Masonic Lodge; later word came they were to have a ward in the Bay District and, in 1922, the family participated in the ground breaking ceremonies for the Santa Monica Ward Chapel.

In 1924, Lillie's father made his first visit to California which was not only a thrilling experience for him, but a joy for Lillie and her family. While there William Leatham visited with President Joseph McMurrin at the California Mission and addressed sacrament meeting in the Santa Monica Ward. He also gave young Robert his Patriarchal blessing which has always been a great comfort to him.

Santa Monica Ward grew and in 1927, Lillie and her family became members of Mar Vista Ward; in 1928, the building of a new chapel was started. The building of this new ward was indeed a unique experience. Men, women and children worked on the building night and day until it was completed. Her husband helped with the plastering and her son and his friends did lathing and carried material for the builders. Lillie and the woman did similar work besides preparing food for the workers and all enjoyed the happiness that comes from united effort. The chapel and amusement hall were completed in five month's time! an outstanding accomplishment in church building. It was dedicated by President Heber J. Grant.

Lillie was called to work in the Mar Vista Ward Mutual Improvement Association with the Junior Girls, and also the Gleaners. Later she was called into the M.I.A. Stake Board where she served as supervisor of Junior Girls for three years. She had been promised in her patriarchal blessing that she should be privileged to work with the youth of Zion, and the fulfillment has brought much joy and happiness to her.

In 1937, she and her husband had the great privilege of sending their son Robert into the mission field where he served until 1940, in the New Zealand Mission under the presidency of Apostle Mathew Cowley. "We have been grateful for the blessings which came into our home during the time our son was serving in the mission field," she stated.

In 1951, the wards in the stake where they were living were re-zoned and they are now again members of the Santa Monica Ward. Lillie was soon called to work with the L.D.S. girls groups, also into the presidency of the ward Relief Society as first counselor where she served three years. She was thankful for the opportunity to serve in that wonderful organization.

The Simpson Family

Speaking of her companion she said, "I should like to pay tribute to my loyal and faithful husband. By his patience and generous help he has supported me in every office and given me courage to carry on."

Her life has been greatly enriched also by her son, his wife and their lovely children, who are all actively engaged in church work.

Of her father she paid the following tribute, "I am sure the noble character of my father, William Leatham, his absolute faith, his great wealth of spirituality, his intellectual attainments, his industry and pure unselfishness have been an inspiration in my life, and I am truly grateful for this heritage."

Through Lillie's experience in the church she has been amply repaid, "My testimony of the gospel has increased. The friendships I have made have enriched my life and joy and happiness have blessed my home. I am truly thankful for the privilege of serving and for the many blessings that are mine."

Civic positions held by her include the following: during World War I, she worked many hours in the gauze room for the Red Cross (finally, obtaining her cap and gown for this service); she worked at different times for the Red Cross Drives and in the Red Cross booths; during World War II, she served as senior hostess in the U.S.O. canteen in the Bay District for which she was presented with a silver pin after completing two hundred hours of service.

In genealogical activities Lillie has contributed to research for all the family's names <sup>which</sup> have been done up to this time, and with the Los Angeles temple nearing completion, she is looking forward to some real participation in this great work.

ROBERT LEATHAM SIMPSON

ROBERT LEATHAM SIMPSON (Number 1, Page 972), son of Lillie Clairessa Leatham and Heber C. Simpson, was born August 8, 1915, at Salt Lake City, Utah. His home was in the Thirty-fourth Ward and his earliest recollection is of attending Sunday School in that newly completed ward.

He writes the following account of his life: "Our family moved to Venice, California in 1921. Our home from then till now was to be within sound of the "breakers" rolling in from the blue Pacific. My father's occupation was plasterer and building was plentiful in Southern California and we lived very well until the depression struck in 1929.

"I attended the Martha Washington Elementary School and was elected mayor of the student body during my last year. Baseball was then and is now my favorite sport; as a youngster camping and swimming occupied most of the leisure time which was most of my time. Dad and I did most of our baseballing together.

"At Venice High School my course was academic for college entrance. Grandfather William Leatham was always an inspiration to me - he taught me many things about the gospel and the patriarchal blessing he gave me at the age of eight has been a constant guide in my life.

"I was thrilled at that part of my patriarchal blessing that promised a mission to foreign lands. This call came in 1937, after completing two and one half years of pre-engineering studies at Santa Monica City College. The call to New Zealand came simultaneous with graduation.

"As President Rulon S. Wells of the First Quorum of Seventies ordained me a seventy and set me apart for my mission, he blessed me with the power to master the language of the people-- I bear testimony that learning Maori came fairly easy to one who had had such trouble in school with foreign language courses. Arrival in New Zealand was in May 1937; Moroni Woods was mission president. Brother Woods was released about a year later and for the first time I met Mathew Cowley, under whose inspired leadership the last two years were served. While in New Zealand practically all of my time was spent among the Maori people. Their wonderful faith and humility left indelible impressions upon me that have helped me at every turn in life. One of my main ambitions is to some day visit those people again, to have my impulses tempered by their fundamental examples of truly joyous living. It was my pleasure to serve the last year of my mission as Y.M. M.I. A. Superintendent.

"Returning from missionary activity in 1940, I found my family prospered beyond expectation while supporting me for those three years, and we had all overcome major weaknesses with the help of the Lord. I found employment with the Pacific Telephone Company as an engineering assistant. After fourteen years I am still proud to be associated with that company, and since 1947, I have been in the Public Relations Department--giving public lectures and demonstrations on new advances and developments of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

"In the fall of 1940, I met a lovely young girl named Jelaire Chandler (daughter of Ezra Anderson Chandler and Kathryn L. Denkers of Ogden, Utah). We were married on June 24, 1942, in the Arizona Temple in Mesa.

"I was called into the armed forces in 1943, and served as communications cadet in the Air Corps. After electronics course at Yale University, I was graduated as Second Lieutenant, being stationed at Casper, Wyoming; Cairo, Egypt; and after two years overseas, returned as Captain and was separated in January 1946.

"Church experience since returning from my mission in 1940, includes: Inglewood Stake Mission President (1941-42), L.D.S. Servicemen Co-ordinator in North Africa (1943-45), and Middle East, Inglewood Stake High Council (1946-47), Inglewood Ward Bishop's Counselor (1948-49), Inglewood Stake Y.M.M.I. A. Superintendent (1949-51), Inglewood Sunday School Superintendent (1952), Inglewood Stake High Council (1952-54), Inglewood Seminary teacher (1951-53), Regional and Seminary supervisor.

"Perhaps my most outstanding church experience was as follows: Upon leaving for my mission I was thrilled by the promise in my patriarchal blessing given fourteen years before concerning travel to a foreign land to preach the gospel. I was further inspired by my setting apart blessing which promised a knowledge of the language in New Zealand.

"The first couple of months of missionary activity were full of wonderful new experiences but little time was taken to learn the Maori language as my companion was not so inclined. One night in a dream, I was returning home after my mission and was greeted at the dock by my parents, and most of the ward, all talking to me in Maori, and I could not understand a word they were saying--I was quick to make excuses, telling them that I was assigned with the white people of New Zealand, but I knew it was not true and I felt very badly. Upon awakening, I was impressed very strongly that, (1) I had better get on the ball as far as the language was concerned, because faith without works is dead, and (2) that I would have need for the language after my mission was completed. I applied myself at once and within a few short weeks, I was bearing my testimony and doing a much better job. (Although most of the saints can speak English as well as Maori, they always prefer to use Maori exclusively when talking religion or telling their troubles.)

"As I was called into the armed forces, I felt very strongly that I would be sent back among the Maoris at this critical time when all but the mission president, Brother Cowley, had been withdrawn. This hope faded as I was transferred at the last minute to an east coast port of debarkation and finally I set sail for Egypt. I hadn't been there too many days however, before discovering that our U.S. Air Base was just about fifteen miles from the entire Maori Battalion in Cairo, Egypt. There I found about fifty L.D.S. Maori boys, many that I had known on my mission five years before. We held meetings regularly and I was able to bear testimony with them in their own native tongue and hear their troubles as their "Zion Elder" rather than as another service man.

"As Maori troops moved from this main base up into Italy for combat, it was possible to designate group leaders so that they might continue regular meetings in the combat zone. For two years we met often, and I can truly say that part (2) of my dream of seven years before was undoubtedly inspired and the chance to use the language after returning home was indeed a reality. It is also interesting to note that so far as I know, I was one of about three Maori speaking elders overseas at that time and to be assigned to Cairo, Egypt of all places in the world, makes me confident that our Heavenly Father can even influence the writing of military orders."

Jalaire and Robert Simpson were married in the Mesa Temple on June 24, 1942. In March 1943, Robert was called into the service. They were separated for about four months at which time Jelaire joined him at New Haven, Connecticut, where Robert was attending Yale University. Here they spent the summer together--at least the week ends, as release time while under military training was infrequent.

Jelaire returned to Los Angeles in September to await the arrival of their first child--a healthy boy, Steven Chandler, born November 12, 1943. In the meantime, Robert graduated from Yale, received his commission, and assumed his first assignment as Communications Officer at Casper Army Air Base, Wyoming. Here Robert, Jelaire and Steven spent three wonderful months together until overseas orders arrived, and once again Jelaire returned to her folks' home with the baby while daddy went off to North Africa and the Middle East for about two years. In January of 1946, Robert returned to the U.S. and to civilian clothes once more. The family located in Inglewood where Robert resumed full time church service and daytime duties with the Telephone Company.

On July 18, 1947, the stork came with arrival number two, but this stork must have been equiped with the newest jet engines, because he caught the anxious father and mother half way to the hospital, at which point Robert made a quick 3:00 A.M. telephone call to the doctor, received a few hurried instructions and proceeded to deliver the baby in the front seat of the car--cutting the cord with a regular kitchen butcher knife. Undoubtedly the Lord was in attendance too, as everything turned out fine and the tiny girl, Jelaire Christine, is enjoying a healthy normal life.

A disappointment came along in 1952, as little Kathryn Marie was born three months prematurely and lived for just a few minutes. The family is consoled in the faith and knowledge that she will be theirs' to raise someday. The following year all went well, as the stork's fourth visit, though a month early, brought a priceless bundle in the form of Robert Michael.

The Robert L. Simpson's have a fairly typical L.D.S. family existence in their new home in Westchester (Southwest Los Angeles), with someone usually headed for a meeting. Saturdays are cherished highly as that is about the only time they all are together. Even mornings find "dad" rarely at home, as he leaves to take care of seminary at 6:30 A.M. on his way to work. (See page 973).

Chapter 60

LOUIS SALISBURY LEATHAM

LOUIS SALISBURY LEATHAM, (Number 6, Page 975), secretary-treasurer of the Leatham Family Association, has risen to leadership in many fields of activity.

Blessed with a happy and winning disposition, he is endowed with extra-ordinary energy, faith, persistence, judgement and abliity to get things done.

He was appointed Bank Commissioner of the State of Utah, November 16, 1951, after having filled many responsible positions in business, civic and political fields and in the Army of the United States.

Almost from infancy, he learned to work hard and to fill every Church and civic duty and calling, enthusiastically and efficiently.

He has been a member of the East Riverside Stake High Council since January 7, 1951.

Louis Salisbury Leatham was born November 16, 1902, in the Sixteenth Ward, Salt Lake City, a son of Patriarch William Leatham and Martha Ann Salisbury. His grandparents were early residents of Utah. His maternal grandfather, Joshua Salisbury, was Utah's pioneer dry-land farmer, having raised a successful crop of grain on un-irrigated land as early as 1875 at Wellsville.

As a boy, Louis sold newspapers, worked after school sweeping classrooms, worked at the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Machine Shops, worked on his uncle's farm in Cache County, was a cash boy at a local mercantile store, had a position as bank messenger, worked at the stock exchange and was employed at other jobs. He earned his keep and learned industry at an early age.

When a boy of ten or eleven, his parents reported to the police one Saturday evening that their son was lost. He was discovered at 10 P.M. in the Public Library, reading the Book of Mormon. His father had offered $5.00 to each of his children who would read the book from cover to cover. Louis trying to earn the money, soon finished the book and received his "reward."

He was baptized in the Salt Lake Tabernacle font February 4, 1911, by George Davis and confirmed in the Sixteenth Ward by George R. Emery. He was ordained a deacon January 3, 1916, by Alfred Winn; an elder, May 25, 1925, by LeGrand P. Backman; and a seventy August 31, 1927, by Rulon S. Wells just before Louis left to fill a mission to Great Britain. He was ordained a high priest May 28, 1939, by Marcus O. Funk at which time he was made a secretary of the Salt Lake Stake High Priests' Quorum. His line of priesthood authority is traced through Elder Funk as follows:

LOUIS S. LEATHAM was ordained a high priest May 28, 1939, by Marcus O. Funk.
 MARCUS O. FUNK was ordained a high priest March 31, 1894, by Levi P. Helm.
 LEVI P. HELM was ordained a high priest February 14, 1892, by Marriner W. Merrill.

MARRINER W. MERRILL was ordained an Apostle October 7, 1889, by Wilford Woodruff.

WILFORD WOODRUFF was ordained an Apostle April 26, 1839, by Brigham Young.
 BRIGHAM YOUNG was ordained an Apostle February 14, 1835, by the three witnesses, (Oliver Cowdery, Martin Harris, and David Whitmer), "Who were blessed by the laying on of hands of the Presidency (Joseph Smith, Sidney Rigdon, and Frederick G. Williams) to choose and ordain the Twelve Apostles." (D&C 18:37; History of the Church, Vol 2 pp 187-188), after which the Presidency laid their hands upon them and confirmed their blessings and ordinations (Times and Seasons, Vol 6 p 868.)

JOSEPH SMITH and OLIVER COWDERY received the Melchizedek Priesthood in 1829, from Peter, James and John.

PETER, JAMES and JOHN were Apostles and Angelic Ministers of the Lord Jesus Christ, chosen and ordained by Him (John 15:16) in the meridian of time.

During his mission to Great Britain (1927-29), he traveled from the extreme north of Scotland to the English border as he preached the Gospel. He served as president of the Aberdeen Branch in Scotland, and clerk of the Sheffield District in England, working under three outstanding mission presidents: Elders James E. Talmage and John A. Widtsoe of the Council of the Twelve, and Elder A. William Lund, now assistant Church Historian. Before returning home in October 1929, he traveled considerably in Europe.

Following his return from Great Britain, he was married September 24, 1930, to Anna Grace Carn (daughter of Thomas Richard Carn and Almeda Ford) in the Salt Lake Temple. They have two sons, William Wallace and Jon Paul, and a daughter, Janet. (See page 994).

As a young man, Louis became keenly interested in genealogical and temple work. From 1935, to 1940, he served as second counselor in the presidency of the Salt Lake Stake Genealogical and Temple Committee. He also was elected vice president and secretary of the Leatham Family Association during this period. He earlier had made an excellent record as a teacher in Sunday School, Y.M.M.I. A. and in Aaronic Priesthood quorums, and as a member of the Thirty-fourth Ward M.I. A. superintendency. As a member of the same ward's Genealogical and Temple Committee (1930-33), he was chairman of the committee which compiled and presented the first ward "Book of Remembrance" in the Church (1932.) He also was one of the original members of the Thirty-fourth Ward, which was organized in 1917, from the Sixteenth Ward where he was born.

His patriarchal blessing pronounced upon his head July 30, 1924, by his father carries this promise:

"Thou shalt be called upon to fill responsible positions in your state and in your Church, and God will magnify you and make you great. Listen to the whisperings of the Spirit and you will discern a purpose in the common affairs of life and take advantage of the opportunities that are easily within your reach. . . . In the beginning you stood amongst the nobility and were among the great ones, and the stalwart and strong of Zion thou shalt mingle with here as you did in the Israel of God before the world was."

Some of Elder Leatham's thinking on religious and patriotic subjects is given in the following articles written by him.

THE BOOK OF ABRAHAM

By LOUIS S. LEATHAM, Salt Lake City

(Written for Liahona,

The many Christian Churches in the world, despite their varied interpretations of doctrine, have in common a belief in the Holy Bible and use it as the basis of their faith and teachings. Among these Christian denominations is the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which, in addition to its belief in the Bible as the word of God, regards also the Book of Mormon, the Doctrine and Covenants and the Pearl of Great Price as holy scriptures.

These other scriptures are highly important as an adjunct to the Biblical teachings for they contain abundant corroborative material and much additional information to widen our understanding of the plan of life and salvation.

Nearly all of us are familiar with the explanation of how we got our Bible, our Book of Mormon, our Doctrine and Covenants. But all too few of us know how the Book of Abraham, which is a part of the Pearl of Great Price, came to us. It is a most absorbing story.

The author.

The Pearl of Great Price, as you know, contains (a) a selection from the revelations, translations and narrations of Joseph Smith, including the brief statement of principles of the "Mormon" religion which is known as the Articles of Faith; (b) the Book of Moses; (c) the Book of Abraham.

The Book of Abraham is a most remarkable record. It contains much to confirm the truth of the Old Testament records and provides detailed information, not elsewhere available, pertaining to:

1. The Creation of the world.
2. The life and trials of Abraham.
3. The state of the spirits of men before the creation of this world.
4. The system of astronomy known to Abraham.

The manner in which this scripture came into the hands of Joseph Smith is another example of the "mysterious ways" in which God moves to achieve his purposes. The Prophet first saw the record in Kirtland, Ohio, in July of 1835, one hundred years ago this summer. It was written on papyrus roll—the parchment scrolls of ancient Egypt. How it got to Kirtland and to the "Mormon" leader is disclosed in the following bit of history.

In 1828 a French explorer by the name of Antonio Sebolo secured permission from Mehemet Ali, the Viceroy of Egypt, to explore for antiquities in the valley of the Nile. Sebolo hired several hundred Turkish and Egyptian soldiers—being obliged to pay the astonishing wage of 4c to 6c per day for each man—and began excavating. After four months they made their way into a catacomb where, it is purported, once stood the ancient city of Thebes. There they found over a thousand mummies. Only eleven of these, however, could be preserved, for the others crumbled to dust when exposed to the atmosphere. Sebolo carefully packed and transported his eleven good mummies to the seaport, where he loaded them on his ship and embarked for France. Before the homeward journey was half completed, Sebolo was overcome with a malicious fever. The ship cast anchor at Trieste where, after several days of sickness, Sebolo died.

Whether at the expressed will of the dying man or simply upon the decision of those arranging his affairs after his demise, the mummies were forwarded to a nephew, Michael Chandler, who, it was supposed, lived in Ireland at the time. When the strange consignment finally arrived in the Isle of Erin, Mr. Chandler had emigrated to the United States of America and was living in Philadelphia. After innumerable delays the mummies were sent across the Atlantic to America, where they were received at the customs house in New York City. In April, 1833, Michael Chandler paid the duty charges and took possession of the strange caskets. He opened one of them and found that with the mummy were large rolls of papyrus in a state of perfect preservation, containing some kind of ancient hieroglyphics, beautifully written with black and, occasionally, red ink or paint. As Chandler examined his strange inheritance of mummies and papyrus records, a bystander tendered the unsolicited advice that if the owner wished a translation of these ancient writings he should get in touch with Joseph Smith, the "Mormon" prophet, who possessed the faculty of deciphering ancient scriptures. Mr. Chandler must have remembered this, for after traveling around the country for some time, displaying the mummies and lecturing, he came to Kirtland, Ohio, headquarters for the Saints, and immediately sought out Joseph Smith. This was on July 3, 1835. Mr. Chandler had apparently disposed of some of the mummies by this time for in recording the incident, Joseph Smith writes:

"There were four human figures, together with two or more rolls of papyrus covered with hieroglyphic figures and devices. As Mr. Chandler had been told I could translate them, he brought me some of the characters and I gave him the interpretation, whereupon, like a gentleman, he gave me the following certificate:

"Kirtland, July 6, 1835.

"This is to make known to all who may be desirous concerning the knowledge of Mr. Joseph Smith, Jr., in deciphering the Ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic characters in my possession, which I have, in many eminent cities showed to the most learned; and from the information that I could ever learn, or meet with, I find that of Joseph Smith, Jr., to correspond in the most minute matters.

MICHAEL H. CHANDLER,
Traveling with and Proprietor of Egyptian Mummies."

Although the Saints were none too rich materially, they purchased the boxes containing the millennium-old, spiritless anatomies and the parchment rolls with the beautifully engraved hieroglyphics for the sum of $600.00. With Oliver Cowdery and W. W. Phelps acting as amanuenses, or scribes, the Prophet started the work of translation. Imagine their wonder and delight when they found that one of the rolls contained the writings of Abraham, the patriarch of Ancient Israel, and that the other contained the records of Joseph, that same Joseph who was sold into Egypt.

Joseph Smith completed the translation of the first scroll and it is printed now as the "Book of Abraham" and forms an important part of the Pearl of Great Price, one of the four standard works of the Church.

Presumably, the record of Joseph was not translated and, unfortunately, it cannot be translated now for the parchment was later destroyed. It happened in this way:

When the Saints were forced to migrate from Kirtland, they took with them the mummies to Nauvoo on the Mississippi river. There they were displayed in the "Nauvoo Mansion," a house built by the Prophet. After the martyrdom of Joseph Smith in 1844, the mummies, together with personal effects of the Prophet, were inherited by his wife Emma Smith. Shortly thereafter, William Smith, a brother of the Prophet and who had been excommunicated from the Church, obtained possession of the mummies and rolls. He disposed of them to a syndicate in St. Louis and they were exhibited commercially for a time. Finally they came into the possession of the Chicago Museum, where they were in the year 1871.

The year 1871 will ever be one of grave importance and significance to Chicago, which at that time was beginning to take its place as the great metropolis of the West. The buildings of the sprawling young city, however, were almost entirely lumber structures. In the vicinity of Jefferson and DeKoven streets, across the Chicago river, a fire originated one fateful night which, fanned by high winds, spread across the city in the holocaust that was the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. Practically the entire city was destroyed; the Museum was reduced to ashes and with it the mummies and rolls of papyrus.

Inestimable as is the loss of the untranslated record, nevertheless, the fact that we have a copy of the writings of Abraham to strengthen our faith in the Bible and broaden our understanding of the Gospel plan is indeed gratifying to all Latter-day Saints.

HARVEST TIME

ELDER LOUIS S. LEATHAM

IN ORDER to reap, we first must sow. All around us at the present season of the year, the farmers are busy gathering in the golden crops of grain and corn which are the reward of their efforts put forth earlier in the year. They are reaping the rewards of their sowing.

They planted the tiny seeds in the prepared soil last spring, and after a period of several months of careful cultivation and nourishment, the seeds have swelled, sprouted and grown to maturity, and have brought forth abundantly after their own likeness, the yield depending upon the fitness of the soil in which the seeds were planted and upon the cultivation of the fields and farms. Some fields produce thirty, others sixty and a few even a hundred times as much grain as was sown.

How like this are our own human lives. When the great day of judgment arrives and we stand before the bar of God to have our just rewards meted out to us, we too are going to reap a harvest for our deeds which we do here in this earthly life. For, says Christ: "The Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works." (Matt. 16: 27). And further: God "will render to every man according to his deeds; To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life: But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, Tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil. . . . For there is no respect of persons with God." (Romans 2: 6-11).

John the Revelator records: "The books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. . . . and they were judged every man according to their works."

In the face of these facts it behooves each one of us to prepare our soil well, that the seed of the word of God may find root in our hearts and commence to grow and bring forth fruit unto us, helping us so to live that when the great day of judgment comes and we "stand before God," our harvest will be one of abundance and we will reap the rewards of good sowing while in the flesh. Let us sow seeds of righteousness, and a rich harvest of eternal life will be certain.

HOW IS YOUR CHURCH VOCABULARY?

By LOUIS S. LEATHAM

Do you pronounce MELCHIZEDEK correctly? In the observations of the writer during his travels both at home and abroad amongst the members of the Church, it has been noticed that a large variety of pronunciations are practiced by the Latter-day Saints.

Melchizedek was the name of the ancient King of Salem, a great High Priest to whom Abraham paid his tithes and offerings. He was such an eminent high priest and wrought such righteousness among his people that the name of Priesthood after the order of the Son of God was thenceforth called the MELCHIZEDEK PRIESTHOOD in his honor and to avoid the too frequent use of the name of Diety.

Wouldn't it therefore, be appropriate if we could all come to a unity? The following pronunciation, which may be found in the Book of Mormon "pronouncing vocabulary," (official Church editions since 1920) appears to be sound, and one which we could uniformly adopt, viz: MEL-KIZ-E-DEK.

'TELESTIAL'— A NEW WORD FOR THE DICTIONARY

By LOUIS S. LEATHAM—East Riverside Stake

Among the many new things which Mormonism has given to the world is a word which appears in the 76th Section of the Doctrine and Covenants—the word TELESTIAL. (D. & C. 76:81, 98 and 109.)

A search of your dictionary, unless it be a recent edition, will not disclose this word. It was unknown to this generation until the year 1832, when the above revelation was received by Joseph Smith and Sidney Rigdon.

The word is used in this revelation to describe one of the three degrees of glory in the hereafter. The Telestial degree is likened unto the stars in glory, while the Terrestrial glory is typical of the moon and the Celestial glory is compared to the sun in brightness.

Paul, the ancient apostle, in mentioning the three degrees of glory in his Epistle to the Corinthians (1st Cor. 15:40-42) uses the words Celestial and Terrestrial to describe the two higher degrees of glory, but through some cause the name of the third or lesser degree, called Telestial no longer appears in the text.

The late Elder James E. Talmage, of the Council of the Twelve, proposed the use of this new word to one of our dictionary publishers some years ago.

FLAG DAY

By Lt. Col L. S. Leatham—USAR

One hundred seventy and five years ago—June 14, 1777—the “Stars and Stripes” was adopted as the official flag of this country, then known as the American Colonies. Down through the vista of time since that memorable day, this flag of ours has become a symbol of national unity and human liberty to the peoples of the United States; a banner of hope and opportunity to the oppressed and down trodden of other nations.

“The Flag of the United States of America” is its official name.

The armed forces call it the “National Flag” or the “Color”.

The red and white stripes, representing the 13 original colonies, have remained fixed in number since the resolution passed by Congress on April 4, 1818. For a time prior to this, there were 15 stripes, the 14th and 15th representing Vermont and Kentucky. It was that 15-stripe flag which flew over Fort McHenry in Baltimore Harbor the historical night of September 13, 1814, which is so aptly described in the words of our National Anthem.

Under the same resolution of congress, the 48 stars commencing at the upper left hand corner of the blue field, representing a new constellation, and reading to the right represent the original 13 states in the order of their ratification of the Constitution and the remaining 35 states in the order of their admission to the Union, viz: 1787, Delaware; Pennsylvania, New Jersey; 1788, Georgia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Virginia, New York; 1789, North Carolina; 1790, Rhode Island; 1791, Vermont; 1792, Kentucky; 1796, Tennessee; 1803, Ohio; 1812, Louisiana; 1816, Indiana; 1817, Mississippi; 1818, Illinois; 1819, Alabama; 1820, Maine; 1821, Missouri; 1836, Arkansas; 1837, Michigan; 1845, Florida, Texas; 1846, Iowa; 1848, Wisconsin; 1850, California; 1858, Minnesota; 1859, Oregon; 1861, Kansas; 1863, West Virginia; 1864, Nevada; 1867, Nebraska; 1876, Colorado; 1889, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Washington; 1890, Idaho, Wyoming; UTAH became the 45th state and star in 1896; 1907, Oklahoma; 1912, New Mexico, Arizona.

In these days of uncertainty when the hearts of men are being tried by fire and anti-American propaganda is rampant all over the world; and dictators are striding to apparent success over the mangled bodies of the weak and innocent, our efforts should be doubled in making this historical event more of a festival by displaying the flag at every home and office building.

On June 14th, the birthday of our flag, let us all fly Old Glory to remind us of our rich heritage; remind us of our boys who gave their lives from the Revolutionary War, the Bulge, Iwo Jima, to Korea to preserve its integrity and all it stands for—our freedom, our liberty and our happiness.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO ARE WAITING FOR US!

Elder Louis S. Leatham*

A QUARTER of a century has slipped by since I received my call from President Heber J. Grant and was set apart by President George Albert Smith to serve as a Mormon missionary in Great Britain.

The memories of these two eventful, formative and joyous years are without price. They were the happiest of all my life. I felt that I was going as a messenger of peace to those who were anxiously waiting to greet me. I was to be an ambassador of truth which was all that I had dreamed and hoped for.

On August 31st, 1927, just before leaving my home in Salt Lake City, I received a Father's Blessing, which was also patriarchal. In this blessing, among other things, I was told that it would be my privilege "to reach those who have never heard the testimony of God's authorised servants; they are looking with prayerful hearts for light that they may know the will of God and will readily obey." And further that I should be a "messenger of peace, carrying glad tidings to the chosen seed who await thy coming and long to hear the sound of God's message."

The realisation of these promises began soon after my arrival in Aberdeen, Scotland. I became acquainted with a good woman by the name of Mrs. Riach who had been seeking more light. She seemed interested in my message when I first knocked at her door. Many subsequent visits were spent teaching and explaining the gospel principles to her. Then before she was quite ready for baptism, I was transferred to England. Under date of December 13th, 1928, she wrote me in part as follows:

"We all miss you very much, myself especially, as there are so many more things I would have liked to learn from you, but God has revealed to me and I truly believe in the teachings of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

"Pray for me, dear Elder Leatham, that I may be made worthy to be baptised into the Church, I feel that it is right that I should do so."

I was happy that President Wm. F. McKelvey of the Scottish District appointed me to return and perform the ordinance later when she applied for baptism. It wasn't easy, though, to find a suitable place to perform this ordinance. The City officials of Aberdeen refused to rent the public baths for this purpose and all other such conveniences were denied. However, this elderly woman was not to be deterred, she agreed to be baptised in the cold waters of the North Sea!

* THE AUTHOR

Elder Leatham served as a missionary to Great Britain from 1927 to 1929, labouring the first year in Scotland, and the second in England (Sheffield District). He served as President of the Aberdeen Branch and as Clerk of the Sheffield District. He was with the U.S. Armed Forces in the European Theatre during World War II and is now Bank Commissioner of the State of Utah and a member of the High Council of the East Riverside Stake—Salt Lake City. His son, Elder Wm. Wallace Leatham, served a mission in the Birmingham District from 1951 to 1953.

Aberdeen is just about as far north as Stockholm, Sweden, and it never gets very warm even in the summer time. On my way to the baptismal rendezvous, I stopped at the Branch Hall for secret prayer. It was a cold, windy June day in 1929, and there in seclusion I prayed for Divine assistance; that the ceremony would be performed in peace and without mishap. My prayer was answered—the wind stopped blowing, the atmosphere warmed up. I felt that the Lord had indeed mellowed the elements in response to my fervent supplication.

Present on the beach that day were the ever faithful Relief Society sisters; with them as witnesses, I took sister Margaret Whyte Riach, 67 years of age, out into the cold white-capped waters of the sea and baptised her. After confirming her a member of the Church on the sandy shore near the Bridge of Don and bestowing upon her the Holy Ghost, I was impressed to promise her that no ill would befall her as a result of this exposure. She enjoyed the best of health for years thereafter.

"God moves in mysterious ways His wonders to perform!"

Some time later while labouring in England I received another communication, a letter that will never escape my memory; one that I number among my choicest possessions.

"13 Nether Hall Road,
Doncaster, England.
August 7th, 1929.

(Written at Bardsea while on holidays)

"Elder Louis S. Leatham,
c/o Mrs. Walker,
Stainforth, Old Village,
Nr. Doncaster, England.

"Dear Brother Leatham,

"I hope I may call you so. You said, if you remember, 'I should like to know what you think of us fellows'; perhaps when I tell you, you won't mind me addressing you so.

"I'm afraid this is going to be a difficult letter to write so I have started it out in the open, with the sea in front of me and the beautiful hills behind.

One feels nearer to spiritual things 'far from the maddening crowd!' I saw on a motto in a shop window once, these words:

'With the kiss of the sun for pardon and the song of the birds for mirth,
One is nearer to God in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth.'

"I think that's very true, don't you?

"Well, to begin with, I think Mormonism the most beautiful thing on earth. It is glorious beyond description. I could listen forever to its teachings and never tire. I am always hungry for more and when I go amongst the members of the Church and they talk on ordinary topics and don't mention the Gospel, I am terribly disappointed, like a child that expected something and doesn't get it.

"When first you came to our house, of course, we were not interested in what you were bringing, but before we had known you very long we grew to love you for your own sakes. You were different to anyone we had ever known before, there was something about you that we couldn't define. I don't think we shall ever forget the beautiful things you said the day you left us. We were sorry to lose you; it was just as if you took all the sunshine with you. I thought when Elders Wesley D. Amott and Lucien C. Reid followed it would be different, but we loved them too.

"Immediately after you left us, we attended the lantern slide lecture on 'Mormonism'. I don't know why we went, but I know we all thoroughly enjoyed it. It was something that seemed beautiful—if only one could be certain it was true. I don't mean that I doubted it altogether. I have wanted to believe from the first, but it was so strange and new that I couldn't really be certain. The members sang two hymns, 'Come, Come Ye Saints' and 'Oh, Say what is Truth'. They are both lovely; they impressed us all very deeply, especially the first one. That was a wonderful evening altogether and made us wish to know more.

"Shortly after that we attended the Sunday night meetings. Of course, they were different to the church and chapel services that we had been used to. They were so sweet, simple and sincere, and everyone was so friendly that one could really feel we are one huge family. I for one, love to attend. Sometimes I miss a Sunday and then I look forward eagerly to the next.

"I shall never forget April 1st (1929) when we attended the Sheffield District Conference. It was the most really happy day I have ever had in my life. I hope I shall be able to attend every conference. (President A. Wm. Lund was the speaker.)

"About this time there were two things that troubled me very much, one of them was that polygamy had been practiced. This seemed to me a horrible thing and I thought, how could this religion be so beautiful with an evil like that at the beginning of it? The other thing was that the people belonging to the Church were called Saints. It seemed to me as if one was exalting one-self very much to call himself a Saint. I had always thought those most truly religious were humble and meek.

"As I have said before, these things worried me very much; I could not get them out of my thoughts. You see I wanted to accept all your teachings, but it was as if these two things were blocking the way and keeping me back. I prayed that I might know whether this was the true Gospel or not, and spent all my spare time in studying the Scriptures. I found much in the Old Testament to confirm 'Mormonism' and at last I found in Section 132 of the Doctrine and Covenants two passages that set my doubts at rest. After that I felt quite sure—and oh, so thankful.

"Of course, I told you at Roche Abbey how the imperfections of the Saints trouble me at different times, how that I expected people who were familiar with a perfect Gospel to be perfect themselves. I have read that little 'STAR' article since then, 'The Beam' (by Widtsoe), which you referred me to. I'll try not to forget it and that the Gospel is perfect, but we are all of us human and weak. I'll try to look for the good, not the evil.

"I wish that all of them at home were actively interested, they believe and yet—I don't know how it is with them, but I feel as if I cannot, I dare not hold back, believing what I do.

"Best wishes for your happiness now and always.

"Your sincere friend and sister,

DORIS A. AXE."

It was Saturday, August 24th, 1929, when I took this sister down into the waters of baptism at the "Tin Tabernacle," Sheffield, and baptised her. Never before, nor since, have I seen a candidate more qualified for this ordinance. Her heart was broken and her spirit contrite. As the crowning event of the day, Elder Lucian C. Reid confirmed her a member of the Church and bestowed the Holy Ghost upon her. Other members of the family subsequently were baptised.

The promises made to me in the blessing referred to, had now been fulfilled on at least these two occasions—and there were many more such events. Surely, these were those of whom I had been told by my Father, who were waiting anxiously for the truth and would readily obey. Such experiences as these strengthened my faith and gave me that joy which passeth all understanding. They made me burn within and I knew that this was indeed the work of the Lord!

During my entire ministry I found people who manifested a spirit of friendliness. C. W. Waller, librarian of Thorpe, near Doncaster, after graciously placing copies of the Book of Mormon and A Rational Theology (by Widtsoe) on the shelves of the library, went on to say:

"What all the Christian Churches urgently need to realise is, I think, a greater brotherhood amongst themselves and a greater attention to evangelisation. In the latter respect we take off our hats to you and your companions who have come across the world to preach your conception of our spiritual duty."

There, also, was Mrs. Parkinson of Doncaster, who told me that her baby, whom my companion, Elder Joseph E.

Whitehead, and I had prayed for during a severe illness several months earlier, had been immediately blessed and had regained its full health and strength. She said that she now took pride in praising the "Mormons" to her neighbours at every opportunity and was sending her eight-year-old daughter to the L.D.S. Sunday School.

I met Joseph Clemow of Sheerness, Kent. He remembered Elders Edward Watkins and Geo. W. Fairbourn, L.D.S. missionaries, who some 25 years earlier at the turn of the century, had talked with him and left a lasting impression; and David Wright of Newlands, Scotland, a retired railroad official, who had recently returned from a visit to America. He spoke in praise and with great respect of his stay with the "Mormons" in Salt Lake City, and published favourable newspaper articles about the Church and its people.

But where there is light there is shadow. There were those who were opposed to us and our message, like an Englishman who, after hearing my testimony sighed with disgust and rejected me with harsh words; and a Scottish family who were afraid to let their daughter enter the room where the "Mormon Elder" was or let her even listen to our conversation. And, of course, there were also those who by physical force thought to suppress the truth. Failing in discussions they tried by violence to halt our preaching. One evening in Ardrosson, Ayrshire, Scotland my companion, Elder Melvin A. Baldwin, was knocked off the speaker stand and threatened with violence at a street meeting we were conducting. Another day a woman near Doncaster, England, after taking my tract at the gate of her home, came running up the street after me a few minutes later and tore it up before me. Some there were who spat upon me or called me a devil and a false prophet. Then came as comfort to my soul those words spoken by the Saviour:

"Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake." (Matt. 5:11.)

Even among the highly educated officials of the state church, I occasionally found ignorance and violent rejection. One summer morning in a meeting at our lodging in Thorne, near Doncaster, Rev. Taylor of the Pentecostal Church denounced Mormonism, refusing to even look at our literature, after he had heard my testimony that God lives, that Jesus is the Christ the literal Son of God the Father, that Joseph Smith is and was a true prophet, and that Mormonism is the restored Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. He insisted in an over-bearing manner, that "God created the earth out of nothing. A Christian would not believe in pre-existence. Mr. Leatham is not a Christian," and last but not least he claimed himself to be the "only true representative of the Lord in Thorne."

When Elder Wesley D. Amott and I applied for permission to hold street meetings at Goole, England, the chairman and Mr. J. W. Pullon, clerk of the town council, refused to give us any assistance. On another occasion I offered a Rev. Dr. Patrick, of Aberdeen, a Book of Mormon for the shelves of the Ballater Library. Without taking a look at it, he declared it to be all "Bunkum."

"He that answer a matter before he heareth it is folly and a shame to him." (Prov. 18:13.)

Thus spoke Solomon in referring to such short sightedness.

How proud I felt one day while out tracting in Sheffield when—in a conversation with a local librarian and a minister of the Church of England who were deriding me about our church membership, calling them the scum of the earth—I could, with my shoulders back and looking them straight in the eyes, tell them and show them in the library books that Apostle James E. Talmage was a distinguished Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh; that the name of Sister Leah D. Widtsoe, at that time our European Missions Relief Society president, could be found recorded along with other great Americans in the book "Who's Who in America"; that Dr. John A. Widtsoe, then head of the European Missions, was a former University president; and that British Mission President A. William Lund was a historian of repute. Thus I refuted their charges.

However, these people were more or less the exceptions to the rule, and often I had more pleasant experiences.

Open minded people like the Rev. Wallace H. Caudwell of Thorne invited me into his study and spent his time with me discussing various phases of Mormonism. I do not want to forget Mr. Arthur Axe of Doncaster, a local preacher of the Methodist Church, who confessed to me that he didn't believe everything his religion taught. Later he applied for baptism in our Church. And in my two years' mission I found England and Scotland full of Messrs. Caudwell and Axe.

Let me always remember, however, that for all my humble efforts in serving the Lord, I was rewarded by Him a million times over and in a million different ways. It was my lot, as it is with all Latter-day Saint missionaries and teachers of truth, to reap the greatest reward for my labours. As I look back through the vista of years on those experiences, I can see where I was inestimably helped in building a sound foundation for a good start in adult life.

When President Richard L. Evans of the First Council of Seventy, who was then Associate Editor of the "Millennial Star," outlined to us the best methods of distributing the Book of Mormon and "selling" the people on Mormonism, I learned lessons in salesmanship, which have helped me in all of my subsequent endeavours of earning a livelihood. "Portray to the people the real beauties of the restored Gospel," he counselled.

To be able to stand and speak before the public is an asset that enables all men to forge ahead in this world. Most missionaries, like myself, were and are called without extensive prior experience in public address and return home well-schooled in the art of holding the interest of large congregations by their thought-provoking utterances.

Not only does time spent in the mission field develop and bring out the best that is in a young man, but the latent abilities and qualities of leadership lying dormant are cultivated, developed and brought to fruition. Only the experiences resulting from serving the Lord can do this. The Lord has promised us great joy and happiness if we are instrumental in bringing salvation to but one soul. A mission offers unlimited possibilities for realising an overflowing fullness of this promise.

If we want to be happy we must think of and serve others; if we want to be miserable we need think only of ourselves. Where in all the world is there a greater opportunity to serve and do for others?

Because a full-time missionary's life is entirely spent in serving God and his fellowmen, his joy is great and his countenance radiates happiness.

"Backward, turn backward,
Oh time, in thy flight—
Make me a missionary again
Just for tonight."

In connection with the above, A. Hamer Reiser, President of the British Mission, in a letter to the author from London, under date of September 16, 1953, stated the following:

"You will like to know that the Sister Riach, whom you baptized in Aberdeen, (Scotland), is still a faithful member of the Church. I have met her several times as I have traveled to Aberdeen and most recently we greeted her on the occasion when she came to the special meeting called of the Aberdeen saints which President David O. McKay addressed on Tuesday, August 11, (1953) at our new chapel at 58 Polmuir Road. Sister Riach was there, well, cheerful and happy. She is now over ninety years of age."

Louis Salisbury Leatham attended the Jackson and Fremont elementary schools, West Junior High School and the University of Utah. He also took many night school classes, correspondence courses and special classes, majoring in business and accounting. He was a member of one of the first boy scout troops in Utah and is now an active scouter. Both of his sons have attained Eagle rank.

Earlier jobs of Louis' included bank messenger, 1919-20, then an employee of Salt Lake and New York Stock Brokerage firms and the Salt Lake Stock Exchange. Under Wallace F. Bennett, now U.S. Senator from Utah, Louis served as a salesman and an auditor for Bennett Glass and Paint Company and its affiliated gas and oil company (1923-27).

He was chairman of Division Ten of the first "covered Wagon Days" parade in Salt Lake City in 1931, and he was a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for one year (1935-36).

He served as cashier and assistant secretary of the National Savings and Loan Association of America (1930-33), which operated in several states. After helping to organize the Park Fairfield Mining Company, he served as its secretary and as a director (1931-40).

After the "bank holiday" of 1933, he was with the State Banking Department helping liquidate three building and loan companies and twenty-three banks which the department took over at that time. He also worked for a short time as an auditor for the Presiding Bishopric of the L.D.S. Church.

In 1940, he was made clerk of Riverside Stake when it was organized during that year, and from 1937 to 1940, he was chief cashier for the U.L.C.C. He left both positions to serve his country in the U.S. Army at the commencement of World War II, being called from the Officers' Reserve Corps into active military service. An evidence of his diligence and capabilities is that he entered active service as a lieutenant and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

During World War II, Louis S. Leatham participated in four of the European battles and at one time he was with General Patton's celebrated Third Army.

In 1946, he returned with his family to Germany where they lived for three years in Wiesbaden, Mannheim, and Heidelberg. This made a total of seven years that he lived abroad.

In 1947, he was appointed chief of the Financial Institutions Branch, Office of the U.S. Military Government for the State of Hesse, Germany. This entailed supervision of some 1000 German banks, 1500 insurance companies, and a large stock exchange in Frankfurt A/M. He helped with planning and executing the German currency reform of June 1948, helped organized the German equivalent of our Federal Reserve System and gave a series of lectures in the schools and colleges of Hesse on the American Banking System.

When finances were turned over to the new German government in 1949, Colonel Leatham took up new duties as a staff officer on the general staff of General Lucius D. Clay of European Command Headquarters in Heidelberg. He was active in planning logistics of the famous Berlin air-lift.

He holds the following military decorations: National Defense Medal, American Theater of War Ribbon, European, African, Middle East Theater Medal with four battle stars, World War II Victory Ribbon, German Occupation Ribbon, Armed Forces Reserve Medal with hour glass device, and other unit citations including four gold overseas bars.

He studied and completed the Command and General Staff Associate Course for three years and attended the War College Field Economics Mobilization Course School in 1953. He now is a member of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States.

Active in political affairs, he served as treasurer of the Young Men's Republican Club of Salt Lake County from 1931 to 1934, afterwhich he became secretary of the Republican Club of Utah, being succeeded by Supreme Court Justice F. Henri Henriod. He was assistant secretary of the county Republican convention in 1934, and again in 1936. He was Republican chairman of District 146 from 1935 to 1941, and member of the State Central Committee of the party from 1936 to 1937. In 1936-38, serving as secretary, he was a fellow officer with Ivy Baker Priest, now treasurer of the United States and A. Sherman Christensen, Federal District Judge, in the Young Republican League of Utah.

After returning to Salt Lake City from his extended service as an officer in the U.S. Army, he became a state bank examiner and chief building and loan examiner. Governor J. Bracken Lee appointed him to fill an unexpired term as State Bank Commissioner in 1951, and he was reappointed Bank Commissioner of the State of Utah in 1953, with the approval of the State Senate. He is also President of the Depository Board of the State of Utah.

He was appointed chairman of the Fifth District (comprising seven states and Hawaii) of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks at the 1953 national convention in Philadelphia, and in 1954, he conducted the annual convention in Salt Lake City. He was a member of the auditing committee in 1952, and of the resolutions committee in 1953, of the association.

Each year he gives lectures on banking at the University of Utah College of Business, Department of Banking and Finance. He has won praise for the frankness and courage, as well as, fairness he has displayed in directing policies of the state banking department.<sup>1</sup>

Chapter 61

JON PAUL LEATHAM

JON PAUL LEATHAM (Number 3, Page 994), son of Louis S. and Anna Grace (Carn) Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Sunday, May 28, 1939.

He was baptized and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by his father in the Rhine River at Mannheim, Germany, August 2, 1947. He was ordained a deacon on June 10, 1951, by Louis S. Leatham and served as president of the Deacon's Quorum in the Thirty-fourth Ward, Salt Lake City.

He attended the Jackson Elementary School until November 1946, and then he went to Germany with his mother, brother, and sister, where he attended the U.S. Army Dependent's schools in Mannheim, Wiesbaden and Heidelberg.

For three years (1946-49) Jon lived with his parents in Germany. His father was serving with the U.S. Army of Occupation. While living in this environment, he learned to speak and understand the German language and he made many friends. He travelled in Switzerland and France and saw many of the art galleries and interesting sights of Europe. Jon also studied fine art painting under Walter Eimer, Kunstmaler, in Heidelberg, Germany.

At the present time (1954) he is in the tenth grade at West High School, Salt Lake City. He also attends L.D.S. Seminary. He is active in Explorer Scout work and holds the rank of an Eagle Scout with forty odd merit badges. He also holds the Deseret Recognition Club Award which is the highest L.D.S. Church award for scouting. Thayer D. Evans, a friend, an admired teacher and leader, has been one of his boyhood ideals.

Jon's hobbies are many and varied. They include the sketching and studying of birds, hunting, fishing, baseball, tennis and football. In 1953, he played with the Cop's baseball league in Salt Lake City, and was captain of the "Dad's Club" basketball team in Heidelberg, Germany in 1949. In 1954, he was awarded a trophy for the outstanding player on the Thirty-fourth Ward junior softball team; he was the pitcher. He is an active member of the Utah Audubon Society.

Jon is looking forward to being called to serve as a missionary for the L.D.S. Church in the future.

Chapter 62

OTHER DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM LEATHAM

GEORGE SKOUBYE LEATHAM (Number 1, Page 966), son of George Buchanan and Katherine Skoubye Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 20, 1920.

He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on June 5, 1932, and attended elementary and high school in Salt Lake City. While attending the University of Utah, he was active in the R.O.T.C. and affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity.

Especially active in sports, he played left-end on the varsity football team from 1941 to 1943. He graduated from the University of Utah in 1943, with a degree in Sociology. During World War II, he served as an artillery officer in the United States Army in Europe, advancing to the rank of captain. (See pages 967-968).

ROBERT BUCHANAN LEATHAM (Number 8, Page 935), son of William and Margaret (Buchanan) Leatham, was born April 17, 1887, at Leeds Washington County, Utah.

He moved to Salt Lake City with his parents and was baptized there by Thomas H. Hilton on June 3, 1895, and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Bishop Fred Kesler June 6, 1895. The following year when he was nine years old his mother died. He was ordained a deacon in the Aaronic Priesthood October 16, 1899, by Bishop George R. Emery.

Robert possessed a kind heart and accomplished much good during his life. He learned the trade of a cement finisher and was engaged as a contractor of cement work in the building profession. On December 22, 1920, he married Mary Alice Losser at Farmington, Utah. He died without issue in Los Angeles, California on November 26, 1952.

MARGARET ELIZABETH ARPIN (Number 2, Page 959), an accomplished violinist and musician appearing on many radio programs in Salt Lake City, when radio was in its "hey-day," as well as on numerous L.D.S. missionary farewell programs and at other church meetings and entertainments. Her services along this line have endeared her to the people of Salt Lake City. Her musical talent was without a peer at one time and has always been freely used for the edification and uplift of mankind.

She is now the wife of Robert A. McGrath and resides in Hobbs, New Mexico.

LILLIAN JEAN LEATHAM GRESSMAN (Number 3, Page 945), daughter of Archibald Buchanan and Ida (Evans) Leatham was born in Ophir, Utah, March 9, 1915. She attended the Utah State Agricultural College in 1934-36, and graduated from the University of Utah in 1940, with honors, having been elected to the honor society of Phi Kappa Phi for her high scholarship attainments. Her major subject was art. She received her Bachelor of Science degree and her high school teaching certificate on June 4, 1940.

She married Max Gressman. One daughter, Linda Jean blesses this union, (see page 952). Her husband died in 1946, and now Lillian resides in Tooele, Utah.

ANDREW ARTHUR JOHNSON (Number 2, Page 988), son of Monta Devon and Edythe Leatham Johnson, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah.

He was baptized September 29, 1928, at the age of eight years, and received his education in the Salt Lake City public schools. He graduated with honors from East High School, at the age of fifteen in 1935. He attended both the University of Utah and Denver University. He worked at part time jobs and as a bus boy in a San Francisco restaurant to earn money for his schooling. One summer he worked in Chicago.

"Andy" served four years in the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II, receiving his "boot training" at Alameda, California. He attained the rank of Chief Petty Officer, serving in the recruiting service in Denver, Salt Lake City and Nevada.

On April 24, 1943, he married Mary Carolyn Hoart, a graduate of St. Mary's Academy and Loretto Heights College, Denver, Colorado. They have the following children: Kathryn Edythe, Andrew Arthur III, Frances Ann, Gayle Lynn, Pauline Marie and Paul Leatham Johnson. (See page 990).

PEARL L. BRIDGE (Number 1, Page 941), was born in Salt Lake City, the daughter of Robert and Janet Leatham Bridge.

As a member of the Sixteenth Ward, she began early to give service in the Church. She served as a Bee Keeper and organist in the Y.W.M.I.A., as a teacher in the Sunday School, and as secretary of the Salt Lake Stake Religion Classes before she was called to serve as a missionary. From 1927 to 1929, she labored as a missionary in the Eastern States, serving in the Albany, Brooklyn and East Pennsylvania Districts, and also in the mission office.

Upon her return she again served in the Sixteenth Ward M.I.A. as a Junior Leader, and as chairman of the Ward Missionary Committee. In 1930, she was called to serve as a counselor in the Salt Lake Stake Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association, in which position she continued until 1940, when the Salt Lake Stake was divided; at this time Pearl was appointed President of the newly created Riverside Stake Y.W.M.I.A., serving for seven years. Since June 1948, she has served as a member of the General Board of the Young Women's M.I.A., and also as a member of the East Riverside Stake Sunday School Board.

Pearl served as a guide on Temple Square for about two years in the late 1930's, having an opportunity of continuing her missionary service.

Pearl Attended the Jackson School, West High School and the L.D.S. Business College, all in Salt Lake City. Soon after her graduation she obtained a position in the L.D.S. Department of Education in the Church Office Building where she served as secretary to Franklin S. Davis, and to Elders John A. Widtsoe and Adam S. Bennion. After her return from the mission field she was given a position in the Council of Twelve office and for fifteen years served as secretary to many of the members of the Council of the Twelve Apostles. In 1945, she was transferred to the office of the First Presidency and served as secretary to President George Albert Smith. She is at present secretary to President Stephen L. Richards of the First Presidency, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. (1953).

Pearl became the wife of Wallace Pyper Johnson of Salt Lake City on August 12, 1954, in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple. President Stephen L. Richards performed the ceremony.

MAUDE BROWN CAMPBELL (Number 1, Page 936), born in Salt Lake City, Utah, daughter of Joseph Henry and Margaret (Leatham) Brown, was the first woman passenger ever to fly on commercial airlines in the United States. On June 9, 1926, she flew from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles and return in a Western Air Lines open cock-pit, bi-plane, with a parachute strapped on her back and a big mail bag under her feet. She says, "The parachute was necessary in those days as the planes had only one motor and I was instructed to jump, count ten and pull the rip-cord, if anything happened."

In June 1951, Maude joined in the Twenty-fifth Anniversary celebration of this event. The following account is taken from the Los Angeles Daily News of June 16, 1951:

"Maude Campbell, 'Miss Western Air Lines of 1926', returned home to Los Angeles today after retracing the historic route she flew to Salt Lake City as the line's first passenger twenty-five years ago. Accompanied by one of the Western's first airmail pilots, Fred W. Kelly of Glendale, and a group of newsmen, Miss Campbell was feted at a series of parties in Salt Lake City and Las Vegas commemorating Western Airlines' Twenty-fifth anniversary.

"The attractive brunet, now associated with the Los Angeles Transit Lines, displayed a yellowed copy of the Illustrated Daily News of 1926, which carried photos of her aboard the old Douglas M-2 bi-plane that made the first flight. She recounted how she sat huddled in the open cock-pit for six and one half hours with a bag of mail practically on her lap on the inaugural run.

"Today the same flight to Salt Lake City requires but three hours. Miss Campbell and her party were whisked over the route in a giant Convair at a five-miles-per-minute clip."

The mayor of Salt Lake City also greeted Maude on this trip.

Maude was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints when eight years of age and lived in the old Sixteenth Ward, Salt Lake City.

She married Charles C. Campbell in 1919, (see page 937), whose mother, Mary Jane Morrow, is a blood relative of Ann (Morrow) Lindberg, wife of the great aviator Charles A. Lindberg. One daughter (Mary Jane) blessed this union.

FROM THE OLD FAMILY ALBUM--Maude, as a real young girl.

WILLIAM EARL McCARTHY (Number 1, Page 978) was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints April 30, 1921.

He received his elementary and secondary education in the public schools of Salt Lake City, and graduated from West High School in 1930. While attending West High,

"Bill" was active in R. O. T. C. and in May 1930, was chosen as the most efficient platoon commander, being awarded the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce R. O. T. C. Medal. He was promoted from lieutenant to captain after parading and demonstrating his platoon before Governor George H. Dern, who later became Secretary of War. He was tendered an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, but due to a broken ear-drum was unable to pass the physical requirements.

For several years he worked as a tax accountant and office manager for the Utah State Tax Commission, and is at present an auditor for one of the national finance companies operating in Utah.

He married Naomi Hovey in 1937, and they have five children born to them. (See page 979). The family resides at 539 Seventh Avenue, Salt Lake City, Utah.

JANET LILLIE BRIDGE (Number 3, Page 941), daughter of Robert and Janet Leatham Bridge was born in Salt Lake City, Utah.

After her graduation from West High School, she began work at the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, Salt Lake City, as a telephone operator. Because of the efficiency of her service she has been advanced to supervisor, assistant chief, and is now serving as evening chief operator in the Salt Lake City Toll 2 office.

She has served as a Sunday School teacher in the Sixteenth Ward, and from 1938 to 1940, Janet served with honor as a missionary in the Eastern States Mission.

FREDERICK BIESER, JR. (Number 1, Page 984) was born March 1, 1921, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the son of Frederick and Elizabeth Salisbury (Leatham) Bieser. He was baptized May 4, 1929.

He received his education at Brete Harte Grammar School, McClatchy High School and Sacramento Junior College in Sacramento. He also attended the University of California in Berkeley where he majored as a pre-medical student before World War II.

Fred has lived most of his life in Sacramento, California, and at the present he resides in Castro Valley, California where his work as a law enforcement officer for the State of California takes him.

During World War II, he was a pilot in the U.S. Air Corps, and served in the European Theatre of War. He received his flight training at the Cal-Aero Academy and was awarded his "wings" and lieutenant's commission in 1944. He served in England and Germany until 1946.

He married Leora Mae Ahlborn in 1943. This union has been blessed with two children--viz: Frederick Steven and Anne Elizabeth. (See page 985).

Frederick Steven was baptized in the L.D.S. Church in November 1953, at Oakland, California.

JOSHUA WESLEY LEATHAM (Number 2, Page 975 ), son of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, October 10, 1895. He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on August 31, 1903. In June 1926, he was ordained an elder and became a member of the Elders' Quorum in the Thirty-fourth Ward, Salt Lake City.

As a young man he saw service in both the Mexican Expedition and World War I. He enlisted in the U.S. Army to serve his country in February 1916, and was a member of Troop "D" 13th Cavalry, Punitive Expedition in Mexico during 1916-17, under the command of General John J. Pershing. At one time he acted as Mexican interpreter.

In the meantime, the United States entered World War I, and Wesley was transferred to Battery B, 78th Field Artillery. He went to Europe with this outfit where he served with honor and distinction for thirteen months in France. Prior to his being sent overseas he was engaged as an instructor of horse-shoeing at training camp. He held the rank of sergeant.

On July 19, 1919, he received his honorable discharge from the Army and returned to his home in Salt Lake City. The accompanying photograph was taken after his arrival home.

For a number of years, Wes was Superintendent of Water between Salt Lake City and Colorado on the D. & R. G. Railroad system with his office being in Salt Lake City.

During World War II, Wesley worked on Defense projects such as the Alcan Highway in Alaska and in the oil refinery in Saudi, Arabia.

He married first, Alvira Spencer Stewart on June 23, 1926, (now divorced) and second, Alda Mae Decker on November 10, 1941.

LEE H. LEATHAM (Number 4, Page 975) was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, son of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham. He received his early education in the Salt Lake City public schools and attended the Latter-day Saints University. He has continued his learning through numerous college extension courses such as engineering economics, electronics, mathematics, civil engineering, etc.

Lee's first business experience was working with the old National Copper Bank in Salt Lake City, and later at the First National Bank at Park City, Utah. He was a charter member of the Salt Lake Chapter of A.I.B. (American Institute of Banking) when first formed in Salt Lake City. In 1920, he went to California and worked for several banking institutions. In 1922-25, he worked for the Madera Sugar Pine Lumber Company at their mill plant in the high Sierra's as cashier and paymaster. During this time the mill burned down, and Lee was exposed to some first class construction work under severe winter conditions as it was rebuilt..

In January 1926, he joined the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, (now Pacific Gas and Electric Company) as field clerk in the transmission high-line department, later moving into the division superintendent's office in Fresno, California. He has been continuously employed with this company with the exception of three years (1950-53), when he was located at Kern Steam Plant near Bakersfield.

Although Lee was never in the military service, he assisted in the sale and collection of payments on all five of the War Bond Loan Drives in World War I, and helped support local organizations during World War II.

In 1923, he joined the Masonic Order. At the present time he is a 32d degree member of Fresno Lodge Number 247 F&AM and the Scottish Rite Bodies at Fresno, California. While in Bakersfield he sang in the "Messiah" of 1952, a community annual choir.

He was secretary of the Engineers' Club of Fresno for two years and also served as Secretary of the Sequoia Chapter, Central California Credit Union.

On July 12, 1940, he married Leneve Marie Simkins, an Oregon State College graduate. They are blessed with two girls--Linda and Maxine, and twin boys--Douglas and Dwight. (See page 987).

In his spare time, Lee can be found on the golf course or at home enjoying his family.

ANNA GRACE CARN LEATHAM was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on May 30, 1906, daughter of Thomas Richard and Almeda (Ford) Carn. She was blessed and baptized in the Fifth Ward, Pioneer Stake, Salt Lake City, and was an active member of that ward until 1930, when she married and moved into the Thirty-fourth Ward.

She attended the Jefferson Elementary School, South Junior High School and the L.D. S. College in Salt Lake City. She worked for several years in the motion picture industry with the Universal Film Company and the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Film Company.

On September 24, 1930, Grace became the wife of Louis S. Leatham in the Salt Lake Temple with the marriage ceremony performed by Apostle George F. Richards. Three children have blessed this union, viz: William Wallace, Janet and Jon Paul.

She is an active member of Camp Thirty - Four, Daughters' of the Utah Pioneers and is assistant to Captain Mary Selley. Her membership eligibility to this pioneer organization stems from her maternal grandparents and great-grandparents who arrived in the Great Salt Lake valley in 1849. Having participated as a member of all the auxillary organizations of the L.D.S. Church, she is at present co-ordinator of the Thirty-fourth Ward Junior Sunday School.

In 1946, she traveled to Europe alone with her three children to join her husband who was an officer in the U.S. Army of Occupation in Germany. She lived three years in that war-torn country (1946-49), with the home maintained at Mannheim (Feudenheim), Wiesbaden and Heidelberg. While there she traveled extensively in Europe visiting Rome, Paris, Brussels, Austria and Switzerland. She also participated in the U.S. Army program of entertaining German girls in the homes of the Americans, and also other events. When the Soviet threat on Berlin came in 1948-49, the Berlin Air-lift began and many of the U.S. families left Germany, but she stayed and General Lucius Clay told the wives and families who stayed that they did more for maintaining the morale of the German people than anyone else at that crucial time.

Her whole concern in life is in being a good wife and mother, and guiding the footsteps of her children in the straight and narrow path which leads to eternal life. (See page 994).

DOUGLAS DEVON JOHNSON (Number 1, Page 988) was born in Salt Lake City, Utah on August 1, 1918, son of Monta Devon Johnson and Edythe Rowena Leatham. He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, September 29, 1928, and was active in the Aaronic Priesthood quorums as a youth.

He attended public school in Salt Lake City and graduated from East High School in June 1934. From 1935-37, he was a student at the University of Utah and was affiliated with Sigma-Chi fraternity. He completed his college training at the University of California, Berkeley, California.

In 1938, "Doug" married Florence Poulson, daughter of Lyman and Henrietta Poulson, Richfield, Utah. They have five children, Julie Ann, Shiela K., John Douglas, Jennifer Claire and Byron Woodruff. (See page 989).

Prior to World War II, Doug worked as a salesman for various firms in Salt Lake City, primarily wholesale furniture and appliances.

In March 1942, he enlisted in the Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet, and upon completion of flight training he received his 'wings' and was sent to England as a B-17 pilot in the Eighth Air Force. He participated in the historic Regensburg raid of August 17, 1943, a shuttle raid to North Africa which developed into probably the biggest fighter-bomber battle of the war. During his tour of duty as a pilot with the Eighth Air Force, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

After World War II, he was commissioned a regular officer in the United States Air Force and assigned to the Air University, Maxwell A.F.B., Alabama. In 1949, he was assigned to the University of California at Berkeley to complete his college studies. He graduated with high honors in 1950, and the Air Force extended his assignment for an additional year in order for him to complete the requirements for a Master of Arts degree which he received in 1951.

In 1952, Doug was assigned to Headquarters, Air Research Development Command, Baltimore, Maryland.

In September 1954, he was transferred to Hawaii, where he lives with his family in Honolulu.

JANET LEATHAM PENMAN (Number 2, Page 994) was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, April 14, 1933, daughter of Louis S. and Anna Grace (Carn) Leatham. She was baptized May 3, 1941, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle Font by Bishop S. Burton Newman and has been active in Church affairs ever since.

Janet attended the Jackson Elementary School and graduated from West High School in Salt Lake City in 1951. She also graduated from West L.D.S. Seminary in 1952. In 1952, she was a student at the Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, and at present (1954) she is a junior majoring in education at the University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

Small in stature (5'1" tall) and weighing one hundred pounds, she has blond wavy hair and bluish green eyes. She has a beautiful smile that goes with her pleasing personality. She is interested in writing, art, swimming, and in being a good homemaker and mother. Her ingenuity stands out in many things, and she loves to cook, sew and create. Interior decorating is an other interest of Janet's which she studied at the university. She is also an amateur photographer.

She lived in Europe for three years with her parents (1946-49) and while there attended the U.S. Army Dependents Schools in Mannheim, Wiesbaden and Heidelberg, Germany. Art was one of her interests and hobbies and in 1948, she won First prize in the Heidelberg High School art exhibit for a water color, copper plaque, oil painting and some textile painting. While in Germany she travelled extensively to neighboring European countries.

At the present time she is serving as Secretary of the East Riverside Stake Sunday School Board. She previously served as secretary of the Thirty-fourth Ward Sunday School and as the MIA speech director. After completing her Junior Gleaner work in the Mutual Improvement Association, she was presented with the Silver Gleaner award in 1952.

On September 3, 1954, Janet was married to Franklin Lewis Penman in the Salt Lake L.D.S. Temple with President Joseph Fielding Smith presiding at the marriage ceremony. They have made their home in Salt Lake City, where Lewis is a student of architecture

A GOOD TIME

I attended a party the other night,
And there I saw a beautiful sight, --
A handsome groom, a lovely bride,
Standing so proudly side by side.

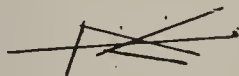

Bride's maids too in their silken gowns,
And over all sweet musical sounds.
A hearty handclasp from each in line
Gave a feeling of pleasure that was indeed mine.

Above all else was the greeting from Grace,
A cheerful welcome on her smiling face,
And Louie too with his genial hello
Made my glad heart really glow.

And when at last I said goodnight,
Leaving behind that beautiful sight,
In my memory there will ever live
These fine people and the spirit they give.

-- Frank Mozley
September 6, 1954

The above poem was written by Mr. Mozley after he had attended the wedding reception of Lewis Penman and Janet Leatham (No. 2 Page 994), held in the East Riverside Stake Center on September 3, 1954.

MR. and MRS. FRANKLIN LEWIS PENMAN

ARTHUR HUNTER LEATHAM (Number 7, Page 975), son of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, August 7, 1904. He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints August 31, 1912, by David M. Whittaker, and he was ordained to the Aaronic Priesthood in the Sixteenth Ward.

He attended the Jackson School, and when a boy, stumbled over a sharp scythe which was lying in the basement hallway of that school, cutting the front tendons of his foot just above the ankle. This injury caused a slight limp thereafter in his walk.

Arthur was always industrious. As a boy he worked as a clerk in a drug store after school and on Saturdays. He also held many other jobs. He studied at the L.D.S. Business College and became an accountant. He worked at this profession in Fresno, California and in Utah.

On May 26, 1927, he married Florence Blanche Snyder. They became the parents of one daughter, Dolores Jean Leatham. (See page 998).

He has lived in California since 1931, working in the hotel business. He holds membership in the National Hotel Greeters' Association and lives in Hollywood. The accompanying photograph was taken in his youth.

RUTH ANN BRIDGE (Number 3, Page 943), daughter of Robert Leatham and LaVerne A. (McClellan) Bridge, was born in the L.D.S. Hospital, Salt Lake City, Utah, on December 6, 1943. She was blessed January 2, 1944, in the Twenty-eighth Ward, East Riverside Stake; baptized January 3, 1952, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle; and confirmed a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on January 6, 1952. All ordinances were performed by her father.

Ruth Ann is a student at Jackson School. She attends Sunday School and Primary in the Twenty-eighth Ward.

A very welcome addition to the Bridge family, she was the first girl in the family of four boys. She loves the gospel and is looking forward to the time when she can teach a primary class and have her Patriarchal Blessing.

DALE WAYNE LEATHAM (Number 2, Page 947), Jet Pilot in the United States Air Force, was born in Ophir, Tooele County, Utah, on August 3, 1930, the son of Archibald Wayne and Lena Fay (McAuley) Leatham.

He graduated from the Utah State Agricultural College in 1951, where he was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and prominent in school athletics, playing quarter-back on the university football team. He also took R. O. T. C. training.

After completing his advanced jet pilot training at Laredo Air Force Base in Texas, he was awarded his "wings" in February 1954.

On February 5, 1954, Lt. Leatham married Cherie Nelson. The ceremony was solemnized at the Post Chapel, Tooele Ordnance Depot by Bishop George L. Williams.

HAMLET EVANS (Number 1, Page 939), son of Hamlet and Janet (Leatham) Evans, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, December 25, 1898. He was baptized a member of the L.D.S. Church on March 29, 1907, and was active as a boy in the old Sixteenth Ward in Salt Lake City.

He attended public schools in Salt Lake City and subsequently studied at the L.D.S. Business College.

Hamlet served his apprenticeship with the Union Pacific Railroad and became a journeyman pattern-maker. He later was associated with the D. & R.G.W. Railroad Pattern shop.

He moved to California some years ago and has worked as a cabinet maker there for a number of years. He is considered to be one of the finest cabinet makers in the business.

"Hamie", as he is affectionately called by those who know him best, now resides with his wife in Inglewood, California.

The photo is from the old family album and was taken when he was a young man.

ELIZABETH SALISBURY LEATHAM BIESER (Number 3, Page 975), supervisor for the Board of Equalization, State of California, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah on June 5, 1898, daughter of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham. She was baptized August 31, 1906, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle Font.

After graduating from Jackson grammar school, she attended the L.D.S. Business College, and worked for the Inter-mountain Telephone Company in Salt Lake City. She later attended Heneger's Business College, paying her own tuition, and upon graduation secured a position with the D.&R.G. Railroad.

On May 6, 1917, she married Frederick Bieser and lived for a time in Seattle, Washington, where her husband worked in the ship-building yards during World War I. In 1922, she and her husband and son Fred Jr. moved to Sacramento where they have since resided. Two daughters, Donna and Marilyn, were born in Sacramento. (See page 984).

In 1933, "Bess" took a position as legal stenographer with the State of California, and has risen to her present responsibility and rank of supervising account clerk. For two years she studied accounting at the Sacramento Evening College to qualify her for this position.

During 1936-38, she served as First Counselor in the Presidency of the Y. L. M. I. A. of Sacramento Ward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

In 1943, she joined the Eastern Star, and in 1944, the Daughters of the Nile, which organization sews for the Shriner's Hospitals for crippled children. In 1946, she accompanied the Nile Patrol to Supreme Session in Rockford, Illinois, going by way of Seattle, Vancouver B. C., Chicago and returning via New Orleans and Los Angeles. She was elected president of this group in 1952, and later served as Captain of the Patrol, being active in this capacity during the Supreme Session held in San Francisco in June 1953. Here a command drill was presented by the patrol under her leadership in the Civic Auditorium.

One of the highlights of her recent travels was a trip to Europe in 1948, where she spent several weeks visiting with her brother Col. Louis S. Leatham and his family in Germany. She left New York, August 3, 1948, on the "S.S. America," landing at LeHavre, France, and returned to the U.S. via air, boarding the trans-Atlantic plane at Frankfurt, Germany.

While in Europe she visited Paris and Nice in France, and Monte Carlo; Rome, Venice and the Vatican City in Italy; Lucerne and Geneva in Switzerland; Brussels, Belgium; Luxembourg; Salzburg, Austria; Heidelberg, Wiesbaden, Bertschesgarden, Bonn and Cologne in Germany; seeing the famous art galleries and places of interest in those cities.

MONTA LEATHAM JOHNSON (Number 3, Page 988), son of Monta Devon and Edythe Rowena (Leatham) Johnson, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah April 2, 1922. He was baptized a member of the L. D. S. Church July 5, 1930, when eight years of age.

He attended Wasatch Elementary School in Salt Lake City, and Bryant Junior High. Later he attended Henager's Business College where he was student body president.

In 1939, he graduated from West High School, and subsequently in 1949, he graduated from the University of Utah where he received his B.S. degree. He also did two years post graduate work there, and has attended the University of Colorado and the University of Southern California.

"Monty" saw service in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II, and also in the Korean conflict. He enlisted in the Marine Corps on October 26, 1942, was later commissioned a Second Lieutenant on March 13, 1945, and was sent to the Pacific Theatre. He was released from military service December 17, 1945, and recalled to active duty February 27, 1951, soon after the Korean War broke out. On June 28, 1952, he left the service as a Captain.

On April 19, 1942, he married Lois Slight Garrison and the following children have blessed their home: Monty Craig, Dennise Lynn and Susan Lane. (See page 991).

Monty hopes to receive his Master's Degree in the not too distant future and at present holds a general elementary certificate and general secondary certificate for teaching school in the State of Utah, also a four year general elementary certificate and a five year general secondary certificate for teaching in the State of California. He taught two years at the Midvale School in Salt Lake County; for one year at Riverside School in Salt Lake City, and is at present teaching at the Helen Keller School, Long Beach, California.

Monty holds membership in the A. C. E.; Long Beach Teachers' Association; National Educational Association; and the Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity. He is a former member of the Marine Officer's League, the Utah Teachers' Association, the Jordon Teachers' Association, and the Salt Lake Teachers' Association.

ROBERT McCLELLAN BRIDGE (Number 1, Page 943), born in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 7, 1936, son of Robert Leatham Bridge and LaVerne A. McClellan Bridge. He was baptized September 3, 1944, and has been active in the Aaronic Priesthood quorums of the Twenty-eighth Ward.

He received his elementary schooling at the Jackson School; graduated from West

High School, Salt Lake City, as an honor student in 1954; was selected to represent West High at the annual youth conference, sponsored by the Salt Lake Rotarians in March 1954; and received a scholarship to the University of Utah awarded to the ten outstanding high school youths throughout the State by the Salt Lake Rotary Club.

Bob is active also in sports and earned his "letter" as a member of the West High track team in running and throwing the javelin. He played on the Twenty-eighth Ward M-Men basketball team (1953-54) and coached the explorer basketball team from that ward, winning the Division sportsmanship trophy and second place in the league tournament (1953-54).

He is an Eagle Scout in Troop 23. In 1953-54, he was class president at West High L.D.S. Seminary.

He joined the 191st Fighter Squadron, Utah National Air Guard in October 1953, and during summer vacations has worked at the Continental Bank and Trust Company, Salt Lake City. Robert plans to major in banking and business at the University and looks forward to serving as a "Mormon" missionary as soon as he reaches the eligible age.

He also is an accomplished trumpet player, having played in school bands and was president and soloist of the Optimist and Dalby Band of Salt Lake City.

JANET LEATHAM BRIDGE (Number 4, Page 935), daughter of William and Margaret Buchanan Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on February 10, 1878. She became the mother of four splendid children, and at this writing she is still living in the Sixteenth Ward, Salt Lake City. On Mothers' Day in 1949, her daughter Pearl, paid the following, glowing tribute to her:

"At this particular time of the year when mothers are honored all over the nation, it is appropriate that we should contemplate the contribution that our mothers have made to the happiness of living.

"I can think of no more perfect mother than the one with whom I have been blessed. She is all that one could ask for and more. My mother was born of faithful stalwart Scotch parents not many years after they had come to make their home in Zion. She was born on Sixth West, between First and Second South, and when she married my Father, she again took up her residence on this same street. In the meantime, however, she went with her parents as a child to southern Utah where her father obtained work as a blacksmith and foreman, both at the Stormont Mill and Silver Reef mines near Leeds, Utah. There she remained until she was sixteen years of age.

"She often tells us about this period of her life. It must have been very happy because she had an opportunity to do the things that most children like to do--roam the hills, ride horses, go barefooted, chase horney toads, etc., and eat to her heart's content of the delicious fruit and other food that grew so bountifully in that part of the State.

"Mother had a narrow escape from death when she was about six years old. She was reaching in a swift-flowing stream near the Stormont Mills mine to get an assay cup that was floating down, lost her balance and fell in. While the other children went for help, she was swept rapidly down the river. However, help came and she was miraculously pulled out before the stream went over some dangerous rapids.

"Mother has enjoyed good health during her lifetime, has been unusually strong and has always been a hard worker. As a girl she was athletic and won every race she ever ran. We have a beautiful rocking chair and other prizes about the house that she won for her ability in this respect.

"I am most grateful to my mother for her faith and for her attitude toward life in general. Whenever any Church call has come, she has always been the first to suggest that it should be accepted, that it is an honor to work in the Church and to give your means for its support. She served as first counselor in the Sixteenth Ward Relief Society Presidency from 1934 to 1938, and has been a Relief Society visiting teacher for more than twenty years.

"I have never seen my mother downcast or discouraged. She always makes the best of what life brings her.

"I Learned early in my life to appreciate her good judgement and common sense. Once or twice going against her advice taught me that it was better to follow her counsel. I should add, however, that she is not domineering. She has taught her children the right way, but she has always allowed us to make our own decisions and choices.

"I am grateful for this opportunity to write these few lines in appreciation of the wonderful Mother who has nurtured, guided and blessed my life through the years. May God bless and keep her for the good life and example she has set her children, and for the helping hand she is always ready to extend to those who need her assistance."

MARTHA VERA LEATHAM (Number 1, Page 975), daughter of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham, was born in Wellsville, Cache County, Utah, December 31, 1892. She was baptized in 1903 in Salt Lake City.

Vera was a girl with an outstanding personality, good looks, and a beautiful figure. While yet in her teens she became extremely proficient in roller skating which was then a most popular sport in Utah. She won many contests and prizes for her fancy skating and dancing on skates at Saltair and other places. Joshua Salisbury, her maternal grandfather, would sit and watch her in admiration by the hour as she skated at Lagoon, never tiring of her fancy and beautifully executed capers on skates. She was offered a contract to skate on the Orpheum Theater circuit at one time.

As a young lady she was also interested in the legitimate stage and in 1909, danced and sang in one of the vaudeville shows in Salt Lake City. She also took a part in the stage show called, "The Girl of the Golden West."

with Bert Lytell and was ready to go on circuit with this show until it was discovered that she was not of legal age, and she could not obtain the consent of her parents. This was a great disappointment to Vera. Shortly thereafter she was married. (See page 978).

Her love and devotion toward her kinsmen and friends is unsurpassed and her many deeds of kindness and charity have not gone unnoticed. At the present time, she lives in Hollywood, California with her husband William E. Bence.

EDYTHER ROWENA LEATHAM (Number 5, Page 975) was born November 5, 1901, in Ophir, Utah, the daughter of William and Martha Ann (Salisbury) Leatham. At the time of her birth her father was working as a blacksmith in the thriving mining town of Ophir.

She was baptized on November 6, 1909, in Salt Lake City, and has lived in Salt Lake City most of her life.

Her education was received in the public schools of Salt Lake City, having graduated with honor from Jackson School in 1915.

On November 8, 1917, she married Monta Devon Johnson of Salt Lake City, and became the mother of three boys, namely: Douglas Devon, Andrew Arthur and Monta Leatham Johnson. (See page 988). She has worked hard to rear and educate her splendid sons all of whom are married and have fine families of their own. She has twelve grandchildren at this time (1953).

Since July 28, 1930, Edythe has been employed with Loew's Incorporated (M. G. M. Film Exchange). She is head inspector of films.

She was active in the Belvedere L. D. S. Ward as a primary teacher and has been an active member of the University of Utah Mothers' Club.

In 1938, she re-married and became the wife of James Wallace Duncan.

Her life has been one of devotion, toil, and industry, having supported her children by her own efforts and she has always accomplished her tasks with dignity and integrity. Her family and their welfare is her principle concern and her kinsmen and friends are held in her highest esteem.

THE FIRST PRESIDENCY

Jan. 15 1951 SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

WILLIAM WALLACE LEATHAM (Number 1, Page 994), son of Louis S. and Anna Grace (Carn) Leatham, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 16, 1931. A member of the Thirty-fourth Ward, Salt Lake City, he was baptized July 1, 1939, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle font by his father.

William Wallace Leatham

Upon attaining the age of twelve years he was ordained a deacon in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, June 27, 1943, by Kenneth Horsley; a teacher, July 14, 1946, by Charles G. Wright; a priest, August 14, 1949, by Louis S. Leatham; and he was ordained an elder on November 27, 1950, by his father.

Wallace was called to perform a mission to Great Britain on December 13, 1950, by President George A. Smith, and he was set apart on January 15, 1951, by Elder John A. Widtsoe of the Quorum of the Twelve.

Leaving Salt Lake City, January 17, 1951, he arrived in England aboard the S.S. Queen Mary, January 26, 1951. He was assigned to labor in the Birmingham District during his entire two year tenure. He visited Ireland, Scotland and Wales while there, and also several European countries enroute home.

In his youth, Wallace was active as a boy scout and attained the rank of Eagle Scout, receiving a complimentary letter from Earl

J. Glade, Mayor of Salt Lake City along with his Eagle Badge in 1947.

During the years 1946 to 1949, he lived with his parents in Germany, attending high school in Heidelberg, Germany, and graduating from the Wiesbaden U.S. Army Dependents High School in 1948. His travels include four trips across the Atlantic, most states in the United States, England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, France, Italy, Berlin, Switzerland, Belgium, Canada, etc., in fact, one fourth of his life has been spent in Europe (1953).

Prior to filling a mission for the L.D.S. Church, Wallace attended the University of Utah for a year and a half and hopes to complete his education at this institution in the future. He also attended the L.D.S. Business College for a short time in 1953.

Just twenty-eight days after his arrival home from his mission, he was inducted into the United States Army on March 28, 1953, and at this time is a corporal. He took his basic training with Company "G"-123d Infantry Regiment of the 44th Infantry Division in Fort Lewis, Washington; he also attended Supply School at Fort Ord, California. Previously, he had served for eighteen months (1949-51) as a corporal in the Utah Air National Guard with the 191st Fighter Bomber Squadron in Salt Lake City, under the command of Colonel Alma G. Winn.

Elder Leatham is interested in sports and is active in basketball and track. In 1949, he participated in the U.S. Army track meet at Heidelberg, Germany, where he won first place in the 400 meter race, second place in the 200 meter dash and the 100 meter dash, competing against several thousand U.S. soldiers.

While in Germany he appeared in the cast of the movie, "I Was a Male War Bride," starring Gary Grant and Ann Sheridan, which was filmed near Heidelberg. He also took part in the making of the film, "To Hell and Back", starring Audie Murphy during 1954, while with the army. This picture was made in Yakima, Washington. (See photo page 921).

GEORGE BUCHANAN LEATHAM (Number 9, Page 935), son of William and Margaret (Buchanan) Leatham, was born in Leeds, Washington County, Utah, August 24, 1888.

He was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, November 2, 1896 by Hamilton G. Park and confirmed by Bishop Fred Kesler November 5, 1896. He was ordained a deacon by George R. Emery in the Sixteenth Ward, Salt Lake City, and a teacher April 10, 1905, by his father, William Leatham.

As a youth, George learned the trade of blacksmith and later worked at that trade and became an expert tool dresser for the Utah Oil Refining Company. He also was a cement contractor for a time.

George excelled in athletics and was an ardent and enthusiastic sportsman. He was a member of the old Harmon Athletic Club in Salt Lake City, and played baseball on its team which won the Intermountain Baseball Championship and other honors.

In 1912, he won the Utah State doubles speed roller skating championship.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars having served his country in World War I. He enlisted in the Army September 21, 1917, and became assigned to the 19th Engineers. He spent sixteen months in Europe with the army in the advanced sector holding the rank of Master Engineer. On July 17, 1919, he was honorably discharged.

He married Katherine Skoubye on January 25, 1918. This union was blessed with one son, George Skoubye Leatham. (See page 967).

George died February 23, 1953, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

MICHAEL STEPHEN BRIDGE (Number 2, Page 943), son of LaVerne A. McClellan and Robert Leatham Bridge, was born April 16, 1940, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was blessed June 2, 1940, in the Twenty-eighth Ward, Riverside Stake, being the first baby to be blessed by his father after his being sustained as Bishop of that ward.

Michael was baptized April 29, 1948, in the Salt Lake Tabernacle and confirmed May 2, 1948, by his father who also ordained him a deacon April 27, 1952. He has been the president of his Deacon's Quorum, with a perfect attendance record for the past two years.

He attended Jackson Elementary and Junior High School, where he has been a member of the band for five years. As a member of the Optimist and Dalby Band, he plays the trumpet. Michael attends Junior High Seminary each morning in the Thirty-fourth Ward.

His many hobbies include: keeping a scrapbook, collecting stamps, hunting, fishing, traveling, meeting new people, and sports of all kinds. He is an Eagle Scout.

He played in the Salt Lake Cops' Baseball League for boys, and loves to dance and be in shows.

Michael is a fine young man with high ideals; he loves the gospel and has a wonderful Patriarchal Blessing that promises him, if he lives worthy of it, that he shall fulfill a mission and be called as a leader in the church.

WALLACE PYPER JOHNSON, (Page 942), owner and manager of the Temple Pharmacy at 102 North Main Street, Salt Lake City, joined the Leatham Family Association on August 12, 1954 when he was married to Pearl Bridge, (No. 1 Page 941) in the L.D.S. Temple, Salt Lake City, Utah. The following is taken from a recent article:

"The druggist has long been recognized as a pillar of the community, and one such a pillar is Wallace P. Johnson...

"Mr. Johnson spent most of his younger years at school in Canada studying medicine and pharmacy, being graduated in Pharmacy from the University of Alberta, College of Pharmacy. He served four years apprenticeship in Canada and the United States.

"Music and athletics also played an important part in Mr. Johnson's school year. He participated and held office in the College Glee Club and the University band. He also played on championship teams, both in baseball and basketball. All in all, Mr. Johnson is an outstanding man in various fields of endeavor.

"An active member of the L.D.S. Church, he and his late wife, Jean Walker Johnson (deceased 1953), sang in the Tabernacle Choir for 25 years. Mr. Johnson is the father of three children, Betty-ann, Helen Jean and David Wallace.

"The happy friendly smile of Mr. Johnson is known to thousands in this area where he started his business career with the Z. C. M. I. , as a salesman in 1928. In 1937 he managed Utah's largest drug store, the J & J Drug, and remained in that position until 1943 at which time he purchased his own store, The Temple Pharmacy.

"No greater trust and confidence could be given mankind, than is given to Mr. Johnson by his customers and friends. It is a confidence that is faithfully kept. We salute Mr. Johnson for the part he plays in the daily life of his community. "...
(Ray Fritsch, KSL Radio, "Trade Talk", April 1954).

Wallace serves as Treasurer of the Utah Pharmacists Association (U Ph A); is a High Priest in the Bonneville Ward and he and Pearl and the children live at 1620 Princeton Avenue, Salt Lake City, Utah. Wallace and Pearl plan to accompany the Tabernacle Choir to Europe this fall.

Chapter 63

THE LETHAM OR LEATHAM FAMILY ASSOCIATION

RESPONDING to a long felt urge to organize into a family association for the purpose of having family reunions and getting better acquainted one with another, a committee was organized under the leadership of Louis S. Leatham as temporary chairman to call a meeting of all Letham's or Leatham's for the purpose of forming an association. Thus, on August 10, 1935, a letter was mailed out to all known members of the family inviting them to meet at Liberty Park, Salt Lake City, Utah, on Saturday, August 31, 1935, for this purpose. (See letter reproduced on page 1005. Minutes of this meeting in possession of the secretary show an attendance of some 230 descendants and members of the family were present upon that occasion. Seven branches of the old Leatham family were represented, viz: Robert, John, James, Agnes, Daniel, Alexander and William, all the sons and daughter of Robert Letham and Janet Urquhart.

In addition to a splendid program of entertainment and music rendered by various members of the family, a business session was held at which a Constitution and By-Laws of the Robert Letham or Leatham Family Association were adopted by unanimous vote. (See copy of same on page 1007).

William P. Leatham, Mayor of Wellsville, gave an address eulogizing the Leatham men and women whom he had known. Louis S. Leatham acted as master of ceremonies and conducted the business meeting. Jay and Fawn Leatham, children of Royal Leatham rendered vocal duets and all joined in singing community songs. Pearl L. Bridge and Lillian Ferguson conducted a children's program of games and songs.

A group picture was taken on the park lawns. After a picnic lunch which was enjoyed by all present, prizes were given to the oldest Leatham present. Mrs. "Roze" Leatham Hoignez, 85 years old, daughter of Robert Leatham and Jane Steele, won on the women's side and was presented with a book entitled "The Life of Carl G. Maeser". John Leatham, son of James Leatham and Margaret Irvine, was the oldest male present, being 82 years of age and was presented with a book entitled "Heart Throbs".

The old Letham family bible originally owned by Robert Letham and his wife, Janet Urquhart, was on display. It was owned at that time by Lee Letham, son of Daniel Letham and Harriet Britton.

The following officers of the Letham or Leatham Family Association were elected to serve during the first year of the Association's history:

I follow a famous father,
His honor is mine to wear;
He gave me a name that was free from shame,
A name he was proud to bear.
He lived in the morning sunlight
And marched in the ranks of right.
He was always true to the best he knew
And the shield that he wore was bright.

I follow a famous father,
And never a day goes by
But I feel that he looks down on me
To carry his standard high.
He stood to the sternest trials
As only a brave man can;
Though the way be long I must never wrong
The name of so good a man.

I follow a famous father,
Not known to the printed page,
Nor written down in the world's renown
As a prince of his little Age.
But never a stain attached to him,
And never he stooped to shame;
He was bold and brave and to me he gave
The pride of an honest name.

I follow a famous father,
And him I must keep in mind,
Though his form is gone, I must carry on
The name that he left behind.
It was mine on the day he gave it;
It shone as a monarch's crown;
And as fair to see as it came to me
It must be, when I put it down.

73 North 7th West
Salt Lake City, Utah
August 10, 1935

Dear Relatives:

You will no doubt feel happy to know that on Saturday afternoon, August 31, 1935, at 4:00 P.M., there will be held at the Bowery in Liberty Park, Salt Lake City, the first ANNUAL REUNION OF THE LETHAM OR LEATHAM FAMILY.

It is planned to form at this gathering, a permanent organization to perpetuate the activities of the Letham or Leatham Family along both social and genealogical endeavors.

Every person who has the blood in their veins of either Robert, John, James, Agnes, Daniel, Alexander, William, Andrew, Barbara or Janet Letham or Leatham, children of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham, or anyone having joined the family through marriage, are cordially invited and urgently requested to attend this reunion.

A special program has been arranged and each family will be expected to bring their own basket lunch. Tables have been reserved for this occasion.

Plan to be there 100% and make it a successful party

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS of the
ROBERT LETHAM OR LEATHAM FAMILY ASSOCIATION Organized August 31, 1935
in Salt Lake City, Utah

ARTICLE I

The name of this association shall be called and known as the Robert Letham or Leatham Family Association.

ARTICLE II

The objects and purposes of this association shall be to perpetuate the memory and genealogy of our forefathers; to cement the ties of fellowship and kinship between living members by frequent association and friendly intercourse; preservation of history and memorials, and, through unity of effort to prevent duplication of genealogical research and temple labor.

ARTICLE III

Any person who can trace blood relationship to Robert Letham, born at Lightburn, Lanarkshire, Scotland, June 25th, 1801, and Janet Urquhart, his wife, born in Campbellton, Ardersier Parish, Inverness-shire, Scotland; or anyone who has joined the family by marriage, is eligible to membership in this association through compliance with the articles herein noted.

The entrance fee shall be ten cents ($.10) per person. The annual dues shall be one dollar ($1.00) for the head of each family and shall be paid each year on or before the day of the annual reunion.

ARTICLE IV

This Association shall be organized on this, the 31st day of August, 1935 A. D.

Failure to hold elections or meetings shall not disorganize this Association.

ARTICLE V

Section 1. The term of office of the officers of this association shall be for one year, or until their successors shall have been duly elected, with the exception of the first annual election, at which time one half of the officers elected shall serve for a two year term, so that all offices will not have to be filled with new people each year. Lots shall be cast by those elected the first year to determine who shall serve for the two year period.

Section 2. The election, or reelection of officers, shall be held at the annual meetings.

Section 3. The officers shall be a president; one vice president for each of the ten branches of the family, viz: Barbara, Robert, Janet, James, John, Alexander, Daniel, Agnes, Andrew and William, all children of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham, for whom the association is named; a secretary; a treasurer; a chairman of genealogical and temple work; an historian; and a chairman of a social committee.

Members of committees, both permanent and temporary, shall either be chosen by vote or named by the president.

ARTICLE VI

An annual meeting shall be held at which the regular order of business shall be carried out (see By-laws) with such further program as may be suitable or desired.

BY-LAWS

Duties of the Officers

The President shall preside at all meetings; shall be empowered to call special meetings when necessary; and shall exercise a general supervision of the entire association.

The Vice Presidents in order of precedence, shall preside at meetings if the president be absent, and shall assist and counsel in all matters pertaining to the activities of this association.

The Secretary shall conduct all correspondence, take and record all minutes, unless this office be divided into recording and corresponding secretaries. The Secretary shall perform all work usual to this office.

The Treasurer shall collect and keep all funds of the association and shall keep accurate accounts of the financial transactions of the association, and render a report at each annual meeting. Funds for general purposes shall not be kept with funds used for genealogical and temple work. He shall pay out monies only on the written order of the President, countersigned by the Secretary.

The Historian shall prepare and keep all historical data, patriotic and biographical matter and all relics belonging to the Association; he and his committee shall be associated with the Social Committee in arranging regular and special meetings and the programs for such gatherings.

The Chairman and Members of the Genealogical-Temple Committee shall gather all genealogical data, preserve the same in fireproof receptacles, arrange the data for temple work, index all information, institute temple excursions and otherwise stimulate, encourage and promote the genealogical and temple interests of all members of the Association.

The Chairman and Members of the Social Affairs Committee shall arrange programs with the assistance of the Historian and superintend the details of all entertainments given by this Association.

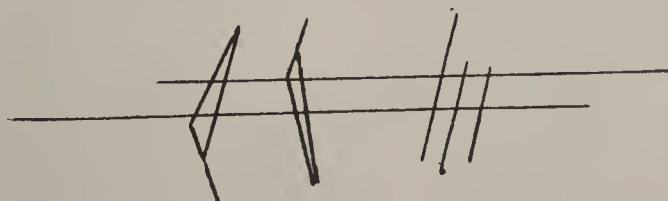

These laws and by-laws may be amended at the annual meeting, by a majority vote, provided, however, that thirty days notice shall have been given publicly.

The order of business at the annual meetings shall be as follows: reading of the minutes; report of the president; report of the committees; election of officers; social and any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

The following are those who have served as President of the Letham or Leatham Family Association, with the years during which they served set opposite their names:

Howard P. Leatham	1935 - 1937
William A. Leatham	1937 - 1938
James A. Hunter	1938 - 1939

THE STICK-TOGETHER FAMILIES <sup>2</sup>

The stick-together families are happier by far
Than the brothers and the sisters who take separate highways are.
The gladdest people living are the wholesome folks who make
A circle at the fireside that no power but death can break.
And the finest of conventions ever held beneath the sun
Are the little family gatherings when the busy day is done.

There are rich folk, there are poor folk, who imagine they are wise
And they're very quick to shatter all the little family ties.
Each goes searching after pleasure in his own selected way,
Each with strangers likes to wander, and with strangers likes to play.
But it's bitterness they harvest, and it's empty joy they find,
For the children that are wisest are the stick-together kind..

There are some who seem to fancy that for gladness they must roam,
That for smiles that are the brightest they must wander far from home.
That the strange friend is the true friend and they travel far astray
And they waste their lives in striving for a joy that's far away,
But the gladdest sort of people, when the busy day is done,
Are the brothers and the sisters who together share their fun.

It's the stick-together family that wins the joys of earth,
That hears the sweetest music and that finds the finest mirth;
It's the old home roof that shelters all the charm that life can give;
There you find the gladdest play-ground, there the happiest spot to live.
And, O weary, wandering brother, if contentment you would win,
Come you back unto the fireside and comrade with your kin.

Chapter 64

CONCLUDING THOUGHTS AND SUMMARY

FROM THE FOREGOING RECORD it is seen that the Letham or Leatham Family has accomplished much in helping build the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the State of Utah, the West and the Nation. More could be told if complete records had been kept.

To completely evaluate accomplishments of the descendants of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham would be an impossible task. It is pleasing to note, however, that 1600 -of their descendants are accounted for in this compilation extensively or in part.

The descendants have held and now are holding positions of trust and responsibility in many civic and ecclesiastical capacities and in other worthwhile organizations.

It is estimated that about 100 descendants of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham have filled full-time missions for the L.D.S. Church. Many others have served as patriarchs, bishops, high councilmen, members of stake presidencies, and in other positions of leadership. One served as a member of the general presidency of the Primary Association of the Church, one as Secretary-Treasurer and another on the General Board of the Primary Association, another is now on the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association General Board -- not to mention many stake and ward positions of like character. Several have become 32nd degree Masons.

More than 150 members of the family served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War I, World War II, the Spanish-American War (Philippine campaign), Black Hawk Indian War and in the Korean War. They have served in all branches of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. Their ranks have ranged from full colonel to corporal and on down to private and able seaman. They have been recipients of medals and awards ranging from the Distinguished Service Cross (the nation's second highest award for valor) to the Good Conduct Medal.

All who have held positions of trust and leadership in state and civic affairs have done so with honor. They have shouldered their responsibilities with dignity, efficiency and to the benefit and satisfaction both of those served and their fellow workers.

Among them have been medical doctors, surgeons, dentists, veterinarians, school teachers and principals, national, state, city and county officials, engineers, farmers, stockmen, bankers and businessmen.

It is hoped that every descendant of Robert and Janet Urquhart Letham will continue to uphold the family traditions of faith, service and honor.

This book is dedicated to this objective and to the end that each descendant will take an active part in keeping accurate and complete genealogical-historical records of his or her own life and immediate family.

"Our dearest interests in life," says an outstanding genealogist, "are entwined about those in our family. The love for husband and wife, parents and children, grandparents and grandchildren is not intended to be of a temporary nature but to continue throughout the endless ages of eternity, if we comply with the wishes of our Father in Heaven. We are bound to those near relatives by closest ties of love and by loving useful service."

O my Father, Thou that dwellest
 In the high and glorious place,
 When shall I regain thy presence,
 And again behold thy face?
 In thy holy habitation,
 Did my spirit once reside!
 In my first primeval childhood,
 Was I nurtured near thy side!

For a wise and glorious purpose
 Thou hast placed me here on earth,
 And withheld the recollection
 Of my former friends and birth;
 Yet oftentimes a secret something
 Whispered, "You're a stranger here;"
 And I felt that I had wandered
 From a more exalted sphere.

I had learned to call thee Father,
 Through thy Spirit from on high;
 But until the Key of Knowledge
 Was restored, I knew not why.
 In the heavens are parents single?
 No; the thought makes reason stare!
 Truth is reason, truth eternal
 Tells me I've a Mother there.

When I leave this frail existence,
 When I lay this mortal by,
 Father, Mother, may I meet you
 In your royal courts on high?
 Then, at length, when I've completed
 All you sent me forth to do,
 With your mutual approbation
 Let me come and dwell with you.

The above poem by Eliza R. Snow with its exalted theme, was dear to the hearts of the Leatham pioneers.

The following compilation by an expert genealogist, showing the need for cooperation in our research efforts with those of the same lineage to avoid duplication will prove interesting as we contemplate the vast amount of potential research which awaits us:

YOUR ANCESTRAL PEDIGREE <sup>2</sup>

YOUR NUMEROUS ANCESTORS. Each person has a father and a mother. Each parent in turn has a father and a mother; and so has each of your four grandparents, eight great-grandparents, sixteen 2nd great-grandparents, thirty-two 3rd great-grandparents, etc. The amazing increase in the number of one's progenitors from one generation to another for centuries, provided no intermarriages among these forefathers had occurred, is graphically shown by the following table:

Generation	No. of Ancestors	Generation	No. of Ancestors
1	2	17	131,072
2	4	18	262,144
3	8	19	524,288
4	16	20	1,048,576
5	32	21	2,097,152
6	64	22	4,194,304
7	128	23	8,388,608
8	256	24	16,777,216
9	512	25	33,554,432
10	1,024	26	67,108,864
11	2,048	27	134,217,728
12	4,096	28	268,435,456
13	8,192	29	536,870,912
14	16,384	30	1,073,741,824
15	32,768	31	2,147,483,648
16	65,536	32	4,294,967,296

Allowing an average of three generations to a hundred years we find that in a generation less than 1100 years or back to the year 884 A. D. we would have had, according to this ratio, more than twice as many people for forefathers as are living in the whole world even today. This of course is an absurdity.

Orson Pratt, a skilled mathematician, once estimated that the population of the world had averaged a billion (1000 million) for each century. That would mean ten billion for each thousand years, or sixty billion people who have lived on the earth in six thousand years since Adam. That is a tremendous number. But if we should carry the above table back from 32 to 50 generations we would have the amazing number of 563,959,785,421,512 ancestors in direct line.

No one beforehand can actually estimate with any degree of accuracy the number of his progenitors in a given distant generation, because numerous intermarriages among them have occurred. In tracing back all your forefathers you will encounter the self-same ancestors on your pedigree many, many times in a pedigree going back on all lines a thousand years. This serves to give emphasis to the fact that this rapid increase in the number of progenitors coupled with the fact of numerous intermarriages among them makes it an absolute certainty that all of European descent, and even of the white race, are related, not only on one line but on many of their lines of ancestry.

RESEARCH IN SCOTLAND <sup>3</sup>

The centralization of records. Genealogical searches in Scotland are simplified because the great majority of the source records to be consulted are brought together in one or another of two great record repositories. The parish registers from all of Scotland and the decennial censuses beginning 1841 now repose in the New Register House, Princes Street, Edinburgh. There is one parish register in Scotland which dates back to 1538. The majority now in existence date their commencement from the period between 1640 to 1700. The national registration of births, marriages and deaths began in 1855, some years later than in England. The census returns for the years 1841, 1851, 1861, 1871 and 1881 are available to the public.

The Scottish wills and deeds from 1514 to the present, "Sasines Registers" which are land and housing transactions from 1540 on, Service of Heirs giving details of heirs and their inheritance from 1550 on, Lyon Court Records which are printed genealogies and records of grants of coats of arms, and Burgess and Guild Brethren Rolls 1406-1841, are housed in the Old Register House, which is near the New Register House.

The registration of vital statistics. In Scotland the compulsory registration of births, marriages and deaths began 1 Jan. 1855. That year is a red-letter one in genealogical research in Scotland. The birth certificate in 1855 gave the name, sex, date and address where the child was born, the name, age and birthplace and occupation of the parents, their marriage date and place, the number of children already born to this couple and whether they were alive or dead. The marriage certificate gave the names, ages, occupations and relationship (if any) of parties getting married, their usual residence and present residence, the names of both parents of bride and groom, giving the mother's maiden name and stated if this were the first, second or third marriage of either party. The death certificate gave name, age, death date, where born, how long he or she had lived in the district where death took place, name of husband or wife, name of parents and names of children and whether they were alive or dead. These certificates took up too much space and from 1856 onwards less information was given. On a birth certificate today there is not given all this wealth of detail. It calls for the marriage date and place of the parents, but not for the age and birthplaces of the parents and the number of children born previous to the one being registered. The marriage certificate is not much diminished from 1855. The usual residence of the contracting parties and if a previous marriage of one of the contracting parties has occurred. Only the terms widow or widower are inserted in describing an individual. The death certificate no longer gives the birthplace of the deceased nor lists the names of his children.

The Parochial Registers of Scotland.

An indispensable guide for research in Scotland among the parish registers is a volume published in 1849, by William B. Turnbull, entitled Memo-randa of the State of the Parochial Registers of Scotland. In this work a chapter is devoted to each shire, and under that heading the parishes are arranged in alphabetical order, with a description of the records preserved for each. These reports indicate that in many parishes no record of burials exists; and many registers of baptisms and marriages are defective. These returns are based on reports sent in by the ministers. Under "Elgin, or Morayshire," for the parish of Spynie (New) it states the earliest baptisms are in 1708 and they have been regularly kept since that time.

The following song which swelled the hearts of the early Leatham family pioneers still gives courage to the current generation of the family!

COME, COME YE SAINTS

Come, come, ye Saints, no toil nor labor fear,
But with joy wend your way;
Tho' hard to you this journey may appear,
Grace shall be as your day.
'Tis better far for us to strive
Our useless cares from us to drive;
Do this, and joy your hearts will swell—
All is well! All is well!

Why should we mourn, or think our lot is hard?
'Tis not so; All is right;
Why should we think to earn a great reward,
If we now shun the fight?
Gird up your loins, fresh courage take,
Our God will never us forsake;
And soon we'll have this tale to tell—
All is well! All is well!

We'll find the place which God for us prepared,
Far away, in the West;
Where none shall come to hurt or make afraid;
There the Saints will be blessed,
We'll make the air with music ring—
Shout praises to our God and King;
Above the rest each tongue will tell
All is well! All is well!

And should we die before our journey's thru,
Happy day! All is well!
We then are free from toil and sorrow too;
With the just we shall dwell!
But if our lives are spared again
To see the Saints, their rest obtain;
O how we'll make this chorus swell—
All is well! All is well!
